Liberal Censored In House

TORONTO (CP)—Liberal opposition leader Andrew Thompson was warned Wednesday that he was on the border of exceeding parliamentary privileges during a heated debate on a government amendment to the Ontario Human Rights Code.

Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree, deputy House leader, said the Liberal leader came "perilously close to putting himself outside of this legislature" by imputing the motives of Provincial Secretary John Yaremko in the amendment to outlaw racial discrimination in any apartment building of more than three units.

Mr. Thompson accused Mr. Yaremko of being "weak, insipid and opportunistic" in his philosophy on human rights. He also accused the secretary of a "weak-kneed, ha'-in-hand approach to the amendment.

The code prohibits discrimination in any building of six or more units and outlaws hiring discrimination by employers who have more than five employees.

FIGURES UNCHANGED

Mr. Rowntree said his party had voted for the anti-discrimination principle of the bill but would object to the figures regarding the number of apartment units when the bill reached committee. The amendment does not change the employee figures.

In other business, Mr. Rowntree told the House that age discrimination in hiring may be eliminated when pensions become truly portable.

He said Ontario's Pensions Benefits Act already provides pension portabilit, for workers 45 or older who have been contributing to plans for 15 years or more.

He said that when portability becomes effective he was sure

Chou Making One-night Stands Seeking Arab Help in Viet Nam

CAIRO (Reuters) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai arrived here today from Algeria for a one-day visit on a second stop of a surprise visit to the Middle East.

Chou arrived in Algiers Tuesday from Albania for a visit announced only the day before, catching Algerian leaders by surprise.

Egyptian officials appeared equally surprised Wednesday to learn that the Chinese Communist leader would visit Cairo, and made hurried preparations to receive him.

Informed sources said his visit, expected to last less than 24 hours, would be devoted to talks with Egyptian leaders on the crisis in Viet Nam and the Israel question.

The Afro-Asian conference to be held in Algiers in June was also expected to be high on the agenda. It was believed Chou would press China's reservations about any invitation to Russia to attend the meeting.

Chou last visited Egypt in December, 1963.

Egypt and China have developed close links in recent years. Prime Minister Ali Sabry visited Peking last year and was followed by a high-level Egyptian economic delegation early this year, when a trade and aid agreement was signed between the two countries.

The situation in Southeast Asia played a prominent role in Chou's visit to Algeria.

At a press conference Wednesday night in Algiers he condemned U.S. intervention in South Viet Nam and expressed support for Communist Viet Nam in the face of American air attacks across the north-south border.

He said there was only one solution of the problem—withdrawal of American troops and a settlement by the Vietnamese themselves.

Metro Plan Gets Mixed Reception

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An Ontario legislature committee report recommending reorganization and consolidation of existing municipal governments and establishment of regional governments drew mixed reaction from representatives of areas affected.

The select committee on municipal law, in a 110-page report tabled Tuesday in the legislature, recommended that a system of all-encompassing regional governments replace local governments, using existing county boundaries as a tentative basis.

Powers that should be borne by the proposed regional governments were listed in the report as assessment, taxation, policing, welfare, arterial roads, public health, hospitals and planning.

Hamilton Mayor Victor Copps was probably the most enthusiastic civic official. The mayor, who strongly favors regional government, said Wednesday he only wished the committee had given firm direction instead of recommendations.

WOULD LIKE SOONER

"It will probably take at least a year to implement the recommendations and he would like to see implementation sooner, Mr. Copps said.

Mayor Robert Johnston of St. Catharines said he had no doubt that his area would be governed by some form of regional government. He said he would not be surprised if the change came within five years.

Windfall Plea Made -- Graham

By GORDON GRANT

TORONTO (CP) — The president of the Toronto Stock Exchange testified Wednesday he received telephone calls from Windfall's minister of mines and the then director of the Ontario Securities Commission asking the exchange threatened to suspend trading in Windfall Oils and Mines Limited during the stock's meteoric rise.

Lt. - Gen. Howard Graham told a royal commission investigating the rise and fall of Windfall stock on the TSE last July that on July 13 Mines Minister George Wardrope assured him in a phone call that Windfall would issue a statement about its drilling on a copper prospect near Timmins, Ont.

He also testified that OSC director John Campbell, asked what authority the exchange had to suspend the stock.

He said both men called him and the exchange sent telegrams to Windfall directors demanding information on drilling progress. At the time, Windfall directors were being traded wildly on rumors of a copper discovery near the giant Kidd Creek mine. The stock had climbed to $3.35 from 56 cents. The stock later went as high as $5.90 and plunged to 80 cents when Windfall announced no ore was found.

RESIGNS AS DIRECTOR

Mr. Campbell was suspended as OSC director Aug. 25 for what was described as a possible conflict of interests after an investigation into Windfall was started. He resigned Sept. 24.

The TSE telegrams were sent Friday, July 16. On July 21, Gen. Graham testified, he received a call from Mr. Campbell, who asked they meet to discuss the Windfall situation.

"I said I don't know what we can discuss, . . . He pressed me so I arranged to see him at my home at 10:15 a.m. Sunday," Gen. Graham said.

"He said it would be bad for the company to be suspended. He said the company had already made a reasonable statement and he didn't know what we were asking for anything more."

The statement referred to by Mr. Campbell was a Windfall press release date July 7, which, the TSE chairman said he think was a satisfactory explanation for the stock's activity.

READ STATEMENT

Gen. Graham said Mr. Campbell took a statement out of his pocket and I read it. It wasn't much better than the press release of July 17."

"He said 'you will be getting this tomorrow as Windfall's statement. Will it be satisfactory?' I said 'No. It doesn't explain the rumors surrounding the stock' and he replied that

Lesage Govt. Put on Defence On Constitutional Question

QUEBEC (CP) — Broad reservations in Quebec about the Favreau - Fulton formula, and stiff Union Nationale opposition to it, have put the Lesage government on the defensive and made the constitution question one of the hottest issues here in five years.

Although the problem was expected to be a thorny one, the Liberal administration apparently did not anticipate the difficulties which have arisen over the formula designed to enable Canada's constitution to be amended in this country without reference to the British Parliament.

A few weeks ago, Premier Lesage laughed off a Union Nationale demand that the issue be submitted—to the voters in a referendum before the legislature considers a resolution approving the formula worked out by the federal and provincial governments. He said then the issue was too complex for the Quebec electorate to vote on.

This left the premier open to criticism, and resulted in a Union Nationale vow to fight the formula to the death.

Speculation now is that the Lesage government will carry out a quiet survey to find out how Quebecers feel about the issue, followed possibly by a blitz campaign to put it across.

Government sources say the government firmly intends to see the resolution, which asks the Queen to ratify the Favreau - Fulton formula, passed

Viet Cong Has To Retreat Despite Ground-Fire Toll On U.S. Helicopter Fleet

U.S.-Set Forest Fire So Fierce It Makes Quenching Thunderstorm

From Reuters-AP

DA NANG (CP) — Viet Cong forces retreated today in the wake of Wednesday's bloody, night-long clash with more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops bolstered by American-piloted helicopters.

Three American pilots were reported killed when Viet Cong groundfire downed four U.S. helicopters and hit all 25 in the battle some 30 to 35 miles north of the strategic U.S. air base here.

The helicopter action, which flew troops to the six-square-mile area between the town of Tam Ky and Que Son, coincided with the largest number of U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam in a single day.

The New China News agency in Hong Kong said Peking in Viet Nam, claimed 12 U.S. planes were brought down and others damaged. The Chinese spokesman said all planes returned safely to land on carrier bases.

WORST CASUALTY LIST

American helicopter forces suffered their worst casualty list in any one engagement in the battle of Tam Ky and Que Son.

An estimated two Viet Cong companies armed with mortars and recoilless rifles killed the three Americans and wounded 14 others when they ran into a barrage of fire.

Total South Vietnamese losses were provisionally said to be nine killed, 46 wounded and 20 missing.

More than 75 American and South Vietnamese planes have dumped tons of gasoline, incendiary bombs and incendigel (an thickened form of napalm) at two points Tuesday in an effort to burn up to 50 square miles of forest.

The fire burned briskly for nearly 12 hours and in the early hours of Wednesday morning "it was going "great," said a U.S. military official.

CAUSES STORM

But then, he said, the great heat caused by the spreading blaze apparently created its own thunderstorm through convection and rain began to fall, eventually putting out the fire.

Target of the operation and burning out operation was Ben Cui forest in the Tay Ninh province. The woods cover an area stretching from a point 25 miles from Saigon to within about 10 miles of the Cambodian frontier.

(In Tokyo a monitored communique by the (north) Viet Nam News Agency said 20 U.S. aircraft had been shot down over North Viet Nam in the last two days, bringing the total since Aug. 5 to 102.)

Six Nations Indians Ask Parley

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Six Nations Indian Confederacy of North America sent letters Wednesday to Canadian United States and British heads of state requesting a meeting to discuss suppression of their tribes under the Canadian Indian Act and the Marion Act of the United States.

Mil Hales, MP for Wellington South, spoke as President Johnson asked the U.S. Congress "the quick approval to a bill abolishing tariffs on cars assembled in Canada and any other country interested in signing a reciprocal agreement.

Canada abolished its tariffs on American cars and the new parts going into them by cabinet order Jan. 16, two days after President Johnson and Prime Minister Pearson signed the agreement on the Johnson ranch in Texas.

PREDICTS RESULT

Mr. Hales, 39-year-old merchant in Guelph, Ont., said the pact will remove all the incentives encouraging the "big three" car manufacturers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — to buy auto parts from Canadian companies."

Mr. Hales opened debate on a bill giving the government authority to spend $700,000,000 to meet ordinary expenses in April and May.

The interim supply measure is the supplementary spending estimate of $45,000,000 for the fiscal year ended Wednesday and the only legislative items remaining before the record - long session is prorogued. A new session will start shortly afterward.

EXPECTS INCREASE

Industry Minister Drury said the auto agreement will result in a 30-per-cent increase in the output of Canadian cars in the next three years and bring other economic benefits to Canada.

He acknowledged, however, that some ojb dislocation would take place in some parts of the Canadian auto industry.

It was true, Mr. Drury said, that fewer types of car parts would be manufactured in Canada in the future, as auto-

Complete Sell-out Charged

By RONALD LELEU

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Alfred D. Hales charged in the Commons Wednesday that the Canada-United States automobile agreement will wipe out hundreds of jobs in Canadian - owned auto parts plants.

"We have not got all the pieces but on the surface it would appear to be a complete sell-out to the U.S. so far as the automotive and car parts industry is concerned," he said in a supply debate.

Meteorites Light B. C. Sky

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Brilliant balls of fire lit the sky and landscape across British Columbia and parts of the United States Wednesday night in what a scientist said was probably one of the heaviest meteority showers in Canada since 1913.

In some cases, observers reported the brilliant objects were accompanied by rumbles which shook houses, rattled windows and made lighting fixtures swing.

No injuries or damage was reported.

Today's Chuckle

Nothing annoys a woman more than having her friends drop in unexpectedly and find the house looking as it usually does.

King Fights Negro School Principal Who Forbids Students Demonstrating

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP)— This town of 2,500 — where smoke bombs were used Wednesday to break up a march — braced today for more civil rights demonstrations designed to spark a school boycott linked to voter registrations.

The immediate target was Camden Academy, the only Negro school in the county.

Meanwhile, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. told an audience attending a testimonial dinner in his honor at Baltimore, "something must be done to prod the business community and the good people of Alabama."

"If it takes economic pressure to do this, we have a moral obligation to do it in Alabama," said King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

A Camden Negro minister SCLC member explained the purpose of the drive against Camden Academy and its principal, James Hobbs.

Rev. Daniel Harrell said the objective "is to stop the principal from prohibiting the students from getting out of school."

"This is an indirect protest," he said, "because the parents are prohibited from voting. We will keep the students out of school until their parents are allowed to vote."

Marchers were met Wednesday by Mayor Reg Albritton, 30 auxiliary policemen, nine state troopers and the sheriff.

The mayor ordered the demonstrators to stop because they did not have a parade permit. When they tried to continue smoke canisters were thrown.

The marchers fled the smoke in disorder and finally went home.

There were these other developments on the racial scene:

1. The home of a Negro public accountant in Birmingham was bombed and his son was hurt. The blast, apparently caused by dynamite, damaged the house of T. L. Crowell.

2. Benjamin Clark, an SCLC staff member, said in Montgomery that Negroes planned a boycott of downtown merchants in Alabama starting April 15 or before. He was commenting on a printed handbill which said, "as long as we can't register to vote, we shouldn't buy."

3. Members of the executive board of the SCLC began a two-day meeting in Baltimore. The major item of business was King's proposal for a nation-wide boycott of Alabama products.

RUNS FROM SMOKE BOMB — A Negro girl screams for help just after Camden, Alabama, city officials used smoke bombs to disperse a group of civil rights marches at the city limits. City officials stopped the Negro youths at the city limits when they could not produce a parade permit. The Negroes marched to protest at a local Negro high school which the principal would not permit his students to take part in civil rights demonstrations. (AP Wirephoto)

There Was a Young Girl Named Irene Who Was Really a Sight to Be Seen

* * *

When She Tended Bar They Came From Afar So Fair and So Bare Was the (Ob?) Scene

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I'm a stripper," said the barmaid. "Except I make more money here. No travelling around. I get to stay in one place."

Irene Ziemer, 23, cast an apprehensive glance around the little beer-and-wine bar, expected to be arrested any minute.

Three days later she was, and a hot legal issue has developed in southern California.

Irene is no ordinary waitress. She works in a topless bathing suit. Only what stripteasers call "pasties" kept her bosom from being completely bare.

Peter Tripp, owner of the bar in Torrance, decided to make a test case when the city passed a law against his scantily clad waitresses.

Torrance police obliged. Tripp, his wife and two waitresses were arrested—giving the courts a chance to argue the legal issue.

In nine, however, enforcement of one or more laws succeeded in forcing nudity, as it were, back under cover.

It all started two years ago when the restaurants catering to businessmen decided to hold noontime fashion shows. They hired pretty girls to model bikinis, shorty nightgowns and lingerie, and discovered a formula: The more girls showed, the more customers showed.

Then came the topless suit. It was inevitable: Topless suit, fashion shows.

While emergency city ordinances, arrests, threatened arrests, injunctions, trials and appeals confused the legal situation, a few bar owners followed the nudity formula one step further: Topless waitresses.

Like her co-defendants, she pleaded not guilty at her arraignment, and asked for a jury trial. It is set for April 13.

Most of the small, independent cities where topless shows or waitresses appeared passed local ordinances against them. At issue is the knotty legal problem called pre - emption: Can cities control nudity, or is it a state matter?

There's a state law that says a crime is committed when public decency is outraged.

But if high courts feel nudity is to be prosecuted only under the state law, arresting officers will have to produce members of the public whose decency was outraged by seeing bare-breasted women. Easily outraged people don't frequent such places, lawyers contend.

County Planning Board Wish of Council Members

Members of Hastings county council feel that planning should be done on a county basis rather than on an area basis possibly taking in only parts of several municipalities or counties.

Accordingly yesterday at its March session, council directed members of the planning committee to investigate the possibilities of forming a county planning board to have jurisdiction over the entire county.

Members of the county planning committee appointed last year include Thurlow Reeve Clayton Hall, with the reeves of Sidney, Tyendinaga and Rawdon, along with the county warden and the clerk-treasurer.

The committee was formed to discuss the feasibility of setting up a planning board on an area basis.

At the present time planning in Sidney and Thurlow townships is being done by the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board.

CHANGES VIEW

Yesterday, however, council took the view that planning should be done on a county basis.

It was noted, for instance that an area planning board would have no jurisdiction on questions arising in the north part of the county.

It was felt unfair that northern municipalities had to go to Toronto for approvals of land sales or other questions which were then decided by men with little or no knowledge of local conditions.

Reeve Willaps Reeve Thomas Burnside initiated yesterday's discussion, pointing out that considerable interest had resulted in Belleville for the past 15 years and prior to that in Toronto.

Mrs. Beattie is survived by two sons, George Keith-Beattie, Englewood, New Jersey; Harry Keith-Beattie, London, England, a sister, Miss Maud Dunnan lives in Belleville, and a brother, John Duncan, in Kent, England. Also surviving is a granddaughter, Lindsay Keith-Beattie, Englewood, N.J.

When health permitted, Mrs. Beattie attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon from the Thompson Funeral Chapel and interment will be in Belleville cemetery.

Former Padre Will Address Vimy Guests

TRENTON — Canon A. S. McConnell of Belleville, will be guest speaker at the annual Vimy 7 Vimy-VE dinner at Trenton Legion Branch 110.

Canon McConnell is a former padre of the branch.

WILL HOST MEETING

The town of Trenton, which is not a member of the Lake Ontario Development Association, will, nevertheless, play host to a LODA Zone 3-meeting on April 8. The dinner meeting will be held at the Red Lion, and the guest speaker will be S. G. Durant, a Canadian National Railways agent.

Trenton dropped its membership in LODA in 1963. Cost for membership on a seven cent per cent per capita basis would have been $967, and the council felt the day felt this was too costly.

Zero equals nothing. But when it doesn't even exist it equals plenty.

Like the error in last Tuesday's Intelligencer for instance. Ralph Dalton was fined $100 by Magistrate T. Y. Wills for a hit-run accident. A typographical error brought it down to $10, consequently bringing down the magistrate's ire.

"I was simply horrified," he confessed to his county court in Belleville this morning.

$6,000 fine would suit the public opinion to believe he would fine any driver a mere $10 for such an offence.

Paul Clare New President Of Union

Members of Local 466 of the Barbers' and Hairdressers' Internationl Union were held at a recent meeting in Belleville that a campaign is under way to have all affiliated union members patronize only union barber shops.

Applications will be circulated within the next ten days for a conference under the international charter and to establish conditions of hours, wages and prices.

Applications will be presented to the Ontario provincial convention requesting a subsidy for employment with apprentices in their shops, the subsidy to continue until the apprentice has served his time.

The meeting expressed its opposition to unqualified and unlicensed persons practising as barbers.

The local, meeting for the first time, was presented with its charter by Mr. Leo Lucciola, president of the Belleville and District Labour Council.

Paul Clare was elected president and other officers are: vice-president, Bob Smith; secretary-treasurer, Sydney Moss; recorder, Ken Young; guide, Ken Marion; guardian, Jim Stalker; delegates to the Labor Council, Dick Bashell and Bob Powers; auditors, John O'Neill and David Richards.

Fire Department Had Five Runs

The city fire department was called out five times yesterday, twice for service calls, and for the rest for what turned out to be minor alarms.

There were two calls for over - heated oil space heaters and one run to L. and W. Motors on Wilson Ave., where a truck caught afire while being worked on by a mechanic. Only minor damage resulted to the truck.

'EXPECTS' COSTLY

CHATHAM, England (CP) — Chatham council, planning to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the launching of Nelson's famous flagship Victory, has abandoned the idea of flying Nelson's historic "England Expects" signal. The signal needs 40 flags, none of which is used any more, and the cost of making them would be prohibitive.

Parks' Board Will Enclose Allison Park

TRENTON — Because east Trenton residents, living in the vicinity of Allison Park, have complained about children running over their lawns and flower beds, the members of the Trenton Parks' Board voted Tuesday night to enclose the large park with a five foot, chain link Frost fence. A surveyor will be asked to mark official boundary lines and the fence should be installed before summer playtime.

Similarly, and for the same reasons, one end of Cottrell Park in east Trenton will be fenced.

The boad is concerned about sand and gravel blowing out of the Stanley Island pit on to lawns surrounding the park, and advice as to how best to prevent erosion will be sought from the agriculture college at Guelph. The board would easily spend its annual grant of $14,000 from the town to grass the park and that would be the sanitary landfill method last year, hence there is no topsoil.

Parks secretary Miss Marion Baker has written away to firms enquiring about costs for the installation of an ornamental fountain in Frazier Park. This is to be the board's Centennial project and work on the project will start this year.

The board voted Tuesday night to renew its contract with parks' gardener, Bart Boers. The contract comes up annually for renewal.

Theatre Guild Preparing First Production of Year

Burned out but far from blacked out, the Belleville Theatre Guild is preparing to throw the lights on its first production of the year tomorrow night.

Finishing touches now are being put to the Guild's presentation of "The Starcross Story" at St. Michael's auditorium for the two-night production.

The production will be the result of extraordinary tenacity as much as talent.

The Guild, which lost its home and holdings two months ago in a million-dollar fire on Front Street, decided to carry on regardless with its plans for the season.

Included in the schedule was "The Starcross Story," a drama of personal conflict, directed here by Gordon Collins.

The players have been rehearsing since the disaster—which wiped out their fully-equipped little theatre on Playhouse—in quarters made available by the city's Elk Lodge.

Stewardship Program May Be Implemented

A committee to implement a stewardship program in the Quinte area this fall was established at a meeting of member denominations of the Canadian Council of Churches, in Belleville Tuesday.

Canon W. E. Hobbs, director of Information and Stewardship in the Anglican church spoke on the churches' responsibility in the dispensation of its gifts. "Canada," he said, "was regarded by Eastern countries as a Christian land and one of the "have" nations. Thus the responsibility of churches in Canada was greater in the sphere of stewardship."

He said it was the duty of congregations to become aware of their real ministry — to the community and to the world.

Theme of the meeting of clergy and laity in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was "Partnership in Ministry."

Speaker was L. Hutcheson, of the Diocese Office of Information and Stewardship of the Anglican church, said often at times were under pressure to produce "successful churches," meaning generous financial support, large buildings and extensive programs. But real success, he said, consisted in the spiritual growth of the congregation.

The host minister, the Rev. Laurie Sutherland, led a service of worship and other speakers included the Rev. Douglas Pilkey, Field Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Department of the United Church, who presented a film on the stewardship theme, illustrating how one church pursues its stewardship program.

Emphasis was laid on the work of the laity and on the fact that the total person was involved, Christianity being a full-time job.

Denominations represented at the meeting included the Salvation Army, Baptist, United Church, Anglican and Presbyterian.

Napanee Train Service Will Be Curtailed

NAPANEE — Passenger service will be discontinued from Napanee station and "some of the express freight employees" will be relocated to Belleville on a "step by step basis" this summer, R. G. Messenger, superintendent of express freight, Belleville, told reporters.

J. K. Fleming, passenger sales manager of Bay Rideau area, said there will be five "master stations" for passenger service — Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville and Cobourg. Passengers along the Toronto-Montreal line would board trains at these major centres, he stated. A shuttle service would take passengers from the local stations to one of the five master stations. (Stops will still also be made at Oshawa.)

Express traffic will be transported by highway to Belleville effective April 26. Pick-up and delivery of express freight will remain the same as present in Napanee and Deseronto.

Renovations to the station, amounting to "several thousand dollars" are expected to be completed within two weeks.

One wing of the station will be used for temporary storage of parcels to and from the delivery area outside Napanee. The other side will remain and continue to serve as a waiting room.

The present express freight employees at Napanee "have enough seniority to enable them to fill jobs at Belleville," a CN official said. He stressed that none of the present employees would be out of work because of the reorganization plans.

The consolidation of all express and freight personnel under one local supervisor, and plans to move clerical and accounting offices to Belleville this year were described as "an economic measure."

Officials said express parcels will still be received and shipped from the Napanee station. Freight trains stopping at Belleville will handle all Napanee express freight with delivery made here by CN's highway transport. Cobourg will be substituted for Port Hope as a stop because of better station and parking facilities.

U.S. Growers Want to Sell Japan Wheat

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — More American competition for Canadian wheat in Japan hinges on a campaign by growers in Montana and the Dakotas for lower freight rates.

If granted, these lowered rates would increase competition for the Japanese hard spring wheat market, in which Canada has built up a solid following.

The American wheat growers have applied to American railroads for a reduction of 20 cents on the current rate of 90 cents per 100 pounds to West Coast export points.

There is U.S. optimism that if such a rate reduction is granted—and rates were lowered in 1960-62 on hard winter wheats shipped from Pacific ports—a Japanese market of 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels annually could result.

TEST WHEAT

Japan has already imported 1,200 tons of hard spring wheat, to be submitted to milling and baking tests.

Test samples of U.S. durum wheat also are being pondered by Japan, says the U.S. agricultural department, for production of macaroni and spaghetti.

Heretofore,...Canada has held a virtual monopoly on a big Japanese market for hard spring wheat — Canada's principal wheat crop—used for mixing with other types in flour production.

Some American hard winter wheat has been a competitor but the U.S. hard spring wheat now involved, while without the reputation for consistent quality that Canada enjoys, has much the same general milling and baking qualities.

Japan is a choice market because of her expanding demand and capacity to pay cash on the bushel.

Napanee Man Dies After Alleged Fight

Police was being conducted today in Belleville to determine what caused the death of 57-year-old Robert James Sero.

Investigations started when constable F. C. Field was called to a house in the town last night where he found Mr. Sero dead on his arrival.

Toronto Firm May Be Hired To Plan Island

A Toronto firm of consulting engineers and town planners will in all probability be appointed to bring in proposals for centennial project for Belleville's Zwicky Island.

Yesterday the city council centennial project committee, under its chairman Alderman Thomas Lally, met with representatives of seven different planning firms and a recommendation is expected to be made to council for appointment of the firm of Proctor-Redfern-Bousfield and Bahn to plan development of the island.

The above firm is currently planning future lakefront development for the Golden Horseshoe area around the west end of Lake Ontario.

It is expected that a several years' development plan will be proposed, a portion of which will be designated as the city's centennial project.

For government subsidy purposes the city's centennial project would be limited to about $106,000, of which two-thirds would be contributed by the provincial and federal governments.

Proposals for centennial grant approvals have to be in by August 5th of this year.

Fined $100 On Theft Count

A young man, so obviously upset he had difficulty talking, today was fined $100 for stealing a $65 pay cheque from a fellow employee, a company employee.

Crown Attorney John Pringle said the man was "certainly sorry" for his offence and asked the fine be a penalty.

In addition, he was ordered to refund the $65—divided with a juvenile who stole the stolen cheque. The juvenile also has been charged.

We're All Auld Acquaintances

By HAROLD MORRISON

EDINBURGH (CP)—Scots reserve a special warm smile for Canadians. And there's a reason. Almost everywhere you go, from the bustling cities to the peaceful beauty of the uncluttered countryside, you hear that virtually every Scot has a Canadian relative.

"In many respects, the Scots feel closer to Canadians than they do to the English," says 39-year-old William Nicholson, veteran director of the Scottish Tourist Board and driving force behind the country's $300,000,000-a-year tourist industry.

"The English are very sincere friends of ours but over the years many of our kin emigrated to Canada and, of course, blood is the greater factor in human relations."

LIVE IN CANADA

Nicholson's own family is an example. His grandmother turned to the new land more than 60 years ago. Three of his brothers and two sisters are happy Canadians residing mainly in the Vancouver area.

But Bill also is an example of the depth of the Scottish heritage. A newspaper man for 25 years before he became tourist chief 20 years ago, he had ample opportunity to find lucrative employment in Canada. But the pull of the native soil is strong and Nicholson decided his job is to help build his own country's future.

"We Scots have made an enormous contribution to Canada's progress but we also have our jobs here. People come here to think that because we have 1,000 years of history, we now have grown decadent. They get their eyes opened."

For years Scotland relied mainly on coal, whisky, warships for jobs and money. But now lighter industry has moved in: crystal and plastics, women's fashions and electronics, textiles and home appliances.

"We now even make record players that we ship to Japan," says Bill with a smile.

"We're trying to save Scotland from becoming like some other countries — a tourist slum," Nicholson says. "We have many thousands of tourists and we need more. And whether we like it or not, they'll come. For this is one area in Britain where we still have room to expand."

You can travel for miles over the prettiest country roads you've ever seen and still not find a billboard in sight; no unsightly litter of empty beer cans or sandwich boxes. Once in a while you come across a sign which says simply: "Haste ye back."

Two Pistols Are Confiscated

Magistrate T. Y. Wills today declined a prosecutor's suggestion of a token $1 fine against a man who pleaded guilty to having a brace of loaded pistols.

Instead the magistrate made it $10.

However, Claude Pelletier, of Batawa, doesn't get off quite that easy. He also forfeits the guns, of .22 and .32 calibres discovered by police when he began target-practising in his basement.

EARLY COLONY NAMED

Poetic Justice

Those who believe in poetic justice have been regaling themselves with the accounts of the furore raised by the barring from Canada of Prof. Mulford Q. Sibley of the University of Minnesota. He was turned back at the border when on his way to address a Winnipeg meeting.

The crowning touch in their delight was provided when Prof. Sibley revealed he had been asked whether he was a communist and had declined to answer.

There is a delicious touch of irony in a citizen of the United States coming a cropper over this question, which is a standard weapon in the arsenal of United States immigration officials. The question has the great advantage of trapping not only known communists but also a mixed bag of believers in the dignity of the individual and his basic right to go about his business without every bureaucrat enquiring as to his political and other beliefs. Prof. Sibley, while he is a man with an independent turn of mind, is hardly a communist, since he happens to be a Quaker and nobody has yet been able to discover a method of getting these two ideologies to mix. However he evidently objected to the question, and refused to answer it, for which he deserves applause.

We are, however, intrigued at the spectacle of so highly-placed a politician as Vice-President Hubert Humphrey coming to his defence. If Mr. Humphrey would consider the mote in his own eye, he would probably conclude that his time would be better spent in seeking a cure for the long-standing habit which U.S. immigration officers have of posing this query. On this side of the border Canadians have, from time to time, waxed indignant when some harmless Canadian labor official has been barred from the U.S. as a threat to that nation's government. For them, of course, the lesson is that they should have been making sure the immigration laws of their country were not equally ridiculous.

We are shocked by the Iron Curtain, but along our own borders we erect an almost equally impenetrable barrier of red tape.

Irrational Terrorism

Over the weekend, five bombs were thrown at two Negro churches in the Meridian, Mississippi area.

These were not the first bombed at Negro churches, nor are they likely to be the last.

Church leaders are in the forefront of the civil rights movement.

Still, it seems strange that even the most hidebound segregationist would dream that bombing a church was an effective way of halting the civil rights drive.

Have the segregationists ever considered what life in the southland would be like today if the Negroes' leaders were not adherents of the Christian ethic, and particularly of that interpretation of it which rests on the New Testament image of a long-suffering Christ.

Even the old Testament, with its harsh creed of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, would present the bomb-throwers and the like with certainties of a hazardous existence.

What would happen if the Negroes were possessed of the aggressive spirit normally associated with an revolutionary movement? It is left to the imagination. Their cause might be irremediably harmed, but in the meantime the old South would be wracked by guerrilla warfare like that which tore Algeria apart. No man, white or black, would dare stir abroad at night and each home would be a beseiged camp.

Let's Have the Truth

The Federal Trade Commission in the United States is considering ordering U.S. tire manufacturers to tell the public of automobile tire hazards. This, says an Associated Press story from Washington, "could touch off a controversy as intense as the furore over whether the tobacco industry should be required to display warnings that habitual smoking may injure health."

We do not know why.

Those companies which produce reliable tires—and there are some—should benefit from a disclosure of the facts. As for the rest—or for the same companies if they produce unreliable tires to meet price competition — they deserve no sympathy.

Fire protection for township property immediately adjoining the city limits will cost rural municipalities $100 for the first hour and $50 for each additional hour that services of firemen may be required, it has been decided by the local fire committee.

The clerks of Sidney and Thurlow townships will be advised of the above decision, according to a recommendation of the local council members. In the past, fire protection by city equipment has been afforded for property just outside the city limits but no rate for reimbursement of the city had been set.

The property affected through the above decision would be that on the west side of Sidney Street north of College Street and east of Herchimer Avenue.

Brooks; treasurer, Paymaster Sergeant, H. L. Clown; secretary, Signaller Sergeant W. H. Reid, auditors, Q.M. Sergeant Frank Mills and Color Sergeant J. Turney; board of management, Sergeant W. Changed His View On Death Penalty

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

The main objection to capital punishment is that it does not deter crime, so say the agitators organized to stop these killers from getting the noose.

It is interesting to read that U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse filled the Congressional Record with speeches against capital punishment as a "relic of barbarism," but when there was a rash of airplane hi-jacking, although nobody was killed, he voted for a new capital punishment for non-killers who endangered air travel, the travel which he enjoyed!

He preferred the "relic of barbarism," the death penalty, as a deterrent to hi-jackers endangering his life, to his arguments and the statistics that show the death penalty is not a deterrent. The U.S. Senate vote for the death penalty for plane hi-jackers was 92-0. The House suspended its rules to pass the death penalty through by a vote of about 374-5.

AFK signed this death penalty into law on Sept. 5, 1961. It was argued that Congress must let these hi-jackers know they faced death for their prank. The members of Congress knew death was a deterrent. The hijacking stopped short, just as increasing murders would slow down if the gallows got working for the poor souls who are so often killed without a chance.

The above is a striking example where slobbering sentiment gives way to the more realistic and justifiable means of deterring brutal killers who so often vent their killing instincts on officers of the law who are trying to protect all of us.

Never Ailing, Now Suffers Stomach Cramp at Age 60

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 60-year-old husband has never been sick. Now he has trouble with some foods, mostly milk and ice cream which gives him cramps low in his stomach. What does this indicate?

I have heard that aspirins cause bleeding in the stomach. Is this true? He takes quite a few — also milk of magnesia tablets. Could they cause his trouble? — Mrs. F.

Doubtlessly you think you've asked me two questions — and I think you've asked me 22. Or thereabouts. So let me ask you a few:

If your husband has never been sick, why is he taking aspirins? Why is he taking milk of magnesia?

When you say milk or ice cream give him cramps low in his stomach, where do you mean? I've found that many people (most, perhaps) think it means somewhere down in the abdomen. Actually that's a long way below the stomach — some inches "as the crow flies" and you'll accept that term. Some feel, if you mean the wall the food winds its way through our hard-working innards.

Cramps in this case might perhaps indicate that an allergy has developed or that he is overly sensitive to cold things — both possible, but neither very common.

Has he avoided milk and ice cream for a month or two weeks? If he has, and the cramps still occur, he can be sure that his trouble is something else. And does he ever have cramps after eating other food? He has the cramps — but is he trying too hard to attribute the trouble to something he eats, instead of admitting that something else may be causing the trouble?

I think it is well enough established that aspirin can have some irritating effect, and can cause slight bleeding in sensitive people. But it doesn't cause cramps.

My guess is that something is ailing your husband, more than likely something that can be corrected without too much difficulty. But since he has never been sick, he hasn't learned what doctors are really for — mainly.

You don't, if you are smart, wait until you figure out what is troubling you, and then go to the doctor expecting him to cure it forthwith.

Rather, the most important reason for going to a doctor is to have him find out what is troubling you rather than what the cure usually is rather obvious.

The hardest job is diagnosis — what is causing the cramps, pains, jitters, itch, fatigue, weight loss, fever, spots, lumps, swelling or whatever other symptoms may be present.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are eggs bad for me? I have sinus trouble. — A. G.

No, not unless you are allergic to eggs, in which case they are bothersome whether you do or don't have sinus trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 70 and menstruated until about four years ago, but no more until last week. I feel good and work every day, but I am worried. Could this be cancer? — M. E. D.

It could be, but it also could be a lot of other things. This is not menstruation. It is bleeding. Whatever it is, it needs attention. Have your doctor investigate at once.

Blindness

Buffalo Evening News

One of the sad things about the Selma, Ala., crisis is the continuing blindness of certain state and local officials as shown by their utter failure to begin coming to terms with the basic sin of this Negro voting rights drive. From Gov. Wallace down, they still stubbornly treat the issue as if it were in doubt when in fact it is already obvious to most of the country —and to many in Alabama— that the purpose of the demonstrations must, in one way or another, be achieved.

Undecided Pearson Weighs Odds of a June Election

By RICHARD JACOBSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — If Prime Minister Pearson is to have that spring election some of his Cabinet are pressuring him to call, he will have to move his move in the next two, at most three weeks.

For by then a minimum of two months, 60 days, to go through all the campaign motions after the prime minister gives the election word, and the voters go to the polls.

He has only two to three weeks in which to make up his mind, because to delay the call beyond that time would schedule the election after the fourth and last available Monday in June and that would take it into summer holiday-time July.

While former Liberal Prime Minister St. Laurent tried a mid-Summer — August 10 — election in 1953 and rolled up a shocking majority, a holiday campaign is not politically fashionable, with too many voters having too many other more entertaining things — like vacations — on their minds.

The prime minister's associates say he remains torn with indecision, wanting to go for broke on the basis that almost anything is better than carrying on in the nearly - impossible minority Parliament — yet at the same time shrinking from the chance, knowing that the one worse than hanging one happily on in the Commons just might be defeat.

On his mental scales, these could be some of the pro-election considerations the prime minister is weighing:

Point: The Conservative Civil War over the leadership that is John Diefenbaker and at the same time damaging the Tory campaign potential.

Point: Prosperity may be peaking, with the threat of rising prices and the possibility of a levelling-off or even a downturn later this or early next year.

Point: Already angry over lower wheat prices, Prairie farmers could become downright furious if next year's incomes reflect this year's shrunken grain sales.

Point: Now all smiles and chuckles over the Canada Pension Plan, the voters may not be so merry and bright later, when next year it begins to cost them tax money.

Point: With the economy booming, there is room in this budget for tax relief if Government spending is up.

Point: While campaign funds always are a problem, the Liberal Moneymen have not cut off the Party as have the Conservative political spenders in their leadership siege to stave out John Diefenbaker.

Point: Better go now when the Government has the initiative rather than wait and risk carrying four Opposition groups uniting to bring down the Administration and bring on an election.

CON

Point: English Canada's varying apathy, antipathy and even hostility to the Bilingual and Bicultural Commission, perhaps to some extent to the flag, and any number of other things associated with the Government's accommodation of the "Quiet Revolution" in Quebec.

Point: What has become known, simply as "The Scandals," with the Dorion Commission investigation of Corruption in High Places and everybody asking "Whatever happened to Lucien Rivard?"

Point: The low and still-sinking public esteem of the Cabinet Ministers from Quebec including Justice Minister Favreau, Postmaster General Tremblay, State Secretary Lamontagne and certain of the second echelon men, not excluding Guy Rouleau, — the prime Minister's former Parliamentary Secretary and Liberal Caucus chairman.

Point: The polls showing the sudden up-surge of the New Democrats, Socreds and Creditistes coupled with the downslide of Liberal (and Conservative) popularity ratings.

Point: The current public disenchantment with this Parliament and these Parliamentarians.

Point: The fear the the Liberals might sweep Quebec and do indifferently in the rest of the country, becoming in fact one election at least, the party of French Canada.

There are other and equally compelling reasons for the Prime Minister to hold his election bureaus.

But whether the scales are balanced, or coming down for or against the election, the voters should know, one way or the other, before this month is out.

Strictly Personal

Genius—A Question Of Renewal

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudice: The difference between mere "brilliance" and true "genius" is that the former casts a light, while the latter creates an atmosphere; the brilliant person makes us see what we did not see before, but the genius shows us how to see the familiar in an entirely new way, and the spiritual climate of our world is never the same after this revelation.

You could hardly wait for the new film, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," to be released, so that when somebody asks me, "Have you seen the picture?" I can reply, "No, but I read the book."

When a man has high standards of something to agree with, he is an "eminent authority,"; but when he has high standards on something about which we have low standards, he becomes an "intellectual snob."

The people who are the blurbs for the dust-jackets of novels are often better fiction writers than the novelists they are writing about.

Does anyone also object to the silly use of the word "party" for "person"?

Most men who head philanthropic work in spend their best years in amassing money, and are now spending their later years in trying to manufacture needles with larger eyes for camels to pass through.

What would happen if it that enables a woman, a half-hour after a strange couple has entered the room, to tell whether their marriage is going well?

The recent spate of Red Chinese rel reminded me that xenophiles who are forever prattling about the "peaceful" nature of Peoples would receive a severe jolt if they realised that for many years the people of China a a film stars in most European countries were—Laurel and Hardy.

An author who prefers obscure writing for its own sake is one who would rather be dead than read.

When a man, in conference, tells his associates or subordinates that "we need an approach that is dynamic, creative and flexible," you may be sure that he doesn't know what is needed.

Intuition is a form of grasping knowledge that goes beyond logical thinking; but most people use the word to justify a form of mental laziness that hasn't bothered to come up to logical thinking.

Gossips are usually oblivious to the truth of Richter's observation that: "A person never shows his own character so plainly as by the way he portrays another's."

Clergy Respond

Christian Science Monitor

Today's clergyman are increasingly demanding a demonstrated "social responsibility" of themselves in acting on the Biblical command to love thy neighbor. They are resisting a notion of the man of the cloth as a spiritually minded worthy somehow isolated from the world. The clergy's response to Selma is only the latest indication of a growing sense of engagement that goes back to the "freedom riders" and before. The meeting of religious leaders in Washington appropriately brings to national focus the commitment of those many individuals who, like James Reeb, are all to minister unto the people.

Little Ivan Learning English as She's Spoke

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — The little Russian girl in Syntalia stood with a pointer in hand before a huge relief map of Europe and spoke excitedly in English.

"Almost 800,000,000 people inhabit the territory of Europe," she said. "This amounts to more than one-fifth of the population of the globe. The average density of population is 64 persons to the square kilometre."

She was answering questions from her teacher in a Grade 8 geography class that is notable because the subject is taught in English.

"Good morning," visitors from English - speaking lands hear as they are ushered through the hallways and up the stairs of the five-year-old brick building.

The greeting loses none of its spontaneity by reason of the fact that the children who utter it seem to have been well rehearsed and carefully deployed.

The windows of No. 5 look out on the square apartment dwellings, each containing about 200 flats, and the school is directly responsible for the children in three adjacent structures.

WAITING LIST

Children who live farther away are admitted on a selected basis and there is a waiting list.

The school has 700 students in Grades 1 to 9, with a 10th grade to be added next year.

In Russia, children enter Grade 1 at age seven so the normal age of a child finishing Grade 9 is 15 or 16.

"The main thing is to teach the students to speak English," said Tatiana Dmitrievna Autonova, deputy director of the school. She emphasized the word "speak."

"So oral practise is stressed. In the junior classes the emphasis is on pronunciation. We use textbooks as well of supplementary material connected with oral topics. We also employ tape recorders and films."

While English is taught as a subject, it is also employed as the language of instruction for other subjects, such as Grade 8 geography.

Mrs. Autonova, who speaks excellent English, directs the English-language program. She explained that "English English" is taught where there is a difference between it and "American English." However, children were exposed to different accents in the effort to ensure that they will understand English no matter by whom it is spoken.

BEGIN IN GRADE 2

Of the 46 teachers on staff, 24 are capable of conducting a class in English.

From the second through fourth grades pupils have four English classes a week; from fifth through seventh six a week; eighth and seventh a week, and ninth grade six classes.

In the ordinary Russian school English is taught only from Grade 5.

As is the custom in Russia, children wear uniforms to school—the girls a plain brown dress or two-piece blue suit; the boys a plain grey suit. All wear red kerchiefs.

The school is open 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. with four recesses of 10 and 15 minutes.

Mrs. Autonova said the school is affiliated with the U.S.S.R.-Canada Society and its students correspond with school children in Canada. Recently 32 letters had arrived from John Ross Robertson school in Toronto.

A Canadian schoolchild might be surprised at some of the things taught about Canada at No. 5, for example, the process by which Ottawa became the capital.

Montreal had been the capital, said a Grade 8 student in reply to her teacher, "but there was an uprising there and Elizabeth decided to punish Montreal so Ottawa became the capital of Canada."

"That's all right," commented the teacher by way of approval, either unconscious or unaware that Ottawa had been chosen in 1858 by Queen Victoria over Kingston, Montreal, Toronto and Quebec City.

PRAISE ROBESON

Propaganda and ideological bias are evident in the school. For instance, Grade 6 students are shown a story in slides about a brave dog who helped rescue the commander of a Soviet scouting party during the Second World War.

The word "fascists"—the ultimate in opprobrium here—is used indiscriminately in the second track and in the subsequent question-and-answer session.

Then there is a blurb about American singer Paul Robeson —"great friend of the Soviet people"—on the wall of one classroom. It pictures Robeson as the victim of reactionary forces and says: "Reaction was never lulled into inactivity. It buried the forces of its hatred. Its representatives persecuted Robeson and made every effort to silence him. . . ."

the company shouldn't have to answer rumors."

Gen. Graham said he "argued that it should."

He quoted Mr. Campbell as saying: "I'll have to speak to the minister about this" and "it's the minister of mines is "very interested in keeping the stock listed."

Asked whether the statement Mr. Campbell had produced was one Windfall had subsequently offered in reply to TSE demands, Gen. Graham said it was.

Gen. Graham said that about 11 p.m. that night he received a phone call from Mr. Wardrope.

He said: "Mr. Wardrope, who is a friend of mine, asked 'are you going to be able to get the problem of Windfall ironed out?'"

Gen. Graham said he told Mr. Wardrope that all the exchange wanted was a statement from the company.

NOT MAKING REQUEST

At this point, he told the commission: "I must make it clear that Mr. Wardrope was not making any requests of me or the exchange. I felt that he, as minister of mines, was interested in the situation."

When Gen. Graham arrived at the exchange at 8:30 a.m. Monday, July 13, he was informed Mr. Campbell had already called and said a further statement would be forthcoming.

On Mr. Campbell's word the exchange decided not to suspend Windfall.

Later in the morning, Gen. Graham said, Mr. Wardrope told him: "Well another statement will be forthcoming by about 10:30 a.m."

Gen. Graham said the statement promised by Mr. Wardrope arrived at 10:30 a.m. and "even then it was not the type of statement we felt should be issued."

Gen. Graham said that at a meeting of the exchange board of governors July 15 he was going to raise the Windfall subject but was called out of the meeting by a telephone call from John Kimber, chairman of the OSC.

CONFIDENCE MEETING

Gen. Graham testified: "He (Mr. Kimber) asked me if I, TSE vice-president W. L. Somerville and chairman of the board, Marshal Stearns, would attend a meeting at the OSC to meet Windfall officials if he could set it up."

Gen. Graham agreed and later in the day the TSE officials met with George MacMillan, president of Windfall, Ira Viola, Mr. Kimber, Dr. M. H. Frohberg, OSC geologist, and Mr. Forbes MacFarland, a member of the OSC.

Of the meeting, Gen. Graham said: "It was quite a meeting. Viola MacMillan did most of the talking."

He said Mr. MacMillan didn't say much, but agreed with his wife that the company should not be forced to give any information on the drill core.

Following the meeting a press release was issued by the OSC, but Gen. Graham said he was not satisfied with it.

Gen. Graham said: "I don't think that if we went through the whole thing again we would act any differently. Hindsight is alright, but I think we acted properly. . . ."

Meighen Biography Sparks Court Hassle

By JOHN LeBLANC

TORONTO (CP)—A behind-the-scenes controversy over the serialization of excerpts from public life of Arthur Meighen has held up for almost a year publication of the third and final volume of Prof. Roger Graham's biography of the former prime minister.

The dispute has become public with the filing of a suit by the university of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon, to force the reputable publishing firm of Clarke, Irwin and Company to issue the book or pay him damages. The company has entered a counter-claim for damages alleging breach of contract.

The suit has created concern of Canadian political history puzzled for months. Prof. Graham's first two volumes, covering the Meighen years to 1927, were published by Clarke, Irwin in 1960 and 1963, and the third book entitled No Surrender was announced for the 1964 spring list. Since then, inquirers have been told that a chapter was being rewritten.

The author-publisher dispute centres around how Meighen came to be appointed and successfully for the chancellorship of the University of Toronto in 1932 to succeed Sir Robert Falconer, who had given up the office after becoming governor-general. Prof. Graham says Falconer, a former U. of T. dean of arts, was chosen over the old Conservative chief in the expectation through the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. In a statement, the association said the pavilion will be "both entertaining and informative."

SAYS COPIES IMPOUNDED

According to the company documents in the Ontario Supreme Court, Prof. Graham's narrative implies without verification that Dr. W. J. Alexander Clarke—then head of the publishing firm—was the leading agent in persuading Falconer to become a candidate and hence largely responsible for his humiliation.

Prof. Graham's statement of claim says that Mr. Clarke's widow—now head of the publishing firm and a joint defendant with the company—issued instructions for the impounding all copies of the third volume and barring it there from publication after they had been printed in book form.

He stated an officer of the firm told him she was personally dissatisfied with references to her late husband. This is denied in the defendants' reply, which states she acted in the interests of the company and that the chancellorship incident was not "accurately or satisfactorily" dealt with.

The author says that his references to the incident were a material part of the biography and a true account but, to remove Mrs. Clarke's "personal objections" and get the book published, he drafted revisions "insofar as a due regard for the account would permit." He says these were rejected by either Mrs. Clarke or the company or both.

WANTS COURT ORDER

The defendants say that the company supported, assisted in the treatment of the disputed chapter but that Prof. Graham refused to accept them. They maintain that publication of the book as written would injure the reputation of the company and the writer.

Prof. Graham, claiming there was an implied agreement with the firm to publish the book in a reasonable time, asks the court to order publication of the third volume or award damages against the company and its president for $40,000 for loss of royalties, damage to his reputation and loss of time and effort for "inducing" the firm to breach its agreement.

The defendant's counter-claim for $10,000 from Prof. Graham alleges the company suffered damages through Prof. Graham's insistence on his own version of the disputed facts. It had the right under its agreement with the author to decline publication if in its opinion the work was "not properly prepared or unsatisfactory."

MACKENZIE BOOK KILLED

Prof. Graham's work is not the first political biography in Canada to run into pre-publication trouble. Editor emeritus Arthur R. Ford of the London Free Press, in a recent column asking what happened to No. 3 of the Meighen set, recalled the fate of a book on William Lyon Mackenzie.

It had been written by William Dawson Lesueur, an Ottawa historian, for a 1908 series called The Makers of Canada, but when publication time came the publishers were faced with a restraining court injunction makers switched some of their orders to U.S. plants. Canadian parts manufacturers would have to become more efficient to stay in the competition.

Mr. Hales accused the government of signing an important trade agreement without committing Parliament or even informing MPs of the implications. The pact was contrary to Canadian practice.

Douglas Fisher, New Democratic deputy leader, spoke before to appeal for a fast clearing of the marathon session. He should "have our heads examined if we aren't out of here by Friday," he said.

Today's sitting will be the 247th since the session opened Feb. 18, 184. The longest previous session lasted 174 days in 180-81.

NON-SWIMMER NOW TOPS

CALGARY (CP)—Mrs. H. C. Wirth, winner of the Royal Life Saving Society's "instructor of the year" trophy for the second time, couldn't swim a stroke until she was 40. However for the past two years she has taught the largest class of bronze medallion candidates in the province. "Naturally it takes a little longer to learn when you're 40," she says, "but it's worth every minute."

Prime Minister Pearson said the government does not intend to press for parliamentary ratification of the constitutional amending formula until the legislatures act on it.

TO HONEYMOON HERE?

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — There was speculation here today that Princess Margriet, 22, whose engagement to a 26-year-old Dutch commoner, Pieter Van Vollenhoven, was announced by Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard March 10, may spend her honeymoon in Canada. Princess Margriet was born Jan. 19, 1943 in Ottawa.

Liquor, Cigarettes, Cars May Be Heavily Taxed

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, may be forced to impose heavy taxes on nearly-burdened Britons to pull Britain out of the red and curb a consumer appetite for goods that is outpacing the country's ability to produce.

Callaghan unveils his budget next Tuesday and some London newspapers speculated the tax blow may fall on cigarettes, liquor and automobiles and perhaps other products through a boost in the 25-per-cent purchase tax.

The treasury published its annual survey of the country's economic health Wednesday, showing full employment and a healthy, 7½-per-cent rise in the gross national product. But this was accompanied by a big drop in Britain's monetary reserves and a sharp, $2,285,000,000 deficit in international payments which include trade in capital, goods and services.

In fact, the treasury had to use $1,700,000,000 in international borrowings and $366,000,000 from the country's own gold and currency reserves last year to fight off a world attack on the pound. At the end of 1964 the reserves dropped to $2,289,000,000, the lowest in many years.

NOT OUT OF WOODS

A treasury official said the country still is not out of the woods, though there are signs of improvement.

The London Evening News suggests Callaghan may curb the flow of private British investments abroad, since a heavy exodus of long-term capital added to Britain's 1964 financial troubles.

Callaghan's more pressing problem likely will be to eliminate an international "confidence crisis," by showing the world the government will use tough measures to make the country competitive.

the company shouldn't have to answer rumors."

Gen. Graham said he "argued that it should."

He quoted Mr. Campbell as saying: "I'll have to speak to the minister about this" and "it's the minister of mines is "very interested in keeping the stock listed."

Asked whether the statement Mr. Campbell had produced was one Windfall had subsequently offered in reply to TSE demands, Gen. Graham said it was.

Gen. Graham said that about 11 p.m. that night he received a phone call from Mr. Wardrope.

He said: "Mr. Wardrope, who is a friend of mine, asked 'are you going to be able to get the problem of Windfall ironed out?'"

Gen. Graham said he told Mr. Wardrope that all the exchange wanted was a statement from the company.

NOT MAKING REQUEST

At this point, he told the commission: "I must make it clear that Mr. Wardrope was not making any requests of me or the exchange. I felt that he, as minister of mines, was interested in the situation."

When Gen. Graham arrived at the exchange at 8:30 a.m. Monday, July 13, he was informed Mr. Campbell had already called and said a further statement would be forthcoming.

On Mr. Campbell's word the exchange decided not to suspend Windfall.

Later in the morning, Gen. Graham said, Mr. Wardrope told him: "Well another statement will be forthcoming by about 10:30 a.m."

Gen. Graham said the statement promised by Mr. Wardrope arrived at 10:30 a.m. and "even then it was not the type of statement we felt should be issued."

Gen. Graham said that at a meeting of the exchange board of governors July 15 he was going to raise the Windfall subject but was called out of the meeting by a telephone call from John Kimber, chairman of the OSC.

CONFIDENCE MEETING

Gen. Graham testified: "He (Mr. Kimber) asked me if I, TSE vice-president W. L. Somerville and chairman of the board, Marshal Stearns, would attend a meeting at the OSC to meet Windfall officials if he could set it up."

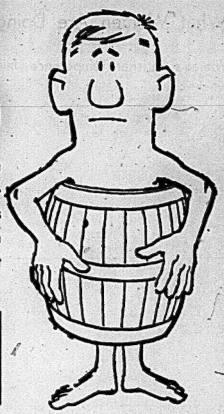
Gen. Graham agreed and later in the day the TSE officials met with George MacMillan, president of Windfall, Ira Viola, Mr. Kimber, Dr. M. H. Frohberg, OSC geologist, and Mr. Forbes MacFarland, a member of the OSC.

Of the meeting, Gen. Graham said: "It was quite a meeting. Viola MacMillan did most of the talking."

He said Mr. MacMillan didn't say much, but agreed with his wife that the company should not be forced to give any information on the drill core.

Following the meeting a press release was issued by the OSC, but Gen. Graham said he was not satisfied with it.

Gen. Graham said: "I don't think that if we went through the whole thing again we would act any differently. Hindsight is alright, but I think we acted properly. . . ."



SEEKS SPECIAL SEATS

MONTREAL (CP)—"In some European cities, including Paris, two seats are reserved on each bus or subway car for sick or crippled persons and pregnant women," says Mrs. Sophia Slonska, who is trying to have the same practice set up here. She thinks obviously crippled people in Canada are offered seats, but there is a need for people who don't look sick but are unable to stand because of some unseen ailment.

What Women Are Doing

Women's Christian Temperance Union

Mrs. R. G. Coulter, President

The Women's Christian Temperance Union was founded in 1873 by Frances Willard of Hillsboro, Ohio, who is considered the pioneer of women's international societies and the first to call for international peace.

She has been called the greatest philanthropist of the 19th century and the spirit of her crusade has spread to other lands. Today the WCTU is worldwide, organized on a local, county, provincial, national and international level in 50 countries throughout the world.

The emblem is the little white bow, having as its prophecy "The liquor traffic shall not ultimately triumph." There is not a civilized nation today that is not studying the problem of alcoholism.

A clip sheet is used each month compiled by the national organization. This furnishes a scientific study on alcohol, narcotics, gambling and other social evils which affect public health, safety and economy.

The program of the Belleville Union is principally in the interest of youth with scientific alcohol education the chief approach. Oratorical essays and poster contests are sponsored in the public schools, and the winning entries compete at county, provincial, national and international levels. This department was introduced over 30 years ago, and prizes have repeatedly been won at the national level.

A carefully chosen film is shown during the month of March under the supervision of the film director. Principals, teachers and pupils have been most co-operative.

A pleasant and effective approach to the educational work among girls is carried on at the WCTU camp, located at Lake Conseron. This is sponsored by the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington, and has carried on during July and August since 1920. This is a non-profit camp, open to all regardless of race, color or creed.

In 1957 an appeal for funds was made to which the people responded wonderfully, and the camp purchased the land and made improvements which meet all the requirements. Capable leaders from Toronto and local areas direct the activities.

Since the use of alcohol has become a part of our society, public education must include an interpretation of the role these beverages play in the lives of today's citizens, and this is the role of the WCTU.

This is the twelfth in a series of articles about women's organizations and their activities in Belleville.

Anger Flattered Husband When He Deserved Laughter

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Last Friday my husband packed his toothbrush, pyjamas and good suit, Joe was off to his home town for an all-male get-together planned by some boyhood pals. It was going to be a blast — seeing the fellows he grew up with, Joe's home town is a five-hour drive from here and he said, he'd be sleeping at his folk's house if I should need him.

ANN LANDERS

He rolled in about 4:30 Saturday afternoon, slightly hungover, but aglow with stories of the great time he's had. Of course he brought messages from his parents and others he had seen.

That same evening his mother telephoned. I asked her how she thought Joe looked. Well, she hadn't seen him since Christmas.

I told Joe that I knew he had not been home. So where was he? He looked me straight in the eye and said, "I was parked across the street 'til 2:00 a.m. watching the house. I thought you were running around and I didn't want to lose you."

I am furious that he believes I would buy such a story. I'd like your comment. — GREENVILLE.

• • •

DEAR GREENVILLE — Joe must be a terribly inexperienced liar to have come up with that one. Your anger was a flattering response. Laughter is what he deserved.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS I have a problem and I need help from someone who doesn't know me. My dad is an important man in town and I don't want to disgrace anybody.

I'm a boy, 16. Every weekend I drink a lot, whether I am with other guys, with a date or by myself. Sometimes I don't even remember how I got home or what happened. I never drink during the week. My parents know I take a drink but they don't know how much drinking I do. Have you ever heard of a guy 16 drinking like this? I try to make a rule that I won't drink more than four at the most, but I can't follow the rule because I don't know when I lose count.

There has never been an alcoholic in our family and I would hate to be the first. Please help me. — SINKING FAST.

• • •

DEAR SINKING — Maybe there has never been an alcoholic in your family before, but there's one now, You.

Trying to stop at four drinks is not the answer. An alcoholic should not have even a teaspoon of liquor. Tell your parents you are not well and that you want to see a doctor. Confide in the doctor and he will guide you.

Alcoholism is a symptom of a deeper problem. You must learn through therapy why you are so unhappy that you must get bombed out of your mind every weekend.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS — This is for "Cornflower Blue" the woman who cautioned "ungrateful" children to be kind and attentive to their mothers "while there is still time."

I have a 73-year-old mother, but I can't go to see her more than once a week because she makes me sick. My mother was always domineering and ruthless. Her caustic tongue has caused me considerable anguish. We speak on the phone almost every day and every conversation has a needle in it for me.

My two brothers pay very little attention to mother but she has never felt the need to punish them. I have borne her hostility for many childhood years.

Every story has two sides and I hope you'll print mine for those who wish we could love our mothers, but we can't because they won't let us. — UNLOVED.

• • •

DEAR UNLOVED — Here's your side. And please know you have my sympathy — and so does your mother. She probably got that way because of her mother.

• • •

Parents are people — they can be right and they can be wrong. To help understand their viewpoint and to promote harmony at home, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Medical Society W.A. Hears Discussion on Radiology

The regular monthly meeting of the W.A. to the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Medical Society was held recently in Education Hall.

Mrs. A. Rota conducted a brief business meeting at which time the treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Miles, gave a financial report of the 1965 "Fantasy in Fashions."

Because of the success of this year's fashion show, sizeable donations were made to the Salvation Army for sending needy children to summer camp, the Belleville and District Retarded Children's School, the Trenton - Brighton Retarded Children's School, and the Bursary and Loan Fund of the W.A. to the Ontario Medical Association. This fund supports deserving medical students.

The needs of other charitable organizations were to be investigated, and reports returned as soon as possible.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. J. Nelles by the president for her excellent convenership of the fashion show, and the business meeting was adjourned as guests joined the members for a program on radiology.

TWO SPEAKERS

Mrs. J. A. Empson introduced the speakers, Dr. Peter Loder, director of Radiology for Belleville General Hospital, and the assistant director, Dr. Neal Reid.

Dr. Loder discussed the two branches of radiology, namely diagnostic and therapeutic. Diagnostic radiology is used for the detection of disease. Therapeutic radiology means information gained from X-rays to the attending physician. Therapeutic radiology is used in the treatment of cancer.

The radiology department in B. G. H. is comprised of two qualified radiologists (who have done four years post-graduate study in radiology and met specialists' requirements in their field), several X-ray technicians, dark-room operators, and secretarial staff.

The technicians can be trained in R.G.H.'s School of X-ray Technology which is affiliated with Kingston General Hospital. This is a two-year course after completion of Grade 12, and trains the graduate in the proper use of x-ray machines.

Dr. Loder stressed the many steps taken to prevent the staff from over-exposure to radiation. Monitoring badges are worn by all those coming in contact with the rays.

As in every field of medicine, great progress has been made in radiology since it was first discovered in 1895 by Professor Roentgen. Dr. Loder said that in 1910 it took ten minutes to get a chest x-ray, whereas in 1965 it takes one second. Many technical break-throughs have been accomplished in the past decade.

FILMS SHOWN

Dr. Reid showed several x-ray films, explaining that bodily materials transmit and absorb different degrees of radiation, for instance, soft tissues are less opaque to the rays than is bone which absorbs considerable amount of radiation and transmits less. This differentiation accounts for the shadows seen in x-ray films.

Radio opaque material can be taken or injected internally to outline such structures as kidneys or stomach. This allows the radiologist to detect any variation from the normal appearance of the organs. Dr. Reid pointed out various irregularities in the films, some easily discernible to the untrained eye such as cracks in bones, and others which appeared as vague shadows, and required the diagnostic ability of the skilled radiologist.

Mrs. R. Bateman thanked the doctors for their time and effort in this presentation.

Canadian Women Have Varied Opportunities to Continue Their Education

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—In Edmonton, mothers park their babies with a campus baby-sitting service while they attend courses in oral French or philosophy at the University of Alberta.

In Winnipeg, mothers and daughters from underprivileged or disoriented families may attend special evening classes in basic homemaking.

These are only two of the varied opportunities many Canadian women now have to continue or supplement their education through extension courses, says a bulletin released by the women's bureau of the federal labor department.

"Today, more than ever before in history, people are aware of the need for continuing education—of keeping their minds alive to the world around them," says the bureau.

"The fast pace at which changes occur both in the work environment and in their social surroundings makes it imperative that they make an effort to be informed. Educational systems, government and industry are all making contributions to the stream of available information."

The University of Alberta's department of extension is one example. Its special courses under the title Continuing Education for Women include Canadian history, English literature, oral French and philosophy.

TAUGHT TO BUDGET

Another example is the Winnipeg school board's special evening classes for women from disturbed families. They come to learn the basics of budgeting, the efficiency tricks of the good housemaker, or the popular skill of hairstyling.

In Toronto, the University of Toronto has three afternoon courses especially for women. They are The Law and Women, Shaw—Thinker and Playwright and a course on modern India and its relation to our world.

McMaster University at Hamilton and the University of Waterloo at Waterloo, Ont., have also set up special courses for women.

At McMaster, one day a week at 1:45 to 3:15 p.m. they may take courses in the French Novel, Understanding Philosophy and Political Traditions in the West. A nursery for preschool children is provided by the university.

At Waterloo, women were given a chance to choose what courses they would most like to study.

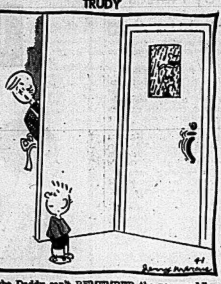
Following a survey of more than 3,000 women in the Kitchener - Waterloo area, courses were started by the university in contemporary prose and poetry, money matters, current affairs, mathematics for parents, history of religion, and conservation and planning. No educational qualifications are required.

CHECK WHAT'S WANTED

The bulletin indicates that the women's bureau believes these courses are a good beginning, but it also says the future holds more exciting things for women who want to further their education.

The Canadian Federation of University Women currently is conducting a questionnaire in 11,000 members to find out what these women want in the field of continuing education.

"McMaster's nursery for preschoolers of mothers who are taking courses offers bright hope as a possible forerunner of a trend which will enable married women with young children to improve their knowledge and prepare themselves to make a contribution to the world of work should they wish to do so."



The McGill Alumnae Society is hoping to begin a program similar to the Radcliffe Institute of Independent Study in Boston.

"If this project comes to fruition, it will mean that married women between the ages of 25 and 50 will be able to undertake scholarly or creative work with some financial aid toward household help."

The bulletin adds that the appointment of directors and course consultants in adult or continuing education has begun under the federal - provincial Technical and Vocational Training Agreement.

"This movement will, doubtless, spread as continuing education realizes the enormity of the task which lies in the years ahead. To the individual, this means that a willing ear is available for course suggestions and for advice."

SURE CURE

Dear Susanna: Sediment has formed a ring in the bottom of our wine decanter. We don't know how to get at it or what to use to remove it. How about it? — P.G.H.A.

To remove these deposits, try, of all things, a small quantity of alcohol. Leave it in the decanter covering the stain for several days for best results. Swish around and rinse well.

Sort of like using a bit of the hair of the dog that bit it — hm? — SUSANNA

LEANING TOWERS

Dear Susanna: If you are wondering what to do with those crazy bent candles you left sitting in their holders in that sunny window, here is how to straighten them out.

Place them in a plastic bag, close the top with string or elastic and immerse the whole thing in warm water.

As soon as the candles have softened a little again you can manipulate them back into their original shape quite easily. — Mrs. B. L. Lang

The Back's to the Front In Latest Hat Fashion

By MARGARET NESS

Straw hats for spring come in a variety of silhouettes but they have one thing in common—the accent is on the back.

Either slant or trim (or, as Adolfo of New York says, "droop or drape") may be employed to give the back of the hat its interest.

One result is that many usually distinctive shapes, such as the beret, become dare-devilish.

Banded and kerchiefed effects are seen everywhere. The Paris House of Dior is partial to a bandana turban. Even Hattie Carnegie's straight-out sombrero has, underneath, its own tied-back kerchief cap which, incidentally, can be worn separately.

One casual cape-like hat in yellow and white straw braiding slopes backwards in folds on which perches a tiny bow almost below ear level. Many hats are scarfed to flow down the back.

Brims are strongly represented. Some are even huge platters, and in the Lanvin collection in Paris they're worn in a dramatic side tilt.

Flattering upswept brims seem to be most popular, and they're not necessarily incompatible with the back-of-the-hat emphasis. Lilly Dache places a large breton well back on the head so that the silhouette line sweeps toward the back of the neck.

Level brims, however, are the best balance with the new skinny coats. These include many variations of the Jamaican planter style.

SOME ARE BILLOWY

The slouch, made famous by Garbo and Dietrich, offers another sort of brim for spring. Sally Victor likes billowy hats that flow and curve around the face. One vivid turquoise straw underlines its swooping brim with pale seafoam. Adolfo is especially interested in floppy brims.

Sometimes a brim is small. Mr. John featured small, saucy brims in a selection of his reasonably - priced hats. Included was a cloche in polished balibouni straw with a high dome and a shorter eye-level brim.

While milliners have their own shape preferences, all agree on the bonnet as the major new silhouette. However, you have to be either very young or very sophisticated to carry off a chin-tied bonnet with aplomb.

This spring is the season for shiny straw. The emphasis is on smooth and lightweight textures. Thin, airy and pliable fabrics continue popular for travel.

It's also the season for coordinated wools. Your hat complements rather than matches your costume. Pale colors predominate. Pink is a favorite with most milliners both abroad and at home. Newest colors are in apricot, coral and salmon tones. Green is mostly mint or new almond. Yellow ranges from pale to medium.

Federated WI Will Sponsor Poem Contest

STIRLING — The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada are sponsoring a competition among the 72,000 members for a centennial poem. The poem can be centred on any phase of Canada's 100 years since Confederation.

The competition is open to any Institute member across Canada and is one section of the Federation's Triennial Lady Tweedsmuir competition. There are two other competitions open for the best village history and for the best sample of drawn thread work. The latter is one of the oldest forms of embroidery.

The Lady Tweedsmuir competition was begun in 1945 by the widow of the former Governor - General and presented the Federation with three silver cups to be awarded for the best village history and to the winners in cultural and handicraft sections. When Lady Tweedsmuir started the competition, she said, "It is a most useful and satisfying task for Women's Institute members to see that nothing valuable is lost or forgotten. Women should be on the alert to guard the traditions of their bones."

NEW POST FILLED

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Christine Waddell, a former union official, has been appointed provincial industrial relations officer, concentrating on the problems of working women.

Legion News

COL. PHAY WILLS BRANCH EX - SERVICEWOMEN

The regular meeting of the Col. Phay Wills Branch Ex-Servicewomen was held in the Legion hall with the president Comrade Janet MacDonald in the chair.

Comrade Ina Rollins gave a favorable report of the St. Patrick's dance which had been held on the previous Saturday night.

Sgt.-at-Arms Doreen Burney requested as many as possible to attend the District Convention in Deseronto on April 3rd when all branch colors will be required for the parade.

A suggestion was made that members should choose a Silver Cross mother as "Mother of the Year" for Mother's day. More discussion will be held on this at the next meeting.

The bake sale is to be held in the near future. Arrangements can be made to have any donations picked up. The branch expressed a vote of thanks to all who donated prizes or time to make the dance such a great success.

Cofrades Barrage, Rollins, MacDonald and Kirby attended District F. public speaking which was held in Peterborough Legion Hall on March 29th. Congratulations are extended to Dale King of Point Anne who placed second in his class competition.

TOUCHY COOKS

Salt and pepper are missing from the table at a genuine gourmet dinner. It's an insult to the chef to suppose he does not get the seasoning just right.

Collective Bargaining Discussed by Nurses

The Bay of Quinte Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario held its monthly meeting last Wednesday in Education Hall of the Belleville General Hospital. The President, Mrs. S. Ackerman, welcomed as special guests Miss Carol Dengwa, Miss Donna Dermon, Miss Doris Wood and Miss Karen Wickens, members of the graduating class of the Belleville General Hospital.

There was some discussion regarding "The Nurses' Collective Bargaining Act, 1965." Mrs. Ackerman said that the presidents of all the 32 Chapters in Ontario have reviewed the Collective Bargaining Brief and have explained it to their members. The question of negotiations, after this Collective Bargaining Legislation is passed, was discussed. Mrs. Ackerman said that each employing agency will probably form its own Bargaining Unit and all nurses will need to support their own Unit and learn about it. Self-education in this field will prove the greatest value since collective bargaining means that nurse representatives must speak on behalf of nurses. Also, to help nursing, nurses themselves must not back down. "People value you as you value yourself."

Methods of financing collective bargaining were discussed. It was generally agreed that the Bay of Quinte Chapter members support the system of financing based on a "pay as you bargain" plan. This means that those who use the service of collective bargaining will pay a special fee.

There was also some discussion about the proposed new organizational structure of the R.N.A.O. It was decided that the voting delegates to the Provincial annual meeting be allowed to vote according to their own discretion based on general Chapter feeling and on the content of discussion at the convention.

ANNUAL MEET

Mrs. Isobel Fletcher, secretary of District Six, announced that the annual meeting of District Six will be held on Wednesday, April 7th, at Rolands Steak House, Peterborough. There will be a bus leaving Education Hall at 4.45 p.m. Trenton members will be picked up at the Gilbert Hotel at 5.15 p.m.

Belleville members wishing to travel by bus should contact Mrs. Joan Skinkle; Trenton members contact Mrs. Carol Mason for tickets. Registered nurses who are not members of the R.N.A.O. are invited to join the meeting at 8:15 p.m. Mr. Lloyd B. Sharpe, Employment Relations Director of the R.N.A.O., will be present and will interpret the proposed "Nurses' Collective Bargaining Act, 1965." The Chapter voted to send two senior student nurses to this annual dinner. Carole Cooper and Miss Doris Wood were the chosen representatives.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the meeting, Mrs. Elizabeth Murray, Reg. N., was introduced by Mrs. Anita Storms. Mrs. Murray, public relations secretary at provincial office, is a graduate of the University of British Columbia School of Nursing. Previously she worked as a Public Health Nurse in Toronto and then as a nurse consultant to the Kendal Co., Ltd.

Mrs. Murray reminded the members that this year is the 40th anniversary of the R.N.A.O. In 1925 the small group held meetings in the home of a member. Now there are 2,700 members. In 1922, the first nurses' act, The Nurses' Registration Act, had been passed by the Ontario Provincial Government. From, that time until 1951, registration of nurses was controlled by the government. As a culmination of many years of effort, the R.N.A.O. was responsibility for making regulations regarding standards of admission to schools of nursing, for the courses of study in these schools, for the routine of examinations for registration, and for licensing, renewing and cancelling of registration.

The speaker said that in 1923 a labor relations committee had been set up because nurses did not wish to belong to trade unions. Collective bargaining was talked about but it was not until 1957 that the members applied for exemption from the terms of the Ontario Labor Relations Act. Such exemption, if it had been granted, would have meant that nurses could not be forced, as a condition of employment, to join trade and labor unions against their wishes. This legislation was not passed by parliament.

A program of voluntary negotiation with employers was adopted but did not achieve much success. Some employers refused to even meet with the nurses. The 1963 "Province-Wide Study on Nursing" and the "Gruneau Report on Attitudes of Registered Nurses in Ontario" revealed that the majority of nurses want compulsory collective bargaining. This process will enable nurses to negotiate with their employers to obtain signed contracts covering salaries, hours of work and other terms of employment. Disputes will be settled by an impartial arbitrator and both parties will be legally bound by his decision.

COLLEGE ESTABLISHED

Mrs. Murray went on to say that in 1961 the College of Nurses of Ontario was established by an Act of Parliament. All registered nurses of Ontario are members of the College. An elected and appointed Council of the College is now responsible for: registration of graduates, fees for examination and registration; discipline of registered nurses, and approval and inspection of schools of nursing.

Membership in the RNAO is purely voluntary and the association can be justly proud of the fact that Ontario is the only province in Canada which does not have compulsory membership. Through membership, the registered nurse joins with her professional colleagues to provide and participate in group action such as: conferences and workshops, income protection plan, and legal advice in problems arising out of the practice of nursing. There is a Permanent Education Fund which provides loans to assist members in further education. There is an exchange of privileges program with the International Council of Nurses which enables nurses to go to other countries and also brings nurses to Ontario for further experience.

The RNAO sets its own examinations which are now machine scored. Ontario is the first province to use Canadian examinations. All the other provinces use those of the National League of Nursing from the U.S.A.

TYPES OF MEMBERSHIP

There are four types of membership in the RNAO. Those who have rendered some distinguished service are given an honorary membership. Those nurses who are practicing in Ontario but living in Ontario can be associate members. Those who are living outside Ontario can be inactive members.

There are 40 members on the staff at provincial office. 12 of these are in administrative capacity, nine of whom are nurses.

At present, the presidents of the 12 districts are on the Board of Directors. If the new structure is accepted at the annual meeting, the presidents of the 52 chapters will be on the board. This will bring the individual member closer to the association.

Mrs. Murray concluded by saying that nurses must let their association know what they want and communications must improve because things can be done by united group action which cannot be accomplished by one individual.

Following Mrs. Murray's talk discussion brought out the fact that "The Nurses' Collective Bargaining Act, 1965" is not passed by parliament, nurses will not be able to speak for their own profession and they may be forced to join trade and labor unions. At the present time this is already happening in Quebec and in some Toronto hospitals.

There will be no meeting in April because of the annual provincial convention in Toronto on April 29th and 30th and May 1st.

U.C.W. Meeting

WHITE'S U.C.W.

WHITE'S DISTRICT—White's United Church Women held their May March meeting at White's Church on Wednesday after- with the president, Mrs. Hunt, presiding.

Mrs. Lawrence Thomas opened the devotional service with a poem.

An allocation of $10 is to be sent to the Presbyterial treasurer and a donation was given to the church board. It was decided to have a bake sale in April. Members were asked to bring their aprons to the next meeting. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Hunt.

The program on Trinidad was taken by Mrs. Herman White and Mrs. Garnet Dean. Pictures, maps and a flag were obtained from United Church publishing house by Mrs. White which clearly illustrated Trinidad to the listeners. They learned that Trinidad is about the same size as Prince Edward Island with a population of about 800,000. The language spoken is mainly English. On the quiz Mrs. Glenn Meyers won the prize.

Mrs. Samuel Reid told of her visit to Florida and the lovely time she had while there.

Mrs. Hunt moved a vote of thanks to all who had helped with the program. Lunch was served by Mrs. Dean and Mrs. White.

Napanee School Holds 'Variety Night'

NAPANEE — The Napanee and District Secondary School students held their annual "Variety Night" Friday, March 28 and Saturday, March 27. The auditorium was filled to capacity for both performances.

The program was entitled "Round Belmont" and the form of the production was copied from the television show "This Hour Has Seven Days." Brock MacPherson, Mary Jane McKeown and Eric Poulsen were the commentators.

A group of attractive young ladies performed an R.C.M.P. dance, followed by a skit which poked fun at the past flag debate in which David Neal and David Darling played the leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties. A very humorous song was sung to the tune of the 12th Day of Christmas and the chorus repeated by Chris Moore demanded that the flag of Canada must have a blue jay in a plum tree for its symbol.

A doctor's skit showed Dr. Eric Wartenbee performing an operation in the Napanee and Addington County Hospital while it is being constructed. The patient was abandoned at coffee break time.

VARIETY NUMBERS

During the evening various dance numbers were enjoyed and vocal solos were contributed by Gloria Taylor, Linda Lott, and Ruth Harvey.

The teachers prepared a number in the form of a radio soap box opera, entitled "Frontier Mortician." Mr. Brady the mortician was asked his clients to try his new "lay away plan."

The highlight of the evening came when a dance was being formed by the supposedly ballerinas from the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Don Forbes, Bill Hinch and Pete Webster, who with their beautiful costumes and graceful movements held the audience in gales of laughter.

Mr. R. E. Fluhr was the director, Mrs. J. Miller was the musical director assisted by Miss Romborgh and Miss Margaret Pugh was supervisor of dances.

The all-embracing repertory of the group spans three centuries of masterworks for small orchestras, from the pre-Bach period to the moderns.

Known for its fine recordings, the group won the highest tribute of the French recording industry, the Grand Prix du Disque.

The second attraction already booked is the Canadian Opera Company, which will perform Carmen in English. An added inducement to new members who join during the current campaign is the opportunity to attend the final concert of this season to the limit of the collegiate auditorium.

Impatient With Results In Cancer Research

Beat Beats Ear Drums!

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND (CP)—Studies by the New Zealand health department have raised the possibility that teen-agers are risking permanent ear damage from loud beat music. Tests have led to a warning here that sound intensities at pop music sessions are often far above the danger level.

An acoustic engineer of the department has been taking measurements of decibels in teen - age dance halls, coffee shops and night spots. He found that the sound intensities were often far higher than those which compel employers to supply industrial workers with ear-plugs.

On an average the human ear can withstand a level of 95 decibels for eight hours a day for a working lifetime. The decibel scale, however, works on a logarithmic progression, so that if 30 decibels are added to the sound level, the intensity is doubled.

REACHES 125

Readings in typical dance halls in Auckland where beat music is played averaged 105 decibels. At peak, however, the noise reached 120 to 125 decibels.

The department says that the human ear can withstand a level of 115 decibels for no more than quarter of an hour without risk of permanent injury. With a sound level of 105 decibels, risk of ear injury can be expected after an exposure of more than an hour a day.

Many young people in New Zealand go to beat music spots several times a week and stay three or four hours.

Health department engineers believe that members of beat music bands are almost certain to suffer some degree of ear injury.

"The insidious thing about ear injury by sound," one officer said, "is that the person does not notice it. By the time the members of a band begin to notice that they cannot catch high notes or that certain notes are a bit fuzzy, it is too late to do anything."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Research into cancer conducted about 1950 seems primitive now, says Dr. Lionel Israels, medical research director of the Cancer Research and Treatment Foundation here.

"But what we are doing now is still primitive compared with what we should be achieving."

Cancer research in Manitoba has doubled since inauguration of the foundation in May, 1963.

Dr. Israels says research during the last two years "has increased our understanding of cancer generally and of leukemia and lymphoma in particular."

Lymphoma affects white blood cells produced in the lymph glands and spleen, while leukemia inhabits those developed in the bone marrow.

Research in leukemia has unearthed some tantalizing questions, the foundation says. For example:

—Why do some leukemia victims have five times the normal amount of vitamin B-12 in their blood?

—Why do "clusters" of leukemia cases sometimes appear simultaneously in certain areas?

STRIKES AT CHILDREN

One reason for the intensified cancer research in this area is that leukemia is the most common cause of death in children between the ages of six and 17 in Manitoba, says Dr. Israels.

The $2,000,000 foundation, hailed at its inauguration as the most modern cancer centre in North America, now has five full-time researchers, increased from two in 1963.

Dr. Frixos Paraskevas from San Francisco works primarily in lymphoma research, Dr. Israels said.

Dr. G. J. Goldenberg, recently returned from London, England, tests the effect of new cancer drugs on cultures of cancerous cells. "Through his research we find out how certain drugs retard the growth of cancer and for how long," the medical research director said.

A research team including Dr. Israels and Dr. Jack Linford studies chemical agents now in use to see how the drugs are transported in the human body and how they destroy malignant cells.

"We also try to find out why some malignant—and unfortunately healthy—cells are more susceptible to certain drugs than others."

The biggest problem with anti-cancer leukemia drugs is that they destroy healthy cells as well as cancerous ones.

Sir Winston Convinced That He Would Die Young

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill was convinced in his early life that he would die young and that he had only a short time to cover the course destiny had mapped out for him.

This was revealed today by Lady Asquith, daughter of Henry Asquith, the former Liberal prime minister, and herself vice-president of the Liberal party, in a biography, Winston Churchill As I Knew Him.

The book, first of two volumes of memoirs on Churchill, follows his career up to 1916.

Lady Asquith, formerly Lady Violet Bonham-Carter, said in those days he often travelled with cylinders of oxygen which he imbibed before speaking.

"Yet it was quite impossible to think of him as ill," she added. "His zest, vitality, activity and industry were inexhaustible. He seemed to have been endowed by nature with a double charge of life."

WAS UNDERSECRETARY

Lady Asquith first met Churchill when she was 19 and he, at 32, was undersecretary for the colonies.

Having discovered the difference in their ages "he bust into an eloquent diatribe on the shortness of human life, the immensity of possible human accomplishment," ending up with the words: 'We are all worms. But I do believe that I am a glow-worm.'"

Even in those early days he felt he was walking with destiny. Lady Asquith said.

"But in another instinctive certainty he proved wrong. He was convinced that he would die young, that he had only a short span of years in which to cover his appointed course, and this strange premonition filled him with a sense of burning urgency. Would he have time to do what fate required of him? I was distressed and puzzled by this fantasy, which had no root in fact or reason," Lady Asquith said.

"I probed for reasons. 'Why should you die young? Why shouldn't you live till you are a hundred?'

"The only answer that I ever wrung from him was: 'My father (Lord Randolph Churchill) died when he was 46.'"

FIRMAN RETIRES

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — Marc Lamoureux, 68, recently retired from 50 years of service with the Melville Volunteer Fire Department. During his time he saw horse-drawn wagons give way to modern mechanized equipment. For the last 25 years, he was secretary of the fire department. Mr. Lamoureux retired several years ago from the hardware store he opened in the 1920s.

The resolution has been on the order paper since the session began Jan. 22. This prevents discussion in the House before debate on it begins.

However, outside the House, the Union Nationale has been attacking the formula as a rigid one that would encase Quebec in a constitution dominated by the other provinces.

Everyone from Real Caouette's Creditistes to Robert Cliche's New Democrats have chimed in, along with French-language editorial writers and university professors.

Why couldn't the government with its heavy majority in the elected legislature, simply have passed the resolution? The Union has a bill to restrict the powers of the legislative council, Quebec's upper house.

It must be passed before the resolution can be adopted, and the council has sent the bill back to the lower house with heavy amendments.

The government says that under the British North America Act it now has recourse to the Queen if the council blocks legislation passed by the elected House.

But once the Favreau-Fulton formula is ratified, this recourse would disappear and the appointed members of the Union Nationale - dominated council could block laws forever.

"I think that after Easter we will be able to bring the upper house in the council blocks legislation passed by the elected House.

A past disputes with the council, the Liberal government has established public opinion. This leads to speculation that between now and Easter, the government will counter-attack critics of the formula.

The Favreau - Fulton formula is named after the two federal justice ministers who helped draft it. Approved at a federal - provincial conference in Charlottetown last fall, it provides for the transfer of final amending powers from the British Parliament and also sets out the precise terms by which the constitution can be amended in Canada.

No matter how the issue turns out, it has given the Union Nationale its best moments in five dark years. The party finds its positions supported to some degree by French - language intellectuals.

Labor Govt. Defeats Motion Of Censure

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Labor government Wednesday night defeated a motion of censure over milk prices by only eight votes after 3,000 angry farmers converged on Parliament to demand a better pay deal.

The vote in Parliament was 307 to 299 on a motion deploring the government's handling of a review of the price of milk that advocated an increase to farmers of only a penny a gallon.

Nearly 2,000 West Country farmers and their wives waved "fair play" banners. Hundreds more arrived from the flat East Anglian fields aboard a train labelled the "Suffolk protest special."

Shepherded by police into the central lobby at Westminster, they protested to members of Parliament a governmental price review which has awarded them an extra penny a gallon on milk, instead of the sixpence (seven cents) they asked for.

Metro

Niagara Falls Mayor Robert Keighan said many of the recommendations have merit. The county system is gradually failing apart and some small municipalities cannot afford to provide many municipal services.

Waterloo County, the area suggested by the committee as the first one in which its recommendations should be put into effect, has its booster of the plan in Clerk - Treasurer Charles Staiger of Kitchener.

He said regardless of what the politicians might say regional government would give the taxpayer the most for his tax dollar.

Halton County Warden Herbert Merry of Oakville said he warned county council two months ago it would have to enlarge to a Metro system or be swallowed up by either Hamilton or Metropolitan Toronto.

HE OPPOSES

Opponents of the plan include Murray McKnight of Dundas, Wentworth County warden, who urged caution in acting with committee recommendations. He said the report should be studied and should not be implemented too quickly.

Dr. W. A. Taylor, reeve of Osgoode Township in Carleton County, said existing problems could be solved within the framework of existing county governments. London Mayor Gordon Sinclair said the report was much too general.

James J. Gibson of Port Perry, Ontario County warden, said he and many other county officials fear increased provincial control through regional government.

MAKES BIG DISCOVERY — Prospector Milt McDougall, 50, uses his dip needle to check whether a magnetic orebody lies under the snow in the Saskatchewan countryside. It turned out there was. At least 150,000,000 tons of iron ore have been proven on the property near Choiceland, about 50 miles east of Prince Albert. (CP Photo)

How to Make a Sourdough Sour!

Freshman Prospector Took Two-week Course -- Then Struck It Rich

By JIM EASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—Many prospectors beat the bush all their lives and pick up little more than a good suntan or a cold. Milt McDougall took a whirl at it fresh out of a two-week prospecting course and found at least 150,000,000 tons of iron ore.

The find was made on a cold winter day 10 years ago McDougall swung his bush plane over the snow-covered Saskatchewan countryside and was startled when the aircraft's compass went haywire.

A wildly gyrating compass had meant only trouble to hunters and student RCAF pilots for years. But it had a different meaning to McDougall, now 50 years old.

"The lessons I learned during my prospecting course convinced me that I was flying over something more than just wasteland," he said in an interview.

"I had heard stories from local people about elk hunters getting lost in that area because their compasses wouldn't work properly. And then during the Second World War young pilots had trouble when their compasses acted up. Their experiences were blamed on poor knowledge of navigation."

VAST STOREHOUSE

McDougall played his hunch. He staked 40 claims and gave birth to a major iron-ore deposit in Western Canada.

Upwards of 150,000,000 tons of ore averaging about 30 per cent iron have been outlined in preliminary drilling and the orebody has not been delimited in any direction.

Saskatchewan government officials term the discovery, near the village of Choiceland 50 miles east of Prince Albert, the "most significant of the province's metallic minerals in terms of its potential impact on development of manufacturing industries."

Plans are under way to bring the property into production and tap the rapidly expanding steel market in Western Canada and overseas. Choiceland Iron Mines Ltd., which now owns the 4,000-acre property, will drill a pilot hole this summer, then sink a 2,400-foot shaft.

McDougall, a wiry six-footer, had been working as a bush pilot when he got the prospecting bug in 1955. "I took a short government - sponsored course, figuring I might learn something. A few weeks later I happened to fly over Choiceland."

It was the first and, so far, last discovery for McDougall. He operates Contact Airways, a charter air service, out of Fort McMurray, Alta., but retains an interest in the iron-ore project. And he still dabbles in prospecting.

The government, anxious to get the project rolling, is ready to provide Choiceland with up to $5,000,000, likely by way of a grant, to sink a shaft. Premier Ross Thatcher is expected to announce the deal today.

While development of the orebody is in its early stages, there is little doubt the mine will play a key role in Saskatchewan's march from a basically agricultural to an industrialized province.

Industry Minister Gordon Grant, asked in an interview how the discovery will fit in with the impact of Saskatchewan's potash development, said:

"It will provide the Prairies with a source of iron ore and assure Interprovincial Steel and Pipe Corporation Ltd., an already established steel producer, of a continuing source of new iron. Quite likely additional steel products will be produced for the growing potash industry."

Potash, used as fertilizer, is fast developing into a big money-maker for the province. A bright future also seems assured for iron ore in the West.

Mr. Grant said "There is a substantial market for furnace feed on the Prairies. Scrap prices and supply are far from reliable. An integrated steel industry will never be built on the Prairies relying solely on scrap."

MARKETS OPENS UP

Western steel producers have used scrap iron for years despite storage problems and impurities that must be eliminated. Electric furnaces are not geared to handle the normal blast-furnace feed, which averages 50 to 65 per cent iron.

Choiceland plans to produce what is known as sponge iron, a reduced product containing 85 per cent iron. This is made to order for the Western Canada furnaces. In addition, Japanese and European steel - makers have shown interest in the development.

Why has it taken 10 years to get moving on the project?

"Resources are seldom developed unless an economical market exists for the proposed output," Mr. Grant said. "When the Choiceland development was first proven up, the Prairie market for new iron was limited since scrap was available to meet electric-furnace demands.

"In recent years, consumption of steel on the Prairies has been rising rapidly and new furnace capacity has been installed or is planned."

John F. Daly, president of Choiceland, which has its head office in Toronto, also puts it down to the fact that until a few years ago many mining men turned up their noses at an iron-ore deposit that had to be mined from underground compared with an open-pit operation.

AMPLE POWER ON TAP

"But exciting technological advances have changed that," he said. "Look at the big Fea Ridge development of Meramec Mining Company in Missouri and Bethlehem Steel's Grace Mine in Pennsylvania. They opened new horizons for underground mining of iron ore on an economical basis."

The Choiceland orebody, which government officials have been stating "singularly free of troublesome impurities," is in a settled area near highway transportation and the CPR, which serves the village of Choiceland.

There will be no headaches over fuel or power supply. Dirt-cheap lignite coal, natural gas and hydro are available for use in the reduction process. Use of lignite would be a boost for the province's coal industry.

The company plans initial production of about 250,000 tons a year, which would require a mill costing about $16,000,000.

Canada exports more than 85 per cent of its 20,000,000-tons-a-year production of iron ore. Authorities forecast annual production of about 40,000,000 tons by 1970. Saskatchewan hopes to get a handsome piece of that market.

Youth Column

Chess Takes Teens; Interest Growing

By KEN EMMOND

WINNIPEG (CP)—Chess is undergoing an upsurge among young Canadians, says Abe Yanofsky, a onetime boy wonder who last year became Canada's first international grand master.

Mr. Yanofsky, a 39-year-old lawyer who has been playing the game since he was eight, says an increasing number of Canadians have become aware of the game in recent years and that this is reflected in the growing number of young people playing it.

One explanation, he says, is that tournaments and the big names in chess are getting more publicity in this country. It would be some time before it became as popular as in Europe, where geographical conditions made it easier for players to compete internationally, but even if the current trend continued Canada might eventually catch up.

Interest among students is especially noticeable in Winnipeg where, during Christmas week, 92 students from 23 metropolitan-area high schools competed for the city championship in a tournament sponsored by The Free Press.

Tournament director John Burstow, a third-year arts student at the University of Montreal, said about 600 students competed in the preliminaries to narrow the field to 92.

"We were afraid last year that chess was dying because so many entrants were in Grade 12," Mr. Burstow said. "It appears instead that the Grade 12 students merely monopolized the tournament because they had had the experience."

The youngest participant in the December tournament was 13 years old and in Grade 7. And there was also a girl, Christine Allen, 14, the second to make the finals in the four years the tournament has been held.

"I like winning and I like watching the patterns develop," Christine said by way of explaining her interest in the game.

A possible explanation of the high level of interest here lies in the publicity given to Mr. Yanofsky's "international" play. The Christmas tournament here followed by a month the world chess Olympia in Tel Aviv, Israel, in which he performed so well he was elevated to the rank of international grand master, an honor held by only 31 players in the world.

Mr. Burstow, who has competed in international competition in Yugoslavia, offered another reason.

"It's a good game."

Dead Whale -- Will It Bring Disaster?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The white man must stone for the death of Moby Doll or face more disasters in British Columbia, says Chief Mathias Joe of the Squamish Indians.

Chief Joe blames three tragic slides on the capture and subsequent death of the killer whale last year. Moby Doll was harpooned and held in a saltwater pen by aquatic scientists.

"The whale is revered by the Indians," said the chief. "It should never be trapped. It is too big, too important to be treated with disrespect."

Chief Joe pointed to a mountain slide near Hope, B.C., where four persons were killed; a snowslide at Ocean Falls, B.C., where seven died; and another snowslide at Grandmac mining camp where 26 perished. All have happened this year.

"When the whale moves in the water the whole ocean pays attention. It is the mightiest of the deepsea family. The whale must not be humiliated."

Angry French-Canadian Says He and Fellows Get Rough Deal in Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — An angry French - Canadian said Wednesday he and his fellows get a rough deal in Ontario, and he blamed Ontario government officials, English - language newspapers, businessmen and new Canadians.

"What the French-Canadians get is given the way a bone is given to a dog — so he doesn't bother people too much."

APPEAR SEPARATELY

Appearing separately at the last of three days of commission sessions here, Mr. MacDonald said official Ontario is moving closer to the position of French - Canadian aspirations. And he gave some credit to Conservative Premier John Robarts.

Mr. Chamberland said politicians talk about bilingualism a lot during election campaigns but otherwise it was impossible to get a reply to a letter in French from a government department.

English - language newspapers, he said, "make mountains out of molehills" concerning allegations of racism against politicians and are trying to stir up feeling against the French.

And he complained that Ontario businessmen only want new Canadians but prefer dicing to their own traditions.

Mr. MacDonald appeared before the commission during examination of a provincial NDP brief calling for racial equality between the French and English language groups.

GIVES ROBARTS CREDIT

Referring to Premier Robarts' share in recognizing the "French fact" in Ontario, Mr MacDonald said: "I give credit where credit is due, the premier's attitude is an important factor in creating this equality."

He told commission member Royce Frith' it is "not inconceivable" that some bilingual bilingual schools could be set up in Ontario where now all such schools are Anglican.

French - speaking residents of Windsor, Ont., complained to the commission Wednesday that they are a downtrodden and unwanted people.

Appearing on behalf of Les Societies Canadiennes - Francaises de la Region Metropolitaine de Windsor were Gauthier and Mme. Joseph Goulet said English - speaking Windsorites consider them less what happens to the people French - Canadian population.

They urged the commission to try and do something to prevent the decline in the use of French in Windsor, which decline they said has resulted from the treatment of French-Canadians as second - class citizens.

Mr. Gauthier said there is "tyranny" against the French-Canadians. Statistics that English majority in Ontario is so strong that they couldn't care less about what happens to the French."

The commission will hold its next hearings May 11-12 in Vancouver.

ASKS CEASE-FIRE

OTTAWA (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, Wednesday urged Prime Minister Pearson to call for a cease-fire in the Viet Nam crisis as a first step towards negotiations. In a letter to Mr. Pearson, Mr. Jodoin said it is clear military means alone will neither defeat the Viet Cong guerrillas "nor attract their political masters in the north to the conference table."

Lady Churchill Celebrates 80th Birthday.

This will be Lady Churchill's first birthday in more than half a century in which Sir Winston hasn't shared in some way.

They were separated sometimes on April 1 by war or politics, but when they were, Sir Winston always managed by telephone, cable or radio to message his love.

In September, 1908 — when Churchill was 34 and Clementine Hozier 23—they were married in London "and lived happily ever afterward," as Britain's great leader put it later.

After nearly a month in Caribbean sunshine, Lady Churchill is approaching her birthday looking "radiant and, as ever, stylish and statuesque."

RETURNED SATURDAY

Exhausted but never complaining, she left London Feb. 24. She returned last Saturday to deal with questions concerning Chartwell, the Churchill country home at Westerham, County Kent.

In 1946, a group of Sir Winston's friends bought Chartwell from him so it could be preserved as a national memorial.

The house was turned over to the National Trust and then leased back to Sir Winston. That lease expired March 25.

Said a spokesman for the National Trust: "Lady Churchill is discussing with us how we can keep Chartwell looking as it did when she lived there with her husband.

"We are still waiting to see what memorial will be left there by the family. The decisions, of course, are up to Lady Churchill."

Eventually, Chartwell will be opened to the public.

PORT ELGIN, Ont. (CP)—Police Chief Charles Riley, who resigned March 5 after nearly a year-long battle with town council, officially turned in his badge Wednesday night.

As a result Lake Huron resort town 20 miles west of Owen Sound will be without a permanent police officer for at least three months.

Roy Lemcke, 31, hired by council to take Chief Riley's place, begins a three-month police training course Monday. He has had no previous police experience.

Until his appointment is effective, policing will be done by provincial policemen from the Walkerton detachment.

Last year, the town had three full - time policemen — Chief Riley, Const. Kurt McNaughton and Const. George Taggart. All three were suspended at one time or other by last year's council, all three were later reinstated and all three later resigned.

The firing of Chief Riley touched off an Ontario Police Commission inquiry into the entire dispute between police and council last summer. The commission's findings have not yet been reported to council.

CUT SERVICE

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Kremlin Wednesday cut the term of compulsory service in the Russian armed forces for young men with a higher education to one year. The measure will release young persons to fill vacancies in other spheres, such as teaching, industry and agriculture.

Youth Admitted Slaying Woman Says Witness

NORTH BAY (CP) — Ernest Demontigny, 18, of Cache Bay, testified Wednesday that Maurice Devost told him he was involved in the Nov. 29 stabbing death of Marie Lavergne, 80, also of Cache Bay.

Speaking in French through an interpreter, Demontigny said he had met Devost at morning mass Nov. 29 and asked him if it was he who had "done that and he said yes."

Demontigny said Devost told him a light was lit and he struck "her." He said Devost did not recall the attack on Jeannette Renaud, 35, also of Cache Bay who was stabbed 34 times. She had been spending the weekend with Mrs. Lavergne. She has since recovered from her wounds.

RECALLS KICKING

"The only thing he recalled was kicking her (Miss Renaud) to see if she was dead. He said he was still alive," Demontigny said.

Mrs. Lavergne's body was found beside her bed in an apartment above a grocery store she owned.

Coroner Dr. Victor Menard of Verner said Wednesday he had made a mistake at the preliminary hearing when he estimated the time of Mrs. Lavergne's death at 12:45 a.m. He said she would have been dead by 2 a.m. or 2:15.

Demontigny said Devost spent the evening of Nov. 28 with him at his home where he spoke of breaking into Mrs. Lavergne's store. He said Devost wanted a knife to open the window at the store.

Demontigny said he gave him a knife and gloves about 1.10 a.m. Nov. 29. Devost left the house about 1:35 a.m.

Dr. Maurice Schryer, regional pathologist for Nipissing, said Mrs. Lavergne suffered 17 stab wounds, the most serious being one that penetrated her left shoulder and punctured the left lung.

ARREST PRINTER

NEW YORK (CP)—Nicholas Volpe, an unemployed Bronx printer, was charged Wednesday with "threatening the life of the president and threatening to blow up the White House with dynamite." Volpe, 50, was arrested after a series of telephone calls was made to the White House in Washington Tuesday night by a man who gave the switchboard operators there the name Volpe and a Bronx address.

Europe Being Left to Stew In Its Own Internal Juices

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Like it or lump it, Europe is being left to stew in its own internal juices right now as far as the United States is concerned.

Official U.S. policy toward the Atlantic alliance is to continue to pay heed to the problems of defence and economics that exist or threaten.

The fact remains that American foreign policy is centred almost wholly on the growing war in Viet Nam and American attitudes are filtered through that fact.

At home, by design and the rush of events connected with the Negro's drive for equality, the president is in the midst of a crush of unprecedented legislation that can only be compared with the first days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal.

The question of Europe arises because of some signs, as registered here, that Britain and other European countries feel they are being neglected.

Being quoted is a recent summarization in the influential British weekly, The Economist, which says in part: "America must be a leader in the Atlantic alliance or nothing —in which case the alliance in its present form will cease to exist. And, if it is to be a leader, then it must lead somewhere. Without such guidance, Europeans will remain a prey to economic resentment, the uncertain instinct of nationalism and the emotions inherited from a past of vanished supremacy."

American intentions to give the Atlantic alliance a new policy off period were clearly signalled last year by Johnson when he halted the hard-sell arguments being used by the state department to establish the NATO surface fleet of nuclear-tipped missiles.

Similarly, on the subject of a new multilateral nuclear force modification, the state department line was that the U.S. had made proposals in the past which failed to draw Allied support.

Hence, it was argued, let Europe mull over ifl attitudes before the U.S. stuck its neck out again.

In this lull, the president prepared an avalanche of proposed legislation and began whipping Congress into speedy effective action. Historic medical care and education bills seem assured as a result, with more to follow.

Then, Viet Nam's simmering crisis flared into a broader war, in which the U.S. is steadily expanding military operations against the Communist forces.

At the same time, the American civil rights drive sparked a domestic crisis leading directly to fresh legislative burdens on Congress at the urging of the president.

In this context, Americans can well argue, the problems of Europe pale in urgency.

Not that Europe has been blotted completely from American foreign policy thinking, but the issues on which American concern about Europe are expressed usually hinge directly or indirectly on Viet Nam.

This appeared to be the case when Ball, who in the past has frequently sounded the hard line, recently made an unusually-tart reference to President de Gaulle of France.

American irritation with France has not lessened in 1965 chiefly because of French opposition to the U.S. policy on Viet Nam and the French insistence of converting portions of its cache of American dollars into gold, at a time when the U.S. is concerned about its gold stocks.

Ball's play a useful and effective role oh the world stage," said Ball, "it is not enough for a nation simply to offer advice on all aspects of world affairs. It should be prepared to back that advice with resources."

Ball spoke as Paris announced that it intended to extend for another year a program of medium - term trade credits to Communist North Viet Nam.

American newspapers subsequently have carried reports indicating concern about trade by other Allies including Britain—the British subsidize wheat sales to North Viet Nam.

Lack of preoccupation with the fight in Viet Nam by American Allies has been a standing complaint unofficially in Washington.

Stock Market Scandals Scare Away Recruits

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market scandals scare away potential mining industry recruits, the immediate past president of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy said Wednesday.

"How can we sell the idea to parents and guidance officials to encourage children into an industry if professional people prostitute their ethics for a buck?" asked Ralph Parker in his final presidential address to institute's convention.

The institute has 5,800 members.

Birmingham Home Blasted By Dynamite

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A dynamite bomb shattered a Negro home today and two other bombs were disarmed at the homes of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilwoman Nina Miglionico.

Police cars were dispatched immediately to the homes of eight other council members.

The bomb at Miss Miglionico's house was found by her father when he came out to get the morning paper. Police said he reached inside the box containing the bomb and ripped out the timing mechanism.

Police who were dispatched to the mayor's house about a mile away found a bomb at the side of the brick structure. Officers disarmed it.

There was no warning of the bombing of the residence of Negro attorney T. S. Crowell across town from the mayor's home.

His son, Weymouth, 13, was treated for a cut head.

FIRST SINCE 1962

It was the first actual bombing in Birmingham since Sept. 24, 1963, when a shrapnel explosive buried bolts and pieces of metal over a wide area in the quiet Negro neighborhood. Only a few days before, a bomb killed four Negro children attending Sunday school in a Baptist church. Two other Negroes died in the violent aftermath.

None of the bombings has been solved. Birmingham has had 23 since 1956. All have had racial overtones.

BBC Says TV Smells, Calls It Joke

LONDON (AP) — Britain celebrated April Fool's Day today with traditional hoaxes. The BBC persuaded scores of television fans that it could transmit smells.

The BBC brought in a professor from London University to demonstrate the new "smellovision."

He fed coffee beans and then onions into a complicated array of fake equipment, explaining that their scents would break down into molecules and be transmitted through the screen.

"For best results," he said, "stand six feet away from your set and sniff."

He asked successful sniffers to report results by noon, the traditional deadline for April fool jokes.

Such is the power of television that sniffers soon were telephoning to report that the scents had come across. Some even claimed the onions made their eyes water.

U. S. Policy on Migrant Farm Workers Has Direct Effect on Canadian Hands

WASHINGTON (CP)—A bold stand against farm pressures by U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, cutting off the annual import of 200,000 Mexican field hands, has direct and indirect Canadian implications.

Canada will ask for clarification of the U.S. policy in importing migrant farm workers in season because Canadians are involved.

Wirtz also has indicated that he intends to work toward two measures which have been proposed in Canada: a nationwide minimum wage for farm hands and extension of unemployment insurance to them.

Wirtz has just returned from a first - hand investigation of conditions in the vast vegetable fields and fruit groves of California. He faced strong representations to end the ban on the import of Mexican braceros —or "strong-armed ones"—that were scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

SAYS PROGRAM DEAD

Wirtz retains discretion to admit farm workers from abroad where adequate American help is lacking. But the braceros program is dead, he said.

It had been sharply criticized as a means used by growers to pay sub - standard wages and provide inadequate living standards at a time of substantial American unemployment. Wirtz scored some of the living conditions he found, which reports say are not much different than those prevailing in the bad old days of the 1930s.

The growers' retort is that American labor isn't available for back-breaking field chores. Canada both imports and exports seasonal farm help over the U.S. border. It has its own limitation program, notably in Southern Ontario and Quebec for tobacco and other crops. Canadian living conditions and wages paid under these circumstances have not escaped criticism.

Figures show that in 1962, the last period available, Ontario and Quebec imported 2,923 southern U.S. hands to harvest the crops. On the other hand, about 8,000 Canadians crossed into the U.S. for various harvests, including 5,000 from Quebec and New Brunswick to pick potatoes.

Canada seeks clarification on just how these workers will be treated in future.

So far this year, the U.S. labor department, under its new system of regulations, has authorized only 800 Ontario residents from around Presqu'ile Point, Northumberland County, to work in the maple sugar harvest across the border.

But it appears certain that this is an unusual case since the Canadians lease the American property to begin with as members of a co-operative and that the only access is from Canada.

He said future cases will be decided on their merits.

Pilots' Strike Cripples Pan Am Lines

Pan Am, the largest international airline in the U.S., announced a shutdown at 8:30 Wednesday night.

Thousands of travellers were grounded. But many others were rescheduled on other overseas carriers.

The pilots said they would continue in the ground - chartered flights to South Viet Nam, Germany and other points where the United States has military installations.

The Air Line Pilots Association (AFL - CIO) started the strike in effect at 7 p.m. Wednesday after contract negotiations here collapsed.

The union has 1,528 members employed by Pan Am, which has a total of 26,500 employees around the world. The airline serves 17 American cities and more than 20 countries. It normally carries 14,000 passengers a day, with about 2,000 of them streaming in and out of Kennedy Airport here.

15,000 Rail Firemen's Jobs Eliminated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railway industry reported Wednesday night it has eliminated 15,000 jobs of which 15,000 locomotive firemen in less than a year.

Another 8,000 of the remaining 22,000 firemen are expected to be eliminated from diesel engines in the second year since the 1963 ruling under the United States' first peacetime compulsory arbitration law.

The removal of firemen on ground that they are not needed on modern locomotives has cost the industry $30,000,000 in severance pay so far, but it stands to save an estimated $75,000,000 a year in wages.

Medical Insurance Scheme Is Defended by Chairman

HAMILTON (CP)—Dr. J. G. Hagey, president of the University of Waterloo, defended Wednesday the much-criticized report of the Ontario medical services insurance committee of which he was chairman.

Dr. Hagey told Hamilton and district branch of the Canadian Manufacturers Association that some of the criticisms came from persons who would prefer a socialized health insurance plan.

The Hagey committee was appointed by the Ontario government to make recommendations on establishing a medical insurance scheme in the province. Its report called for voluntary medical insurance with the government paying premiums.

Dr. Hagey said: "I frankly admit that the very large percentage of our committee believes in a competitive system of free enterprise—that we are not convinced that a government-operated system could be provided for less money than when provided by independence carriers."

"We are very much convinced," he said, that the present method of providing health insurance is efficient and a government - operated program "might be less efficient. . . ."

Dr. Hagey said his committee's plan would not "at some future date" prevent a greater participation of government in the provision of health service.

Dr. Hagey said most of the criticism of the report was directed at three principles which the committee supported: Voluntary participation; the use of insurance carriers now providing health insurance, on condition they conform to certain requirements; and inclusion in the plan of physicians' services only.

"On these principles our proposal is the opposite of those in the Hall report that recommends compulsory participation with the insurance carried by the government."

The Hall commission, headed by Mr. Justice Emmett Hall of the Supreme Court of Canada, has recommended a comprehensive, universal medical care program.

Dr. Hagey said the Hall commission based its recommendations on a national study and directed them towards establishment of a federal - provincial jointly operated plan.

But he said federal - provincial agreements are proceeding with individual medicare plans, he said, and this "may lead" to indicate they do not anticipate a federal - provincial plan in the near future."

STIRLING

I.O.O.F. Lodge Appoints Area Officers

STIRLING — On March 27, at the I.O.O.F. hall, Charlotte Street, a special Encampment meeting was held with two sessions under the direction of Past Grand Patriarch Ralph Hubbs of Picton.

A dinner for 39 men was served at six, by members of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, under the direction of Sisters Mabel Barlow, Neva Vandervoort and Helen Hulin.

Recently Grand Patriarch Charles Bowen appointed PGP Ralph Hubbs as leader of this area. The area consists of Encampments from Oshawa East and comprises five districts. The purpose of this area group was to set up a school of instruction for Encampment work in each district.

During the evening the special address was given by Patriarch Earl Fox, who outlined the purpose and duties of this new organization. It was decided to convene again in October to further the plans.

Given 4 Years

BARRIE (CP)—Robert Bruce Mitchell, 16, of Toronto was sentenced Wednesday to four years in Kingston Penitentiary on charges of wounding with intent and breaking and entering and theft.

Mitchell was found guilty last week of shooting and wounding provincial police constable Richard C. Connors during an investigation of a break-in at Coldwater, Ont., last Oct. 21.

Fleet Street Pubs Serve Mainstream of Events

BY DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—As a general rule London's West End pubs are for tipsy dilettanti and East End pubs for taciturn dockers. So a man who wants to do some hard drinking in a convivial nonsense atmosphere heads for Fleet Street.

This cheerful, crooked artery links Britain's financial heart in the old City of London with its political head in the City of Westminster. And along the route are the famous Fleet Street pubs.

With the law courts at one end of Fleet Street and the major newspaper offices at the other, the pubs are where the professions of law and journalism flow together in a daily lunchtime torrent of talk and drinks.

The fact that lawyers and reporters work side by side is no historical accident. Both needed to be close to the seats of commercial and political power and, for mutual interest, they needed to be close to each other.

In the 1760s, when newspapers began and Dr. Samuel Johnson was the anonymous five-star reporter of the era, hack journalists who lived in Grub Street picked up most of their information by covering current court cases.

In return, barristers and solicitors, by mingling with journalists, learned the latest legal bulletins and got wind of impending and profitable cases from the reporters' gossip.

This marriage of professional convenience resulted in one of Fleet Street's few private clubs, the Wig and Pen, where today beneath a mock-Tudor arch formal conversations are concocted over plates of congealed lamb in the best English style.

However, the average up-coming barrister or promising reporter has neither the time nor the money for a private club so he compromises by going a few yards down the street to the celebrated El Vino wine bar, a dark and dusty hall buttressed by 120-gallon casks of port and sherry and sporting a vintage 1900 telephone.

El Vino's is perhaps the most talked-about meeting place in Fleet Street and, like many of its neighboring taverns, is still partially lighted by gas. It boasts a sacred, seldom sat-in wheel-back chair with a gilt-painted legend: "Viscount Northcliffe's chair." Lord Northcliffe, one of Britain's first wild journalists, was proprietor of The Times from 1908 to 1922.

FICTIONAL CHARACTER

It's at El Vino's that Lunchtime O'Boose, the archetypal scandal reporter invented by satirical weekly Private Eye, imbibes and contracts the sensational headiness of the day over a continuous round of other people's drinks.

Farther down the street the pubs become more specialized. Each newspaper has its own "local" where any conversation is likely to be a steady stream of shop, interrupted by the always hopeful observations of the latest professional to haunt Fleet Street—the public relations man.

One cross-roads is the Falstaff, a four-storey dining pub that takes its name from the fact that Shakespeare's heroic spent his latter and besotted years in Fleet Street taverns.

Opposite the Falstaff is the most famous public house in the world, the Cheshire Cheese, tucked into an alley just around the corner from Dr. Johnson's last residence. With sawdust-covered floors and roast beef dinners, it's a tourist's mecca and is consequently avoided by every regular on Fleet Street.

But the Cheshire Cheese, which keeps Johnson's chair in a glass case, stands as a reminder that Fleet Street's historical roots run deep. At one time or another every English intellectual from Jonathan Swift to Charles Dickens quaffed his pints in pubs along the street.

For instance the Cogers, founded in 1726 as the Codger's Hall, was patronized by Johnson, Dickens, Oliver Goldsmith and Lord Macaulay. During the Second World War it was the classical hangout for Commonwealth war correspondents.

Today the Cogers, a great barn of a pub, is where Canadian journalists still tend to congregate. Australian reporters, a close-knit lot, have crossed the street to the Red Lion where they have established their rights by installing a family of stuffed koala bears on a shelf behind the bar.

Down from the Cogers is the Bell, established by architect Sir Christopher Wren to provide refreshment for his workmen when he was building nearby St. Bride's Church. Hard by the Bell is the Punch and from the Punch it's only a few tottering steps to such institutions as the Hoop and Grapes, the White Swan, the Old King Lud and the Cock Tavern.

Each pub has its own personality, its own regular clientele—from the Blackfriars, with baroque Victorian nudes frozen on the walls, to Mooney's, where sentimental Irishmen are greeted in Gaelic.

In Mooney's the whisky is deliberately spelled with an "e" to distinguish it from the heathen scotch.

In any of these pubs a layman may at first find himself somewhat at a loss, surrounded by men drinking against deadlines or drowning their sorrows over lost leads. But if he likes to drink, keeps his ear cocked and buys a couple of rounds, he can soon find himself swimming the mainstream of events.

Dairy Farmers Praise Govt. For New Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dairy Farmers of Canada said Wednesday that the government's new dairy policy, designed to bring a price of $5.80 a hundredweight to producers of processing milk, is "very much appreciated."

The government last week announced the support program, which applies to farmers who supply milk to processing and canning plants. It does not directly affect the suppliers of dairies.

The dairy farmers organization said in a statement that it was a "definite step forward" to recognize that rising costs and almost stationary prices have made the position of farmers "completely unsatisfactory."

Farmers now average between $3.10 and $3.15 per hundredweight for their "manufacturing milk."

Paperback Books Make Rapid Stride in Schools

By JACK HUTTON

It's six years now since 30 men and women spent all one day in a sweltering New York office deciding how they could best help a newcomer to the classroom — the paperback book.

The "new kid" has come a long way since then, both in the U.S. and countless schools above the border.

The New York meeting involved representatives of education and several publishing firms, all fascinated by the interest several schools were showing in selling paperback to their students.

Using inexpensive paper-bound books wasn't new, of course. What was new, and rather exciting, was the thought that inexpensive books which the corner druggist would never order could be ored directly to secondary school audiences.

LURID COVERS

Many people, if they thought about paperback books, thought half-dressed girls, teaser titles — the usual fare they saw on neighborhood counters.

Thousands of us have learned how wrong that mental picture is in the intervening years. Imagine being able to build up your own library of the best in the classics or current literature at a cost no where close to hardback books.

Some readers of this column tell me they don't own one hardback book, except for textbooks required in class. But look in their rooms or dens and you will find piles of books that cost no more than 60 or 70 cents each.

I mention all this because it may give you an idea for a project in your school next fall that could benefit the school — and add some other cause.

The New York meeting mentioned at the beginning of this column decided that the best way to introduce paperbacks to students was through paperback bookstores, preferably run by the students themselves.

STUDENT RAN

Here's how it works, based upon the experience of nine Buffalo high schools that recently reported on three years' use of corridor stands.

The original decision to try the bookstores was made by a joint committee of teachers and students. It was agreed that the main responsibility would fall upon students, although teachers would always be available for advice.

Some of the schools used display racks that could be locked when student supervisors were not available. Others tried six-by-six-foot sales cabinets with folding locking doors. Teachers selected the first books from a list supplied by a local distributor.

Several teachers admitted later they half expected the experiment to flop. They predicted one day and interest, followed by months of neglect.

On the first day the books were offered, students bought more than 100 copies in one school alone. And did the interest wane? Sixteen schools that eventually entered the project sold 50,000 books in one school year.

Students who freely admitted they had thought of paperbacks as "second-class trash" found a new world at their fingertips. It is one thing to spend $6 on a book — but quite something else to spend 60 cents.

In case your local students' council wants to consider this idea, the Buffalo project found the response was greatest when the bookstore was situated in a place where the greatest number would pass by — preferably close to the cafeteria.

An idea for the fall?

TOP FIVE

A reader who identifies himself as "Kip the Mod" has taken me to task for using outdated language in our last column on the hit parade. The shame of it all!

I referred to a transistor radio. Suddenly I find out it shou.d be known as a "plug."

I said I didn't like the way several groups sounded. The word, I should have used, Kip tells me, was "grotty".

Have you any other words for our new vocabulary?

Send them along, in care of this newspaper, and we'll do a column on our 1965 vocabulary.

TOP TWENTY HITS

1 Stop in the Name of Love, The Supremes; 2 King of the Road, Roger Miller; 3 Can't You Hear my Heartbeat, Herman's Hermits; 4 Birds and the Bees, Jewel Akens; 5 Ferry Across the Mersey, Gerry and the Pacemakers; 6 Eight Days a Week, Beatles; 7 Goldfinger, Shirley Bassey; 8 Shotgun, Jr. Walker; 9 My Girl, The Temptations; 10 Do the Clam, Elvis Presley; 11 Long, Lonely Nights, Bobby Vinton; 12 This Diamond Ring, Gary Lewis; 13 Come Home, Dave Clark Five; 14 People Get Ready, Impressions; 15 I Must Be Seeing Things, Gene Pitney; 16 Laugh Laugh, Beau Brummels; 17 The Jerk, The Larks; 18 Ace of Diamonds, Ricky Nelson; 19 Boy From New York City, Ad Libs; 20 Keep Searching, Del Shannon.

C. P. R. Paid $2.50 Share on Ordinary Stock

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway Co. paid $2.50 a share on ordinary stock for 1964 compared with $1.50 the previous year, The company's annual report, released Tuesday night, said net income from railway and miscellaneous sources, and with fixed charges subtracted, was $44,909,852, compared with $40,126,111 for 1963.

Income from Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd., a wholly-owned CPR subsidiary, came to $14,232,456, equivalent to $1 an ordinary share of the parent company.

As for passenger-train service, the company told its shareholders:

"In view of the increased use of the private automobile over improved highways in short-distances travel and the inherent advantages of the jet airliner over long distances, no prospect is envisaged by your company of attracting rail passengers in sufficient numbers, on many segments of our lines, at prices they are willing to pay, to offset the expenses of providing this service."

It said its "fareSaver" plan, introduced in 1963, though attracting additional patronage, did not produce sufficient revenue to justify the drastically reduced fares."

Chamber Denied Permission to Use Folder

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — Kingston Chamber of Commerce was denied permission Tuesday to advertise in the tourist folder of the Eastern Ontario Development Association.

At a meeting of the association's Zone two, the permission was withheld until Kingston city council agrees to join the association and pay the $1,000 fee.

He noted that Gananoque, just east of Kingston, pays $200 and has a population of 5,000.

"We are 10 times the size of Gananoque, and they ask Kingston for $1,000," he said. "Frankly I don't believe the people who have to make the decision as to the benefits of this association understand the situation."

Speaking of referees, the NHL boss-man Carl Voss says the reason former NHL players do not become referees is that they don't wind up their careers until they're 34 or 35. Then it takes another five years' hard work in the minors before they are ready for the NHL. That means they are 39-40 and that's too old. "Besides," says Voss, "they have to start by refereeing amateur games at $5 a game. That's the only place and way to be a referee."

A Kitchener bowler, George Boswell, 21, made national history the other day with two perfect games in different leagues in one night. This has never been recorded in league play in Canada before. However, two perfect games were recorded on two other occasions but in friendly matches. Boswell rolled his first 450 and followed with 299 and 296 for a 1,075 triple. He rushed across to Waterloo where he had scores of 238, 239 and 259 before the second 450. With pressure mounting Boswell recalled some advice given him by a veteran kegler, "Throw Harder." His previous single game high was a 446 at Victoria three years ago. All told he has had 39 games over 400 in the eight years he has bowled. He has also hit the 1,000 mark for a three-game total 12 times.

Hull Still Doubtful * * *

Confident Wings Braced For Hawks

* * * Has Good Workout

By JERRY GLADMAN

DETROIT (CP)—Bobby Hull, whose troublesome knees have caused Chicago Black Hawks a great deal of concern during the last month, still looms as the big question mark for tonight's Stanley Cup semi-final opener here.

Although Black Hawks' coach Bill Reay has refused to commit himself, the word following Wednesday's workout was that the blonde left winger would be in the starting lineup against the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings.

The clubs clash here tonight and Sunday and then switch to Chicago for games next Tuesday and Thursday.

A fifth game, if necessary, will be back here with the sixth and seventh matches slated for Chicago and Detroit respectively.

The other semi-final series between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, opens in Montreal tonight.

HAD BEST WORKOUT

Hull, who finished the season with 3 goals after a fantastic first half, had his best workout Wednesday since returning to action earlier in the week.

His knee miseries began early in February when he appeared headed for a record goal-scoring season. The high-scoring winger had 39 goals to his credit in 43 games when he first injured his right knee as a result of a check from Toronto's boisterous defenceman Bob Baun.

He missed four games, but upon returning, injured his left knee in a collision with New York Rangers' Arnie Brown, March 21, he took a check from Detroit's Alex Delvecchio, skated only one more shift and then retired to the sidelines for the remainder of the regular 70-game schedule.

Aside from Hull, the visitors have no hospital cases to worry about. Defenceman Pierre Pilote has been slow recovering from a bruised side, but figures to play tonight.

While the Chicago team drilled at Detroit Olympia Wednesday, coach Sid Abel had his Red Wings relaxing at their Toledo hideaway. And Abel makes sure they relax.

"We have only a few rules," he said. "Like a midnight curfew. Like using common sense in eating and drinking. Like not inviting friends down here. All I want is for everyone to relax."

THEY'RE DIFFERENT

Abel agrees his club is a little different when it was pointed out that Chicago, Toronto and Montreal have been hustling through brisk workouts, while the Wings have been taking it easy.

"I figure that we are sharp. I know that we are in good condition. I think it's better to forget all about hard work until we hit the ice for the first one with the Hawks!"

The Detroit club has no injuries to speak of and the only problem confronting Abel is whom to sit out for the game.

Reay hasn't disclosed who will play goal for his club—veteran Glenn Hall or rookie Denis DeJordy—and won't until just before game time.

Roger Crozier, who went all 70 games for the Wings, will of course be in goal for them.

Leafs 'Mad, Hungry' Says Imlach

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP)—An irate coach Punch Imlach — still rankled by earlier charges that his club plays "dirty-hockey"—Wednesday night predicted a hard series, and make no mistake, we came to win."

Toronto Maple Leafs, defending champions, had just arrived in Montreal for their first engagement in the semi-final Stanley Cup playoffs with the Montreal Canadiens. The first game gets under way at 8 p.m. (EST) tonight.

The Toronto coach took issue with statements attributed to Chicago Black Hawks centre Stan Mikita. The National Hockey League scoring champion had gained widespread publicity with his statement that the Leafs were the dirtiest team in the NHL.

"Since the press gave such publicity to Mikita's statements, what I want to know now is if the referees are going to listen to the crowds in the playoffs, because of the stigma thrown on us by this guy," Imlach said.

The Toronto coach said the ensuing notoriety has caused adverse crowd reaction in every rink the Leafs have played in since that time.

PUNCH IMLACH

"Sure we play tough hockey, but don't tell me we're any worse than a couple of other outfits in this league," Imlach said.

PULFORD WILL PLAY

Questioned as to the status of Bob Pulford—sidelined with a groin injury for the Leafs' two final league games—Imlach confirmed the hard-working centre will be in tonight's starting lineup.

Imlach said, "There's nothing hampering any member of this club right now. Tuesday' practice (in the Detroit Olympia) was so lively the crowd actually applauded when it finished."

Reports from Detroit indicated the Leafs were knocking each other down Tuesday, abandon Tuesday and Wednesday and were so edgy several minor scuffles occurred.

In contrast, the Canadiens had a day off Monday at their Laurentian hideout and held a light workout Tuesday at the forum. Wednesday they went through a 75-minute drill, concentrating on shooting and speed spurts. They returned immediately to the Laurentians until game-time tonight.

Both general manager Sam Pollock and coach, Blake expressed satisfaction with the condition and relaxed confidence of the Habs following Wednesday's ice time.

LEAFS HUNGRY, MAD

Imlach, said his team is hungry. "They want to win. I've got them so mad at me now, they're going to take it out on someone, and its likely to be Montreal."

Imlach said all Leafs will dress and the league's top goal-tending duo of Terry Sawchuk and Johnny Bower will be fully dressed and on the bench throughout the playoffs.

Blake on the other hand has little Charlie Hodge slated for the opener, but with veteran Gump Worsley sitting in the wings.

Seattle Whips Vancouver

Portland Loses Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The race is on for the Western Hockey League championship and the Lester Patrick Cup.

Two best-of-seven semi-final series opened Wednesday with Vancouver Canucks defeating Portland Buckaroos 6-3 in Portland and Seattle Totems scoring a 4-3 victory over Victoria Maple Leafs in Seattle.

The Vancouver win was the first home-ice loss for Portland goalie Dave Kelly, whose team finished the regular season atop the league with a 22-point margin over second - place Seattle. Kelly hadn't suffered a loss in the 11 previous games.

Vancouver had won only three out of 11 times against Portland this season, with the two clubs battling to a tie on three occasions.

GETS TWO GOALS

Art Jones pleased the home-town crowd of 6,385 by scoring two and assisting on the third Portland tally, which came from Dick Van Impe.

Mo Mantha powered a hard, long-range shot from the right point to give Seattle a 1-0 edge at 2:35 of the game and Bob Barlow pushed it to 2-0 45 seconds later. Gordie Redahl came back for Victoria mid - way through the period and the 2-1 score stood up until 12:08 of the third when Bob Sabourin made it 3-1. Milan Marcetta got the other Victoria goal three minutes later.

Leafs pulled goalie Al Millar in the closing minute in an attempt to tie the score, but Seattle's Jerry Leonard scored on the empty net at 19:43 to give Totems the clincher.

Both series resume Friday night, with Victoria again at Seattle and Portland going north to Vancouver.

Udvari May Take Voss Job

KITCHENER (CP)—National Hockey League referee Frank Udvari of Kitchener said Wednesday he has been approached about replacing Carl Voss as the NHL's referee-in-chief next season. But no decision has been reached, he said.

Udvari, senior referee in the NHL, said he has discussed the move with NHL president Clarence Campbell of Montreal.

"What he's going to decide I don't know," Udvari said. "But whatever he decides will be in the best interests of the league and I'll abide by his decision."

Voss is retiring as the NHL's head official at the end of this season.

In Montreal, Campbell said Udvari had "indicated his interest" in succeeding Voss and was a "potential candidate" for the job.

Argos Talk Baloney Says Faloney

Never Approached

TORONTO (CP)—Allegations and denials involving a $200,000 contract, the reputation of Toronto Argonauts and the accusing finger of Montreal Alouettes have been temporarily calmed by football commissioner Sydney Halter of Winnipeg.

The argument started when Bernie Faloney and his lawyer, Sydney Paikin, asked Alouettes for a $200,000 three - year contract or to start "considering another quarterback."

BERNIE FALONEY

Alouettes co-owner Joe Atwell said he considered the figure "ridiculous" then learned of reports indicating Faloney thought so too.

The inference of the reports was that Toronto Argonauts would be next in line to catch Faloney, considered by many to be one of the all-time greats in Canadian football.

Atwell wrote to commissioner Halter asking him to determine if Argos had been guilty of tampering in the Faloney case.

The letter was sent following a meeting in which Faloney and his lawyer put their cards on the table and told Atwell to show some folding money or to look elsewhere for a quarterback.

DENIES REPORTS

Faloney denied Wednesday that either he or his lawyer indicated to Atwell that Toronto Argonauts were ready to come up with money and players in return for Faloney's contract.

He said he was growing weary of trying to get some concrete offer from the Alouettes since he was traded to the club by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats several months ago.

"At no time have I had any discussions of any kind with Argonauts so how could I or Mr. Paikin have any knowledge of what they were prepared to do?" he said.

"This is pure conjecture on the part of Mr. Atwell. That, or he completely misunderstood what was said during our meeting."

A copy of Atwell's letter to Commissioner Halter was sent to Lew Hayman, managing director of Argonauts.

Hayman then sent a letter to Atwell asking him to submit his evidence of tampering to the commissioner.

"If I had any evidence I would have sent it already, wouldn't," Atwell said.

In the Garden in May

See Patterson, Chuvalo Next Big Fight

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres talks of fighting Cassius Clay, Joey Giardello and Floyd Patterson. Welterweight king Emile Griffith eyes Giardello's middleweight crown. But the next big fight coming up probably will be a return between Patterson and George Chuvalo

"We hope to sign Patterson and Chuvalo in a week or so for May 19 or 17 at the Garden," said matchmaker Teddy Brenner today. "Patterson says he wants Chuvalo again and Chuvalo wants Patterson."

Patterson, the former heavyweight champion, whipped the husky Canadian champion in a slugfest at the garden that touched off the current boxing boom. The 12-rounder drew a standing room crowd of 19,100 and $186,623 on Feb. 1.

Torres, who dethroned lightheavyweight champion Willie Pastrano on a ninth-round technical knockout and probably sent the one - time boxing master into retirement, won't be available again until June.

PLANS VACATION

Boxing's latest glamor gladiator plans a month - long vacation in his native Puerto Rico and Mexico. Griffith is heading for a month's holiday in his native Virgin Islands. The welterweight boss has been a busy fighter and he won't fight again until June.

Both champions bore few marks of their triumphs in the championship double - header that lured 18,112 fans and a record garden gate of $23,556 Tuesday night.

Torres put Pastrano on the floor in the sixth round — the first time in his 13½-year career that he had been dropped — and gave him a fierce battering. Griffith decisively outpointed Cuban-born Jose Stable in 15 rounds.

The 28-year-old Torres said he would like to fight Clay, Giardello and Patterson in that order and that he can knock out all three.

Griffith said that a fight for the middleweight title "is my dream. I have defended against all of the top men in my division. I don't duck anyone."

Record Variety For Big Rally

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER (CP) — A record variety of autos will slip and slither across Canada this cross-Canada rally.

Details of the annual 4,000-mile rally, which this year will be from Montreal to Vancouver were released Wednesday by the sponsors.

Twenty - nine makes of car, said by rally co-ordinator Jim Gums to be the greatest variety in any rally anywhere, will be among the about 70 cars that leave Montreal April 24 for the week-long cross-Canada test of skill and endurance for cars and drivers.

Despite the fact that the rally conflicts with two important rallies in Europe and Africa, some top drivers have been attracted again this year.

They include Olivier Gendebien of France, a veteran rally and racing driver who was fourth-over-all in last year's rally and will be driving a factory - entered Volvo again.

Another important name is Pedro Rodriguez, 28, of Mexico, driving a factory - entered Studebaker. He was winner of the 1963 and 1964 Canadian Grand Prix.

The rally has attracted cars from seven countries and competitors from five.

Because there are only two female entries, including defending women's champion Diana Carter of Toronto, there may be no women's competition.

The rally is a test of drivers' skill and the endurance of both car and drivers. Cars must reach prescribed places at prescribed times or lose points. The car losing the least number of points is the winner.

Speed trials, introduced for the first time last year, will be doubled in length and number. In these trials, over rough roads closed to the public, drivers are invited to drive their fastest.

The cars will leave Montreal at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 24 and drive until they reach Sudbury, Ont., around 4 p.m. next day.

They leave Sudbury starting at 2 a.m. and reach Port Arthur, Ont., at around 4 p.m. The cars start leaving Port Arthur at 12:30 a.m. April 26, for a long haul that will bring them into Regina after 8 p.m. that night.

From Regina at 1:30 a.m., they head for Edmonton, arriving there after 6 p.m. The Edmonton start is at 3 a.m. Thursday April 29, and finish of that leg is after 10 p.m. at Kelowna, B.C., leaving Kelowna around 6 a.m. April 30. They reach the rally finish here at 6:00 p.m.

Americans Nip Aces In Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It took Rochester Americans five years and a strong comefrom - behind effort, but they finally won an American Hockey League playoff game.

The Americans, who hadn't registered a victory in playoff action since 1960, came from behind a 2-1 deficit Wednesday night to defeat Quebec Aces 4-2 in the first game of the best-of-seven Calder Cup semi-final series.

The quarter - finals winners will meet in the other semi-final series with the survivor going against the Quebec-Rochester victors.

The Americans came close to falling into their bad habits but unanswered third - period goals by Jim Pappin, Wally Boyer and Stan Smrke pulled the game out of the fire.

Larry Hillman got the other Rochester goal, while Bill Sutherland and Wayne Hicks replied for Quebec.

Ken Schinkel slammed home the winning goal for Baltimore at 15:07 of overtime. Sandy McGregor scored the other Baltimore marker and Myron Stankiewicz was the lone Hershey scorer.

Ian Cushenan and Billy Dea were the other Buffalo marksmen. Jerry Toppazzini scored twice for Pittsburgh and Claude Laforge and Ted Hampson got the others.

Davy Jones Sparks Aces

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston Aces moved to within one game of eliminating Shawville Pontiacs from the eastern quarter-finals of the Allan Cup playoffs by defeating the visitors 6-2 Wednesday night.

The Aces led 3-1 in the best-of-seven series and can clinch it with a victory in Shawville Que., Friday night.

Shawville took an early lead and went into the second period ahead 3-1. However, the Aces swamped the Quebec team for the remainder of the game scoring three goals in the second period and two more in the third.

Referees John Skivski and Ray Trainor of Ottawa handed out 18 penalties, including two majors to Ball and Shawville's Ed Parr for fighting in the third period.

Delvecchio Trains On Big Stogies

DETROIT (AP)—Why is it tougher to play in the Stanley Cup playoffs than the regular National Hockey League season?

He hasn't practised with his teammates for three weeks. Every morning he reports to trainer Lefty Wilson, lights up a stogie and climbs up on the training table.

The reason: A groin injury, says Delvecchio.

"I don't know about that guy," says Wilson.

Flyers Defeat Wilsons 70-63

RCAF Flyers moved to within a single victory of sweeping Bay of Quinte men's basketball league honors last night.

The victory gave RCAF a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five championship series, following a sweep of semi-final games.

Third game of the series will be played on Monday night. Game time is eight o'clock, in the air station gym. If a fourth game is necessary it will be back in Trenton next Wednesday.

Gordie Howe's Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

There's so much glamor and excitement about the Stanley Cup playoffs some of the hockey players get keyed up to the point they can't play.

All the marbles are on the table. This is what you've been shooting for, what you dreamed about as a youngster. The headlines and the stories and the pictures are bigger than they've been all season.

Take Bill Gadsby, who has been in the National Hockey League with three different clubs for 19 years and never has been on a winner. He wants to be on one so bad he can taste it.

Then a few fellows like that on your club - - all you need is one - - just mentioning the fact, they keep up the whole club all by himself.

I remember when Bobby Goldham was with us a few years back in the playoffs. What a time he had trying to eat. He'd sit down at the table with us and order but he had trouble forcing it down.

This was early in Marcel Pronovost's career. Marcel's in his 15th season so it is easy to figure out how long ago it was. Bobby and I split a steak. Across the table from us, Marcel would put away two steaks. We just couldn't unders and it. These days, Marcel is eating eggs, too.

There was almost a repetition of the same situation last season in the playoffs. Gadsby is a nervous competitor. He gets all keyed up.

So Bill had eggs prior to a playoff game. I went along with him. I had myself a piece of steak. Across the table was Pit Martin, Red Wing rookie, barely 20 years old. He was munching away on a steak as if there was no tomorrow, really enjoying his.

"That's youth, you can't beat it!"

Hockey referees have one of the world's toughest jobs, in my estimation. They have to make decisions in a split second. There's so much going on they can't always be right. But they're dedicated people. They're calling them the way they see it and penalties have a way of balancing themselves out.

However, I got a penalty in a game with New York recently when the Rangers' rookie defenceman Arnie Brown actually was the guilty one. The thing that made it look bad for me was the fact that I came close to getting a goal with Brown's hand on my stick.

I carried the puck in and shot from 30 feet. Marcel Paille made the save. The rebound went to the side and Alex Delvecchio fired back to Doug Barkley at the point to keep it away from an oncoming Ranger.

I wheeled alongside the net and as I turned, Brown grabbed my stick just below my hand.

He was facing me. Then he turned around, still holding the stick. It put my arm up over his shoulder and his back to the referee.

He had me locked because his hand was below mine and when he started leaning forward there was nothing I could do but go with him or let go the stick.

When I finally let go, thinking he'll release the stick, it didn't and he pulled it around, so I leaned on him and we both went on our knees.

The referee has a tough job and he calls it as he sees it. But what made it look real bad was the fact Doug Barkley got a shot away. Although I did have two hands on the stick - - Brown's and mine - - the puck hit the blade of my stick and almost scored a goal.

Brown certainly should have gotten credit for it if it went in. Instead, Art Skov penalized me for holding the stick. That's what it looked like to him. I put up a beef. But like I say, sometimes I might have been stretching the rule a little and they let it go so they even up.

There are many players who have had a good shot at the National Hockey League and left. That's because they lacked the determination and fortitude that mark the play of Bill Gadsby, Detroit defenceman, who is finishing his 19th season in the NHL the same as myself.

He plays good, tough hockey. It's not exactly rough. He's what you call a hard-nosed hockey player.

I think Bill's greatest asset is his ability to recover. He might be guilty of bad judgment in going down on one knee to try to block a shot and get by-passed. Quick as a wink, he's back on his feet and back in the play.

His anticipation as to what a player is going to do is fantastic. He can judge it to a T. I've never seen anyone who intercepts the puck oftener, merely by putting his stick on the ice.

I've tried it a lot, myself and very seldom do I come up with the puck on such a play. Maybe I'd better watch him a little closer.

One joke I've often told when we've been at banquets together is about when I was a young-

Richie Allen was a happy holdout.

Not happy that Philadelphia Phillies wouldn't give him what he thought he was worth but happy because he was sitting at home rather than running at spring training camp.

The National League's Rookie of the Year, who finally signed a one-year contract March 15, made the Phillies happy Wednesday, enjoying his best game of the exhibition baseball season in his team's 10-1 trouncing of Cincinnati Reds. He rapped three hits, including his first homer, and drove in three runs.

Allen went into the game with a .130 batting average and four runs batted in, but that meagre showing didn't upset the 23-year-old third baseman.

"I'm glad now that I missed all that time here," he explained. "I feel so much stronger than I did last spring.

"I don't know whether it was physical or mental tiredness, or both, but I had come down here about Feb. 15 to run around. When the season first started, I was beat. I don't worry about not getting hits. All I want to do is make sure I've got my swing."

WAS HITTING .300

At this time last year, Allen was hitting .300, had six homers and 17 RBI. During the regular season he batted .318 slugged 2 homers and knocked in 91 runs.

In the Phillies' victory against the Reds, Allen was joined in the heavy hitting by Tony Taylor and Tony Gonzalez, who also drove in three runs apiece.

Jim Kaat scattered six hits in eight innings as he pitched Minnesota Twins to a 5-1 triumph over Baltimore Orioles. Harmon Killebrew hit his first spring homer, a three-run blast, in Minnesota's third inning.

Detroit Tigers downed Milwaukee 7-3 as Dave McLain held the Braves to three hits, including Felipe Alou's two-run homer, in seven innings.

Ken Johnson hurled five perfect innings, then allowed one run and three hits in the sixth inning in Houston Astros 4-1 triumph that halted Chicago White Sox' five-game winning streak.

Washington drubbed New York Mets 6-0 with the Senators' Phil Ortega permitting just one hit—Ed Kranepool's leadoff single in the fourth—in seven innings for the Giants, allowing two runs in his final inning.

New York Yankees snapped their four-game losing streak, downing Kansas City Athletics 6-3 despite five errors, two by left-fielder Mickey Mantle. Tony Kubek delivered the decisive blow, a three-run homer in the sixth.

Tommy Davis raised his average to .424 and Maury Wills to .488 with two hits each in Los Angeles Dodgers' 7-3 decision over St. Louis. Ken Boyer knocked across two Cardinal runs with a single and a triple.

Lead Series 3-1

Petes Clobber Marlies

TORONTO (CP) — Peterborough Petes humiliated Toronto Marlboros before 6,331 fans Wednesday night, drubbing the home team 6-1 in the fifth game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-final.

Peterborough leads the best-of-seven series 3-1 with one game tied, and needs only one to move into the final against Niagara Falls Flyers. The next game of the series is in Peterborough Saturday.

Marlboros dominated play in the first period, outshooting the visitors 11-8, but Peterborough goalie Chuck Goddard managed to smother all the shots.

The Toronto team fell apart in the second period, under the Petes' sustained attacks. The visitors scored all six goals in this period, three of them on power plays as Toronto drew six of the seven minor penalties handed out by referee Merle Glassford.

Dale Grant, Mickey Redmond and Jim Peterson, a standout player all evening, each scored twice. Jim Pilffault got three assists. Both of Redmond's goals came as the Marlboros were playing one man short.

Horseman Banned 60 Days

TORONTO (CP) — Gordon Horner of Peterborough, a harness racing driver and trainer, was suspended for 60 days following investigation into the doping of a pacer March 24 at Greenwood Raceway.

The case of the doping of Kawartha Cal was investigated by presiding judge Claire Smith of Ottawa and associate judges Floyd Miller of London, Ont., and Max Hill of Ancaster.

"It's a most unfortunate situation," said Smith Wednesday. "All three of us are convinced there was nothing deliberate."

Kawartha Cal, making his second start of the year, won the second race, paying $12.20 to win. The daily double, of which his race was the second half, paid off at $167.20.

Horner told the judges during the investigation that the horse had a cold two days before the race and a veterinarian gave the seven-year-old gelding a penicillin shot. He said the veterinarian told him the injection would have no effect on the horse's racing ability.

Smith said in an interview that Horner was a victim of circumstances. "He's a bit green in this business. Kawartha Cal is the first horse he ever owned."

But he added that under Canadian Trotting Association rules, the onus is on the trainer to care for his horses.

Matthews Finishes Career

STOKE, England (AP)—Sir Stanley Matthews, 50, officially ended his career as a professional soccer player Wednesday.

The famed winger's contract with Stoke City was cancelled by mutual consent. Although he no longer is a salaried player, he will continue playing in exhibition games.

The ending was a formality, to comply with English Football Association rules.

Matthews, a professional since 132, had announced he would retire at the end of this season. He was knighted this year.

The Trots

MONTREAL (CP) — Allan Dickenson, president of the Canadian Trotting Association, predicted Wednesday that 1965 will be the best year ever for trotting in Canada.

Citing the fact that the opening card at Greenwood Raceway in Toronto attracted nearly 11,000 fans who wagered $442,-963, the highest one-day total ever for trotting in Ontario, Dickenson said:

"There's no reason why this upward trend won't continue at Blue Bonnets (in Montreal) and Greenwood and with the new Ojibway Raceway in Windsor opening up in the fall we should hit the predicted new record."

Last year's harness wagering in Canada totalled $178,036,44 and Dickenson predicted it will hit between $185,000,000 to $200-000,000 this year.

Superb Hanover, in his last year of racing at regular meetings, scored a 4¼-length win over the 3-5 pick, Patsy Peters III. Pat's Girl, driven by Wes Coke, was third.

Canadian Trotting Association rules bar any horse older than 14 years from racing at any meetings except one-day fairs.

Hawks Bosses Explain

CHICAGO (AP) — James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, co-owners of Chicago Black Hawks, placed some Chicago newspaper ads Wednesday explaining their stand on why the team will be seen on paid closed-circuit television in the Stanley Cup playoffs rather than on home television.

There has been considerable ire by Chicago hockey buffs about paid - television plans after they had been receiving free home television of some of the Hawks' games away from home.

In part, the ads said:

"We state to our public that the Black Hawks offered all of the 'away' - from - home TV games for the 1964-65 season, which included the Stanley Cup playoff series to any broadcasting company which would purchase the entire package. No further state that no broadcasting company was interested. . . ."

'Selective Hunting' Key To Wildlife Preservation

By BOB TRIMBEE

EDMONTON (CP) — Game animals can not be stockpiled, says George Mitchell, chief wildlife biologist with the Alberta fish and wildlife service.

This, he adds, has become a cardinal rule in amending game regulations across Canada and, because of it, game officials are giving increasing importance to the use of selective hunting as a method of maintaining wildlife populations.

"The principle has been proven in a number of studies involving such species as deer, moose, elk and game birds. The findings certainly have not met with universal acceptance, but without doubt, as the data pours in, more and more biologists and wildlife officials are throwing their weight behind regulations which employ these beliefs."

This was an underlining factor in a 10-year study of Alberta's pronghorn antelopes by Mr. Mitchell, the results of which will be published next summer in a thesis now being written by the Vancouver native, who in 1952 became Alberta's first wildlife biologist.

EXAMINES BODIES

During the study Mr. Mitchell has examined, boxed, weighed and recorded information gleaned from thousands of antelope skulls, eyes, teeth and genital organs to determine such things as age, size, reproductive rates and the fertility period. As well, food sources of antelopes involved detailed checks of the amount, type and consistency of supplies.

While Mr. Mitchell's findings will not be unveiled until next summer, Alberta hunters already have benefitted from his interest in the species.

Last October the provincial government launched a new method of issuing antelope licences. The province's map was divided into seven regions and detailed population checks were made in each. The information was used to establish a maximum number permitted to hunt in each.

Permits were stamped with a number given one of the seven regions and the hunter holding a licence was allowed to take an antelope only from that region. Application forms looked like a preferential ballot. The sportsman was asked to record his order of preference. If a hunter did not get a licence to hunt in his favorite area he was given a chance of gaining a licence for a lower preference. About 8,000 applications were received and 5,732 licences were issued.

REGIONS ALLOTTED

Previously, hunters were allowed to hunt in any region, but because most flocked to the same area, licences had to be limited to ensure the region was not killed off.

"Our plan was simply to ensure that the hunter had an opportunity to hunt in an area nearest his choice while preventing unchecked hunting pressures that could lead to an excessive kill."

Early indications are the plan worked, he said in an interview. "It must be remembered that while between 32 and 92 per cent of the hunters got their animal we restricted licences to numbers we knew the game population could withstand if every hunter returned home successful."

Alberta officials are conscious of the dangers of an excessive kill such as occurred in 1950 and resulted in closed seasons for six years.

The study of antelopes involved the Lake Newell region in the eastern irrigation district, near Brooks, Alta., where, until last October, no antelope hunting was allowed and the Lake Pakowski area, in the extreme southeastern corner and long the favorite of hunters.

AID IN HEALTHY STOCK

"The thing we wanted to determine was whether the protected herd was a stagnated population—that is one with a high percentage of old animals. We believe there is a mechanism in nature which nature uses to control the size of protected herds through self-destruction such as malnutrition, disease, inability of animals to reproduce successfully or to stand up to severe weather conditions.

"We hope to prove that among antelopes we can harvest an annual crop and still retain a healthy, vigorous stock, vigorous and able to withstand our tough winter hazards. The hunted crop should be the kind of surplus which we believe would die anyway as a result of nature's controlling devices and lack of sufficient food supplies.

"If we are proven right we will know that we are on the right track in our game regulation thinking and will be able to proceed with laws that will ensure preservation of our wildlife populations and provide the greatest number of residents with the opportunity to hunt."

Fire Destroys Govt. Building On Trent Canal

CAMPBELLFORD — Fire which broke out yesterday in a Department of Highways building under construction at Lock 9 on the Trent canal completely destroyed the structure.

The building, which was complete except for the brick work, would have replaced an older one.

The fire occurred when the workers were away at lunch.

The cause of the blaze is unknown and no estimate of the damage is available.

The building was being constructed by W. R. Arch and Son, Streetsville.

Heavy Damage In Car-truck Collision

CAMPBELLFORD — Damage totalling $2,800 resulted from a car-truck collision on Highway 30, seven miles south of Campbellford, on Wednesday.

The truck driver, Jacob VanDam, R. R. 1, Pontypool, and Elmer C. Galbraith, 113 Herchimer St., Orillia, at the wheel of a Pontiac, were both driving north when the accident occurred near the Trent River.

PICTON (Staff) — A family was awarded a total of nearly $21,000 in a motor vehicle accident settlement here this week. Mr. and Mrs. David Soules were plaintiffs in a civil action heard before the Hon. Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court.

The action arose out of a fatal motor accident on Highway 33 in Lennox and Addington County on Aug. 20, 1964. The lone driver of the other car, Robert D. Most TV Homes Will Have Two Sets in Next 10 Years

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A television researcher predicts that by 1971 there will be 40,000,000 color TV sets in American homes, compared with today's 3,000,000. He also says that by 1975 almost every TV home will be equipped with at least two sets.

The predictions came from Rodney Erickson, vice-president of a research organization in a speech to members of the television industry this week.

In 10 years, Erickson said, "the color set will become the family—or adult—set, and the other sets will be for the kids or in the bedrooms, kitchens and even in the back of the car."

If his projections are correct, this means that within 10 years the American family will split its viewing in the house—even the garage—to view the program of their individual choice.

Summer already has come quietly to network television.

ABC's The Flintstones and Johnny Quest started summer season reruns almost two weeks ago, and Casie and Harried joined them last week. NBC's Hazel starts repeats tonight and by the end of this month will be joined by a number of other programs, including The Bing Crosby Show, The Donna Reed Show, and The Fugitive on ABC and Flipper, The Man From U.N.C.L.E., and The Virginian on NBC. By the end of May, most shows will be reruns.

Although CBS still has not locked up its summer schedule it appears that summer television will consist primarily of repeats and collections of "audition shows" made for series which failed to find buyers.

Made Million In Memory of Mother-in-Law!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Stark may become the first man in history to — millionaire — by investing in the memory of his mother-in-law.

"I can't think of anyone else who made money that way," said Stark, grateful son-in-law of the late comedienne, Fanny Brice, who has turned out to be the bonanza of his lifetime.

A year ago he launched on Broadway Funny Girl, the musical based on Miss Brice's career. Starring Barbara Streisand, it cost more than $650,000—the largest amount up to that time ever spent on a Broadway show.

It has turned the profit corner and grossed in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, not including the sale of recordings.

Even more sugar plums are in sight from the musical which is expected to run for at least two more years. Two road companies and a London production are planned and, of course, a film.

"The movie sale will be the biggest ever made except for My Fair Lady—which was $5,500,000 plus," said Stark.

SUPERVISES MOVIES

As executive vice-president of Seven Arts Productions, the 49-year-old, sandy-haired producer will supervise the shooting of 15 films here and abroad this year. But Funny Girl remains his prize project.

The idea of building a story around his mother-in-law, Miss Brice, the famed Baby Snooks, came to him more than 10 years ago. He is married to the comedienne's daughter, Frances. They have two children.

"I adored Fanny," he said. "She was such a strong dame. We all still miss her terribly.

"She was a wonderful fun girl all the way—a great friend to have, not just a mother-in-law."

The romance and marriage of the strong-willed Miss Brice and her equally strong-willed husband, gambler Nicky Arnstein, which became a lurid saga, is the basis of Funny girl.

Producing the musical was a long gamble for Stark himself. Over the years he poured more than $500,000 of his own money into the project, before it finally opened and proved an instant hit. Since then it has played to capacity audiences at every performance.

Spy Drama Hit

Canadian Director Scores in West End

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — Canadian-born movie director Sidney J. Furie seems to have a bit on his hands with the new spy thriller The Ipcress File, which has just opened in London.

Like the original book by Len Deighton, the movie aims to take the lid off counter-espionage and show the public how they really are, more a matter of form-filling and legwork than the glamorous, heroic adventures of James Bond.

The hero—or anti - hero—of Deighton's story, Harry Palmer is a short-sighted, shabby-raincoated version of Ian Fleming's superman. He has been described as the poor man's James Bond. He too likes girls and good food, but he's diffident with women and he cooks for himself out of cans bought at the supermarket.

He has a faintly sardonic manner and a rather shady military past, tries hard to get his expense account raised and talks with a slight Cockney accent. All very unlike Agent 007, who inhabits lush casinos and restaurants and is never pushed for cash, and no doubt much closer to the real thing.

BRAIN DRAIN

The story, somewhat simplified from the dense plot of the book, concerns a sinister "brain drain" caused by an organization that kidnaps nuclear scientists and brainwashes their prisoners for its own purposes.

Ipcress, by the way, is the code-name for the brainwashing operations and for injection of psycho-neuroses by conditioned reflex with stress.

Toronto-born Furie, 31, has directed the movie with a neat sense of irony and a somewhat gimmicky device of filming everything from oblique angles. The camera zooms through a keyhole to "see" the bespectacled pointing at it, or discovers a dead body by peering down through the ceiling light-shade. Some critics feel this adds to the sinister atmosphere; others consider it a shade overdone.

Isobel Quigley in the weekly Spectator praises Furie's "bright, topographically-minded, stomospheric eye" and says he has handled the thriller form deftly.

Clive Barnes of the Daily Express says Furie's whole film "goes off like a time-bomb."

Furie, who has been working in Britain since 1959, began filmmaking in Toronto in 1957. His effort to make a go of it in Canada were frustrated by lack of money and interest. He and his wife Sheila now live in a South London suburb.

Hayworth Lives in Quiet Splendor With No Worries

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rita Hayworth lives in quiet splendor behind the Beverly Hills Hotel and next door to Glenn Ford, her longtime (Gilda, The Loves of Carmen) and once again (The Money Trap) co-star.

Rita had been watching newscasts of events in Alabama. Within minutes she breezed into the room, svelte of figure, her copperish hair gracefully awry, studious - looking glasses half-way down her nose.

She motioned toward the TV set and remarked: "History is being made. What am I doing here? I should be in Alabama with them."

Rita moved on to other matters, including her career, her two growing daughters and the current, elusive Mr. Frog, watusi, etc.

She recently finished The Money Trap was her first Hollywood film in five years, and she is eager for more.

LIKES TO WORK

"I've worked all my life, and I like the work," she said.

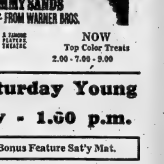
She said she declined the mother role in Joseph E. Levine's Harlow—"Nobody would let me see a script." She also turned down a chance to do episode of the TV series Rawhide, which was paying $25,000 to lure top stars.

"I didn't think that was the right kind of show for me to be on," she said.

Nor has she fallen for the lure of television commercials, though she could pick up as much as $100,000 for two day's work.

"It's tempting," said Rita. "Fortunately I don't have to take such offers."

She gave glowing accounts of the activities of her daughters, Rebecca, 21, child of Orson Welles, and Yasmin, 16, born of her marriage to Aly Khan. Both girls are away at school.



"Yasmin called me to say current, elusive Mr. Frog, she was appearing as Nellie Forbush in the school's production of South Pacific. When I asked how she got along with the music, she said, 'Oh, we're doing it without music.'

"Becky . . . tells me she's busy painting scenery for a play. She has been in The Lady is not for Burning, by Christopher Fry and definitely wants to act. Yasmin I'm not sure about."

Canada Outdoors

Some Automation Benefits Should Apply to Resources

TORONTO (CP)—Some of the benefits of automation should be turned to the conservation of Canada's outdoors resources, says Roderick Haig-Brown.

The Vancouver Island magistrate who has been internationally acclaimed for his writings about the wilderness told the annual meeting of the Canadian Audubon Society automation will make increasing wealth and manpower available.

Both were needed for a comprehensive program of care of the land—preserving and restoring such cherished things as clean air, clean water, forests, fisheries, wildlife, space, scenery and soil.

"It will take funds and manpower to restore to productive yield our most valuable cut-over forest lands — erosion control, stream improvement, wetland restoration, park development and maintenance, wildlife and fisheries management, watershed protection . . ."

"The prospect is that we shall have these two essentials in some abundance. By turning them to the sort of purpose I am suggesting we shall, at least in some measure, reduce the dislocation of human lives and communities implicit in the urban shift. . . ."

"We shall also be building new wealth in the restored and enhanced productivity of our closed-in resources land, the lands which we have so often severely damaged in the effort of building the country.

"Seen in this light automation is not a fearful thing, but a hopeful thing. But to put it to this kind of use calls for a new and different kind of thinking, of new and different incentives, a new ideal of what Canadians are and what they stand for."

CALLS FOR UNITY

A native of England who has lived in Canada nearly half a century, Haig - Brown speaks from intimate knowledge when he discusses the outdoors. Described as the greatest writer on fishing since Izaak Walton, he has just completed his "quartet" on the angling seasons, Fisherman's Fall (Collins).

A magistrate at Campbell River on Vancouver Island, he has been a logger, guide, trapper, fisherman and farmer—jobs that have enabled him to see conservation from all sides.

He told the Audubon Society conservation requires a strong federal leadership backed by understanding and generous cooperation the provinces.

The Canadian Council of Resource Ministers, a direct outgrowth of the 1961 Resources for Tomorrow conferences, was a good start.

But he also urged organizations of anglers and hunters, park groups, naturalists, hikers, mountaineers, skiers, campers, boatsmen and even skin-divers to co-operate in setting up provincial and national bodies to integrate conservation efforts.

"The suggestion is that you remain in your original groupings but that you develop your vertical groupings as strongly as possible right up to the provincial and federal level. Then you have a meeting of delegates from the present groups and associations and a cross-meeting of the executives of all the different groups so that you could get together at least once a year and points of conflict could be resolved.

"But vastly more important, positive provincial and national policies could be developed with the weight and thinking of all outdoor groups behind them."

When It's Her Birthday She Tells All Her Friends

DEAR DORIS — We do so enjoy your daily column. Here is something just a little bit different.

This person, I will call her Mrs. K. For weeks before her birthday she tells everyone she is having a birthday. If she was 85 or 90 I wouldn't even mention it but she is only 50. She is married and has two children.

DORIS CLARK

The same thing happens about their wedding anniversary. When they were married 25 years it had been mentioned so many times a few neighbors had a gathering at their home.

I would like to know your viewpoint on this anniversary matter. — JUST WONDERING.

* * *

DEAR JUST — It sounds like the little boy who wrote to his grandmother apologizing for having forgotten her birthday. Then he added, "And I wouldn't blame you one bit for forgetting my birthday, which is next Wednesday!"

I'd guess Mrs. X has been lucky enough to profit by her advance publicity. Perhaps she needs some excitement in an otherwise dull life.

Just the same, it can't be very satisfying if one's best hope for happiness is to hint around for presents on a birthday.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — I agree with "Rejected" 100 percent about our husbands not being romantic enough.

My husband is a good man and I know deep inside he loves me, but he tries hard not to show it. He thinks only sissies make love and if he shows a woman he cares a man is lowering himself.

I am so starved for his love that I am sick. I had to beg to be loved after we were married; that's 12 years ago, but I've given that up now. Any physical expression is quite inconsiderate of my feelings.

So men please, never mind the red roses. Just love us tenderly and you won't be sorry. — ANOTHER REJECTED.

* * *

DEAR ANOTHER — It is the truly "manly" man who learns to be considerate! The "lowering" takes place when the love-making lacks the love.

* * *

Confidential to GIRLIE — I prefer Box Number Two to Dreamboat. You say "He is almost like a brother to me." He is thoughtful and helpful. He doesn't keep you dangling. Physical attraction can follow warm friendship. Keep your own counsel and take a long view of the situation.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — I am in grade eight. I've always come second or third or even fifth but this year I've passed but came tenth.

My father says that if I don't study more I will not be allowed out any more, only to go to school and that's all. This year we've had new subjects and two different languages. Do you think he's reasonable? — WORRIED.

* * *

DEAR WORRIED — Things come easily to a bright boy like you. Tenth in the class is good, but the work is bound to get tougher in ninth grade. Dad knows that study habits learned now will keep you on top of things. Be glad he cares enough to challenge you and show him you can do it.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — Would like information on pin worms. How you get them and if they are contagious. Is there a cure for them? Do they go in your nose and ears? — CONCERN ON PIN.

* * *

DEAR CONCERN — Worm eggs enter the mouth from contaminated fingers. The eggs float so lightly on the air they may even be inhaled.

They mature in the small intestine and the life cycle begins again, with the female eventually moving on and laying thousands of new eggs just outside the body.

Scrupulous cleanliness, daily baths and medical supervision for the entire family are called for, since infection and reinfection is so easy. There are drugs (by prescripton only) and other routines which can rout this troublesome parasite.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — When my sister's husband died, her little boy was four years old. In order to save him grief, she sent him away to stay with a friend at the time of the death and funeral.

Later she explained to him that his father had "gone to sleep". He accepted this, but is now restless and unhappy. Even seems to fear sleep himself, deliberately trying to stay awake at night. What is your advice in such cases? — AUNTIE.

* * *

DEAR AUNTIE — The little fellow would have carried his own sorrow better if he had felt like one of the family. This way he was shut out; and this may be far more disturbing than the experience of being a part of sad and upsetting ceremonies.

At this point, I'd say his mother should have an honest talk with him, and answer all questions truthfully. And let him find his comfort and security in her arms.

* * *

Vatican Weekly Defends Action Of U. S. Troops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican weekly l'Osservatore Della Domenica said editorially Wednesday that U.S. troops and planes in Viet Nam are defending the interest of all the free world.

"If the Americans retreat from Viet Nam," the editorial said, "they would open the door to Chinese expansion in an area of the world which the common interest of all nations wants to remain free and peaceful."

The Vatican publication defended bombings by U.S. planes in North Viet Nam, at the same time expressing sympathy for the Vietnamese people.

"The Americans," it said, "try with airplane actions in North Viet Nam to cut the channels that feed guerrilla war in the south. And it is opportune to stress that they, despite the obvious difficulties, they meet, fight not only for their own interests but for those of all free men."

The editorial blasted the Communists as blocking peace.

"The Americans are capable of withdrawing from a pacified country and have demonstrated this. The other pay lip service to the liberty rights of peoples. But in fact they oppress them with terroristic violence. . . ."

Geographers Are Producing Series of Maps Giving Bird's Eye View of Sixteen Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government geographers are producing a new series of maps giving a bird's eye view of the features and characteristics of 16 Canadian cities.

The maps, printed in different colors, show just about every facility that makes a modern city tick, from the height and structural material of buildings to the location of doctors' offices.

They will be useful for town planners and for countless other purposes, such as pinpointing an area of high population density where a merchant could establish a business with some hope of finding customers.

The geographical branch of the department of mines and technical surveys started work on the maps in 1963 at the request of the Centenary Measures Organization. EMO wanted th, urban characteristics of the 16 cities illustrated on maps in connection with its task of planning survival operations in the event of an emergency.

While this was the main reason for the project, it was realized that such maps also would be of value for many other purposes, especially in the field of urban research and development.

Ben Shindman, an urban geographer with the geographical branch's economic geography division, said in an interview the program will include the production of 32 separate map sheets of each of the 16 cities. Each of the 512 maps will be on a scale of 2½ inches to the mile.

VANCOUVER COMPLETED

The cities to be mapped are St. John's, Nfld., Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Quebec City, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Windsor, Ont., Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Ont., London, Ont., Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The 32 Vancouver maps have been compiled and are in the process of being printed. Those for Montreal and Toronto are nearing completion and Ottawa and Windsor will be mapped this year. Because of their size, Montreal and Toronto are shown on two map sheets.

Mr. Shindman said it is hoped to complete the maps for the other cities at a rate of one city every four to six months.

The method by which the maps will be distributed has not yet been decided. Some of the maps will not be of interest to the general public and will have limited distribution.

The maps are based on the latest aerial photographs of each city. In the case of Montreal and Toronto the latest aerial photographs were shot in May, 1964.

The geographical branch hopes that each city will assume the responsibility of keeping its maps up to date by marking on them new features, such as buildings, bridges and new streets. Once the face of a city has been altered to a considerable extent by new development, it will be necessary to revise and reprint the maps.

EASY TO READ

Mr. Shindman said the maps are designed as simply as possible to ensure that the information they contain may be used by many agencies. The branch kept in mind at all times that the maps were to be used by many persons unfamiliar with maps and map interpretation.

The urban characteristics and features of the cities are placed in six broad categories. These are the patterns of existing land use, public utilities and services, communications and transportation, demographic and social geography, distribution of manufacturing and distribution of wholesale and retail goods outlets.

Five maps are used to show patterns of existing land use. They include maps showing the ways in which land is used, land slope and elevation, density of coverage of land by buildings, structural material of buildings and average height of buildings.

The public utilities and services category includes four maps. They show the water supply trunk main system, sewage and storm drainage, electric distribution system and the gas distribution system.

There are three maps in the communications and transportation category showing radio and other broadcasting facilities, road, highway and rail facilities and port facilities.

AGE INDICATED

Seven maps are used in the demographic and social geography category. Two show the distribution of population through out a city, with dots being used to indicate the number of people living in designated areas. The others show daytime population distribution, where children under five and adults over 70 live, the location of dwelling units, the location of schools and the location of hospitals and doctors' offices.

The manufacturing category includes six maps. They show the location of manufacturers of food and kindred products, of textile, apparel and rubber products, furniture, paper and printing, of primary metal and fabricated metal products, of transportation equipment, machinery and instruments and non-metallic minerals and chemical products.

The last category deals with the commercial life of the city. Seven maps are used to show outlets for retail and wholesale food, retail and wholesale building materials and hardware, retail and wholesale drugs and general merchandise, retail and wholesale apparel, shoes and accessories, retail and wholesale furniture and home furnishings, hotels and eating places and retail and wholesale automotive sales and service.

Industrial Birmingham

Workshop of the World Worth 20 Medieval Bob

By ROD CURRIE

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP) When the Doomsday Book was written in 1058, Birmingham was assessed at a value of less than 20 shillings.

At the time there were only nine tenants living on the estates of the de Bermingham family, traditional lords of the manor.

Near the end of the 16th century there was a population of 1,500 and it was recorded that the village resounded "with hammers and anvils, for many of them are smiths."

Later the city's role was cast by the arrival of the industrial revolution and Birmingham became a centre of "infernals puffing in blast and smoke."

Today, its population having doubled to 1,105,000 in the last 50 years, it is bursting its 80-square-mile area at the seams and just about the only direction it can grow is up.

The suburban districts surrounding it are as crowded as Birmingham itself used to expand by incorporating them, says a works department official, "would just make our problem a bigger one."

With all these facts in mind, the city fathers set out after the Second World War on a long-planned, multi - million - pound scheme to pull down the old Victorian hodge-podge and virtually rebuild and modernize the city. Redevelopment schemes now under way or in the pipeline will cost about £52,000,000.

BATTERED DURING WAR

Birmingham, for generations a model for other British cities in civic government, had one big advantage in that it owns an unusually high proportion of land and buildings. Between 1920 and 1939 the city collected close to 52,000 houses and in 1944 it was quick to take advantage of a new compulsory purchase act to extend its holdings by another 981 acres.

It now controls some 135,000 dwellings and although another 6,000 units become available each year there still are 40,000 families on the waiting list—many of them overseas immigrants attracted by the industrial boom.

The impetus for the great redevelopment came with the post-war cleanup of buildings wrecked in the air raids aimed at knocking out the massive industrial heart of Britain.

Although nearby Coventry received much world-wide sympathy for the horrific beating it took, the city of Birmingham, about three times bigger, actually suffered greater total damage.

Some 2,241 people were killed here, 3,101 were severely injured and 140,236 dwellings and 300 factories were damaged beyond repair in the 77 raids between August, 1940, and April, 1943.

Even today, driving through its streets, Birmingham still looks like a city recently under siege—although this time the hammer of the wreckers is responsible. Hardly a block is not in the process of being knocked down, cleared or rebuilt.

INDUSTRIES IN CLUSTERS

One thing that gave the planners a more-or-less free hand was the fact that Birmingham, built for convenience rather than beauty, had hardly any old buildings of architectural or historic merit that demanded their preservation.

But on the other side of the ledger, a major problem was the relocation of the myriad small industries dotted around the city that could not afford to establish themselves in expensive new quarters. So the city took a leaf out of Japan's book and built the first "flatted factories" in Britain, multi-storey buildings providing accommodation, heating and other services for a mixture of industries, some of them employing only three or four people.

The scheme is so popular that many other hopeful companies are always trying to get in, but space is strictly reserved for firms displaced by redevelopment, about 150 a year.

Another typically Birmingham space-saving idea, which at first won wide disapproval, was the placing of schools in the first two or three floors of tall buildings, the upper floors reserved for apartments.

REBUILD CITY — This block of flats on the outskirts of Birmingham is typical of the new look overcoming Britain's second largest city. Once known as a grimy industrial town, city fathers 20 years ago act out on a long-range scheme to rebuild and modernize the city. Lack of space to expand means many high-rise buildings.

Resistant Cucumber Developed

OTTAWA (CP) — A new variety of cucumber, resistant to both scab (spot rot) and mosaic virus disease has been developed by Federal Department of Agriculture research workers here.

The new variety — Armour — is the first Canadian table cucumber with resistance to both diseases, according to V. W. Nuttall of the department's Ottawa research station.

It was developed specifically to meet a need for a resistant variety in eastern Canada where scab and mosaic diseases cause severe damage annually.

Armour produces cucumbers that are long, straight and firm with flesh that is thick, crisp and sweet. They retain their dark green color well after being picked.

Mid-Canada Warning Line Closed Down

$227 Million System No Longer Necessary

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer today announced scrapping of the $227,718,202 Mid - Canada Warning Line after 6½ years of operation.

The late Group Capt. Charles Limbrick, former RCAF radar chief, a few years ago described the line as an "abortion," "colossal blunder" and "shameful waste of money."

Hon. Georges Pearkes, then defence minister, said at that time that the line was an essential element in the North American warning system.

Decision to build the line was taken in 1954 and the network went into operation in late 1957.

The western half of the line was shut down in January, 1964. The eastern half from Hudson Bay to Labrador ceased operations March 31, Mr. Hellyer said in a statement.

A map of the air defence system published March 5 by North American Air Defence Command showed that the eastern extremity of the Mid-Canada line is at Hopedale, Labrador, had been shut down.

Closing down of the entire line is in keeping with a recent close examination by the Canadian and U.S. defence departments of resources committed to anti-bomber defences, Mr. Hellyer said.

Mr. Hellyer said improvements in the Pinetree radar system to the south have made the additional coverage sounded by the Mid-Canada line no longer necessary.

The Mid-Canada line was not radar but an electronic device which sent a beam straight up to detect any aircraft flying through the electronic "fence."

Members Pay Hike Approved

TORONTO (CP) — A seven-man select committee of the Ontario legislature took half an hour to pass a proposed wage raise for members of the house and then talked about giving more money to the premier and speaker.

The committee — formed specifically to study the government's bill increasing salaries to MPPs by $4,000 - $5,000 — passed the bill with only one amendment.

That change was a minor one clarifying that the members' 10 - cents - a - mile travelling expenses for the distances between their ridings and Toronto would be paid on the basis of return trips, not just one-way trips.

Committee members made no mention of the amount of the increases or of the fact it is retroactive to April 1, 1964.

The bill was given first reading in the legislature Monday and second reading Tuesday. It needs passage by committee of the whole house, third reading and Royal assent to become law.

RAISED TO $8,000

Under terms of the bill, members' salaries are raised to $8,000 yearly from $5,000. The $2,000 expenses allowance is increased to $3,000 for Metro Toronto members and to $4,000 for members from outside the capital.

Ross Whicher (L — Bruce) said the $4,000 differential between Premier Robarts' salary and that of a cabinet minister was not high enough.

Committee Chairman Dalton Bales (PC — York Mills) was asked to convey to Mr. Robarts the committee's feeling that the differential for the premier should be increased.

If the raises are passed, a cabinet minister will earn at least $25,000 and the premier $29,000.

Reg Gisborn (NDP — Wentworth East) said the speakership extra allowance had not been changed since 1956.

At present, the speaker receives an additional $3,000 more than private members. This difference will be continued under the increase in the new bill.

WOULD PAY MORE

Mr. Gisborn said that although the speaker should not be paid as much as a cabinet minister, there was justifica-

Session Ready To Prorogue

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons and Senate moved quickly Thursday in a drive to prorogue today the longest session in the history of the Canadian Parliament.

A new session is expected to be opened Monday by Governor - General Vanier. The Throne Speech is reported to outline a long list of government legislative proposals, some new and some left-overs from the current session.

The ensuing eight-day Throne Speech debate will give opposition parties their first openings to introduce motions of non-confidence in the government since a series of scandal charges erupted last winter.

The Commons, meets at 11 a.m. today for the 248th sitting of the 1964-65 session with only one item remaining — extra spending estimates of $245,581,200 for the fiscal year ended Wednesday.

PASS INTERIM SUPPLY

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Mildred Peters of Wayne State University, Detroit, says adults and children do not have enough friendly talks.

Dr. Peters, speaking Thursday night at a human relations conference on raising children, said most family conversation is simply a top sergeant addressing the troops—"Don't do this, do that, go, stop."

She also criticized segregation of children by their scores on intelligence quotient tests.

"Life is not like that. In grown - up societies, adults mingle and children must be given a chance to learn that."

Critic of Pension Scheme Tries to Keep Ottawa Job

OTTAWA (CP)—John Kroker's $15,000-a-year government job hinges on whether there is or isn't an unwritten law prohibiting civil servants from criticizing government policy.

Mr. Kroeker, 33, was a senior actuary with the federal insurance department when he called a press conference March 1 at the Parliamentary Press Gallery and blasted the Canada Pension Plan as intrusion of big government into private enterprise.

He was placed on leave several days later and then informed by letter that he was being dismissed because his actions were incompatible with his job as a civil servant.

Appearing before a Civil Service Commission board here Thursday to appeal his dismissal, Mr. Kroeker said it has never been made clear to him that public servants shouldn't make public statements on government policy.

While senior officers in his department had cautioned him not to, he had never been forbidden to speak out against the government plan.

Patrick Fahey, Mr. Kroeker's lawyer, told the appeal board he has made an exhaustive study of the Civil Service Act and other government documents. Nowhere has he found a reference to any law which says public servants can't make public statements on any issues.

If there is such a law, it would be contrary to the Bill of Rights which guarantees freedom of speech to all Canadians.

Government counsel T. B. Smith said it was hard to believe that a man as intelligent as Mr. Kroeker isn't aware of the unwritten law.

It was the foundation of the Canadian system of government that...governments-of-the-day assume responsibility for the acts of the permanent civil service.

How could they do so if they could not rely on the discretion and loyalty of the public service?

A board decision is expected within two weeks.

LBJ Plans War Strategy But Russia's Humble Role May Mean China Sell-out

North Viet Nam May Seek Peace If It Can Elude Peking Controls

NEW YORK (AP) — Something new—perhaps dramatic—may be in store for the Viet Nam crisis.

Non-aligned nations are taking an initiative to seek peace negotiations "without strings." Moscow seems anxious to muff out the sputtering fuse in Southeast Asia. North Viet Nam hints vaguely it might listen. The big stumbling block appears to be China.

Talks may be possible, but they could require something like diplomatic isolation of China.

Southeast Asia's future may lie with the answer to questions like these:

—How much control has China over the North Vietnamese regime in Hanoi?

—Why did the Soviet Communist party virtually humiliate itself in stepping into the soft answer to Peking's harsh attacks in the world Communist dispute?

—What was the meaning of official hints from Washington that the United Nations might have a role in easing the Viet Nam peril?

From time to time there have been indications that the Hanoi regime wriggles uncomfortably in China's grip. Ho Chi Minh was a Moscow-trained agent for the Communist international organization for much of his life. Ho's heart probably is with Moscow, but his border is with China, and his Communists cautiously supported the Chinese in the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

Yet Ho must fear to see North Viet Nam laid waste as a sacrifice to Chinese ambitions. The continuous hints dropped in the right places, Hanoi has managed to spread the word that it would not insist on withdrawal of U.S. troops from the south as a condition for a cease-fire and negotiations.

BEHAVIOR INTRIGUING

Soviet behavior toward the Viet Nam issue has been intriguing against the background of the Moscow-Peking battle. Moscow has sought to be seen as a reasonable party in the dispute, the one willing to go more than half way toward peace and unity, even to failing to reply in kind to Chinese propaganda attacks.

It is unlike Moscow, representing a mighty world power, to humiliate itself before Peking. There may be a motive. By adopting this attitude, the Kremlin can say in the future that it would not insist on withdrawal of U.S. troops from the south as a condition for a cease-fire and negotiations.

Two More 'Copters Shot Down

From AP-Reuters

SAIGON (CP) — Four U.S. Army men were killed and six others were wounded in hard fighting 20 miles west of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman reported today. Two U.S. Army helicopters were shot down.

Thirty - three U.S. jet fighters and bombers made strikes against suspected Viet Cong concentrations within South Viet Nam today. Military sources said they damaged or destroyed a number of structures.

Reports of the fighting west of Saigon, in Hau Nghia province, were fragmentary. Early reports said five South Vietnamese troops were killed and 20 wounded during the first phase of the battle Thursday.

Helicopters in Saigon were ready to fly more troops into the area. The fighting was on the western side of the Vaico Oriental River, in Viet Cong territory.

FIRE ON RANGERS

Fighting broke out Thursday when helicopters coming down with the third load of Rangers were fired on by mortars and automatic weapons.

A U.S. Army helicopter gunner was killed and four other Americans were wounded. One helicopter was knocked down and apparently destroyed.

The mortar fire lifted as the helicopter phase of the assault was completed, but heavy fighting continued on the ground through the night.

Another major battle 35 miles south of the key U.S. air base at Da Nang entered its third day today as government forces hammered away at Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

In Thursday's fighting the South Vietnamese troops, backed by U.S. Navy fighter-bombers and U.S. Air Force jets, killed 30 guerrillas. The government forces had a dead, 84 wounded and 20 missing.

Three helicopter pilots were killed and 11 Americans were wounded when the operation started Wednesday in a six-mile square area between Tam Ky and Que Son, south of Da Nang. The Viet Cong downed four U.S. helicopters during the fighting.

BREAK OFF CONTACT

The communists broke off contact Thursday morning after bloody, all-night fighting with 2,000 government troops, but a U.S. military spokesman said fighting was still going on Thursday night.

The spokesman said U.S. Air Force F-100 Super Sabre jets flew air support missions over the area Thursday.

In another part of South Viet Nam, a battalion of government rangers and regular infantry, accompanied by American advisers, was reported safe after fighting their way out of dense jungle in Kontum province, 290 miles northeast of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese infantry battalion blasted the Viet Cong with artillery from several hundred yards away, dropping the shells on Viet Cong only a few feet away from government troops pinned down by mortar fire.

Britain Asks Canada's View on War

LONDON (AP)—The British government called today for the views of 11 governments on ways of ending the war in Viet Nam. Canada was one of the governments consulted.

The foreign office announced that Britain, as co-chairman of the 1954 Indochinese peace conference, had authorized messages to all countries involved in the future of Viet Nam.

The 11 governments asked "to furnish a statement of their views on the way in which Viet Nam and in particular on the circumstances in which they consider a peaceful settlement could be reached."

The messages went to the governments of Canada, the United States, the Soviet Union, France, China, Cambodia, Laos, North and South Viet Nam, India and Poland.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnson administration strategists neared the end of their current Viet Nam review today amid some cautious optimism that the situation is taking a turn for the better.

Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was due to brief congressional committees before meeting with the national security council and President Johnson. This will shoot wind up Taylor's one-week round of consultations here. He is scheduled to head back to Saigon Saturday.

Johnson held a press conference Thursday just before a session with Taylor and the administration's diplomatic, defence and intelligence chiefs.

The president said the talks are focusing on boosting efficiency on the Viet Nam campaign, but he declined to disclose any military plans. "I know of no far-reaching strategy that is being suggested or promulgated," he added.

ALLUDES TO GAS

As for the furore over use of non-lethal gas against Viet Cong guerrillas, Johnson said, "somebody made a mountain out of a molehill" with the allegations that the U.S. was engaging in poison-gas warfare.

He said the president, as commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces, would "of course" know in advance and would have to authorize any use of poison gas. However, "no one told me that the South

Try Again To March In Camden

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators were determined today to attempt another march on the courthouse of this small southwest Alabama town after two were equally determined to prevent it.

Mayor Reg Albritton personally stopped two of the four marches staged here this week, once with smoke bombs. There was no violence.

The mayor said Thursday he was responsible for the security and welfare of the town of 2,500—which has only three full-time policemen—and did not want to use force.

The 42-year-old mayor said he was willing to meet with any of the Negroes to discuss their problems.

But he said, "they shouldn't just come down here for the hell of it."

POSTS REWARD

At Birmingham, Governor George C. Wallace posted a $5,000 reward for the criminal or criminals responsible for a dynamite bomb which exploded in a Negro neighborhood. Pledges to a reward fund soared to $50,000 within hours after the incident.

"We are sure going to try to find out who did this," the Alabama governor said during a visit to the home of T. L. Crowell, a Negro accountant whose 15-year-old son, Weymouth, suffered a cut hand in the blast.

Soon after the dynamite wrecked a garage behind Crowell's house, time bombs were found and disarmed at the homes of Mayor Albert Boutwell and Miss Nina Miglionico, a member of the city.

Two attempts were made to march during the day and both were turned back by the mayor.

Take Stock Of Martin's Brinkmanship In Reverse

OTTAWA (CP)—Fresh Canadian troops are flying to Cyprus for United Nations peace-keeping duties and officials here are taking stock, with a good deal of brow-mopping, of External Affairs Minister Martin's "Operation Peacemanship" a year ago.

The minister's brinkmanship-in-reverse resulted in formation of the UN force in Cyprus but, as one person who was in close touch with the situation put it, "we took one hell of a chance."

The chance was that the 30-man Canadian advance party would land in Nicosia March 18 and find that nobody else was coming.

Officials disclosed Thursday that the Canadian government ordered the departure of the advance party before telling the UN what was going on and without knowing whether Finland and Ireland would join in.

Mr. Martin spent most of that wild March 17 on the long-distance telephone. Turkey was threatening to invade Cyprus because Turkish Cypriots were being strong-armed by the more numerous Greek-Cypriots.

Mr. Martin called the foreign ministers of Sweden, Finland and Ireland, urging them to send troops to Cyprus for UN duty. He got definite word only from the Swedes.

Mr. Martin then called UN Secretary-General U Thant, told him about his telephoning and then informed him an international force was in being and that the Canadians were on the way.

The Canadian Commons sat beyond a normal adjournment time that night to approve Canadian participation in the UN force. The advance party was then halfway to Cyprus.

Mr. Martin then called the foreign minister of Turkey and told him of Parliament's action and that Canadian troops were already en route.

"This had a tremendous effect on Turkey," an official recalled.

"The fact is that without Canada and without Mr. Martin's nerve there would have been no UN force."

Mr. Martin makes no such claims for himself but he said in an interview that Canada had "no honorable alternative" but to take the lead in formation of the force.

The need for leadership was urgent, he said. The future of UN peace - keeping was at stake: "If the UN had been unwilling or unable to meet the challenge, confidence in the UN would have been seriously undermined."

Parliamentary Notebook

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson remains publicly optimistic that the proposed constitutional amending formula will be placed before Parliament and ratified at the next session.

However, there is considerably less optimism in government circles in the face of a serious gap in Quebec's legislative action on it.

It is understood that the federal government is disturbed at the possibility that the current constitutional amending procedure—asking the British Parliament to make the changes—may remain in effect for some time to come.

There is even mention of the possibility of re-negotiation of the formula should legislative action on it break down completely.

Prime Minister Pearson was questioned in the Commons Wednesday about legislative delays on the formula in the Quebec legislature.

"Perhaps by the time the House (of Commons) has reconvened (after Easter) and the proceedings there have become routine there will be no delay," he told questioners.

He also said that the federal government will wait until the provinces endorse the formula before bringing it before Parliament for action.

SIX SAY 'YES'

So far, the formula has been approved by six legislatures: Ontario, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Alberta and British Columbia.

Newfoundland approved it by cabinet order-in-council. It was not brought before the legislature even though a debate on it was requested by Conservative Opposition Leader James Greene.

A motion to approve the formula still is before the Saskatchewan legislature and it still has to be introduced to the Manitoba House. In Saskatchewan, the talk is that the formula be submitted to a Commons or Senate committee for public hearings.

The formula is the product of a series of federal-provincial conferences going back to 1960, before the Liberal government came to power in 1963. It was agreed to by the 11 governments in its present form at a conference at Charlottetown last summer.

It would require the British Parliament to divest itself of all power to change the Canadian constitution—the British North America Act. The power of making changes would be vested in the federal Parliament.

The formula on which these changes could be made includes:

1. Use of English or French, and provincial rights now guaranteed by the constitution, could be altered only with the concurrence of all provinces.

2. No constitutional change affecting one or more provinces could be made without the agreement of the provinces affected.

3. The federal Parliament could make changes in purely federal matters only within certain specified limits.

4. In matters on which Parliament and the provinces share legislative responsibility, a change would require the concurrence of seven of the 10 provinces representing half the population of Canada.

5. The federal Parliament could turn over to a province or provinces certain federal powers, only if four provinces and Parliament approved. The same requirement covers a province delegating certain of its powers to Parliament.

The Quebec amendment was an addition to the formula agreed on in principle among the provinces and the previous government of Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker. It has attracted it as a step leading to the "balkanization" of Canada. The government has denied in a white paper that the formula makes it possible for a province to go its own way out of confederation.

On the other hand, the formula has been attacked as too rigid—inside Quebec by the opposition Union Nationale party.

Premier Lesage has said he is using his hopes on Quebec's Liberal Premier Lesage breaking down the obstacles in the Quebec legislative approval. These obstacles centre on the Quebec legislative council, which is dominated by the opposition Union Nationale party.

Head Office Says Levesque Is 'Puppet'

MONTREAL (CP) — Noranda Mines Limited said Thursday that Rene Levesque, Quebec natural resources minister, is a "puppet" of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC).

In an unsigned press statement released in Montreal—the first head office in Toronto—Noranda said recent criticism of the company by Mr. Levesque is "vague and unsupported."

During a tour of northern Quebec mines earlier this week, Mr. Levesque said "intolerable things are taking place at Noranda" and said Noranda mines "they should learn to civilize themselves during whatever remaining time was left to them."

The company statement said:

"The honorable Rene Levesque in his vague and unsupported declarations against the mines of northwestern Quebec (where Noranda operates a number of mines) had been fed information from a very questionable source of which he has become a puppet.

CALLS ACTS CRIMINAL

"That source is obviously the Steelworkers of America, the same union that has recently been ordered to pay $2,500,000 to Gaspe Copper Mines (a Noranda affiliate) following criminal acts and damages committed during the illegal strike of 1957."

The release quoted Mr. Levesque as saying "the mining industry of Quebec is amongst those which pay the least and are the most profitable." It replied that Noranda mines employees in fact receive wages higher than the average for Quebec workers.

The statement said bureau of statistics figures show the average Quebec wage is $1.82, which includes all overtime and vacation and bonus benefits, whereas the average Noranda miner makes $2.17, not including overtime or bonuses.

The statement quoted Mr. Levesque as saying that "the mining industry is the most backward as regards pension plans."

"This accusation is false," the statement says. "It only shows how his prejudices against the company are strong and his source of information of no value."

The Noranda statement said its employees' savings and pension plan started in 1937 gives them from $900 to $15,000 if they leave the company.

MOSCOW (AP) — Forty penguins have been flown from the Soviet Union's Antarctic base at Mirny to the U.S. McMurdo Sound station 2,200 miles away for a two-weeks visit after which they were to be freed with identifying bands attached. Tass news agency reports the aim of the experiment is to test whether penguins have any homing instincts.

Ambassador Will Address Canadian Club

The annual meeting of the Belleville and District Canadian Club will be held this coming Wednesday evening April 7 in Queen Elizabeth School and members at this time will be privileged to hear the Belgium Ambassador to Canada speak on the topic, "A New Climate in International Affairs".

The Ambassador was scheduled to speak at a previous meeting but due to the crisis in the Belgian Congo in Africa at the time was forced to postpone his visit.

The speaker was born Guy Daufresne de la Chevalerie, son of General the Baron Daufresne, former commander - in - chief of the Belgian forces. He has had an outstanding military career and during 12 years at sea participated in several hydrographic survey missions in the Gulf of Guinea and the Congo. Later he was sent to the Far - East as observer in the "Manchuria Incident" and travelled through the two Mongolias, Chinese Turkestan and North Tibet.

In the first of the Second World War he joined the Belgian forces in England and was assigned to the Consulate General of Belgium in New York to organize the New York and Halifax bases. In 1944 he was detached as Colonel to serve with the general staff of General MacArthur in the Pacific. He also participated in the Korean War and, at San Francisco, in the negotiations for the Peace Treaty with Japan, as assistant to the Head of the Belgian delegation.

This will be the final meeting of the current season and will be also a bonus meeting for new members. It has also been announced that membership tickets for next season will be available at the door.

Navy Planes Keeping Tabs On Soviet Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy patrol planes are keeping tabs on Soviet ships and vessels of other countries heading through the Gulf of Tonkin toward North Viet Nam, sources said today.

They said these patrol aircraft sometimes fly as low as a few hundred feet to get close identification of such ships, to photograph them, and to check on whether they are carrying deck cargo such as airplane fuselages, missile bodies, or tanks.

These sources deny navy planes do any buzzing, which means a low and harassing pass.

The Soviet Union has been claiming repeated U.S. buzzing of its ships off Viet Nam, in the East China Sea, and the Sea of Japan.

Parliament At a Glance

THURSDAY, April 1, 1965

The Senate passed the last two major bills of the parliamentary session—the Canada Pension Plan and opting-out legislation.

The Commons, in the 247th sitting day of its record-long session, reached its last item of business before prorogation — $245,581,051 in supplementary estimates.

The Commons approved, after a two-day debate, an interim supply vote of $762,542,000 for the government to meet its bills in April and May.

External Affairs Minister Martin said Canada would participate in the Soviet-proposed disarmament conference of all United Nations members if one were called.

The Commons meets at 11 a.m. to continue debate on supplementary estimates. The Senate sits at 3 p.m.

New Highway Bridge Proposed For Bancroft

Reeve M. J. McAlpine said this week that the Ontario Highways Department is planning construction of a new bridge on West Bridge Street in the south part of the village.

The new structure will replace the present narrow obsolete bridge at the intersection of highways 62 and 28 which has served the village for many years.

In other business in the legislature, Attorney - General Arthur Wishart said he feels any bylaw passed by a municipal police commission should be open to public examination.

He was asked by Vernon Singer (L — Downsview) whether local police commissions have the right to keep their bylaws secret.

The question was apparently based on the fact the Metropolitan Toronto police commission has refused to make public the wording of bylaws made by commission members.

STILL IN PROGRESS

Mr. Wishart also told Mr. Singer in reply to a written question that an investigation into Windfall Oils and Mines Limited by the Ontario Securities Commission is still going on in co-operation with Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court, who heads a royal commission also studying Windfall.

Reform Institutions Minister Allan Grossman said his department is using plastic surgery on youthful offenders in the hope it may help reform them.

"It is quite likely," he said, "that with some of our youngsters, physical deformities played a great part in forming their attitudes and behavior patterns."

Mr. Grossman said that Dr. Harold Silver, a Toronto plastic surgeon, last year agreed to perform plastic surgery free of charge if there was evidence that it might help rehabilitate the prisoner.

JAZZ FANS 'POLITE'

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Rock 'n' roll concerts have been banned in Stockholm's downtown concert hall but jazz performances will still be permitted. The director of the auditorium, Johannes Norby, explained: "We do not want the place torn to pieces by the teenage pop fans, but jazz audiences are polite and cultivated and will be welcome."

Richard Nixon Probably Eyeing 1968 Election as Candidate for Republicans

By ARCH MacENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Republican party is getting back on its feet, although still groggy from last November's election knockout.

Right beside it, with smelling salts in one hand, is its former presidential candidate, Richard Nixon.

Frequently, it is Nixon who today speaks for the party, urging a tough line in Viet Nam, decrying public spending or attending Republican events.

The upshot, with no other leadership timber making any noises, is a tendency to eye Nixon speculatively to see how he might look in the 1968 presidential election.

Whether he wants another crack at the presidential crown is not known. He may only be continuing to practise the steady party loyalty he showed in the last campaign when other Republicans were bolting the ranks.

IN GOOD POSITION

But if he does have in mind a political comeback—and he is regarded as at least partially ambitious—he is in an excellent position to begin picking up the party's pieces.

Barry Goldwater, the party's candidate in last November's presidential contest, is little seen or heard. Goldwater's hand-picked young men have been ousted from the party organization. Dean Burch, party chairman, for one, is going with a last defiant statement placing the blame for the big Goldwater defeat on various other groups, including the press and defeating Republicans.

But there are still bleeding wounds within and a vacuum at the top where, for lack of anybody else, the durable Nixon seems to fill a need.

UNLUCKY POLITICIAN

Nixon, now 52, ranks as one of the most astute American politicians and probably one of the unluckiest. He missed the U.S. presidency by a hair in 1960 against John Kennedy.

Then he committed what amounted to political suicide in 1962 by staking his future on winning the California governorship and losing. He said—bitterly—he was through.

But he chipped in loyally and actively in last year's campaign for Goldwater. So, belatedly, did Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania. Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York campaigned locally. Governor George Romney of Michigan never did endorse Goldwater.

The upshot is that Nixon has a status with the party professionals which neither Scranton nor Romney—the two logical presidential contenders at this stage—can muster. The question is whether Nixon can be sold the rank-and-file, with his tarnished record.

Pollution Control Planned

Ontario has decided to force industries to stop polluting water.

Not before it was time.

Indeed, if any quarrel can be taken with this decision it is that industries are to be given five years in which to meet waste control standards to be set by the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Still, any effort to make curbs immediately effective would have been playing to the grandstand. Some industries will face difficult problems in treating their wastes and will need considerable time to discover the best methods—not only the cheapest but also the most effective. Then, too, even if the way to do the job was known in every case, it would be physically impossible for every industry to have the necessary work done immediately, just as it was physically impossible for every municipality to construct a sewage disposal plant when the need for such a program first impinged on public consciousness shortly after the end of the war.

While the delay in requiring action is thus defensible, it needs to be added that the record suggests the public ought to keep a watchful eye on how the program proceeds.

The industries will be required to meet standards to be announced by the Ontario Water Resources Commission. The first thing the public should do is to watch for any hint that these standards are too lenient.

Secondly, while some industries have already shown their willingness to co-operate in this fight against pollution, there have been instances where, under pressure from municipal authorities, industries have hinted that they would merely move to a more co-operative area if the municipality did not desist. This form of evasion will be impossible now that the Water Resources Commission is in charge; but we should not have to wait for five years for some improvement in cases of really extensive pollution which could easily be remedied. The fact that the work of eliminating pollution will proceed in stages, with industry being given a year to meet the standards of each stage, would appear to indicate that the Commission has a somewhat similar outlook on the problem. There ought, though, to be no hesitation in penalizing industries which wilfully fail to meet deadlines, either the ultimate five-year one or the ones dealing with yearly stages.

Of almost equal importance as the elimination of pollution by existing industries is the prevention of new industries joining the ranks of the water-polluters. James A. Vance, chairman of the Water Resources Commission, in answering a question by Robert Nixon, Liberal member for Brant, said he thought the time had come when the commission should have the power to approve or disapprove of industrial construction. With the provision of certain safeguards which would make possible appeal from decisions of the commission, such regulation seems highly desirable. The necessary power should be given the commission at once.

Interesting Differential

The Ontario Government, like other governments everywhere, is steadily increasing the scope of its responsibilities.

Members of the Legislature, if they are good ones, will be well worth the new sessional payment, $8,000 instead of $5,000. The increase in travelling allowance, from six trips home to 14 trips home, merely recognizes the fact that sessions of the Legislature are longer than they once were. Other increased costs are justification enough for raising the tax-free expense allowance, but the really interesting feature here is that a distinction is being made between those members who represent ridings in Metro Toronto, and therefore can presumably be at home while attending the Legislature, and those members whose homes are outside the city and who have to provide themselves with living quarters in Toronto while fulfilling their duties there. Members from outside Toronto are to receive $1,000 more than their Toronto colleagues.

One cannot help wondering whether this principle ought not to be given wider recognition. The justification for a higher allowance for members who do not reside where the sessions are held certainly applies with equal, or even greater, force to members of the House of Commons. If family life is to be maintained, many members have to establish two homes, one in the capital and one in their home riding.

Strictly Personal

Ibsen Play Anticipated Freud Theory

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Watching a revival of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" on the stage not long ago, it suddenly struck me that the title of the play was an odd one. Odd because although Hedda is already six months married when the play begins, the title is her maiden name, not her married name.

Surely this must have some significance, I thought, and looked up the history of the play. In a letter to Count Prozor, just after completing the drama, Ibsen wrote:

"My intention in giving it this name was to indicate that Hedda as a personality is to be regarded as her father's daughter than as her husband's wife."

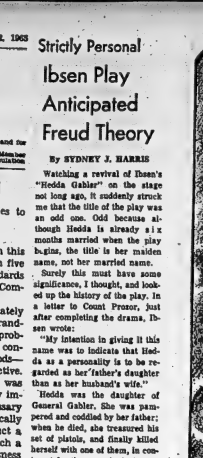
Hedda was the daughter of General Gabler. She was pampered and coddled by her father; when he died, she treasured his set of pistols, and finally killed herself with one of them, in contempt for the man she had married and disgust for the other man she had driven to death.

As the first truly neurotic "modern" character to appear on the stage, Hedda is a wow again how artists have anticipated the later insights of psychologists and doctors: for decades before Freud's research, Ibsen knew that a woman who "belongs" to her father could never be anyone's wife in more than name.

We accept this as a commonplace today, and find nothing mysterious or incomprehensible in Hedda's drives and behavior. The drama seems perfectly clear to us, in sharp contrast with many contemporary plays.

Yet, when "Hedda Gabler" was first presented in 1891, it was charged with perversity, obscurity, and the nonsense creations many give today to the plays of Beckett, Albee, Pinter, and other avant-garde dramatists.

In Munich, then in Berlin, then in Stockholm, then in Copenhagen, then in Christiana, the productions were vastly unsuccessful with the audience. Whistling and laughing, we are told, constantly interrupted the performers, so that the actors could hardly speak their lines.



We know now that Ibsen was not only a genius in dramaturgy but also a master psychologist. Hedda is the prototype of the modern neurotic woman, and Ibsen was able to see 75 years ago the role and identity of woman in the modern world.

Constant reminders of this kind are necessary in order to instill a little more humility in present-day audiences. The playwrights we find "difficult" and obscure may be speaking confused nonsense; on the other hand they may be saying things we are not ready to hear or understand. Only time can determine which. In the meantime, we must not be so sure that the confusion is in the artist, and not in us.

We Canadians, both English and French-speaking, are masters of a magnificent habitation in which we have lived together for nearly a hundred years. Insects Use Gas Warfare

Montreal Star

In some parts of Europe and Asia there are found beetles carrying the appropriate name "bombardier." When aroused they "fire" rearward, a sharp "pop" accompanying the action, a jet of poison which kills some other insects and smarts human skin briefly. Many insects brew poisons for their enemies, but these are the only ones which shoot it at tormentors and because of its nature, there can be few others, if any, who possess such an elaborate sort of armament. It involves a reaction very much like the explosion in a man-made gun.

The first theory, really a credit to its originator, who was a military surgeon with one of Napolean's armies, was that the active principle was saltpetre. The truth was lately found out by University of Erlangen-Nurmberg.

The bombardier beetle manufactures three chemicals, two forms of hydroquinone (an ingredient in photographic developer) and hydrogen peroxide. Since they would blow him up if he kept them together, he stores them separately until he gets ready to fire by mixing them in the "breach" of his gun. His aim, like that of the skunk, is good and he takes aim, unlike the human trick - shot artist, without the benefit of mirrors.

Chemists are familiar with one of the forms of hydroquinone as a reducing agent, and with hydrogen peroxide as an oxydizer. Together they make a efficient propellant, driving a squirt of the pungent mixture in the direction of an attacker. The human hand is a stiff stick and pain; a insect enemy it kills with neatness and despatch.

What was the environmental challenge to which this was the response?

Bicarbonate Soda Addict Should See Her Doctor

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: This has been bothering me. My mother is 36. She has indigestion almost every day, and has taken bicarbonate of soda for a long time.

I have heard that the soda will cause or help induce heart trouble. She has a history of heart disease in her family.

Is it true or false that soda can have an effect on the heart or have any bad effects on the body? — S. W.

Well, young lady, I admire your thoughtful interest in your mother's health. Frankly I wish she would stop the bicarbonate of soda at once, but not because it is likely to damage the heart.

"Indigestion" can mean a lot of things to different people. It can be a symptom of an ulcer, or hiatal hernia ("upside-down stomach," so called), gall bladder disease or gallstones, gastritis and a number of other things, including "nerves."

True, in some instances the soda may relieve a burning sensation temporarily. So the victim assumes that he (or she) needs only to take enough of it and everything will be all right.

Yet that almost never is the case. There can be a rebound of symptoms, so that when the temporary effect of the soda wears off, the trouble is worse than before. The soda doesn't do anything to cure the basic problem, whatever it is. Soda never cured an ulcer, never corrected what ailed a balky gall bladder.

Forget about your mother's family "history of heart disease." Because there is little hereditary influence in this. For the most part, heart disease is something we acquire (rheumatic fever, diphtheria, high blood pressure and other such factors) rather than inherit. However, if your mother happens to have high blood pressure, the sodium in the bicarbonate of soda will not do her any good, and will tend to make the condition worse. But soda, per se, has no effect on the heart directly.

So I hope you will relax in your worry about whether her soda-taking is hurting her heart. But I am concerned because she has made such a habit of soda, and hasn't had a thorough physical examination to learn what really causes her "indigestion."

With the aid of X-ray plus some other tests, it is more than likely that the doctor can diagnose the trouble and provide proper treatment.

There are too many habitual soda-takers who could save a lot of soda, and put an end to a lot of trouble in their tummies, if they would find out what really ails 'em. I'm in favor of that!

Dear Dr. Molner: My important question: If the father's mother's blood type is A, what blood type must the baby have? I'm concerned with paternity.— E. D.

The baby can be type A, or AB, or B, which is a pretty wide choice. To be brief about it, I'll say this: Science is a wonderful thing, but with four billion people in the world and only four major blood types, there is no way of knowing that a baby is the child of any two people (out of 4,000,000,000) and only occasionally does a combination occur which, for any two adults, can be called "impossible."

Note to R. N. Y.: The operation to which you refer, to make a man sterile, is a vasectomy, cutting (or tying off) a duct called the vas deferens. All it does is prevent the flow of sperm, hence making parenthood impossible. It has no other effect, however. Sometimes surgery later can restore this duct, again permitting a man to become fertile, but the doctor can guarantee that it will be successful.

Hiring Time For Teachers

St. Thomas Times-Journal

It's teacher-hiring time again in Ontario. If you want to gain some idea of the level to which this hideous annual ritual has sunk, pick up a copy of the school boards' official prayer book, the Globe and Mail, and see for yourself. It tells a depressing story.

Most of the secondary school boards in the province may be found advertising in the paper's columns, begging someone, anyone, to notice them, and to answer their silent, but gaudy, invocation for help. Your first impression might be that the teacher shortage is a heck of a lot more serious than you thought it was because not many boards advertise for fewer than 10 teachers. Some are praying for 30.

With sober reflection, however, comes the realization that there is more to this than meets the eye. While certain number of vacancies might be considered a normal thing for various legitimate reasons, how is it that there are hundreds of vacancies? The answer seems to be money.

The sad fact is that Ontario's school system has scores of teachers whose prime interest in education is the money they can squeeze from it. This segment of a respected profession is constantly on the move in search of extra dollars, callously playing one school board against the other for personal gain.

The competition between school boards for teachers is as unashamedly open as it is unexcusably senseless. They all do it. Each board advertises its salary schedule and uses considerable space to outline in detail the many fringe benefits available. They are models of art, and one wonders if the boards take as much time in plotting into the application's qualifications as they do in preparing the advertisements.

The whole system is monstrous. It not only invites the greedy, it protects and nurtures them year after year. And this is all it does accomplish.

Nazis Wanted Anticosti Is.

By J. S. in the Milwaukee Journal

Did Adolf Hitler once try to establish a military base in Canada?

A little known incident in 1937 indicates that he probably did, on Anticosti Island at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River.

At the time it was thought that he had in mind a base for submarine base. Big, privately owned Anticosti would have been well situated for either. Now it is suspected that he might have been thinking of installing V-2 launching ramps with atomic warheads being developed at top secret German research establishments.

First news of his interest came when a team of German mining engineers arrived, followed by a paper company. When challenged, the Germans insisted that they were interested only in pulp wood resources—but they did trouble explaining why their party included a mining community planning specialist and a navy expert on deep sea navigation.

The Germans admitted that they were trying to buy the island from J. A. Miller, all of whose clients" who held an option from the paper company. The scheme was scheduled quickly, however, by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who assured the Canadian House of Commons that no foreign power would be allowed to control Anticosti. Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec—which held jurisdiction over the island—called the proposition "audacious."

"We are eager for foreign capital," he said, "but between utilizing capital and grabbing our domain there is a wide margin."

The Germans auctioned off their equipment and bowed out. Thus the only result was a small economic windfall for the island's poor inhabitants. What might have been is chilling to think about.

Discussion of plans for 1945 publicity for the City of Belleville and the County of Hastings will take place next week when the committees of the councils of the city and county meet in annual conference.

The discussion will be unique in that in former years the main points were those designed to attract tourist travel to this district, while this year efforts will be made to induce county resort owners and others who cater to the tourist trade to increase certain types of accommodations.

This is an aftermath of the experience of 1944 when tourist resorts, hotels, cottages and other vacation spots were crowded to capacity with a large number of potential county holiday makers turned away because of the lack of accommodation desired.

Against Free Tuition

Ottawa Journal

If deserving students are missing college because of lack of funds, there can be more scholarships and perhaps an extension of the successful student loan program. The loan scheme could even be refined by remitting part of the obligation in recognition of good scholarship. Opening university gates in all who think they have a chance is not only too expensive but it is an invitation to half-hearted or lazy students to a year's loaf.

Key Witnesses Not Called Leader Claims

TORONTO (CP) — Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, said in the Ontario legislature Thursday night that key witnesses were not called at an inquest into the death of a Guelph reformatory prisoner with a bad heart who worked with a pick-and-shovel party.

Mr. MacDonald said he had warned the office of supervising coroner Dr. H. B. Cotnam that evidence might be withheld into the death of Ronald F. Cross, 19, of Belleville, who died Aug. 20.

Cross, who was serving 12 months definite and 12 indefinite for breaking and entering, died while walking back to his cell from a gravel pit with a work gang.

Fred Young (NDP-Yorkview) said in an interview the inquest, held at Guelph Sept. 9, was not told that Cross had been in solitary confinement from Aug. 12 to Aug. 17 and had complained of sickness while in solitary. He had been taken to see Dr. G. A. Mellow, the reformatory's senior medical officer, who gave him stomach pills.

However, Mr. Young admitted that Cross was working with the gang at his own request.

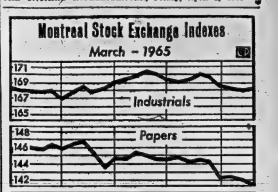
Hearing Awaits Ruling of Appeal Court



TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal was left Thursday to make the next move in a royal commission hearing into share trading of Windfall Oils and Mines Limited after the lawyer for two key witnesses appealed a commission ruling he cannot cross-examine witnesses directly.

Joseph Sedgwick, appearing on behalf of Windfall president George MacMillan and his wife, Viola, the stock's promoter, is also seeking the privilege to call witnesses and obtain transcripts of evidence taken by the Ontario Securities Commission.

The commission, which adjourned indefinitely Thursday, is investigating the climb of Windfall stock to $5.60 from 56 cents on rumors of an ore strike near Timmins last July and its subsequent plunge to 80 cents when the company said the mine was a dud.

Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Court of Appeal, commission chairman, said in an interview following the adjournment that he hoped to have the appeal heard April 9.

At earlier sessions of the commission, Mr. Justice Kelly ruled that the counsel for the MacMillans was not entitled to put questions personally, but must confine himself to asking questions through Patrick Hartt, commission counsel.

Charrington Toby - a Great English Beer. Now brewed in Canada

It's made with special English hops and toasted barley-malt. Hence its deep amber colour and its robust taste (malty and rich, with a definite "bite" to it). Also you'll notice Toby's smoothness: It has less gas than Canadian beer.

Have a Toby. Find out why Englishmen have been devoted to it since 1759.

Final Kiwanis Travelogue On Germany and Berlin

By A. HENDERSON

Last evening Dr. Gerald Hooper, noted traveller and photographer, presented "Germany, and the Berlin Story," to a capacity audience at the Collegiate Institute, showing by word and picture, what war and a bad ideology can do to a beautiful world, and specifically, to one of the world's most beautiful cities, Berlin, Germany. The travelogue was last in the Belleville Kiwanis Club series for this season.

Dr. Hooper, who was introduced to the audience by Dr. E. Dixon, expressed his appreciation at again being in Belleville, and introduced Mrs. Hooper, who accompanied him on his visit to Germany, who had been responsible for taping the sound effects which greatly enhanced the travelogue.

Dr. Hooper, a citizen of the U.S. and proud of his country, stated that the film on Germany and Berlin was made for the United States, putting emphasis on the part of the United States' army in Germany.

The travelogue began with a general sight-see tour of cities through Germany, along the picturesque Rhine River, with its old-world castles, magnificent scenery and medieval towns, gray with age, lovely old churches with their unsurpassed gardens and gorgeous flowers, and flowing, misty fountains, and broad streets almost endless modern highways, many waterways, and the little chalets and hamlets in the Bavarian Alps.

DIVIDED CITY

Then came a specific tour of the divided city of Berlin as it appeared after the war; the desecrated old world buildings, the bombed-out deserted streets, where now and then a fearful pedestrian scurried along like a rabbit in search of cover; the sentries stationed at strategic points. "Germany," said Dr. Hooper, "is a divided country. West Germany is the friend of all free people."

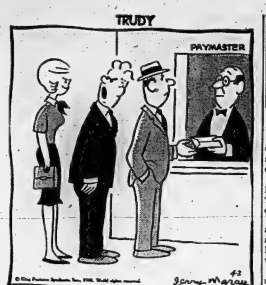
DEVASTATED EAST BERLIN

Much of East Berlin is a scene of devastation and rubble. Along one street were houses with glassed windows, with barbed wire lining the roofs/tops; and wreaths nailed to the spot where some one had been mowed down trying to get to relatives or friends in West Berlin — silent warnings to others who might try the same. The hideous Berlin wall with its barbed-wire top was shown.

In West Berlin the people were full of life; busily repairing the damages of war; enjoying the sidewalk cafes. In East Berlin, they were under a spell of sorrow, and frustration, with very few at the cafes. In West Berlin games were largely attended, with 100,000 filling the Olympic Stadium and eagerly watching the outcome. Today, East Berlin is virtually a prison, said Dr. Hooper.

The soldiers in occupation are busily employed, some at the rifle ranges, and all take exercises to keep fit, with training in the use of hand grenades.

Restrictions are imposed on the people of West Berlin. They can travel only within its environs where they may visit the zoo with its interesting animals, which include the bears, penguins in their dress suits. Other activities include the Berlin Opera; the lovely and graceful ballerina dances, as well as folk dances, and much boating.



CITIES, TOWNS VISITED

Among the several cities visited was Munich, the second largest city in Germany, famous for its gorgeous parks, some requiring 300 gardeners; the Museum of Science, great parliament buildings; the beautiful zone of pleasure; the lovely blue pool and white swans. Others included Cologne with its magnificent cathedral and the little village of Oberammergau where the Passion Play is performed every ten years. Here Dr. Hooper met the chief actor who represents the Christ, at his home, Peter Rendl, Anton Lang. The play lasts for eight hours and is presented for six days a week. Between plays the people engage in exquisite wood carvings and art, all depicted figures, some larger than life, and some, as the Last Supper, only the size of a penabolo. Others showed paintings of Judas betraying the Lord; the Three Marys; Jesus carrying the cross; and the Crucifixion.

Other places of interest were the luxurious hide-away of Hitler in the mountains, Berchtesgaden; the fairytale towns of Dinkelsbuhl and Rotenberg; Frankfurt, and Heidelberg on the Neckar river with its famous University, in the Castle.

In closing Dr. Hooper voiced a grave warning when he said: "If we permit the Russians to run us out of Berlin, they will run us out of Europe, they will run us out of Berlin, they will run us out of Europe."

"Germany," said Dr. Hooper, "is a divided country. West Germany is the friend of all free people."

The Experts Say
Color Is the Key to Loving Care of Carpet

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — Color and quality are the most important considerations in buying a carpet, says expert Margaret Madden.

What's more, the kind of color you give the rug may be related to its color.

"If you choose a color because you think you should, then in a minimum of 18 months you'll hate the carpet. And once you do that you will stop taking care of it.

"People ask me if such and such a color won't soil quickly. I say 'If you like it you'll take care of it and won't let it soil.'"

Mrs. Madden, expert on design and consumer services with Barrymore Carpets, says you should begin by choosing a reputable dealer to buy from. There are enough grades and types of carpets to confuse you if you're not an expert, and you should feel you can rely on the dealer's advice.

A general rule to help you judge the quality of a carpet is that the deeper and denser the pile the better the carpet, regardless of the type of fibre used in it.

JUDGE BY PRICE

The price is also a guide.

"Anything under $8.95 square yard should only be used where you have light traffic. Medium quality costs about $8.95 to $12.95 a square yard. Over that the quality is getting good.

"If you pay $5 a square yard for carpet you only last two years and cost you $2.50 a year. If you pay $10, it could last 10 years and cost you only a dollar a year.

"Customers say they don't want it to last that long; they'll rather buy another. But how many people really do change a carpet every few years.

"I suggest to newlyweds who will be living in an apartment that they get a medium-priced carpet for the living room. When they move into a house they can use it in the bedroom or recreation room and get their money's worth from it."

Mrs. Madden says a carpet should be bought with the kind of use it will get in mind. You'll need a heavier quality in hallways and living rooms than in the bedroom, for example.

Most good dealers have an in home service; they'll show you what a carpet looks like in your home before you buy it.

As for care, this is the key to how long it will last. Mrs. Madden recommends a light going - over with a carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner every day in high traffic area plus a thorough vacuuming once a week.

CLEAN SOILED SPOTS

And a thorough vacuuming means seven strokes forward and back over your carpet to be sure of picking up dirt that may have worked its way down through the tufts.

Small soiled spots should be cleaned as soon as they appear and the carpet should be cleaned regularly by a cleaner recommended by the dealer, she says.

The fluffing that appears in a new carpet worries some people; they fear the whole carpet will usually disappear into the vacuum cleaner. But Mrs. Madden says this shedding is natural for cutpile carpets.

The pile is sheared to a uniform height at the factory and most of the shearings are cleaned away. But some stick in the tufts and work their way to the surface over a period of several weeks or months after you get the carpet home.

Buckling is another common worry. In humid weather the carpet may stretch slightly and buckle in spots. It should flatten out as the humidity drops. If not, ask the dealer. Restretching will usually solve the problem.

Furs Accent Pretty Face

Little furs with flattering feminine details highlight spring's gentle look in fashion. Fur colors both blend with and accent the soft, pale shades forecast for this season. The styles take many shapes, from small capes and stoles to boleros, jackets and wraps.

A significant influence for spring is the short, shaped jacket which levels off at the hipline or above. Shoulders are narrow and small; sleeves end just below the elbow. Some fur jackets feature a belted effect.

Little boleros appear in a variety of distinctive and intricate designs. One such jacket, in mink, is bloused in the back and then shaped into a cinching waistband. Another version is cropped at the waistline with wide, bat-wing sleeves and a tiny ring collar.

ST. MARK'S ANGLICAN W.A.

BONARLAW — The March meeting of St. Mark's Anglican W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Brown, with an attendance of 11.

Mrs. Barlow conducted the meditation and prayer.

Mrs. Barlow welcomed the members, three new members receiving special mention; she also thanked Mrs. Brown for opening her home for the meeting.

Interest was centred about the successful oyster supper.

The pledge, along with some diocesan obligation has been paid and a donation sent to the Primate's Relief Fund.

The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Heath, reported that in a letter from Mrs. Godden, Diocesan Dorcas secretary, the Arctic Bale is to be sent in May and must be made up of all new materials. The hospital bale for Pangnirtung, Baffin Land, is due soon. It was decided to send money to the hospital.

Mrs. Edwards was appointed as thankoffering secretary. Mrs. Priest read the board letter, where was announced the Diocesan annual is to be held in Kingston on May 4 and 5.

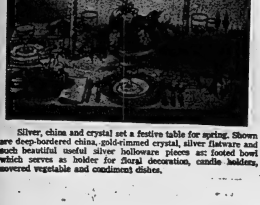
Mr. Stewart closed the meeting and a short program followed.

Mrs. Brown dealt briefly with the Study Book and Mrs. Edwards conducted a contest which was won by Mrs. Barlow.

The hostesses served lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed.

How to Set Spring Table

How to set the table for Easter feasting and other spring occasions is often a question that sends both new and seasoned hostesses scurrying to etiquette books for the answer. According to the Jewelry Industry Council, the rules are simple.



Family Dinner — Silver and china are on the table for soup, a main dish, salad and bread and butter. Dessert plates, spoons and forks come to the table later.

Formal Dinner — The service plate is the only china on the table at the beginning. All forks except the oyster fork go at the left of the plate, in the order of use, from the outside in. Knives and spoons go at the right.

Informal Luncheon — The bread and butter plates are on the table, indicating that the meal is informal. The silver on the table includes a soup spoon, knife, fork and salad fork. The coffee service is on the serving table, and dessert plates, knives and forks are brought to the table later.

Buffet Service — China and silver for the main course are conveniently laid out, for the guests help themselves here. Another table holds the coffee service.

Tea Service — Usually a delicate and light china is used, in keeping with the dainty type of food served. A sugar spoon and lemon fork should be part of the tea service and both cream and lemon should be available.

Silver, china and crystal set a festive table for spring. Shown are deep-bordered china, gold-rimmed crystal, silver flatware and such beautiful useful silver hollowware pieces as: footed bowl which serves as holder for floral decoration, candle holders, covered vegetable and condiment dishes.

This Child Is Seeking Assurance of Parents' Love

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Our seven-year-old daughter has started something new. I don't know how to deal with it.

Carrie has been getting up in the middle of the night and crawling in bed with her father. My husband and I share a large bed, but Carrie never comes to my side — always to his.

She has a different excuse every night. Either it is too cold in her room or too warm. Twice she said she heard noises and was frightened. Last night she said her bed was too hard.

ANN LANDERS

Do you feel we should allow Carrie to get away with this? I told my husband I think it's a bad habit which will be difficult to break later. He feels that she is going through a stage and that it would be damaging to reject her.

Last night I told Carrie to go back to her own bed and she screamed, "Daddy is nice and you are mean." What are your views on this? — EMBATTLED MOTHER.

* * *

DEAR EMBATTLED — A child who wanders into the room of parents during the night needs reassurance that she is loved.

Your husband should take Carrie back to her room and chat with her for about 10 minutes. She should not be allowed to get into her daddy's bed.

It would be wise if you stayed out of it. Carrie must not get the idea that you are depriving her of daddy's love and attention.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Last night my boy friend and I were parked out in the country. Please don't give me a purity lecture. We were only talking and you can believe that or not.

When Bill thought he heard voices he opened the glove compartment and took out a revolver. I was frightened and said so. It turned out that the voices had come from the radio.

I asked Bill why he carried the gun and he said "For protection." He said he got the idea last year when he read about a couple who had been murdered while parked along the road.

Isn't it against the law to carry a gun in a car? Bill says it isn't. Frankly, I don't like the idea. — NO PISTOL PACKIN' MAMA.

* * *

DEAR N.R.M. — A special permit is needed to carry a gun in an automobile. Salesmen or truck drivers may have need for a revolver, but young romantics should not be parking on lonely roads, gun or no gun. Such couples are targets for robbers and assorted nuts. Furthermore an automobile is a shabby and inappropriate setting for romance.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Recently a woman wrote and asked what could be done about her husband's swearing. Your reply said that people use strong language as a substitute for weak ideas. Beyond that you didn't give her much help.

My father was a bad swearer. I say "was" because he doesn't swear any more. This is how my mother cured him.

She made him agree to pay her 5c a hell, 10c a damn, 25c for attaching the name of the Lord to the dam, and 50c for anything worse.

After forking over several dollars worth of change, my father learned to leave the expensive words out of his vocabulary.

I just read this letter to my dad. He smiled and said, "That's a damned fine letter" and handed me a dime. I hope you will print it. — JENNIE.

DEAR JENNIE — I agree with your dad.

Helena Rubinstein, Queen Of World-Wide Cosmetics Empire, Dies in New York

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — Helena Rubinstein, tiny, peppery queen of a $100,000,000 world - wide cosmetics empire, died Thursday. Her age, which she long had kept secret, was revealed at 94.

Mme. Rubinstein, as she was known in more than 100 nations where her firm operates, had as her life - long aim the bestowal upon womankind of ageless beauty. She once declared:

"It is easy in America to envisage a time when no woman will ever look old, regardless of her age — indeed, the time is practically here right now."

Essentially a skin specialist, Mme. Rubinstein also was credited through her beauty salons with shaping the American woman to a slimness and trimness which has made her symbolic throughout the world.

BORN IN POLAND

Polish - born, Mme. Rubinstein's career began in Australia with a dozen jars of home made face cream. She emigrated there as a young girl. She opened her first New York salon in 1915, embarking on a half-century vendetta with the then reigning queen of American beauty culture, Canadian - born Elizabeth Arden. Eventually, Mme. Rubinstein's business became twice as big as rival volume as Miss Arden's.

Mme. Rubinstein, ever controversial figure, had vowed that she never would retire— and she never did. She was at her desk in the 5th Avenue headquarters Monday. Wednesday, she became ill. She died at Doctors Hospital, where she died.

Funeral will be private. She had been a widow since her second husband died in 1958. He was Gerald Gourielli - Tchkonia. In private life, Mme. Rubinstein was known as Princess Gourielli.

Provisions had been made well in advance of her death for continuation of her far-flung business operations. A company announcement said her majority shares in Helena Rubinstein Inc., will be closely held by trustees.

SON HEADS FIRM

All her operations in the Western Hemisphere and abroad will be supervised by her only surviving child, Roy Titus, chairman of the board of Helena Rubinstein, Inc., her nephew, Oscar Kolin, executive vice - president, and a niece, Mala Rubinstein.

Mme. Rubinstein was an imperious woman, despite her diminutive size. Less than five feet tall, she was jet - haired and dynamic.

With her employees, she was ruthless in her absenteeism, clock-watching, personal use of telephones and anything else she considered detrimental to her operations.

She drove a hard bargain and an associate once said:

"If somebody offered Rubinstein a package of chewing gum for a nickel she would say 'too much' in the hope that it was the only package of gum in the world that could be bought for four cents."

LIVED LIKE A QUEEN

Mme. Rubinstein lived like a queen in a 26-room, three-floor Park Avenue penthouse with 12 bathrooms. Last May three gunmen invaded her home and demanded that she open a safe containing her jewels.

"I'm an old woman," she snapped at them. "You can kill me. I'm not going to let you rob me. Now get out!"

The bandits left empty-handed.

"I cannot help making money," Mme. Rubinstein once observed. She made more than enough to surround herself with luxury in homes she maintained in New York, Paris and London. These were often gathering places for young authors and artists whom she encouraged.

Her New York penthouse was rich with art treasures. There were seven paintings by Picasso, Matisse, Renoir and Odiglian. There were masks and other primitive African works of art. There were expensive antiques.

CHICKEN WITH PINEAPPLE
(Serves 4)

3 tablespoons flour; ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups large cubes raw chicken, oil for deep-fat frying, 3 teaspoons soya sauce, 2 rings pineapple, cut in quarters, 8 pieces green pepper, cut in same size as pineapple, 3 carrots, sliced slantwise as thinly as possible, 1¼ cups water, ¼ cup vinegar, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, tablespoon molasses, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ cup canned pineapple juice.

Mix flour, salt, pepper and water to a smooth batter. Pour over the chicken. Mix until the chicken is well coated, then place the chicken, a piece at a time, in deep, hot oil. Fry until golden brown. Mix the soya sauce, pineapple, green pepper, carrots, water, vinegar, sugar and molasses and cook slowly, stirring well. Let boil for 3 minutes. Mix the cornstarch and pineapple juice. Stir into the mixture and cook until thickened. Add the fried chicken, mix and serve with hot fluffy boiled rice.

Question:—We would like a good recipe for a chicken casserole to serve eight. — Mrs. A. D.

Answer:—I am repeating the following casserole because it has proven so popular since I gave it in '62.

JESSIE'S ONE-DISH PARTY-CHICKEN (serves 8):

2 cans (10½-oz. each) cream of mushroom soup (undiluted), 2 cups well-packed, cooked, diced (½") chicken, 1 cup sliced mushrooms (raw or canned; if canned reserve liquid), 1 cup finely chopped celery (inner stalks), 1 cup finely chopped mild onion, ½ lb. (about 2 cups) coarsely chopped blanched almonds, ¼ cup mushroom liquid or water, ¼ teaspoon salt, generous shake of pepper, 1 can (approx. 2 cups) chow mein noodles.

Turn the 2 cans undiluted mushroom soup into a large bowl and add all ingredients except almonds and chow mein noodles. Stir to mix. Reserve ½ cup of the almonds and chow mein noodles. Mix in remainder. Turn this mixture into one large buttered 9" casserole or 2 medium-sized casseroles. Sprinkle ½ cup each reserved almonds and chow mein noodles over top. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes.

Friends in Newfoundland Promote Habit of Smiling

DEAR READERS — Once more our Public Welfare friends in Newfoundland are sharing a bit of homespun philosophy:

THE VALUE OF A SMILE

It costs nothing, but creates much.

It enriches those who receive, without impoverishing those who give.

It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

DORIS CLARK

None are so rich that they can get along without it and none are so poor but are richer for its benefits.

It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in a business and is the countersign of friends.

It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad and nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen for it is something that is no earthly good to anybody till it is given away!

And if it ever happens that some of our salespeople should be too tired to give you a smile may we ask you to leave one of yours?

Anon.

Corny? Fulsome? Sentimental? Oh, try it for a day and see if you can't make something extra nice happen to you! And thank you, Editor Clancy and helpers!

* * *

DEAR DORIS — I'm a girl 17. I hate sex and don't want anything to do with it. I'm also afraid of ever having to go through motherhood some day. Why is it that I feel this way? — PETRIFIED.

* * *

DEAR PET — Did the wrong things happen to you when you were little? Or did the big people avoid the facts of life and cause you embarrassment too? Somehow you were started off on the wrong foot.

Where Mom and Dad meet all questions with comfortable, willing explanations, a little girl or boy will accept sex naturally. Even now some of the right reading will help you. I'm sending you a list of recommended books.

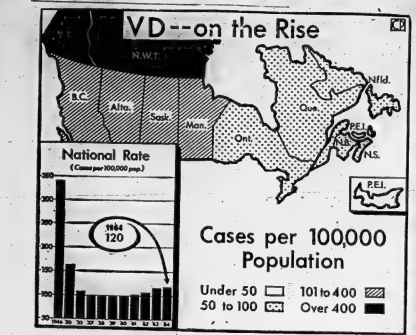
SEW A SEAM

Dear Susanna: Any suggestions for me? I have one particular seam in a garment that keeps bursting out every time I wash or wear it. — Mrs. B. Witherspoon

The next time this happens, before you sew it back, close the seam and hold it there while you iron a strip of mending tape onto the wrong side. Now stitch right through the tape, and voila, everything holds. Even knee bends won't split that seam now! . . . of course, a firm so to that second helping of spaghetti probably wouldn't do any harm either. — SUSANNA



WEIGHTY PROBLEM

Dear Susanna: Now that spring is a reality can gay dresses be far behind? We all know the answer to that one, but what many of us do not know is how to pin a fairly heavy brooch onto a delicate piece of material so that the garment won't sag under the weight of the jewelry. I do.

Just hold a piece of felt underneath the fabric of the dress or blouse, and run the pin right through them both. The added thickness keeps everything in its right place. Glenna G.

VENEREAL DISEASE INCREASES — Venereal disease has been on the rise the last five years. Graph insert traces decline from VD's post-war peak of 339 cases per 100,000 people to a low of 97 in 1959 and its rise since then to 120 in 1964. The Northwest Territories and the Yukon have by far the worst records with a rate of 1,621 cases per 100,000 people in the NWT and 576 in the Yukon. Among the provinces B.C. has the highest rate of 363, and Prince Edward Island the lowest, 19. Others are Alberta 281, Manitoba 241, Saskatchewan 221, Nova Scotia 72, New Brunswick 69, Newfoundland 60, Ontario 57, and Quebec 52. Figures can not be exact because federal officials say not all cases are reported to medical authorities. (CP Newsmap)

POSTER SPARKS CONTROVERSY—This poster, part of British Columbia's campaign against a rising incidence of venereal disease, was described by Lois Haggen, a member of the legislature as "pornography." Health Minister Eric Martin went ahead with plans to distribute it in public washrooms. (CP Photo)

Scientists Are Worried

Teen Promiscuity Cited As Disease Rate Climbs

By MICHAEL GILLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Venereal disease, which went into a gradual decline after the Second World War with the introduction of penicillin as a cure, has shown a startling rise during the last five years and medical authorities are frankly worried.

There are fears that unless concerted action is taken on a national scale syphilis and gonorrhea may in time surpass the record year of 1946 when 41,556 cases of VD were reported.

Preliminary figures for 1964 prepared by the public health section of the bureau of statistics show 23,414 cases compared with 16,978 in 1959, one of the lowest years since the war.

Federal and provincial authorities questioned in a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press attribute much of the recent increase in sexual promiscuity among teen - agers and young adults.

Public ignorance of the disease — the cause, effects and cure—is seen as a major obstacle to combatting it.

The survey also shows that only token campaigns are being conducted in most provinces at present. However, this may soon change.

In February a group of federal and provincial officials met in Ottawa to map a new national approach to the problem. They're members of a VD advisory committee set up last November by the Dominion Council of Health. One of the group's main recommendations, expected in April, is likely to be a stepped-up educational campaign.

VD can be cured. But left untreated, syphilis can cause heart disease, heart failure and other means, blindness, paralysis and insanity; gonorrhea can result in sterility or arthritis.

Because the disease can be contracted without a person realizing it, officials advise a prompt visit to a doctor for anyone suspecting he may have it.

Gonorrhea is the more common of the two. Of the 23,414 reported cases of VD last year, 2,707 were syphilis and 20,607 gonorrhea.

In 1963, when there were 22,199 cases of VD, a significant proportion was reported among teen-agers and children—2,629 cases among persons 11 to 19 and 110 in the 10-14 age group.

Approaches by provinces to the disease vary from a shock poster in British Columbia to statements by Nova Scotia officials that they don't feel free to discuss the subject widely among the young.

B.C., with 6,443 reported cases last year and the highest ratio (363 per 100,000 population) of any province, has prepared a controversial poster to be displayed in public washrooms.

Showing a raven-haired prostitute leaning against a lamp post, it says: "Four out of five pickups have V.D. Guard your health."

Lois Haggen, a member of the legislature, termed the poster "pornography," but Health Minister Eric Martin said he would let the health branch distribute it.

STRESS EDUCATION

A VD education program is to be introduced into the B.C. education department "very soon," said Dr. Malcolm Taylor, deputy minister of health. He added that medical schools are being asked to place more emphasis on teaching about the subject.

In Nova Scotia, with 545 cases last year and a rate of 72 per 100,000, fears of parental reaction have prompted a decision against any immediate campaign beyond distributing literature produced by the federal health department.

"The public of Nova Scotia doesn't appear to be ready yet for VD and sex education except for a few exceptions," said Dr. Horace B. Colford, provincial director of child and maternal health and communicable diseases.

He said school principals appear to be afraid of what parents might say: "therefore many schools are not doing anything about the dangers of venereal disease."

J. M. McGrath, Newfoundland's minister of health, said 8,000 to 10,000 pamphlets were distributed last year. He added that doctors have made no recommendations and said the system for dealing with VD is "regarded as reasonably effective."

P.E.I. LEADS

With 300 reported cases, or about 61 per 100,000 people, in 1964, Newfoundland had the fourth-lowest VD rate of the 10 provinces.

Lowest was Prince Edward Island with just 21 cases and a rate of 19 per 100,000 population.

Next was Quebec with 2,932 cases (52 per 100,000), followed by Ontario with 3,782 (57 per 100,000).

But the official figures don't tell the whole story.

In New Brunswick, with 431 reported cases and a rate of 69 per 100,000, Dr. C. W. Kelly, acting deputy minister of health, said the control program suffers from incomplete reporting by doctors of patients and their "contacts."

This problem appears to be general throughout Canada and federal officials estimate only 10 to 11 per cent of cases of VD are reported to medical authorities.

Another difficulty is that many Canadians refuse to take the disease as seriously as they once did, believing that penicillin has all but eliminated it.

This point is made by Dr. William Slatkoff, medical director at Jewish General Hospital in Montreal, who says "A program of continuing public education is necessary, for the disease is not disappearing as most people seem to think."

In the country generally, the rate per 100,000 was up to about 120 in 1964 from 117.5 in 1962 and the low of 97.3 in 1959, 4nd while it was down in five provinces, there was a significant rise in B.C. (to 363 from 320.6) and Manitoba (241 from 203.8) with smaller increases in Ontario (57 from 56.7), New Brunswick (69 from 53.1) and Nova Scotia (72 from 56.5).

In Ontario, some health officials say a pamphlet, film and advertising campaign is adequate but one Toronto doctor wants "a more strenuous public education campaign."

Dr. M. A. Cox, who has worked in the VD clinic at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto for 44 years, says:

"There is more indiscriminate sex nowadays. Kids don't know about the dangers of VD and they take chances."

Dr. Gordon Bates, director of the Health League of Canada, says "we're trying to cure a moral scourge by medical means."

The league has called for a royal commission to investigate VD delinquency and what it describes as the resultant climb in VD.

In Manitoba, where 2,317 cases were reported last year, Health Minister C. H. Whitney said the preventive medical service "seems to be doing the job." However, there is concern about the extent of the educational program in the province.

Dr. Paul Hemsfeld, formerly with the preventive diseases branch, said excellent facilities are available for diagnosis and treatment but they are not necessarily being used. Education Minister George Johnson said serious consideration is being given to including VD education in the school program for Grade 8 or 9.

Saskatchewan, which reported 2,104 cases in 1964 (with a drop in the rate per 100,000 to 221 from 249.1), does not make VD education part of the curriculum in schools although some use films, pamphlets and books.

Alberta, with 4,064 cases last year and the second highest rate—281 per 100,000—though it was down from 303.3 in 1963, distributes books and pamphlets but leaves it to secondary school principals to decide whether to teach about VD.

It is the only province without a law obliging persons with VD to go to a clinic or physician for treatment. As in other provinces, doctors are required to report all cases but in Alberta a person is forced to take treatment only if found to be spreading the disease.

Vietnamese were going to use tear gas . . . A standard, anti-riot item . . . but there is no reason why they should," he said. The United States supplied the gas.

Concerning any communist willingness to talk peace, he said:

"I have no indication and no evidence that they are ready and willing to negotiate under conditions that would be productive and I know of no information we have received that would indicate any conference at this time would be productive or would hold out hopes of achieving what we all desire so much—peace in the world."

Behind this on-the-record statement was a feeling in some administration quarters that the communists may be backing off their previous tough demands for U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam as a price for peace talks.

Washington has kept the door open for possible negotiations —provided the communists show intent to end the assault on the south.

The continued military pressure, including the air attacks on North Viet Nam, was believed to be making an impact. Hanoi was reported to be fearful of encroachment by China or Russia if it became too deeply dependent on aid from them.

State Secretary Dean Rusk received an appeal from 17 neutral nations Thursday for no-conditions - attached negotiations on Viet Nam. He told representatives of the 17 non-aligned nations that America wants peace, and this would come to Southeast Asia quickly if they abandon aggression there.

In Tokyo, a Japanese foreign office spokesman said the Soviet Union had asked Japan to work for a peaceful solution in Viet Nam but had suggested no specific moves. The spokesman, Akira Sono, said Japan would agree if other countries co-operate.

The 17 non-aligned nations also presented their appeal for peace in Viet Nam to the Canadian government Thursday.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin told the Commons in Ottawa that he has not yet studied the appeal adequately but at first glance there appeared much in it that Canada could support.

MR. MELTZER ON REAL ESTATE
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Most people assume that their mortgages can be paid off any time they choose, and that the fondest wish of bankers is to get their money back. Neither assumption is true.

Bankers desire to lend their money at good interest rates and with little risk, and are happy to keep it in the hands of borrowers and mortgagees who insure this. And not all mortgage contracts can be paid off at the borrower's whim.

To be certain one has the right to pay off a mortgage before its term expires, he must make sure his mortgage (as most do) specifies this provision and contains what is commonly called a pre-payment clause.

Mr. J. L. H failed to do this.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Did you ever hear of a crazy situation like this? I can't sell my house because the bank won't let me pay off my mortgage.

I have found a buyer willing to pay $28,000 for my house. I owe less than $4,000 on the mortgage, but the bank won't take a lump sum and insists I continue to make my monthly payments of $120 for the next four years until the balance is down to zero.

Could you please tell me if there is any way I can pay off this mortgage? My prospective buyer is getting discouraged.

J. L. H.

ANSWER: The time to get the mortgage terms straightened out is before you sign the mortgage contract — not years later. It takes the two parties (by agreement) to change the terms of a contract, and the bank is holding you to the terms of yours.

Your experience is not common these days, but provides a valuable lesson to our readers. Some mortgages can be paid off without a penalty; some can be paid off with a penalty (usually 1 to 2 percent); and there are some mortgages (like yours) that cannot be paid off in a lump sum before the end of the life of the contract.

Careful reading of a mortgage contract will reveal how it is to be and may be — paid off.

Considering life's uncertainties in this unsettled age, I strongly suggest that no one accept a mortgage contract that does not have the provision to permit it to be paid off.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I took your advice and got into trouble!

Practically every week you tell people to use a lawyer when they buy a house or do anything connected with real estate.

When I bought my house I used a lawyer and all I got out of it was a big bill for services. He didn't seem to know any more about it than I did. All he knew was what little he didn't forget from his lawschool course. The real estate broker made a fool of him.

I know you mean well, but I think you owe it to your readers to include in your advice how to select an attorney who knows what to do in these matters. I don't want to end up this way again the next time I buy a house. B.M.C.

ANSWER: His code of ethics requires a professional man (doctor, lawyer, real estate appraiser, C.P.A., etc.), when presented with a problem outside the area of his special competence, to call in a colleague better prepared to handle it. My advice was not faulty your attorney neglected to call in a professional colleague well-versed in real estate law.

I have found that the best way to select an attorney to handle one's real estate problems is to do one or more of the following: ask your bank for recommendations, contact your County Bar Association for names of those specializing in this field, inquire among real estate brokers, or (best of all) ask your personal attorney to recommend one.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: After 20 years my house has suddenly developed spreading cracks in the walls and foundation. The whole house isn't cracking up only one corner, containing the kitchen. It's gotten so bad the doors won't close and the windows won't open any more.

A builder I had look at it said not to worry because it is only routine settlement, aggravated by vibrations from the washing machine. But I will until I get a new washing machine before I make the repairs or should I do it now? G. H. C.

ANSWER: With all due respect to your builder friend, your problem has nothing to do with your washing machine.

The sudden appearance of the cracks you describe in the foundation and walls after 20 years — indicates a sudden collapse of ground support in the area of your kitchen's corner of the house.

Before it gets worse, I recommend you call in a civil engineer, or architect to examine this situation, for the footings underneath the kitchen must be supported some way.

I must warn you, however, that you might not even be able to afford that new washing machine, as this job can be an expensive undertaking.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: If you have had any experience with [Add—MR. MELTZER] one of those people whose every possession is the "best of its kind", or the "finest car turned out in Detroit that year, regardless of price," or whose every achievement is superior to everyone else's, and who settles every argument with "You wanna bet? Put your money where your mouth is," you will understand my problem.

My brother-in-law is such a type, and after years of his bragging, I was goaded into agreeing to a bet ($10).

He started building his house May 15th and it was finished October 29th of the same year — less than six months. He claims (and bet) that no one ever built so quickly. He may be right as I can't find anyone who has.

I am having nightmares at the thought of endless years of taunts and rude dismissal of any disagreements I may have or pronouncements if he wins this bet.

If you know of any house built in less time than this, please let me know. Enclosed is $10 to be donated to your favorite charity (as I intended to do if I won). Please help me squelch this loud mouth — if you can. — S. M.

ANSWER: Your brother-in-laws (165 calendar days) it's good — but I'm sure not a record. Unfortunately, I didn't collect such statistics, but I'm certain that among our readers there is someone who can disprove your brother-in-law's claim who will be willing to save you from a dreary future of 'I told you so's', if we hear from any we will forward the letters to you so you can substantiate your claim.

I, too, am sympathetic to your plight and will add $15 to the $10 you enclosed, and the person who provides the record time for house building can name the charity of his choice, and we will be pleased to donate the $25 in his name.

Sunday School Lesson

World Now on Trial

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Any study of the trial of Jesus would reveal that both by legal and moral standards the outcome was a gross miscarriage of justice. False witnesses were introduced into His trial. (Mark 14:58) None of the charges brought against Him was proved. The chief accuser of Jesus was willing to stoop to illegal tricks to bring about Jesus' death. Claiming to fear a Roman reprisal if Jesus' following became too strong, (John 11:50), Caiaphas followed the rule that the end justifies the means in order to get rid of Jesus. He called a meeting of the senate at an illegal hour of the night, and when the first charge against Jesus failed for lack of agreement among the witnesses, (Mark 14:56), Caiaphas illegally introduced a second charge, the charge of religious blasphemy, into the same trial. (Mark 14:61-64)

In the Roman phase of the trial, the judge rejected the charge of sedition, and repeatedly proclaimed Jesus to be innocent. (Luke 23:4,22; John 18:38). And yet he bowed around out in Detroit that year, regardless of price," or whose every achievement is superior to everyone else's, and who settles every argument with "You wanna bet? Put your money where your mouth is," you will understand my problem.

FACED BY STRANGE PRISONER

Pilate did not understand his strange prisoner. The charge brought against Jesus in the Roman court was that He claimed to be the king of the Jews in contradiction to the authority of Caesar. This was a ridiculous charge. During His ministry, Jesus had specifically repudiated those who tried to make Him king. (John 6:15) When questioned about this charge, Jesus answered, "My kingdom is not of this world." (John 18:36) When Pilate sought to draw out an explanation of this strange statement, Jesus answered, "For this I was born, and for this cause I came into the world, to bear witness to the truth." (John 18:37 RSV) Such a statement made no sense to Pilate. Either in bewilderment or contempt, he asked, "What is truth?"

Pilate understood the use of violence to gain one's ends. He reminded Jesus of his power to crucify his prisoners. But Jesus believed in the power of truth to prevail after brute force has done its worst. Pilate was right. He did have the power to crucify Jesus. But he did not have the power to destroy the truth Jesus taught, or the faith His followers had in Him. Who honors Pilate now? But millions of people follow Jesus as the Truth incarnate. It is Pilate and the accusers of Jesus who are on trial now before the truth of Jesus.

SITUATION TURNED AROUND

In fact, the situation has become completely turned around. The world is now on trial before the truth and spirit of Jesus. Hatred, discrimination, violence, hypocrisy, and every evil force are on trial before the judgments of Jesus. That is what Paul meant when he insists that "we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ." (II Corinthians 5:10)

There are many today who insist that Christ and His church are still on trial before the world. There is no question that Christian churches fail in many ways to practice the faith and love they profess. Insofar as churches fall short of the demands of Jesus, they, too, are on trial before His judgments. Some believe that the way of Christ is on trial, that it will not work in this kind of world. But millions realize that the evils and injustices of this world are on trial before His justice and truth.

MORE THAN JUDGE

But Jesus said He did not come to be the world's judge. He came, He said, not to condemn the world, but to save it. (John 3:17) He speaks not from a court-room, but a cross. He did not cry out for the punishment of His torturers, but for their forgiveness. (Luke 23:34) He does not want to punish men but to change them. Those who reject His way are condemned by their own attitudes and actions to a world of injustice and hate. It is in this sense He now stands as the judge of the world. It is not the Sermon on the Mount that is on trial; the world is on trial before its truths. It is not the judgments of God that are on trial; men are on trial before the judgments of God. It is this truth Jesus came to tell to man, and to lead them back to the love and truth of God.

"Then what shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" This was Pilate's question then. It is a question which each man who is faced with Jesus' revelation of truth must still ask.

Teaching Brother Suspended, Two Supervisors Dismissed

Session

interim supply bill authorizing the government to spend $762,542,000 to meet ordinary expenses in April and May.

The Senate gave third reading Thursday to two of the most important bills of the session:

—The contributory Canada Pension Plan, which will cover about 82 per cent of the labor force when it comes into effect next Jan. 1.

—The opting-out bill, clearing the way for Quebec to withdraw this year from 11 federal - provincial joint programs and carry them on alone with new tax or cash revenues. The other provinces also qualify under the bill but have no immediate plans to follow Quebec's example.

The Upper Chamber meets at 3 p.m. today to study the interim supply bill and the supplementary estimates, once they receive Commons approval.

WILL GIVE ASSENT

If things go according to schedule, a Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, acting as deputy to the governor-general, will go to the Senate later today to give Royal assent to the pension plan, the opting - out legislation and the money bills.

He will then read a speech from the throne summarizing the accomplishments of the long session, which was dominated by the bitter 33-day flag battle and 28 days of debate on the pension plan in the Commons.

The longest previous session lasted 174 days in 1960-61, when a protracted fight developed over a Conservative government bill to fire James Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada. A Senate committee killed the measure and Mr. Coyne resigned immediately.

A wide range of issues were debated briefly in the Commons Thursday.

WANTS ACT REVISED

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) called for a complete revision of the Immigration Act. Terry Nugent (PC — Edmonton - Strathcona) criticized the Crown-owned Northern Transportation Company for driving its privately-owned competitors out of business.

Creditiste Leader Caouette accused Agriculture Minister Hays, a former Calgary mayor, of showing favoritism toward western farmers while neglecting Quebec farmers hard hit by crop failures.

Private bills to incorporate the Bank of Western Canada and the Laurentide Bank of Canada were blocked at the end of the private members' hour by Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) and face death with prorogation of the session.

Mr. Howard said the two bank charters should not be granted as long as the Senate blocks a third private bill to incorporate the Bank of British Columbia.

Andrew Brewin (NDP — Toronto Greenwood) said there is widespread concern across Canada about the proposed formula to amend the constitution. He accused the government of concealing important documents about the formula.

In the upper chamber, Senator Grattan O'Leary (PC — Ontario) accused the government of isolating Quebec further with the opting-out bill and other changes flowing from arrangements made at secret federal - provincial conferences.

The increasing power of federal - provincial meetings, was adding to "the constant erosion of the prestige of Parliament." The opting-out principle was a rash innovation that threatened national unity.

Harsh Words

LONDON (CP) — A young demonstrator yelled protests and fisticuffs broke out in the public gallery as Prime Minister Wilson reiterated his Labor government's support of America's Viet Nam policies in the House of Commons Thursday night.

"You are as bad as the lousy Tories," the man shouted as Wilson closed a one-day debate on foreign affairs.

The man furiously scattered papers over the gallery railing into the well of the Commons chamber before being forcibly removed by House stewards.

MONTREAL (CP)—A Roman Catholic teaching brother who flung drawings of Christ and Hitler side by side in his classroom has been suspended and two of his superiors dismissed from their positions.

Brother Rene Lahaie of the Christian Teaching Brothers was suspended for the rest of the school year because of his "naive and certainly very imprudent" teaching methods.

Brother Hector Asselin, principal of the order's east - end Montreal school, was dismissed for not taking action when notified of Brother Lahaie's teaching methods.

So was Antonio Gerard, school commission director of the district embracing the school, who will take up other duties.

STUDIED REPORT

The decision was made following a 75-minute meeting at which the commissioners studied a report made of the issue.

He compared the two as having similar great talents used badly by Hitler and for good purpose by Christ.

He promised pupils for good behavior by giving them ranks used in Hitler's army and promoting them to the status of SS—the Nazi elite corps designation—if they were at the top of the class.

The slogan "Heil Christ" was often used in the class.

In his statement, Mr. Jarry said the "emulation" method was used only in one Grade 7 class. He said there was no intention of instilling Nazi doctrine either in the class in question or in any other commission school.

PUNISHMENT LIGHT

Jean Marie Mathieu, director of the commission's teaching service, later told reporters the punishment given Brother Lahaie was relatively light because of his youth—22 years—and his lack of experience — this was his first year of teaching.

Mr. Mathieu said the brother was well - intentioned and "apparently knew nothing about Nazism." He was "naive and certainly very imprudent."

He said Brother Asselin, 39, who has been teaching for 20 years, should have seen the dangers of Brother Lahie's methods and halted them.

Mr. Mathieu said Mr. Gerard, 39, an employee of the commission for 20 years and district director for 13 years, should have allowed Brother Lahaie to continue his methods after learning of them.

ROCKED BY EXPLOSION

BERLIN (AP)—An explosion rocked the huge Leina Chemical Works at Halle, East Germany, Thursday, killing one and injuring nine workers the official East German news agency ADN reported. Leina, once a major plant in the giant I. G. Farben chemical trust, is East Germany's biggest industrial installation.

HOBBYISTS readying model railroad for tonight's show are Les Jobey and son Andy — among the nearly 150 exhibitors at city armory for the two-day exhibition.

N. Y. State Begins Year Without Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State began its new fiscal year Thursday without a budget, an unprecedented crisis that has developed in the first Democratic - controlled legislature in 30 years.

For the first time in the state's history, the legislature failed to act on the governor's budget before the old fiscal year yielded to the new, at midnight Wednesday night.

As a result, Governor Nelson Rockefeller's Republican administration was left without authority to pay its employees or its bills, or to make its regular state - aid payments to local communities and school districts. Emergency measures are possible for salary payments, however.

PRESENTS CREDENTIALS

OTTAWA (CP) — Ary Tasmoune, the ambassador of Niger to Canada, presented his credentials to Governor - General Vanier at Government House Thursday.

Science Fair Blossoms Into Big Production

Belleville's annual Science Fair has blossomed into a big production.

The event, which started five years ago on a school teacher's initiative, has shed its academic surroundings and joined forces with the community at large.

The result can be seen tonight and tomorrow at the city armory, under its new title of Belleville Science Fair and Hobby Show — as unique and absorbing an exhibition to be found anywhere in the province.

Key to the new look is the organizational experience of Belleville Rotary Club.

The Rotarians have gathered nearly 150 exhibits onto the armory parade square, divided almost equally between the scientific exhibits from the high schools and the displays of district hobbyists.

Everything from active bantams to operational airframes and oil paintings are on view.

Neither have the Rotarians overlooked the importance of creating atmosphere. Outside, the armory is floodlit by night. Inside it is draped with wall-to-wall bunting and flags.

This event has been given added significance since 1963 when Belleville Collegiate student Beverly Davies won the local prize, then went on to win a trip to an international youth show in London.

that it went more than half way to patch up the dispute, and that if the gap cannot be closed, the fault in the eyes of world Communists must lie with the Chinese. This would leave the Kremlin free to adopt whatever diplomatic courses it deemed best suited to Soviet national interests.

The Moscow-Peking clash is pronounced in Africa and Asia, where Chinese delegations are busily engaged in undermining the Russians' claim to representation in an Afro - Asian meeting in Algeria this June. But there seems more to it than just that.

The Chinese probably would like to parry just such a development as the non-aligned nations' initiative for no-strings negotiations in South Viet Nam. The situation as it is can continue for years without costing the Chinese much, and can promise eventual effective domination of all Southeast Asia for Peking.

China will react angrily to the idea of a UN role in South Viet Nam. Peking already suspects the Russians of skulduggery in this respect. A UN presence in Viet Nam could mean a penalty for Peking's long-range program.

The Soviet Union has been making gestures toward Western Europe, seeking what Pravda calls "constructive dialogue." The Russians need a measure of Western goodwill to ensure a source of goods and credits as they try to mend and build up their ailing internal economy. Thus, the Kremlin seems anxious to avoid situations of super-tension between East and West.

The cooled pressure of the United States, Western Europe, the non-aligned nations and the pro-Soviet Communist bloc conceivably could back China into a corner.

Buildings Will Be Made Easier For Crippled

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Research Council has published a guide for builders to make public buildings easier for handicapped persons to use.

The guide comes in the form of a supplement to the new edition of the National Building Code, published annually by the council.

Minimum standards include adequate turning space for wheelchairs, the placing of fixtures so they can be reached from a wheelchair, recommendations on the design of walks and ramps, entrances to buildings, doorways, stairs, handrails, elevators, floors, lavatories, water fountains; public telephones and cafeterias.

Canada Pension Plan Will Give Maximum Benefit of $104 Plus $75 at Age of 65

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP)—With only the formality of royal assent remaining, the Canada Pension Plan is about to become a fact —and it's doubtful whether any other piece of legislation has required so much effort to bring it into effect.

Three revisions, nearly two years of exhaustive actuarial and economic studies, constant conferences, wearying federal-provincial negotiations, 36 days of Commons debate, 11 sittings of a Senate-Commons committee, and three days in a Senate committee and before the Senate itself—this is the partial story of how the massive legislation is reaching the statute books. No one can reckon the thousands of man - hours that went into the measure.

And now that it has cleared its final parliamentary hurdle, just what have Canadians got for themselves?

The short answer is that most Canadians will have a wage-related pension scheme, compulsory in nature, that will provide a maximum benefit of $104.17— plus the $75 monthly old - age pension—a month when a contributor reaches 65.

A longer answer is that the plan is so complicated, a mathematician could probably earn a doctorate by figuring out a simple method of explaining how much each contributor will give and take.

HOW IT WORKS

For contributions of 3.6 per cent of income—half paid by employees and half by employers—persons will qualify at age 65 for a pension of about one-quarter of their average earnings. Contributions are made on earnings between $600 and $5,000 a year, and self-employed persons, who must pay the entire 3.6 per-cent contribution themselves, entered the scheme when it they earn $800 or more a year.

The minimum and maximum limits of $600 and $5,000 mean that persons earning less than the minimum will not make any contributions or receive any benefits, and persons earning more than the maximum will not make any contributions on income above $5,000.

Based on average earnings of $600, minimum benefits under the scheme will be $150 a year, and the maximum for a $5,000 income will be $1,250.

Contributions will start next Jan. 1, and the first benefits will be paid out a year later. But these benefits will be on a graduated scale until the plan reaches maturity in 1976.

During this 10-year maturity period a person now 55 can contribute until he is 65 and then draw the pension as if he contributed for 40 years. Thus, for a 10-year period he would be contributing $79.20 a year— 1.8 per cent of earnings between $600 and $5,000—for a total of $792 and he would then draw a pension of $104.17 a month. Within eight months of retirement, he would be ahead of the game.

WILL BE SUBSIDIZED

This transitional period, during which certain contributors get "welfare," is the one major aspect of the plan not now related. It means, in effect, that future contributors will be subsidizing those receiving windfalls.

These windfalls would be drastically reduced if the maturity period was extended to 20 years—as suggested by both Ontario and Quebec. But the shorter period was one of the concessions gained by the federal government in its negotiations with Quebec, which resulted in both plans being described to achieve portability.

The pension plan as finally approved by Parliament is basically the same as the one introduced in the House last Oct. 20 —the third version of the scheme. While the government did accept some amendments, most of them technical — the fact that it had previously been meshed with Quebec's scheme prevented any fundamental changes.

But the government did announce an important change in its old - age security program, which affects the total benefits under the pension plan itself. The $75 monthly old-age security payment now is available at age 70, and the government announced that the qualifying age will be reduced by one year each Jan. 1, so that by 1970, all persons 65 will qualify.

Under the present benefit structure, a person retiring with maximum qualifications in 1976 will receive a monthly CPP payment of $104.17, plus the $75 old - age security payment, for a total of $179.17.

In predicting future contributions and benefits, the entire wage and price structure in Canada would have to be projected because the scheme is geared to move up with the cost of living, along with benefits under the old - age security program.

RATES WILL RISE

Government actuaries have said that by the 1980s, it is probable that the rate of contributions will have to be changed. The trend would almost certainly be upward.

A basic principle of the bill is that everyone who contributes is eligible for a benefit. It's a girl works for five years before she marries, then quits permanently, she will get benefits at age 65, from a five-year average over the entire period.

There are other complicated formulas governing the disabled after 1970, after paying contributions for five years, will get 75 per cent of what he would have received at 65, plus a $25 monthly payment.

The plan is compulsory for all income-earners over 18, including employees, employers and the self - employed. This will affect 6,000,000 people residents who will contribute to the similar plan in that province.

Among the exceptions are:

—Members of the armed forces and the RCMP, who have their own early-retirement plans;

—Provincial government employees—at least, until their provinces enter an agreement with the federal plan;

—Those who are paid less than $250 cash for working less than 25 days a year for one employer in farming, logging or lumbering, fishing or hunting;

—Employees of international organizations, including foreign governments;

—Any woman employed by her husband, or any husband employed by his wife;

—Those with jobs "of a casual nature otherwise than for the purpose of the employer's trade or business."

Federal civil servants working Quebec will contribute to the Quebec plan.

For most Canadians the plan may not mean any bigger pension. Some 2,000,000 are already covered by company plans, and it will be the responsibility of employers and employees to decide whether their schemes will affect them. They might decide to increase contributions to the private scheme by the amount being paid to the CPP and so have the same retirement benefits.

Or they might "dock" them pay or not get higher benefits. They could also make arrangements to draw private benefits at age 60.

The government has no say in the matter.

As contributions begin pouring into the pension plan fund each year, they will far exceed benefit payments for a number of years. A reserve of $4,900,000,000 is estimated for 1976.

This money will be made available to the provinces — in line with contributions from each province—in the form of loans. The federal government will keep only enough to cover benefits for three months as well as administrative costs.

Major Planks Of PC Platform Are Announced

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal aid to education and a suburban area development program will be major planks in the election platform of the Progressive Conservative party, reliable sources said Thursday.

Ontario's stand on the opting-out legislation passed by the Commons Tuesday night is a key factor in the aid - to - education plank.

The Conservatives are expected to propose large-scale federal education assistance, along lines suggested by school trustee and teaching associations, under federal-provincial agreements.

Provinces wanting to opt out of the programs could do so without losing the financial benefits provided by the federal government.

The suburban areas program is said to include a provision to permit home owners/to deduct municipal taxes in determining federal income tax liability.

The aim is to ease the tax burden on the property owner from local improvement and school taxes which have grown greatly with the post-war population shift to suburbia.

Informants said the two election planks were worked out by groups in the caucus of MPs and in the party.

The aid - to - education plank is understood to have been developed as a broadening of the program of federal assistance for construction and maintenance of technical schools initiated by the former Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Diefenbaker indicated that the suburban areas program is planned as something similar to the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA) aimed at putting marginal farming areas on a more economic basis.

Gen. Crerar, Said Canada's Most Distinguished War Leader, Dies in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, 76, often described as the most distinguished military leader Canada has ever produced, died Thursday in the tri-service military hospital here.

The Second World War commander of the 1st Canadian Army in northwest Europe, "a quiet man who got things done," established a number of records in his service career that dated back to the First World War in the Canadian Field Artillery in 1915 during the gas attacks at the Battle of Ypres.

He was the first Canadian to be promoted to full general while serving at the battlefront and the first to command a full-fledged Canadian army in the field.

At one point in 1945, when his forces attacked in the northern end of the Siegfried Line along the Rhine, he had more than 500,000 troops under his command with eight British divisions added to his Canadians.

RETIRED IN 1946

Gen. Crerar retired in 1946 after almost 35 years in the army. His health had not been good since the war.

A full military funeral will be held Saturday from Ottawa's Christ Church Cathedral.

An army spokesman said more than 1,000 persons in Ottawa and 200 from Canadian forces headquarters in Ottawa will be in the funeral service, along with all senior military officers in Ottawa. The spokesman said the funeral will include 200 men each from the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and the Black Watch (Royal Highland) of the Canadian Guards band.

Burial will be at Beechwood Cemetery here.

"He served Canada . . . in war and in peace with quiet efficiency, with sincerity and with great devotion," Prime Minister Pearson told the House of Commons in announcing Gen. Crerar's death a few minutes after Thursday's session had opened.

Gordon Churchill, Conservative MP for Winnipeg South Centre who commanded a regiment under Gen. Crerar during the war, NDP leader Douglas, Social Credit leader Thompson and Real Caouette all paid Creditistes, also paid tribute to the Hamilton native who has lived mostly in Ottawa since 1919.

OFFICERS PAY TRIBUTE

Other tributes came from Governor-General Vanier and officers who served with him in Europe.

"I have always considered myself personally honored to have been his senior staff officer . . . and mourn, in a very personal way, a great soldier," said Maj.-Gen. C. Churchill Mann in Victoria. He was vice-chief of staff under Gen. Crerar 1944-45.

Maj.-Gen. Mann described Gen. Crerar as a man whose "personal creed seemed to be to lead from the front and never to spare himself, never take personal advantage of his position and never to tolerate less than the maximum effort from any of his close subordinates."

In Toronto, Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, former chief of staff of the Canadian Army and who succeeded Gen. Crerar for a month in the fall of 1944 when Gen. Crerar was in hospital in Britain, said:

"Harry Crerar was courageous, confident in his own beliefs and dedicated to the principle of service."

In Ottawa, Gen. Charles Foulkes, another former chief of general staff who served as a corps commander under Gen. Crerar, said he was "not as flamboyant as Montgomery or as some others, but an easy man to be loyal to."

UNITED ARMY

"It was just 20 years ago in Europe that he succeeded in uniting the Canadian Army in Europe so it could fight together."

In Oakville Maj.-Gen. George Kitching, general officer commanding Central Command, described Gen. Crerar "as the first Canadian to command an army in action. We were all very proud of him. He was a quiet man but he got things done."

Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, another of his former staff officers, called him "one of Canada's most distinguished soldiers."

"There were pressures to split up the Canadian forces but he resisted them and eventually brought the whole Canadian Army together."

Gen. Crerar's predecessor as the army's chief and Canada's defence minister during the last years of the war, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, recalled his "great relief and satisfaction" when Gen. Crerar took over command at Canada's army.

"The thrilling story of the Canadian Corps under his command in Italy and of the army in northwest Europe is part of Canada's military history and he made a magnificent personal contribution . . . to the final victories."

Governor - General Vanier, who attended the staff college at Camberley (England) with him more than 40 years ago said in a message of sympathy to his wife, "your military career has been an outstanding one of which all Canadians are proud."

'A GREAT CANADIAN'

In London, Field Marshal Earl Alexander, former Governor-General of Canada and long-time friend of Gen. Crerar, said he was "a great Canadian and a great wartime figure," whose death was a "very great loss to me and Canada."

Gen. Crerar graduated from Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., in 1909. But he began his military career with the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, serving as the non-permanent active militia.

He went overseas as a captain in the field artillery when the First World War broke out.

When the war ended, he was a lieutenant-colonel with a Distinguished Service Order and Military Cross. He joined the permanent force in 1920, filling a variety of assignments.

He was commandant of RMC when the Second World War started, and a month later, now a brigadier, he was sent to London to set up Canadian military headquarters.

He returned to Canada to become chief of general staff and direct army training in Canada. He was yearning for a field command was fulfilled in 1942 when he took a temporary drop in rank from lieutenant-general to major-general to command the 2nd Canadian Division.

REGAINED RANK

But he regained his rank in a few months as commander of the 1st Canadian Corps in south Italy, followed by the 2nd Division of this corps that made the 1942 raid on Dieppe, a move Gen. Crerar always declared as an invaluable contribution to the Allied victory.

He commanded the corps in Italy during the fall and winter of 1943-44 before the spring to take over from Gen. McNaughton as preparations were made for the Normandy invasion.

It was during the Canadian Army's dramatic drive from Normandy along the channel coast into Belgium, Holland and Germany that he won his greatest acclaim.

He was made a Companion of Honor and a Companion of the Order of the Bath and was awarded decorations from several other nations. From the United States he received the Legion of Merit and the Distinguished Service Medal; from France, the Legion d'Honneur and Croix de Guerre avec Palms, from the Netherlands, the Grand Cross of the Order of Orange Nassau with Swords.

MADE PRIVY COUNCILLOR

His latest honor came last June when Prime Minister Pearson appointed him a member of the Canadian Privy Council, which entitled him to the title of "honorable" for life.

Flags on Parliament Hill will be blown at half-staff in tribute today.

Though he often appeared shy to his troops, he gained a reputation as a battle-front leader, visiting combat units by jeep or armored car to check on actual conditions.

He once summarized his personal philosophy of generalship:

"Whatever you do, do it with all your might.

"Do to others as you would have them do to you.

"Lead always, drive rarely, but when you must, drive hard."

Gen. Crerar led a quiet life with his wife in suburban Rockcliffe Park since his retirement.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his son Peter, who was a Second World War army officer, and his daughter Peggy, who was married overseas to an artillery officer.

Retiring U. S. Treasurer Well Regarded in Canada

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The departure Thursday of Douglas C. Dillon from the office of United States secretary of the treasury is of special significance in Canadian-American relations.

Little change in course is expected from his successor, Henry H. Fowler, 56, who served for a time as Dillon's undersecretary and is known so far chiefly as an administrator.

Dillon, 55, a tall, shy patrician millionaire who came to Washington in 1952 as a liberal Republican and stayed to work for two Democratic presidents, retires with a special niche in Canadian regard.

The U.S. secretary of the treasury is a finance minister by another name and no department of the U.S. government in the post-war period has had more vital domestic and international functions.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

In American relations with Canada, the treasury and department of economic affairs are paramount importance because the impact of U.S. financial policy registers quickly here. The Canadian economy which has an American investment portfolio of an estimated $20,000,000,000.

Dillon served former president Eisenhower as ambassador to France, as undersecretary of state and diplomatic trouble-shooter.

In January, 1961, the late president Kennedy brought him into his new cabinet as treasury secretary.

In Canada eyes he became a staunch friend in court in a period during which some serious difficulties arose.

For example, there was the spring, 1962, Canadian foreign exchange crisis leading to devaluation of the Canadian dollar and the temporary tariff increases on many imports.

Then, in 1963, shortly after Finance Minister Walter Gordon had attempted to reduce the export of investment control in some sectors of the Canadian economy, the U.S. moved to meet its own drain of gold and dollars.

PARTIAL EXEMPTIONS

It proposed a tax on all foreign stocks and bonds bought by U.S. residents. This would have made it more expensive for Canada to borrow American dollars for development and meeting international payments deficits.

Canada made representations and won a partial exemption. Dillon laid January when President Johnson launched a broader program to cut the dollar drain. There were other Canadian exemptions in this.

Dillon repeated his view then that Canada has a special relationship with the U.S. He said it could see no logic in cutting off U.S. dollars to Canada at once source and forcing Canada to get them some other way.

Dillon's retirement puts a new look at the top of the treasury department, even with Fowler's previous experience there.

Robert V. Roosa, who as Dillon's undersecretary for monetary affairs also earned Canadian admiration, succeeded to Wall Street late last year.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Eight determined teams of hockey youngsters ranging between 10 and 12 years of age go to the puck mat in Memorial Arena tomorrow—starting almost at the crack of dawn — in aid of what is a most commendable cause.

They're coming from Bowmanville, Kingston, Lindsay, Peterborough, Oshawa and Ajax. And facing this opposition—or they hope the best of it—is the doughty bevy of porwee pocketers from this city under the keen eyes of Manager Clare Paxman and coach Lionel Bolty.

It is the first annual Shrine Peewee Tournament, and the youngsters will do battle for two championship trophies and several individual awards.

Thanks to the efforts of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association through president Ed Adamson, his trusty lieutenant, Russ Soules; Mrs. Allison Sickle and her grand ladies of the BMHA Auxiliary, the Shriners through Noble Ken Thompson and Johnny Thompson, and others, a substantial amount, it is hoped, will swell the coffers of the Shrine Crippled Kiddies' Fund.

Shrine President Alex Pierson will head his merry fez-nots to Oshawa Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ontario Minor Hockey Association president Albert Watkin of Peterborough and his first vice, Doug Patterson, will be here to present awards.

The famous "Red" Storey of NHL refereeing and professional football fame will assist in the officiating. This through the courtesy of the House of Seagram and Shriner Thompson.

The special feature is the climactic tussle between the BMHA Coaches and the CCN Oldtimers. This alone should be worth the nominal admission price of 25 cents. You can go and come as you like—all day.

Speaking of Red Storey, one of Canada's noted raconteurs, brings to mind another colorful NHL character who can yet swing and sway an after-dinner audience with his wit and colorful yarn-telling.

He is Babe Pratt of New Westminster, B.C., who occupies an all-time niche in the game's history. He is a vigorous and uproarious speaker before two or two thousand, with a big grin and voice like a thunderstorm.

Someone once told the story of Pratt when he was with the Maple Leafs. It happened in a Stanley Cup playoff and the team was trailing 2-0 after the first period. President Conn Smythe put the blast on them in the dressing room.

He told a comparative story of two of his racehorses—one voted for a quick break, but slowed and finished late. The other was a slow starter but finished in a racing, roaring drive. Mr. Smythe paused for the effect.'

In the silence a voice that sounded like Pratt's was heard addressing the player sitting next to him.

"Which end of the horse are you?"

Smythe departed but his psychology worked. Relaxed, the Leafs went out and won the game.

Those were the years when the famous Bentley brothers were carrying the Black Hawks on their shoulders. Max was among the finest centres in the game yet vulnerable for a quick needle. It was the year the Hawks' publicity department made the most of the Indian strain in the Bentley's heritage.

Leaning over, he asked: "Which one of you guys is on the crest this year?"

Third Of Horses Affected

Cough Threatens Season

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—The cough-ing epidemic that knocked almost a dozen horses out of the Grand National Steeplechase last week has spread to about one-third of Britain's estimated 4,000 race horses, severely threatening the young racing season.

It already has upset the form of some of the major scheduled meets and it follows its geographic course and spreads to Ireland, as expected, it could spoil Irish hopes in such big races as the Derby and the Oaks in June.

Several trainers suggested Thursday that the flat racing season, which got under way only nine days ago, should be cancelled for two weeks to help check the spread of the disease, known as equine influenza.

But a spokesman for The Jockey Club, the British flat racing authority, said that "if there are rumors at all at a race meeting, the meeting will take place." He added:

"It is up to trainers to decide whether they want to risk infection by running their horses."

AREA HARD HIT

Newmarket, Suffolk, headquarters of British racing at this time of year, is one of the hardest - hit areas, accounting for nearly half the total casualties despite intensive precautions, including the spraying with disinfectant of all stables and saddling stalls.

Capt. Boyd Rochfort, the Queen's trainer, said all 30 horses in his stables there are down with the cough.

Trainer Noel Murless, whose stable also has been hit, said he was sure "the best idea" would be to cancel racing for two weeks.

"With the spring weather warm as it is at the moment, the epidemic could soon come under control," he added.

The equine sickness is far more infectious than the human variety of influenza. The symptoms are coughing, running nose and high temperature for 10 days or more. An attack keeps a horse off the track at least three weeks.

The epidemic hit France and then spread to England and Scotland.

Habs Win Bone-Rattling Opener 3-2

By BILL NEVILLE

MONTREAL (CP)—Call it a "miscarriage of justice" or a "well - deserved victory," but however you slice it, Montreal Canadiens hold a one-game lead in their Stanley Cup semi-final series with the defending champion Toronto Maple Leafs.

Both terms were applied Thursday night following the best - of - seven opener which more than lived up to the advance bone-rattling predictions before Canadiens emerged with a 3-2 victory. The series resumes here Saturday night.

As might be expected, the conflicting judgments came from the rival National Hockey League coaches.

BOB ROUSSEAU

Toronto's Punch Imlach was in his best playful rage, fuming at everyone from referee Vern Buffey to former Canadiens great Maurice Richard, now a non-playing executive of the Montreal hockey club.

"These guys (the Leafs) are out there breaking their hearts to play and you get jobbed," said Imlach. "When everybody in the building is against you, it's pretty hard to win."

PREDICTS VICTORY

To which he added quickly: "But we're still going to beat them."

Montreal coach Toe Blake not surprisingly saw things in another light.

In his considered judgment, Canadiens definitely deserved to win a game which, also in his considered judgment, reflected poorly on Imlach's give-'em-hell coaching tactics.

"Punch should get out there and trade some punches himself and maybe he'll see the difference," said Blake.

Both men were addressing themselves to a contest which saw Canadiens hold a 2-0 lead through 40 minutes of near-gang war, give up two quick goals to a brief Leaf resurgence and then pull out the win with the odd goal of the evening.

Hero of the piece was Bobby Rousseau, a 24-year-old right-winger who managed only 12 goals during an indifferent regular schedule but sent 14,007 Forum fans home happy this time with a masterful winning goal.

With Toronto's Tim Horton in the penalty box, the quick-darting Rousseau took Jean Beliveau's pass at the Leaf blueline, cut through the defence and shovelled the puck over the sprawling Johnny Bower for the goal that made all the difference.

SIX PENALTY

It came at 12:29 of the final period and, despite the 26th and final penalty to Canadiens' Jacques Laperriere with 43 seconds left, Toronto never really threatened to match it.

JOHNNY BOWER

Offensively, in fact, the Leafs, seeking a fourth consecutive cup championship, were hardly in the picture except for two minutes and 42 seconds of the third period.

During that time, they got both their goals—the first on a quick effort by veteran Dickie Moore, the second on a 25-foot drive by Carl Brewer—to offset temporarily a pair of Montreal goals in the first period by Henri Richard and Ralph Backstrom.

The 2-0 Montreal margin was at least representative of an opening 40 minutes in which the Canadiens outshot their opponents 27 to 11. During this period, however, play with the puck seemed almost a sideline to personal mayhem.

Buffey handed out 34 penalties during the first two periods, including four majors, one misconduct and a match penalty for a total of 71 minutes. Each team got 12 penalties with the Leafs taking 36 of the minutes.

BELOW RECORDS

It seemed a record - setting rate, but things cooled down during the final 20 minutes and the game ended with 28 penalties and 75 minutes, well below the playoff records of 31 and 102 respectively.

The match penalty went to Leaf defenceman Kent Douglas after the most vicious change of the night, a stick-swinging duel with Canadiens' Dave Balon following Richard's opening goal.

It ended with Balon felled by a blow from Douglas' stick and the Leaf rearguard on his way to the dressing room, a trip which Imlach charged included a fist thrown by Richard who was sitting in the crowd behind the Leaf bench.

The penalty, assessed Douglas under the NHL's "deliberate attempt to injure" rule, will cost him an automatic $100 fine. Balon also will be reviewed by NHL president Clarence Campbell to see whether any disciplinary action is in order.

The league coffers also will be enriched by $25 from Montreal's Jean Roberts for his second - period misconduct and one of a bevy of penalties levied Leaf heroes Carl Brewer and Frank Mahovlich. Canadiens squared off for would-be brawl that produced little more than hot words and a bit of sweater-pulling.

No injuries were reported as a result of the temper tantrums but Canadien defenseman Terry Harper suffered a gashed forehead and a slight concussion when he struck the ice after an accidental collision with Toronto's Frank Mahovlich. Canadiens said they expect Harper to be ready for Saturday's second game.

The series marks the third straight semi-final between the two archrivals and, as far as least, it is following last year's script. Canadiens won the first game a year ago, too, before losing out in seven games to the Leafs who went on to down Detroit in the finals.

Ter-Haar Makes It 2 In Row

Building a 4-0 first-frame lead, the Ter-Haar - Daubers tripped SACO 6-4 to move into a comfortable lead in the Quinte Hockey League finals here last night.

Ter-Haar's triumph was their second in as many starts in the best-of-seven series. Games next will be played on Saturday and Thursday. Games start at eight o'clock, at Memorial Arena.

SACO, sixth in the circuit during schedule play, made it a tight contest by scoring the only two goals of the middle frame. That left the Daubers with a slim 4-2 margin entering the third when each side scored twice.

Al Rultan was the Ter-Haar sparkplug, as he scored first and third goals and assisting on the other two first-frame tallies. Bob Jeffrey and Herbert Pointer also bagged a pair of counters apiece. "Bomber" Kellar and Ron Urch earned one assist each.

Ken Forsythe netted two of the SACO markers with Larry Potter and Don Forsythe notching the others. Stan Woodcock and K. Forsythe had the only assists.

Sore Arm Hospitalizes Koufax

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, 29, of the Dodgers flew from Vero Beach, Fla., to Los Angeles Thursday to undergo examination for swelling and stiffness in his pitching elbow, the same one that sidelined him for the final month and a half in 1964.

When he was forced out of action in mid-August, the left-hander had a 19-5 record and a 1.74 earned-run average.

This spring he had compiled a 3.00 e.r.a. in 30 innings. He lost complete games against Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox even though he allowed only four hits in each.

"I don't say that I'm surprised; I was afraid this might happen," said general manager Buzzie Bavasi. "But I'm not alarmed. I think Sandy will be all right."

Starter elbow forced Baltimore's Milt Pappas, a right-hander, to leave the Orioles' exhibition contest with Pittsburgh Pirates in the second game.

ERROR DECIDES GAME

Warren Spahn, 44 years old April 23, scattered nine hits in seven innings and rapped two singles to New York Mets' 4-0 triumph over Detroit. Spahn's third-inning single drove in two runs that proved to be the decisive tallies.

Cincinnati Reds blanked Minnesota Twins 4-0 behind the combined nine-hit hurling of Bill McCool, Gerry Arrigo and Ted Davidson while Los Angeles Angels rallied for two runs on Jack Warner's homer in the seventh for a 5-3 victory over their Seattle farm team.

Joe Cunningham socked a grand-slam homer and Willie Kirkland drove in five runs, three on a homer, powering Washington Senators past Kansas City Athletics 11-16.

The White Sox defeated St. Louis Cardinals 11-9 with a nine-run outburst in the seventh. Tom McGraw and Floyd Robinson each stroked two singles in the rally.

Melville Leads Series 2-1

Three goals in the last five minutes by scoring ace Joe Scott carried Melville Shorliners to a 10-7 win over Proctor Silex in Wellington last night.

Melville took a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League finals with the victory. Game next week are slated for Tuesday and Thursday nights, at eight o'clock.

Last night's battle was a real see - saw affair which saw the scored tied five times. It was 1-1, 2-2, 4-4, 6-6 and 7-7 before Scott gave Melville the decision. The score was 2-2 after one beat and Proctor Silex led 5-4 after two periods.

Melville held a slim 43-42 edge in shots-on-goal while the loosers drew nine of the 12 minor penalties.

Scott's three big goals at the end brought his total to five for the night. He also had one assist. Jim Dunlop netted a pair, Ed Ross had a goal and two assists, Paul Kilbreath and Rod Simmons one goal and one helper each. Dave LaRue earned four assists, Eldon Carson and Jack Wilson a pair apiece.

Ralph Irwin turned in a strong performance for Proctor Silex. He scored four goals, three of them tying the game, and added an assist. Morris Weeks got a pair and three assists, Earl Foster one and two and Ray Cummings one goal. Neil Holding helped on a pair, Vic Allen and Ken Fraser on one each.

Seven In Big Tourney

TORONTO (CP) — Canada has been allotted at least seven places in the men's curling world golf championship April 19-22 at Sutton, Mass., it was announced today.

Already qualified are George Knudson of Toronto, who won the Fraser Open in California last fall and who placed in the top 50 money winners for 1964, and Canada's amateur champion Nick Weslock of Toronto.

Sponsors said five provincial tournaments have been named as qualifying events to choose five others: These are the Ontario Open at Oakville plus the Hockey League finals here last night.

Ter-Haar's triumph was their second in as many starts in the best-of-seven series. Games next will be played on Saturday and Thursday. Games start at eight o'clock, at Memorial Arena.

SACO, sixth in the circuit during schedule play, made it a tight contest by scoring the only two goals of the middle frame. That left the Daubers with a slim 4-2 margin entering the third when each side scored twice.

Al Rultan was the Ter-Haar sparkplug, as he scored first and third goals and assisting on the other two first-frame tallies. Bob Jeffrey and Herbert Pointer also bagged a pair of counters apiece. "Bomber" Kellar and Ron Urch earned one assist each.

Ken Forsythe netted two of the SACO markers with Larry Potter and Don Forsythe notching the others. Stan Woodcock and K. Forsythe had the only assists.

Regina Pats Win Title

The winners now travel to the coast, a week behind schedule, to open their Western Memorial Cup quarter-final against New Westminster Royals.

For Back Pay

Belsinky To Sue Angels

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—His plea for back pay denied by Commissioner Ford Frick, Bo Belinsky said today he plans to go to court in an effort to force Los Angeles Angels to pay him the money.

Philadelphia Phillies' new pitcher, who was suspended by the Angels without pay last summer for an altercation with a newspaper man, insisted not only that his suspension without pay was illegal but that the commissioner did not grant him a fair hearing.

"The Los Angeles club never even told me why I was suspended," said Belinsky. "And the commissioner never explained to me why he ruled against me. They just took my money and now they want me to forget all about it."

Belinsky allegedly punched Braven Dyer of the Los Angeles Times Aug. 14 following an argument. He was suspended the next day. The Angels later banished him to Hawaii but he refused to go, preferring to sit out the remainder of the season.

CLAIMS $5,000

Belinsky said he was entitled to $5,000," said the temperamental left hander, "for the damage they did to my reputation as well as to my pocketbook. I feel they owe me that for causing me to lose my bargaining rights and my pension benefits for the year.

The Angels traded Belinsky to the Phillies last December for a pair of rookies. Bo hadn't pitched badly for the Angels prior to his exile. He had only a 3-5 record, but he turned in a fine 2.87 earned run average.

The Phillies gave me a $2,000 raise," he said. "Had I been allowed to pitch all season, I'm sure I would have finished with about 12 or 14 victories. Then I would have been in a position to command a bigger raise."

Wings Edge Hawks 4-3; Ullman Hero

Hull Breaks Jinx

By JERRY GLADMAN

DETROIT (CP) — Norm Ullman, whose 42 goals helped Detroit Red Wings to the National Hockey League championship this season; is at it again.

He tallied a crowd of 14,327 here Thursday night by scoring the winning goal in Detroit's 4-3 Stanley Cup semi-final victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

The triumph enabled the Wings to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with the second game scheduled for here Sunday night.

NORM ULLMAN

The loss for the Hawks had one highlight, however, in the return to form by left winger Bobby Hull, the Chicago bomber, who had missed several games because of knee injuries and only a question mark until game time, registered one goal and set up Chicago's other two.

The game was a see-saw battle all the way with the clubs trading the lead on four separate occasions. The count was tied 1-1 after the first period and 2-2 going into the third.

WAS FAST, RUGGED

The match was rugged and fast skating throughout.

"It's good to come out of a game like that with a win," said Detroit coach Sid Abel in the dressing room.

Opposing coach Billy Reay said: "I thought we played a good game, but we just didn't have enough to win. We still have to score more goals for a victory, and I have no alibis."

Hull said: "Things just didn't go all the way I wanted, and I'm pleased the way my knee held."

Smith opened the scoring at 12:51 of the first period, jamming in a loose puck. The lead lasted only briefly as Detroit goaltender Roger Crozier made three great saves on close-in shots before Hull banged in a rebound on a power play.

Esposito picked up an errant pass early in the second period, took advantage of a wrong turn by Red Wing defenceman Marcel Pronovost and scooted in to beat Crozier with a low drive.

DIDN'T WASTE TIME

The Hawks wasted little time moving one up again as Maki scored at 1:01 of the third period. He shot from about 15 feet out and the puck sailed over Crozier's outstretched glove.

Eric Nesterenko was off for elbowing when Delvecchio took his position at the point and again beat Chicago goaltender Glenn Hall with a long drive.

Ullman counted the winner seconds after leaving the penalty box where he had served a minor for roughing. He received a pass at the net and whacked in a pass from Parker MacDonald.

Both scrimmiders were brilliant at times as Hall kicked out 32 shots while Crozier stopped 27.

While hard-checking throughout, the game was cleanly played and referee John Ashley called only 13 minor penalties, seven to Detroit. Chicago's Al MacNeil received a 10-minute misconduct in the first period.

Abel said the Wings will return to their Toledo hideaway where they will remain until Sunday night.

"We're healthy, so let's go for our second straight," he told his players.

The Hawks, who may skate lightly today, are confident they can come back with a win here Sunday.

Badminton Closed Tourney

EDMONTON (CP) — Montrealer Yves Pare's court performance in the Canadian Closed badminton championships Thursday overshadowed victories by Ed and Rolf Paterson of Vancouver in the men's doubles and by the Vancouver tandem of Mimi Nillson and Rolf Paterson in the mixed doubles.

The Paterson brothers won their second consecutive men's doubles crown with 15-11, 15-3 victories over Yves Pare and Harold Moody of Montreal.

Mrs. Nillson and Rolf Paterson needed three sets to subdue Pare and Pat Espley in the mixed doubles, winning 15-3, 11-15, 15-10.

In the third doubles set, defending women's champions Marjory Sheeid and Dorothy Thiline of Toronto ran into an unexpectedly strong showing by Jean Miller of Montreal and Bev Chittick of Windsor, Ont. The Toronto women endured with a 15-4, 17-18, 15-11 victory.

Macdonnell, 24, captured his third consecutive crown with a 15-5, 15-10 victory over Bruce Rollick, 21, of Vancouver.

Miss Whittaker, a former ranking tennis player in Canada, dethroned Mrs. Miller in the women's singles. She displayed a supremely confident performance in winning 11-8, 11-6 and never trailed in the match.

The Trots

Last year, hampered by a bad back, Superior Chief won only 29 in 11 starts and never finished better than third.

Have Four Yale Men

Oxford Boat Race Favorites

LONDON (Reuters) — Four Yale men have made Oxford a heavy favorite over Cambridge in Saturday's 1965 edition of the famous "boat race" which started in 1829.

The four, the most Americans ever in one crew in one race, include two former Yale stroke oars. The Americans give Oxford an important edge in age and experience.

LIKE 'CELEBRITY'

Harry Howell, a six-foot-six-inch student of politics and economics from Darien, Conn., told a reporter being in the race is the English equivalent of being a rock-and-roll star, complete with "reporters, TV and everybody treating you like a celebrity."

On the other hand, Juan Trippe, 23, of New York, pointed out that Oxford rarely even harder than Yale and the crew members have been living like monks since January.

Trippe, who also studies politics and economics, was stroke of the Yale crew in 1963 and 1964, and will stroke Oxford Saturday.

Immediately behind Trippe will be Duncan Spencer, 24, of Bethesda, Md., Yale's stroke in 1962 and Oxford's in 1963 and 1964.

The "engine room" of the Oxford boat consists of Howell and Bill Fink, a 23-year-old law student from New York City. They are No. 5 and No. 6, right behind Trippe and Spencer, and both are giants by British size standards.

PRODUCES DRIVE

The middle of the blat is the "engine room" because it produces the back - breaking drive and basic strength of any crew.

Howell and Fink are both three-year veterans of the Yale crew.

With its four Yale men—who say their presence together at Oxford is "sheer coincidence"—the Oxford crew is one of the heaviest favorites in the long history of the race.

By contrast, Cambridge has looked ordinary, lacking in spring and drive, sometimes erratic in timing and blade-work.

No Canadians are participating in the race.

After the race the four Americans will switch to coxed fours and spend the summer competing in leading British races, including the famous Henley Regatta.

Oxford's chief coach, Ronnie Howard, said the problems of integrating four Americans, with their U.S. style of rowing, into the crew were solved by compromise.

The problems, he added, were "more than compensated for by the experience and maturity the Americans brought with them."

Ratify Track Records

LONDON (CP)—Ron Clarke of Australia and Bob Hayes of the United States shared top billing in a list of 22 men's and five women's world track and field records ratified Thursday by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

Clarke made the list three times, with new marks of 13 minutes, 7.6 seconds, for three miles, 27:17.8 for six miles and 28:15.6 for 10,000 metres.

Hayes, who recently signed a professional football contract with Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, cut into the books with a 9.1-second mark for 100 yards, a share in the 3:00.7 record set by the U.S. 400-metre relay team at the Tokyo Olympics and a record - equalling 10.0 in the 100 metres, tying the mark set in 1960 by Armin Hary of Germany and since equalled by Harry Jerome of Vancouver and Horacio Esteves of Venezuela.

The newly - recognized records, some dating back as far as mid-1963, also include a 3:54.1 mile by Peter Snell of New Zealand and men's and women's broad jump marks of 27 feet, 4½ inches by Ralph Boston of the U.S. and 22 feet, 2¾ inches by Mary Rand of Britain.

The Lineups For The Shrine Game

The minor hockey coaches have come up with what looks like a power-packed line-up for their Ontario's exhibition battle with the C.N.R. "Oldtimers" tomorrow evening.

The game will serve as a windup to the day-long peewee hockey tournament here, and is scheduled to get underway at 8.30 p.m.

The CNR boys have vowed to "give those young (??) upstarts a lesson, even if many of our top players are in Stratford that day, competing in the annual CNR tournament there."

This tournament has been a "must" for the strong Belleville trainees for the past few years and this season it was their hard luck that it fell on the same day as the Shriner's game here.

However, the B.M.H.A. coaches are allowing no mercy and there lineup includes such well known names as Doug Murray, Floyd Crawford, Bob Boyle, Moe Hunter, Lionel Bolly, Lou Sandre, Earl Cousins and Rod Turner. They have Earl Rivers in goal, while others on the squad are John Brunelle, Len Harvey, Rick Stewart, Jack Boulter, Gordon Boulter, Paul Wall, Butch Orser, Murphy Warner and Bud Cowan. Ed Adinolfi is the manager and Russ Soule the coach.

Doing battle for the CNR will be goalie Claude Carr, Ron Lupencette, Bob Taylor, Andy MacDonald, Bruno Degenova, Bill Coughlin, Don Conway, Jerry Moher, Chuck Loveless, Bill Pringle, George Crabbe, Danny Bennett, Hugh Polster, Bruce LaRue, Fred Smith and Pat Barrett. Don Donaldson is the team manager and Cuff Mills will coach.

LIVES A DOUBLE LIFE

BECKENHAM, England (CP) By day, young Keith Robinson of this Kentish town wears a neat business suit under his close-cropped head. By night, he appears in a sloppy sweater and jeans, and miraculously sprouts a Beatle hair cut. The Jekyll-and-Hyde act is to preserve family peace. Dad wants his hair kept short, so at night Keith wears a wig.

1965-66 Soccer Season

Blackest In English History

LONDON (Reuters)—Bad behavior by soccer players on the field continues to provide the game's leaders with one of their biggest headaches.

The 1964-65 season was the blackest in English soccer history for misconduct and the indications are that the current season will be worse.

To date, 47 players have been sent off in English League, Football Association Cup and League Cup matches, six more than at the same time last year.

Contrary to general belief, it has not been the cup matches that have inflamed passions and led to incidents, but the routine weekly search for league points. Only one player of the 47 received marching orders in a cup tie — the corresponding figure last year being four.

Meanwhile, interest is high in a suggested change in the soccer league points system, aimed at encouraging goal scoring.

Tottenham Hotspurs, never a team to grab a 1-0 lead and then cling tenaciously to it, should do well under the suggested system whereby each goal earns one quarter of a point.

Their 7-4 win over the Wolverhampton Wanderers Saturday, which was rather overshadowed by Jimmy Greaves' final, brought their total to 72 this season and 483 over the last five years.

To reach 500 goals in five years would be a rare achievement. First division Tottenham has six matches left to get the 17 needed.

Tottenham scored 115 goals in 1960-61, its cup and league season, and this is the seasonal totals have been successively 88, 111 and 97.

Gordie Howe's Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

The time seems to go only half-way fast, in between games in the Stanley Cup playoffs, despite all the glamour and excitement of hockey's world championship.

I say half-way fast because there's no time like time spent with your family. I have three sons and a daughter of my own, but once the playoffs start, I and the rest of the players become heroes.

Instead of staying at home, when we're playing in Detroit, we hibernate in a Toledo hotel, some 70 miles away, or some other secluded spot. And the rival clubs follow the same policy.

One of the reasons is to put you on a given diet and hold you to it. Another is to get away from the pressure from well meaning friends from all over the country who are looking for playoff tickets.

As far as ice time is concerned, we get very little. If there's a long layoff, we might bus to Olympia for a light skate.

Otherwise, the players congregate for pinochle and even a bridge tournament. We also do a little bowling. After our first couple of weeks you run out of movies.

Last year there was a big bowdy-do when Sid Abel took us to the Fort Erie race track, later on to the Toledo track. We're not big gamblers.

As a matter of fact, Bruce "betting combination". The four of them would sit down, argue the merits of the respective horses...then put up 50 cents apiece for a two dollar bet on the race.

You can stay there all day and spend a handsomer's worth. It was just money spent to pass the time, get some fresh air and have fun.

Running up and downstairs is a little hard on the legs. So one man carried the bets up to the betting pavilion for the three. Another was the messenger in the second race.

It was just a way to relax and enjoy life, and freshen ourselves mentally for the next hockey game by getting away from the thought of hockey for a little while. After all, we had a whole season of it behind us.

Dr. P. Jewett Addresses Young Liberals

CAMPBELLFORD — The Young Liberal Association of Campbellford, Seymour and Percy townships held a meeting in the Canadian Legion hall in Warkworth on Wednesday evening. About 75 attended, the majority being high school students.

Guest speaker of the evening was Dr. Pauline Jewett, M.P. As a prelude to her address Dr. Jewett outlined an average day in the life of a member of parliament, the large amount of correspondence, the political debates in the House of Commons, which may be exciting, stimulating or frustrating, but always interesting; the necessary social contacts, altogether full days which left little time for personal living.

She stated most of the principal objectives of the Liberal government in power are gradually being accomplished.

The personal aim of the government is to get Canada back on a high economic level, obtain higher rates of employment, to create more jobs through expansion of short and long term economic schemes. Dr. Jewett suggested loans to municipalities for public works and projects, winter works programs to even out seasonal employment.

NEW DEPARTMENT

She also spoke of the creation of a Department of Industry to arouse interest in secondary industries, to look for courage wider and better markets, the creation of an Economic Council to advise and an inquisition to make surveys and give reports important to various governmental departments. In regard to ARDA she did not feel the full impact had yet been felt, it was more of a long time scheme on which there was still much to be done.

Dr. Jewett also spoke of the new Canadian Labor Code, effective in July last of which so far has effected only one-tenth of the full plan. She also outlined to her youthful audience the Canadian Pension Plan, and also the student loans of $1,000 per year to attend university. She also stated that she would like to see a medicare program adopted.

In the new redistribution of electoral ridings, the new provincial government will have 117 seats as against 90 Federal seats.

Following her address Dr. Jewett answered many questions and moved about talking freely with the young people in attendance.

Japanese Entertainers Help Police to Bust Gangs

By ROBERT LIU

TOKYO (AP) — Entertainers in Japan are getting into the act—literally—of helping police bust up the underworld.

It all started with a nationwide police campaign to hit at racketeers by cutting off their sources of income. The campaign spread into a crusade, with almost everyone, ganging up against the gangs.

Several gangs have disbanded. But the entertainers-turned - gang - busters have indicated they don't plan to quit.

Actors and actresses have urged producers to stop making films glorifying violence and gangsters. Instead, they want films showing crime does not pay.

"If gangsters are made to look foolish, fewer people will want to become gangsters," explained one actor.

TIES UNSAVORY

Entertainers began their drive against the gangs after the police campaign turned up several unsavory ties between entertainers and racketeers.

Many entertainers, it appeared, were being intimidated by gangsters and paying them off to avoid harm.

Other entertainers were smuggling in pistols from abroad for the gangsters. Guns are not manufactured in Japan and smuggled pistols can easily be sold for more than $200 apiece.

Budding entertainers often have been sucked into ties with gangsters, sometimes unwittingly, by signing up to perform in provincial road shows sponsored by gangs. The gangsters profit from the admission fees.

THREATEN INJURY

But after entertainers establish themselves, they discover that gangsters continue to hover around them, threatening harm. The difference is that the gangsters threaten injury if they are not part of the entertainer's salary.

During the police drive, provincial officials throughout Japan helped entertainers pull themselves out of the grasp of gangs. The officials announced they would reject applications for the use of public auditoriums to any road show known to be associated with gangs.

Police say the entertainers and city fathers have cut into the pockets of gangsters, to see that the gangsters don't take it out of the entertainers, police have reinforced their guards at public shows.

'It's Absolutely Epochal' Description of Art Museum

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Why, it's magnificent! It's absolutely epochal! This must be one of the most beautiful buildings in the world."

Edward G. Robinson, a man who chooses his words with care, was uttering these phrases during one of this week's gala openings of the Los Angeles County Art Museum.

While select figures of Los Angeles society and the film world were partaking of a champagne supper, the actor-art collector was wandering amid the art and artifacts of the brand new Ahmanson Gallery.

"Fantastic!" he murmured as he gazed about the splendorous halls. "To think that it could have happened in this town!"

He expressed the amazement of many of the museum previewers. Out of what was once called the Labrea tar pits had risen a gleaming complex of three handsome buildings floating in a lagoon.

TICKETS COST $100

The movie crowd included such figures as Bob Hope, Burt Lancaster, Art Linkletter, Jack L. Warner, William Wyler and Robinson who were hefty contributors in terms of paintings and-or cold cash.

The opening - nighters were awed when they entered the major building, the Ahmanson Gallery, which houses the permanent collection.

If the art was not entirely up to the calibre of the William Pereira buildings, there was expectation, backed by a $12,000,000 acquisition fund, that it will be.

And there was hope that the museum soon will be housing Rembrandt's painting of his mother Titus, which museum benefactor Norton Simon recently purchased for $2,234,000 in London.

"Los Angeles can do anything," enthused Gene Kelly. "Next we must have resident companies of ballet, opera and theatre."

NEWSPAPER MAN DIES

BRIDGEWATER, N.S. (CP)—James H. Smith, 57, a Westville, N.S., native who had been editor of the New Glasgow Evening News and later sports editor of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald, died Thursday in hospital after a short illness.

Kente Chorus Will Produce Operetta

PICTON (Staff) — A volunteer organization here, the Kente Chorus, provides one of the few outlets in Picton for people interested in singing to exercise their talents.

Originally started by a small group of people who just wanted to sing together the chorus now numbers over 30 and is directed by Allan Redmond, a teacher at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute.

One of the sparks for the group's rapid growth over the past few months was the announcement that the chorus will put on a performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance."

Many music lovers in Picton and district immediately joined the chorus ranks to take part in the well known operetta, although one solo part is still vacant.

While the chorus has made a few performances during the past year, they have not been highly publicized and many Picton residents have been pleasantly surprised at the quality of the fledgling local group. Many others are still unaware that such a group exists.

Fred Le Reverend, president of the chorus, said the operetta will be presented in mid-May.

Beill Smith Returned for Fourth Term

PICTON (Staff) — The Quinte Isle Tourist Association returned "Beill Smith" for a fourth term as president at their organization at the annual dinner meeting on Wednesday evening.

The directors for 1965 are Mrs. Norman MacDonald, Mrs. Hugh Frizzell (treasurer); Mrs. Jack Cooper, Mrs. Kenneth Carter, Mrs. Merla Reynolds, William West, David Wattam, William Smith (president); George Shipman (vice-president); Al Owen, Robert Mackie, Clare Campbell, Frank Wait and Mr. William Hauser. This is an increase in the number of directors from 13 to 14.

International at this year's meeting were: the workshop held in the afternoon instead of at the dinner.

At the workshop, subjects of mutual interest were discussed. These included rates; the problem of controlling overcrowding in housekeeping cottages; the problem of pets and how best to control them; the store hours that are kept by the merchants in Picton; availability of doctors on "off hours"; conservation the minimum wage act; and signs on the highways.

ARENA TO CLOSE

Sunday will mark the final skating of the season at the County Centre at the Fair Grounds. Hours are two to four and it is expected a big crowd will be on hand for the "final fling". The artificial ice plant will be turned off.

Big event in the Centre will be on April 30 and May 1st when the Kinsmen Club presents the annual Sports and Home Show.

4 Candidates Will Run for Council Seats

PICTON (Staff) — There will be four candidates for the two vacancies, created by the resignation of Councillors Wattam and Harrison. Mr. Wattam resigned when challenged for non-payment of back business taxes. He stated he would pay the taxes and run again. He is the only one on the slate with previous experience on council, as a veteran of six years. Mr. Wattam also led the polls in the last election for a two-year term last December. The two elected will fill the balance of the term to Dec. 31, 1966. Mr. Hicks said the polls will be open from 9.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m. on Monday, April 12.

Different Temperament

Daniel Johnson, leader of the Union Nationale party in Quebec, is opposed to the Fulton-Favreau formula for the repatriation of the Canadian constitution.

Instead of an arrangement to permit Canadians to amend the British North America Act as they see fit, without seeking the approval of the British Parliament, he wants the act scrapped and a new arrangement drafted.

He said over the weekend that there should be a constituent assembly "where the two nations (French and English) would set down in equality the basis of a totally new alliance."

It is unfortunate that French-Canadians persist in talking about two "nations." They do not use the word precisely in the same sense as do English-speaking Canadians, but even if the English "nation" in Canada recognizes this fact the word irritates.

The English-speaking conception of Canada is based solidly on the belief that there are not, and cannot be, two "nations" within Canada's boundaries, but that French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians must come together as one nation, though free to preserve the differences which history and temperament have established.

We are apt to consider the major impediments to such a solution to be those arising from differences in language and religion. Perhaps we might well give more attention to the differences which reflect temperament. Some may argue that these differences are covered by the term biculturalism. In the strict sense this may be true, but many people, at least amongst the English-speaking segment of the nation, have too narrow a conception of the word "culture" to permit it to cover one difference which, in the final analysis, may be the most important of all.

English-speaking Canadians, taken by and large, are materialists, believing in hard work and the virtue of acquisition of material goods.

French-speaking Canadians like to play, to eat, to drink, to dance, to laugh, to enjoy themselves.

Some may protest that they never saw a French-Canadian yet adverse to riches, nor an English-Canadian who did not enjoy "a good time."

The difference is in the approach. The French-Canadian wants to be wealthy so he can enjoy himself and the English-Canadian wants to enjoy himself in order to prove that the hard work which produces wealth is worth while.

It is possible for the English-Canadian to work hard and amass wealth in Quebec.

It is much more difficult for the French-Canadian to find ways to enjoy himself in English-speaking Canada.

Our federal laws are designed to encourage investment, in other words work, while all our governments find some way to make amusements more expensive.

Perhaps we ought to change this.

A simple way would appear to be to eliminate all taxes on goods or services purchased after 8 p.m.

The trouble is that the reaction would be different. The French-Canadian would quit work, drink more, dance oftener and sing every evening. The English-Canadians would be busy strenuously early-closing by-laws in order to take advantage of a wonderful business opportunity.

Bad Call

According to a U.S. expert employed in television research, by 1975 almost every American home will be equipped with at least two TV sets.

Rodney Erichson says that in ten years "the color set will become the family-or adult-set and the other sets will be for the kids."

Wanna bet?

Mr. Erichson may know an awful lot about television and marketing and a host of other things, but it is fairly obvious that he knows little about the average American or Canadian family and the status therein of the junior members.

A poet is not a reporter, unless he is a reporter of eternal truths, and the first characteristic of a masterpiece is not that it is new, but that it has always existed and only just been found.—Welsh poet Vernon Watkins.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 2nd, 1945

When almost 800 persons, members of the staffs of the city businesses, hotels, restaurants and of other employers attended the two-day chest clinic under the Division of Tuberculosis Prevention of the Ontario Department of Health at Belleville last week, they indicated in a clear manner how health conscious men and women of the towns and cities and countryside of Canada have become. The task of educating the people to regard their health as the most treasured possession has reaped already a good harvest and offers the promise of a still happier day when the population will be one hundred percent alert to every requirement of the health protection and maintenance. These 800 persons do not make up all who have been examined here by the provincial and local health authorities, for employees of large industries had previously been examined.

Letter to the Editor

Dissenting Opinion On Flag Editorial

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

In your remarks regarding our new provincial flag, I definitely do not agree. I am very pleased to see our Ontario government make the Red Ensign modified, our flag. What is wrong with offending Quebec? How much offending have they been doing for some time now? It's about time Canadians have a right to some say in this country beside the Frenchmen. Perhaps Mr. Pearson could have waited, say five years for another flag. These newspapers make me sick with their flag comments. After all, newspaper editorials are only one person's opinion the same as mine or anyone else's. A flag isn't going to unite a country, but sending our youth to schools together will. We definitely don't need two school systems. I happen to be one of the many Canadians who will never accept the Liberal Pearson flag.

Newspapers are not infallible. Canadians are becoming minded enough to read them but this country allows people to think and say freely.

What do the Frenchmen want disregarded next? The flag is just a beginning.

Mrs. Harry Hendrick

Wasted Resources

Brandon Sun

We squander our money on foolish things things we need not last. And we should consider the fact that this is a rich country which had not fulfilled the promise of its heritage because it has not used its resources intelligently to foster the growth and well-being of its people through education. We can change that.

Rumania a Red Rebel

By Alexander Werth in The Nation

Rumania, like Czechoslovakia and other Eastern countries, including the Soviet Union, displays a fundamental contradiction between what might be called communist principles and human and economic realities.

How are more liberal economic measures—which would not only produce greater prosperity but also create a more critical spirit—to be reconciled with the Communist Party's monopoly of power. Would not the one endanger the other?

In Rumania, at least, a tentative way has been found to reconcile the call for prosperity with a continuation of the party dictatorship. The party is playing a sort of nationalism which flatters the people.

The "de-stalinization" of Rumania has been subtle but unquestionably skilful.

In 1962, at a Party Congress, Gheorghiu Dej launched an attack against the Rumanian "Stalinists" who had been in Moscow during the war, and contrasted them unfavorably with that home communist to which he himself had belonged.

That same year, at a Comecon meeting, East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia attacked the Rumanians, for importing machinery from the West, instead of buying it from them. The Rumanians said that the Western machines were better and cheaper.

In March, 1963, the Rumanian Central Committee published a bold manifesto expressing the "national sovereignty, equality and independence of Rumania.

About the same time, the Rumanians re-established diplomatic relations with Albania, boycotted Khrushchev's "Little Summit" in Berlin, and started playing off Moscow against Peking. This was an effective line.

Close relations were established with China, not a member of Comecon, and last April the Rumanian party also made an important announcement in favor of expanding world trade.

An important trade delegation went to the United States, and Premier Maurer visited Paris for talks—again without Russian protest.

What we see in Rumania is a sort of national-communist regime, which has more and more points in common with that of Tito's Yugoslavia.

This does not foreshadow any breach with Russia. On the contrary, the Rumanians are entirely with the Russians where "peaceful co-existence" is concerned. Rumania still needs Russian military protection, and there can be no question of its either getting out of the Russian alliance, or joining some Chinese-Albanian bloc.

But the Rumanians would also be alarmed by a complete reconciliation between Russia and China—which might make Russia much tougher with her Western neighbors.

Rumania was glad to see Khrushchev go, but will continue to be glad only as long as it can benefit from Russo-Chinese tension, and as long as Khrushchev's successors stick to peaceful coexistence.

In their expanded trade with the West, the Rumanians are careful not to annoy the Russians more than necessary. They—as well as many of the other "satellites"—like to show a certain preference to France.

There is a touch of comedy in this: the great display of friendship between Rumania and France is one between the most reluctant satellite of Moscow and the most reluctant ally of Washington.

As Le Monde put it, the Rumanians make a big song and dance about their friendship with France because "it may seem less compromising to deal with an anti-American rebel than with any other Western country" (not that Rumania has no dealings with the United States, Italy and West Germany; but less is said about these "guilty" relations).

The relative independence of Rumania is taking other forms intended to flatter the citizenry an down tickle its anti-Russian sentiment: French and English have now been placed on the same footing with Russian in the school curricula and most children now prefer these languages.

Streets named after Russians have been rechristened. "Western" tendencies may also be seen fi lms de fect that, like England, Rumania now allows French, English and American papers to be sold to the public—and not only the communist papers.

Says Doctors Are Too Rigid

Sault Ste. Marie Star

Canada and Canadians do need better health care than they are now getting and they do need an end to the crippling costs of medical services. This is what the royal commission has found. Over the years the public has found through painful experience the same thing Ontario found when it set up its commission, then what?

No one wants to be the Saskatchewan debacle that followed the government implementation of a health program in that province, and there should be considerable discussion between governments and the medical profession before introduction of a nation-wide health scheme to prevent such a situation developing. But there does not appear to be much common ground on which any discussions can begin if the medical profession is so unbending in its stand.

Ottawa Offbeat
'George Baby' Hees on Bench, Itching to Get Back in Game

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Conservative Leader George Hees?

Could be.

At least there are a considerable number of people around Parliament Hill, including some Conservatives, who won't discard the possibility.

Not the least of them is Conservative Leader Diefenbaker who is known to regard the affable and effervescent Mr. Hees as Chief of the Indians who have been circling his leadership wagon-train these last two years and now seem to be closing in for the kill.

Right from the day his loyal began falling apart and his Government toppling, former Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been convinced that George Hees is the one most responsible for him now being only Leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

He sees George Hees' fine Toronto-Montreal hand in every plot and pressure move calculated to push him into retirement.

So certain is he that his former Trade and Commerce Minister has been mentally measuring his Opposition Leader's chair for size that he receives a sort of political intelligence report on what George Hees is doing, when George Hees is being seen and with whom George Hees is lunching.

NO SECRET

It has scarcely been confidential information that ever since his resignation which, in one way than any other single thing, ruined the Diefenbaker Cabinet and destroyed the Conservative Government, George Hees has been planning to return to Federal politics.

The only questions are when, and in what capacity.

And the role, certainly at the outset, would be that of Conservative candidate but with an eye fixed securely on the future leadership.

At the Montreal Chamber of Commerce the other day they asked George Hees what about it, and the former glamor boy of the Diefenbaker administration, his joie de vivre undimmed, just winked and grinned:

"Why man — I'm happy here just making out as the 101 ol' president of the stock exchange."

But to be one of what must be hundreds of people on George Hees' mailing list, and to get copies of his speeches — which invariably deal largely with what he obviously considers the "Good Old Ottawa Days" — is to know that his heart's still on Parliament Hill.

And to hear first-hand reports from his old friends and colleagues, and to talk to him yourself is to have it confirmed that it ever there was a man sitting on the bench waiting impatiently to get back into the game of politics he so dearly loves, it's George Baby, who at times refers to himself in more ebullient moments.

An acquaintance was cutting up a few old touches with him not long ago when suddenly he cut out, and was off like the Argo backfield star he used to be, with a "stick around, chum, be back in a minute," and came over his shoulder as he charged out the door and down the hall.

"BILINGUAL KID"

A half hour later he was back after fielding 30 minutes of questions off the top of his head in French — "Bilingual, kidde," he trumpets triumphantly — from a University of Montreal law class.

"Great bunch of kids," he enthused, "real great bunch of guys."

Normally, he added, he would assign "one of my own guys" to take these student groups around the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges and give them the drill.

But these University of Montreal students were special.

"If I personally didn't show 'em around, they might say I was just another of those English speaking bosses from Ontario or the West who wasn't interested and wouldn't be bothered.

"Can't afford to have 'em say anything like that, you know. Got to keep 'em sympatico. Let 'em know that here is a guy who cares."

Now who was that talking?

George Hees, president of the two stock exchanges, just doing an extraordinarily good job of public relations?

Or George Hees, politician-taking-time-out, and grudging every minute waiting to get back into the Parliament Hill play?

As he characteristically would say of somebody else: What a guy!

U.S. President Truman formally authorized the Marshall Plan 17 years ago today—in 1948—setting aside $17,000,000,000 over a four-year period for the reconstruction of 17 countries of Western Europe. Its purpose was partly political, since it was hoped economic stability would preserve Greece, France, Italy, and other countries from drifting into the Communist bloc.

Quick Fox Given Help

Stratford Beacon-Herald

"Now Is The Time For All Good Men To Come To The Aid Of The Party."

This was a front page heading in this newspaper yesterday. The phrase is familiar to anyone who uses a typewriter; it is one of the standard test lines for use when first installing to a strange typewriter, or has just cleaned the key - faces or has installed a new ribbon. It was used appositely by our telegraph editor on an advertising item from the Ontario Legislature, reporting that the two opposition parties had carefully called a sudden procedural vote at a recess fi lled with 94 Liberals and New Democrats in their seats, and only 22 or 23 of the government representatives. The government side had to improvise hasty stalling tactics while absent members rushed to the chamber to outnumber the combined opposition.

The little 16 - word sentence is supposed to have the virtue, for typing practice, of using most of the letters of the alphabet, and of requiring the typist's fingers to fly to all corners of the keyboard. In fact, it employs only 18 letters of the 26-letter English alphabet, and is not as useful for its customary purpose as that other familiar saying: "The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog." That latter employs all 26 letters.

A new book of typing instructions provides some fresh practice sentences for people who are weary of wheeling out the news about all good men and the quick brown fox. For example:

Ezelid wax socks baroque with jolly frogman.

Graft kid, forty-three, vows mins quit xylophone job.

Anyone who can count to 28, and has a dictionary handy in case he has forgotten the alphabet, can play the game of inventing still other practice sentences.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

QUESTION: Could you please give me the following information for a regular car driver with an average late model car. What does it cost to operate a car for a full year, including insurance, gas etc? This would be on a mileage of around 10,000 to 12,000 miles a year. Any statistics on this matter would be very much appreciated. — A.M. Trenton.

ANSWER: Cost of operating North America's passenger cars have remained virtually unchanged during the past two years, the American Automobile Association reports.

Mileage costs — gas, oil tires and routine maintenance remain unchanged at 3.7 cents a mile. Fixed costs — depreciation, insurance and registration — are up slightly amounting to $807 per year as against $792 two years ago, the report showed. Much of the increase is accounted for by slightly higher insurance costs, AAA said.

This new edition of AAA's "Your Driving Costs", which is issued every two years, is based upon a 1965 eight cylinder standard car of the lower price class. Following is a breakdown of the various cost elements:

	Average per mile
Variable Costs
Gas and oil	2.58
Maintenance	.82
Tires	.44
	3.70
Fixed Costs	Annually
Fire and Theft Insurance	$31.00
Insurance ($25/50/5M)	126.00
Licence etc.	24.00
Depreciation	626.00
	($2.21 per day)

For a car covering 10,000 miles a year, total costs would average out at 11.8 cents a mile, while a car running up an annual mileage of 20,000 would average 7.7 cents a mile. AAA car costs figures are based upon data supplied by the cost accounting firm of Runzheimer and Co.

The AAA driving costs report also said that vacation expenditures remain unchanged from two years ago. "While en route by passenger car," the report said, "two people can travel comfortably on a budget of $31.00 for necessity spending. This figure is based on 300 miles of daily travel, with the car averaging 15 miles per gallon of gasoline." This budget breaks down as follows: $10.50 for meals and snacks; $11 for lodging; $7 for gas and oil, and $2.50 for tips and miscellaneous.

QUESTION: I understand a tourist can make a tour through the Hershey Chocolate Co plant in Pennsylvania. Can you tell me if this is true and what days this can be done? Miss G. P., Belleville ANSWER: The Hershey Chocolate Corporation offers 40 minute plant tours Monday through Friday, except holidays, 8:15 to 3:30 p.m. Tours are not available Saturday or Sunday, but the visitor centre is open May 30 through the first weekend in October, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturdays and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

QUESTION: We are going to Ste. Anne de Beaupre for a weekend. Could you tell me if the motels and tourist homes are still open and if we can get lower rates because of the off season? Which is the best road to take? Miss G. L., Belleville.

ANSWER: Take No. 401 and No. 2 all the way and for a change of scenery on your return, take No. 3 by crossing over at Quebec City and cross over at Valleyfield or Cornwall to get back to No. 2 and home.

The motels and tourists' homes are indeed still open. As a matter of fact, most of them are open all year round, and at this time, tourist homes have a better rate than the motels. If you are looking for a low priced accommodation, try heated cabins also; there are lots of the on No. 2 highway.

Ann Landers

Comparing Old Days With Today Not Always Fair

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am 11 years old and I didn't think I'd need you for a few years yet but here I am.

My parents are the greatest but they have one corny habit that makes me mad. They keep telling me how easy kids have it today and they get in harping about how tough things were when they were my age. My dad grew up on a farm. He got up at 4:30 in the morning to milk cows and gather eggs and bring in wood.

ANN LANDERS

My mother was a city girl and she said there were days when there wasn't enough food in the house to feed all the kids.

We live in an apartment and they wouldn't let us have cows and chickens up here even if we wanted to. The only wood we need is for the fireplace and a man brings it. There is no point in getting up at 4:30 in the morning because I don't have to be in school until 8:45.

Is it true that things were so much harder in those days? My folks are quite old — like you. How about the truth? — CRACKERS.

* * *

DEAR CRACKERS — Your folks probably grew up during the depression and you can believe them when they say things were tough. Some people had nothing to eat at home so the government and private agencies set up soup kitchens.

It's fine to tell children about those days because it's part of history, but to criticize kids because they have it easy today makes no sense. The products of the depression didn't choose to be poor, it just happened.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I picked at my husband and nagged him until he lost his temper and spoke harshly to me in front of the children. Then I threatened him with a divorce.

The next day I telephoned his mother, his brother and two sisters and gave them all the ugly details. The phone conversations took the better part of the afternoon. After talking to them I became so fed up I had to go to bed.

When my husband came home he called the doctor. The diagnosis was low blood sugar, thyroid trouble and total exhaustion. I was given a special diet, medication and ordered to bed for five days.

Now, 10 days later, I feel like a new person. But I'm so ashamed I telephoned my in-laws that I can't face them. My husband has been an angel. Not once has he mentioned the phone calls although I'm sure they told him.

This letter is not a request for advice. It's a warning to other wives who may be nervous and run-down to keep their troubles inside the home walls and see a doctor. I wish I had. — SORRY NOW.

* * *

DEAR SORRY — You made a mistake but even mistakes can be useful if we learn from them.

Now that you are feeling better call your husband's family and say you hope they will forget about your previous call.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am going with a boy I will call Douglas. We are both 17. Douglas comes from a prominent, well to-do family. His parents don't think I am good enough for him.

The problem is that Douglas' curfew is earlier than mine and his folks get mad at me when he comes home late. Naturally I want to stay out as late as I can and so long as I have permission why shouldn't I? Am I right or wrong? — PICKED ON.

* * *

DEAR PICKED — If you want to help Douglas maintain a peaceful relationship with his parents forget about your curfew and see to it that he gets you home in time to honor his. This will not only make life easier for Douglas, but it will demonstrate to his parents that you are a considerate, responsible girl — and not a trouble-maker. They might even decide you are good enough for their Douglas.

* * *

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Communion Breakfast Held By C.W.L.

St. Joseph's C.W.L. held its annual Communion breakfast in the Parish Hall last Sunday. A good representation of the members, many accompanied by their daughters, were present. The president, Mrs. C. Murphy, proposed a toast to the Queen and introduced the members at the head table.

Invocation of the Blessing before the breakfast was given by Rev. Sister Mary Andrew and the offering of a prayer of thanksgiving by Rev. Sister Mary Noreen closed the breakfast.

Mrs. E. K. Clarke introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Sister Mary Andrew, principal of St. Michael's Academy.

In the course of her talk on the Bible the speaker commented on its preeminence. "God's presence pervades this unique and inexhaustible. In it are revealed those aspects of His being which we are allowed to glimpse. Man can see himself also in it with all his potentialities."

Among the many aspects of the Bible that were mentioned was the fact that the greater part of it was oral teaching, long before it was a written text. Possible dates and the circumstances under which it was committed to writing were cited. Also mentioned were the interesting data regarding the Dead Sea Scrolls and information regarding such well-known early translations of the Bible as the Greek Septuagint and St. Jerome's Latin Vulgate.

From a literary point of view the Bible is superlative. There are the great, gripping, historical narratives such as the Books of Exodus, Kings, Machabees and the Acts of the Apostles. There are the fast-moving short stories such as Judith, Jonas, Esther and Tobias. No purely human poetry has ever been able to rival the sublime inspiration of the Psalms. The marvellous transparent simplicity of the Canticle of Canticles is unsurpassed.

"It would be difficult to find greater lyric poetry, expressing man's deepest anguish than that found in certain passages of the Books of Isaias, Ezechiel, or Jeremias. It is doubtful if the world's greatest visionaries have ever equalled in intensity the vision of the Apocalypse.

We should approach the Bible and read it in a spirit of reverence and love. On opening its pages we might repeat to ourselves God's words to Moses, "This is holy ground." While it is holy it is proof of prayers it contains innumerable lovely simple formulas adapted to the aspirations of the soul.

It is necessary to love the Bible in order to experience before-it a constantly growing sense of wonder. By listening attentively to it, great theme we will understand more fully ourselves and God."

Mrs. B. Hoey thanked Sister Mary Andrew for her inspiring and timely address and presented her with an appropriate gift.

QUESTION:

I am looking for a strictly Italian recipe for "Chicken Cacciatore". I've seen one that calls for wine and is baked in the oven . . . Mrs. Rosie O'C.

ANSWER:

NOTES:

1) Other readers who do not care to add wine should simply leave it out of the following recipe for Chicken Cacciatore and substitute ¼ to ½ cup chicken stock or hot water. 2) It may be cooked on top of stove throughout and usually

CHICKEN CACCIATORE (with noodles — serves 4):

One 3-lb. chicken, cut up into serving pieces, flour for dredging chicken pieces, ¼ cup olive oil (or butter), 1 cup finely chopped green onions, including tops, ½ green pepper, chopped, 1 or 2 cloves garlic, finely chopped, ¼ teaspoon crushed leaf oregano or thyme, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper (preferably freshly ground), ½ cup canned tomatoes (or ¼ cup Italian canned tomato paste plus ½ cup water), ¼ cup red wine (or dry white wine if preferred), ½ to 1 cup sliced mushrooms (optional), about 4 to 5 oz. noodles, boiled and drained.

Dredge chicken pieces in flour. Saute in large frying pan in hot oil (or butter) until golden brown on all sides. Add onions, green pepper, garlic, basil or thyme, salt and pepper and continue gently cooking for 5 minutes.

At this stage you may transfer contents of frying pan to large baking dish. Or continue cooking Chicken Cacciatore on top of stove.

If you bake Chicken Cacciatore add tomatoes or tomato paste and wine and bake, covered at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. Then add wine and mushrooms, if used, cover and continue baking for 15 to 20 minutes longer or until chicken is tender.

If you cook Chicken Cacciatore on top of stove throughout add tomatoes or tomato paste and water and simmer, covered, for 20 minutes, turning chicken pieces once or twice. Then add wine and mushrooms if used, cover and continue simmering for 15 or 20 minutes longer or until chicken pieces are tender.

Arrange cooked and drained hot noodles on serving platter. Arrange chicken pieces on top and pour all sauce left in pan over chicken.

"Religion is a man in the dark ascending the stairs looking for a light that forever moves ahead and Christianity is the light of Jesus coming down the stairs".

Dr. Ashford concluded by reciting a few lines from one of Harry Lauder's famous songs, "Keep right on to the end of the Road".

New York Stands Well Apart As City of Constant Change

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

NEW YORK — You don't write about "the kind of city" New York is, because it isn't.

It doesn't have the homogeneous, changeless qualities of, say, Paris, where you can stand on the Place de la Concorde or Champs Elysees or in a grubby street of the Latin Quarter and say, "Ah, here is the true France." If you stood in Times Square and told yourself this was a microcosm of America, you'd obviously be wrong.

It isn't just that New York changes; traditional Paris, and even London, have changed enormously since the war. But New York changes monumentally. And yet, as the French say, the more it changes, the more it is the same. That's another confounding thing about New York — whatever you say about it, the opposite is also true.

We stood looking down the canyon of steel and glass known as Park Avenue, searching for a familiar facade. At the corner of East 48th Street stands the building housing the offices of the newspaper syndicate which distributes this column. It is the only office building in sight that was standing when our first story was released nearly 13 years ago.

EVERYTHING REPLACED

Boom. Just like that. In a short career span, hundreds of floors—thousands of rooms and offices, and incalculable millions of dollars worth of architecture have been torn down and replaced. And the city never skipped a beat.

Five years ago no one ever heard of Loew's Hotels, Inc. There were just two brothers named Tisch who owned an aging resort in Atlantic City. Five years later they operate more hotels in New York than any other company. Boom. Just like that. Five years.

This is a good place to mention that Loew's Hotels, also operates what is probably the ideal tourist hotel in all New York, something we've been looking for as hard as you have all these years.

It is the neat-but-not-gaudy 800 room Summit at Lexington Avenue and E. 51st Street. Large enough to be efficient and small enough to be personal, its service is in the rare European tradition, it's surprisingly quiet, it is walking distance from many shops and restaurants, and handy to several major subway junctions (the only way to travel in New York). And you can make money on your friends by betting you'll never have to wait more than 15 seconds for an elevator; try it.

O. Henry wrote more than 50 years ago that New York would be a nice city if they ever finished it. Actually, they finished what they were working on in O. Henry's day and started all over again. The elevated railways they were building then were built — and then torn down.

MAY BE GONE!

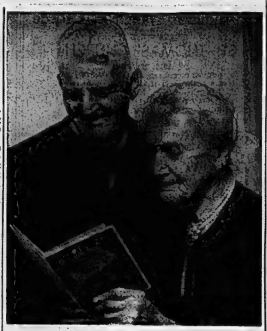
New York is the kind of city where you can make a date to meet a friend for dinner at a favorite haunt of last year, then find out when you get there that it isn't. The whole block may be gone.

Restaurants redecorate regularly as a matter of course. One, the famous Four Seasons, changes four times a year.

New York is the kind of city where you can find a shop called a Caviateria, an art centre selling nothing but African crafts, a store surveying only walking sticks, and where you can rent a poodle.

A man can spend $20 for a haircut at Jerry's, where President Kennedy used to go. But New York is also the biggest bargain centre in America, maybe in the world. With the exception of a few astronomically taxed items like liquor, nearly anything your heart desires is available for as little as, or less than, the bazaars of Arabyor the free ports of Caribee — Japanese transistor radios, cameras, diamonds, watches. You just have to learn where to look.

The Chinese food is as good as — sometimes better than — Singapore or Hong Kong, if not cheaper. The Italian food is as good as in Italy. In fact, the best Italian restaurant in the world, probably, is Mama Leone's on W. 48th Street. Huge as it is, and regardless of reservations, the line waiting for tables often extends into the street; it can take 20 minutes to check de uncheck your coat. Yet the food and service are impossibly perfect, a trick few European restaurants of such size even try to duplicate.



TAXI SHORTAGE

And there is a racket to be dreamed up, someone in New York will think of it. One of the current problems is the taxi shortage, especially in bad weather. Though cabs are required by law to take you wherever you want to. Sometimes they won't unlock their doors unless you tell them you're going to Kennedy Airport.

By some built-in radar, they can calculate where you may be going, and if they don't like it, they won't even stop for you. If you manage to force your way in, they'll abandon the cab and leave you in the middle of nowhere.

Cheerfully filling the transportation gap these days are the chauffeurs of private limousines. When he boss is away, they'll haunt the theatre district and other likely places at cab shortage time and offer to take you where you want to go for whatever the traffic will bear.

A travel story on every street . . . an atmosphere as ephemeral as the unexplained steam forever emanating from the manhole covers . . . that's the kind of city New York is.

60th Wedding Anniversary For Mr., Mrs. Wm. McLaren

Mr. and Mrs. William McLaren, R.R. 1 Shannonville, were "at home" this afternoon at the Melrose township hall where they were greeted on their 60th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married on April 5th, back in 1905 at the bride's home in the third concession of Tyendinaga township, following which they took a wedding trip to their farm on the next concession where they still make their home.

Mrs. McLaren is the former Elizabeth McFarlane. The bridegroom of 60 years ago is 86 while Mrs. McLaren is a few months his senior.

"But we are the same age for a few months of the year," Mrs. McLaren says.

Recently returned home after spending the winter with their son in Rochester, Mr. McLaren says living in the city is "all right for a while but then you get tired of it."

For the past number of years Mr. and Mrs. McLaren have lived retired on their Tyendinaga farm, worked by a neighbor.

For the past week anniversary congratulations have been arriving in the mail, including messages from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and local federal member, Robert Temple. Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, today ordered his personal congratulations.

A former reeve of his township council, and one-time president of the Melrose Cheese Factory, Mr. McLaren still takes an interest in local affairs.

The couple have two sons, Jim of Rochester, and Don of Corbyville, and one daughter, Mrs. Carman (Maude) Milligan, Belleville.

There are 15 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The Holmes family got rid of tepid showers, staggered bath days and cold water wash days when they installed the Cascade 40 electric water heater. You can too.

"CASCADE 40 SOLVED ALL OUR HOT WATER PROBLEMS"

Mr. & Mrs. Woodrow Holmes of Winchester, Ontario, say this about the Cascade 40 superfast electric water heater:

"We used to have problems with our old water heater. When I wanted to take a bath, the water just wasn't as hot as it should have been. Cascade 40 solved that problem. It's giving us great satisfaction."

"I do a big washing at least once a week. With our old water heater I never had enough hot water left on washdays to do the dinner dishes. Now, with Cascade 40, I can do everything in one day."

Cascade 40 is flameless, safe, clean. No flue is needed so it can be located in any convenient place in your home. There is a ten year guarantee on the tank.

Have an approved Cascade 40 electric water heater installed in your home.

any compromise toward the North Vietnamese.

"I simply suggest that a measured pause in one field of military action at the right time might facilitate development of diplomatic resources, which cannot easily be applied to the problem under existing circumstances."

But Pearson hinted that Canada may not automatically support future U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

HAVE GIVEN SUPPORT

Declaring that the majority of Canadians have wholeheartedly supported U.S. policy there in the past, he said:

"We wish to be able to continue that support."

The prime minister said this appears to be idealistic "but perhaps if we take refuge in this idealism, it might be the most realistic policy we can follow."

Several times during his speech, he said his suggested pause in the bombing might not be a permanent decision. In fact, it might be necessary to increase air blows in the future.

One thing is certain: Without a settlement guaranteeing the independence, neutrality and territorial integrity of North Viet Nam's neighbors in Southeast Asia and without a willingness by all parties to respect and protect these, a continuing of the present fear and instability will be inescapable."

He proposed also that the United Nations enlarge its Mekong River project for economic and social improvement in Southeast Asia.

PEACE IS POSSIBLE

He said with this "great international development project, with a cease-fire followed by political negotiations, with the countries in the area given an international guarantee of neutrality and assurance of aid for their development, then the danger, the destruction and distress of the present hour might be replaced with peace, hope and progress."

Pearson proposed that the UN enlarge the Mekong project "in a spectacular way, even while the political and military conflict is going on" and that it call a conference for this purpose, "of the states concerned—whatever their political relations—including both Viet Nam governments."

He further proposed that Secretary-General U Thant visit "the countries in question without delay to prepare this conference.

Noting that the Mekong River basin embraces "most of Indo-China, as well as Thailand and a part of southern China," Pearson pointed out that China, not being a member of the UN, could not participate in a UN conference.

To circumvent this problem Pearson said "a special development agency could be set up by the conference to extend, and enlarge, and deepen, and broaden the work now being done."

A Lift for Living

God Turns Driftwood of Life Into Bright, Shining Things

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

A table lamp for which I have a special fondness stands in my study. It was given to me as a token of friendship by a ten-year old boy who suffered from a mortal illness. One night near the end of his troubles, while I stood at his bedside, he whispered secret instructions to his grandfather, and grandfather went to a back room, returned with a lovely lamp, placed it in my hands and said, "Woody wants you to have this." A few days after I received the gift, Woody died.

Nearly five years have passed since I spent that evening at the dying boy's side. The lamp still stands near my desk, treasured because it is a magnificent memorandum of two things. First, the lamp reminds me of Woody, a dear boy, unspoiled, although he was the only child of his parents and the last male descendant on both sides of his family. He was a lad of rare tenderness and thoughtfulness, unusually appreciative and uncommonly courageous. Even while in extreme pain, he thought of others. When I see that lamp, I remember Woody's unselfish good nature.

Secondly, the lamp with the driftwood base is a reminder of one of the basic truths of the Christian faith: every castoff, discarded thing has possibilities beyond our wildest imagination. Woody and his grandfather had found this piece of grayish-brown driftwood while strolling along the beach of one of America's largest inland lakes, Lake Michigan. It was of little use the way it was. But they took it home to the grandfather's workshop where it was fashioned into an attractive lamp base, then wired. They made a shade for it, and finally Woody gave it to his friend. It stands near me now as a steady reminder that some of the loveliest and most useful things in life are created from discards and forsaken things. Some of the best things are made from driftwood found along the shore.

SYMBOL OF SALVATION

So the lamp is a symbol of salvation, one of the chief functions of the Christian faith. "Salvation" is an old-fashioned religious word that should never have lost its currency and its exciting spiritual meaning. "Salvation" comes from the same root as the word "salvage," meaning that which is rescued from wreckage, fire or trash-heap. The word evokes memories of driftwood saved from the ravages of sand, water and insects on the lake shore or sea beach, of ships and their cargoes being rescued after a disabling storm, of homes and its furniture being restored after a fire, of works of art that have arisen from discarded materials.

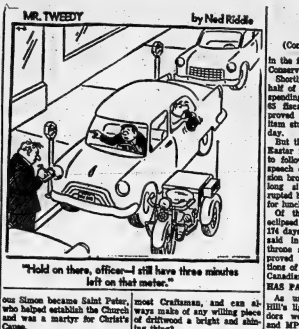
Michelangelo, perhaps the supreme artist of the Italian Renaissance, onetime salvaged a huge block of marble that Donatello had rejected because it was imperfect. From it he carved the noble and majestic "David," a masterpiece of sinewy with a grandeur seldom excelled in the history of the fine arts.

Belief in salvaging, or salvation, is elemental in Christian faith. Read through the Gospels and see what you find. Christ's first response to those people who were thought by society to be of little worth. While some saw the outcasts just as they were, Jesus looked them over, and looked them through and through, and gauged them in terms of what they could become, by God's grace.

SELECT FEW

Thus, a castoff, driftwood-like woman of unsavory character and reputation became one of the select few who remained faithfully near to him at his crucifixion, and visited his tomb on the first Easter morning.

Matthew, a slightly crooked tax gatherer, became a disciple, and the changeable, temperamental Simon became Saint Peter, who helped establish the Church and was a martyr for Christ's Cause.



When Jesus found people, they were often what the world would call "good-for-nothings," but after he had reclaimed them, they became useful to God and man. They were salvaged, reclaimed into something of greater worth than they could ever have become by their own efforts alone.

Wouldn't we all live happier, more useful lives if we developed and maintained Christ's holy habit of seeing people not only as they are, but what they can become with God's help?

And wouldn't we all be spared utter discouragement with ourselves and despondency over our worth, if we would keep in mind that Christ is the world's foremost Craftsman, and can always make of any wilting piece of driftwood a bright and shining thing?

PLAN PAPER SUBSIDY

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A proposal to subsidize Swedish newspapers by $5,000,000 a year was submitted Friday by a government committee. The social Democratic Party, with a majority in Parliament, plans to enact the subsidy later this year. Several papers supporting this party, including Stockholm Tidningen, have been losing money. These papers have 25 per cent of the total circulation.

"Hold on there, officer—I still have three minutes left on that meter."

in the far north by the former Conservative government.

Shortly before midnight only half of the $345,391,081 in final spending estimates for the 1964-65 fiscal year had been approved in a laborious Ham-by-Ham study begun late Thursday.

But the prospect of a 10-day Easter recess that is expected to follow the eight-day throne speech debate of the new session brought agreement by a long filibuster that was interrupted by four 30-minute breaks for lunch and dinner.

Of the session — which eclipsed the previous record of 174 days in 1960-61—the cabinet said in the session - ending throne speech that it had approved many government actions of "great significance for Canadians."

HAS PARTY ATMOSPHERE

As usual when Parliament Hill's lights burn late, corridors were filled with smoke and MPs' sitting rooms near the Commons took on a party-like atmosphere.

There was no traditional session - ending party in Speaker Alan Macnaughton's office this year because of the late hour and because the new session is to start Monday.

As 30 to 60 of the Commons' 265 members carried on the final debate, the 68 - year - old chief Justice trained 344 hours in an office on Parliament Hill for the prorogation ceremony. Thirty senators — double the required quorum—stock it out.

The chief justice gave Royal assent to several bills, including the Canada Pension Plan, the opting - out legislation and the final appropriations.

FINED IN SHOOTING

SUDBURY (CP) — Llewellyn Degner, 41, of Brantford was fined $300 Friday for carelessness in connection with the Oct. 6 fatal shooting of 34-year-old Bill Cooper of Copper Cliff, Ont. Depew told the court he thought he had shot at a moose calf 500 feet away.

When Generalissimo Punch Imlach orders his cavalry to charge he should insert, at least, some part of his tongue in his cheek.

Leaflan trooper Kent Douglas may have taken the general too literally, and as a result is up to his keps in trouble.

Trooper Douglas drew his trusty sabre and engaged Private Dave Balon of the Montreal infantry in a slashing duel which was won by Douglas by a knockout.

That dent you see in the Douglas wallet is where $100 used to reopose. That amount is the tab for breaking the National Hockey League "deliberate attempt to injure" ruling.

And that may not be all.

Mr. Douglas has a date with Clarence Campbell, Grand Vizier of the National League for a private session and if Mr. Campbell is in a generous mood, Douglas may have more punishment tacked to his tail.

Imlach bleated about "getting jobbed. Everyone in the building was against us. You cannot expect to win with this."

What did he expect? Over 14,000 roaring Canadiens' fans to turn against their beloved Habs and root for the upstarts from Toronto?

Neutral observers gave the Canadiens a big edge in a game that was freckled with penalties, arguments, pushing and shoving and yowling.

And it could be the thin edge of a wedge that will crack wide open a reistering set of ducts before one team or the other enters the finals.

In direct contrast was the thriller in Detroit where the Wings, keeping pace with the form that carried them to the National League championship slipped past a Hawks' team that definitely gave proof they have emerged from the doldrums and may cause a lot of trouble before the set is over.

And boosting their stock and upping the hopes of Chicago fans was the return to form of Bobby Hull, jinxed by knee injuries that robbed him of at least three records.

Hull scored one goal and assisted on two others, but even at that he said "Things didn't go exactly the way I wanted—but I'm pleased the way my knee stood up."

I do not buy the taunt of anti-Hawks' fans who claim "As goes Hull, so go the Hawks." Admittedly his injuries and subsequent slump may have had some effect on the club as a whole but there is no doubt that his return to playing form will help boost the club's morale.

If they should, perchance, reach the form that saw them perched atop the league in the early part of the season, big gobs of trouble could loom for the Red Wings. For both these "bird" teams fly high when they soom.

While the columnar heart is with the Black Hawks the meagre contents of the family exchequer goes on the Red Wings to take it all. Anybody change a dollar?

And in reply to those who differ with this column's opinion that the National League champions are the best club in the league, I'll repeat the statement.

The club that tops the field at the end of a gruelling 70-game schedule are champions in the true sense of the word. A fourth-place club can get hot overnight, so to speak, and go on to win the Stanley Cup and the accompanying loot, in a gold-grabbing short series.

As far as championship calibre goes, they are still where they finished, a fourth-place club.

Habs, Leafs Brass Get In The Act

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs keeps repeating: "We're going to beat them . . . we're going to win Saturday."

Just the same, Montreal Canadiens remain 8-to-5 favorites to win the second game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series in Montreal tonight.

Although the odds could drop by game time, the Habs are favored to repeat their initial performance of Thursday night, when they downed the Leafs 3-2 in a game that featured more mayhem than hockey.

The consensus in Canadiens circles is that the Habs will come out on top on the strength of their superior skating.

Coach Toe Blake of Canadiens said Friday he is "not worried if the Leafs will settle down and play hockey.

"There's no reason we can't win—we can outskate them," Blake said.

However, Imlach has other ideas on the subject.

"We're not playing European rules in this series," he said.

The Toronto coach was vehement in declaring "we'll hit them every chance we get."

MADE 'MISTAKE'

Blake in turn pointed out the Leafs got their two goals Thursday "when we made the mistake of standing around doing nothing.

"We must keep skating to beat them and no matter how rough they play I think we can because we have more good skaters than they have," Blake said.

One Leaf who came in for substantial praise from Imlach was ex-Canadien winger Dickie Moore.

Moore, who still holds the NHL record for the most points scored in a single season—96—"deserves a lot of credit," Imlach said.

"It looks like he (Moore) finally came around and if he can get his confidence back, he'll be one hell of a hockey player next year."

Moore, who sat out a year before being drafted by the Leafs this year, potted the Leafs opening goal in Thursday night's contest.

Canadiens' main adversary, Kent Douglas, the rugged defenceman who was banished after he felled Habs' Dave Balon with a swipe of his stick, will be allowed to play unless NHL president Clarence Campbell decides on further action.

Douglas was thrown out of the game and was hit with a $100 fine for his lumberjack antics.

Terry Harper, Canadiens defenceman who was cut for six stitches and suffered a slight concussion as the result of a collision with big Frank Mahovlich, practised Friday and declared himself set for Saturday's return bout.

Leafs Bob Pulford also practised but was still an uncertain starter. His groin injury still hampered his movement at top speed and Imlach said no decision will be made prior to game time.

Both coaches said Friday that they will go with the same setminders — Johnny Bower for Leafs and Charlie Hodge for Canadiens.

Canadiens will remain in their Laurentian mountain hideout until gametime while Leafs remain at a downtown Montreal hotel.

On the front-office front, Canadiens president David Molson Friday unleashed an assault on the Toronto management charging that Toronto players had instructions from their management to "do as much damage as possible."

British Racing Goes On

LONDON (AP)—Two prominent horse trainers suggested Friday that racing in England be halted until the coughing epidemic that has ravaged British racing stables has run its course.

Ramsgeyer, The Jockey Club, ruling body of the sport in Britain, said racing would continue.

Racing officials estimated that more than 1,000 horses have been afflicted by the cough — a type of equine influenza that spreads as rapidly as the human type of flu.

Only 46 horses were entered for Friday's races at Cheltenham, where trainers suspected.

Fred Armstrong, a Newmarket trainer with 70 horses, said only 10 are well enough to exercise. He said the three - day Newmarket meeting next week should be called off because "it is the only way of stamping out the epidemic."

Noel Murless, trainer for the Queen at Newmarket, suggested that "racing be stopped until the flu epidemic has eased."

"Bettors are laying off," one bookie said, "because they are undecided about the condition of the horses."

After Tavern Brawl

Maris Faces Charge Of Assault

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Outfielder Roger Maris of New York Yankees faced an assault and battery charge Friday as a result of a tavern ruckus in which he is accused of belting a patron. Maris denied it.

"I didn't do it," the $72,000-a-year home run record holder insisted after posting $200 bond. He will appear in court Tuesday.

Maris' denial was backed up by Yankee manager Johnny Keane as well as two teammates — third baseman Clete Boyer and relief pitcher Hal Reniff — who were reported to be with the outfielder when the incident occurred early Thursday morning.

"I don't believe Maris did it," Keane said. "This is definitely a false charge."

The charge was brought by Jerome Modzelewski, 25, described as a professional model who divides his time between Chicago and Fort Lauderdale. Modzelewski gave this account of the altercation: He and a girl friend, Angela Dellavedora of Sudbury, were leaving the tavern when a patron swore at him.

DEMANDS APOLOGY

Modzelewski took the girl outside and then returned to the bar to demand an apology.

When he did, he saw four men sitting at a table, one of ing base at Vero Beach, Fla., on Thursday.

This is the third time in the last four years that Koufax has been sidelined, and the second time this same elbow has been the trouble spot.

Koufax injured the elbow last August in a slide play at St. Louis. He missed the rest of the season, as well as a chance to register 25 victories for the second consecutive season.

In 1962, a circulatory ailment of the index finger of his throwing hand developed in mid-July, wrecking Sandy's season.

Maris acknowledged there was a disturbance and that Modzelewski was hit.

"I saw a fight coming up and I tried to be a peacemaker," the outfielder said. "The guy — Modzelewski—was looking for trouble. He kept coming back.

"He was beat up, all right, but I had no part of it."

SEEK TO BUILD

CALGARY (CP) — Plans to build $1,000,000 in skiing facilities in the Mount Temple area near Lake Louise, about 100 miles northwest of Calgary, have been announced by Alberta Ski Lift Limited. Jack Pierce, company president, said Thursday a brief has been sent to the federal department of northern affairs and natural resources seeking permission to build the facilities.

Koufax Return Unknown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Injury - plagued Sandy Koufax was back on the disabled roll Friday and there was no way to tell when the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching star would be ready to return to action.

Koufax's chances of pitching the opening game against the Mets in New York April 12 appear dim.

"Sandy will remain here three to four days," Dr. Kerlan said.

"It is too early to tell what the results of the treatment will be, and it is also too early to tell when he will pitch again."

Need Win Sunday Says Wings' Abel

That Chicago Ice

By JERRY GLADMAN

DETROIT (CP)—Detroit Red Wings spent another day pitching wherever at the race track on Friday and coach Sid Abel hopes they paid particular attention to the dangers of faltering in the final furlong.

Abel, the sports of playoff relaxation, expressed concern Friday that his National Hockey League champions may have relaxed a little too much before the opening game of the Stanley Cup semi-finals against Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

"We were only on the ice once since Sunday and four days is just a little too long to go without playing a game," he said. "You worry that they'll lose their edge."

The Wings pulled out the corner of the best-of-seven series 4-3, coming from behind twice after blowing an early lead. And Abel hadly wants another victory Sunday night before the scene shifts to Chicago Stadium, a ruin on which the club is far from happy.

"It's not that we play badly in Chicago," he said. "We just have bad luck."

HAVE BEEN ROMPERS

Chicago and Detroit have been notorious romers against each other for the last two years, with the Wings picking up only four points in their last 14 visits to the Stadium in regular-season games while the Hawks earned only five at Olympia.

In the Chicago camp, coach Billy Reay deplored a remark attributed to Abel before Thursday night's game that the Wings would be out to "test" Bobby Hull to see whether "that knee would stand up."

"You don't play this game with the idea of deliberately eliminating a player," said Reay. "Players get hurt. That's part of the game. But you don't set out to 'get' a man."

Hull scored one Chicago goal and set up the other two Thursday night.

In the regular season, he had 39 goals in 48 games until he suffered the first of a series of knee injuries last February and managed only one more goal over the rest of the schedule.

But even Hull's heroics may not be enough in the series. Hawks need a standout performance from Stan Mikita, the NHL scoring leader, whose recent playoff performances have been less than sensational.

Four years ago the Hawks won the Stanley Cup with Mikita setting Cup records for assists and total points. In the next two years he was ineffective and Chicago didn't get past the semi-finals.

The Hawks weren't entirely happy about the officiating in Thursday's series opener, particularly a booking penalty to right-winger Eric Nesterenko and a roughing minor against Detroit centre Norm Ullman, which they felt shouldn't have been five minutes.

Shortly after Nesterenko was thumbed off, Detroit captain Alex Delvecchio scored the goal that made it 3-3.

The Hawks protested when Ullman and Hull both received two minutes for a high-sticking exchange from which the Golden Jet emerged with two cuts on his lip. They felt Ullman should have had a major for drawing blood.

To make matters worse, Ullman beat Hull out of the box when their time expired and arrived in the Chicago zone just in time to score the winning goal.

Shriners Tourney Under Way

Bowmanville pulled out a narrow 3-2 victory over Belleville in the opening game of the day-long Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament this morning.

Bowmanville earned a first period 2-0 lead but the city youngsters came back with one in each of the second and third frames.

The visitors scored the winner late in the final period.

A. Wilson and T. Meagher with Venutti and Wilson assisting, accounted for Belleville goals.

Kingston met Oshawa at 9.30; Lindsay took on Ajax at 10.30 and Peterborough clashed with Cascaraqua at 11.30.

The "B" semi-finals (losers of first games) play at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m., while the "A" semi-finals get under way at 4 and 5 p.m.

The "B" final will start at 6 p.m. with the winners taking the Shrine Trophy. The "A" final which will decide the tournament championships start at 7.30. Winners will receive the Harry Rollins trophy.

A special feature will be the CKR Oldtimers playing the BMHA Coaches, which starts at 8.30.

"Red" Storey, well known N.H.L. referee and football star will officiated at the finals peewee game and the feature attraction.

All proceeds will be devoted to the Shrine Club Crippled Children's Fund.

SET APPEAL START

TORONTO (CP) — A spokesman for the Canadian Churchill Memorial Awards said Friday the appeal will begin in Canada May 4 and continue through Nov. 30, birthday of the late Sir Winston Churchill.

Trenton Ousts Orillia

TRENTON (Special) — A last-minute breakaway goal gave Trenton Juveniles a 5-4 victory over Orillia and the right to enter the OMHA Juvenile "A" Minor finals last night.

Playing brilliant "comeback" hockey the Trenton youngsters overcame a first-period 3-0 margin to win the best-of-five series 3-2. They now meet the winners of the Post Colborne-Leamington semi-finals for the OMHA championship.

Jim Bonn and Al Ferguson were the heroes of the battle.

With the score tied 4-4 and the teams a man short, Bonn staged a brilliant ice-length rush. Near the goal he slipped a perfect pass to Ferguson who promptly sank the puck for the winner. The clock registered seconds to go.

The game played in Orillia saw the homesters rack up a three-goal lead in the first period.

Trenton roared back in the second frame to fire home three goals, but Orillia grabbed a 4-3 lead with their lone score of the frame.

The third period saw a slip-and-tuck battle with Trenton firing the tying marker with three minutes to go.

Their chances sagged with a late period penalty. Then came Bonn's brilliant effort topped by the Ferguson score and that was that.

No other scoring details were available at the time of going to press.

Boys In Mid-Season Form

The Years Change But Not The Pattern

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

They can close down baseball's pre-training camps anytime now. The boys are in mid-season form.

Willie Mays is hitting home runs. Sandy Koufax has a sore elbow. New York Mets are losing and New York Yankees are having night-club trouble.

In a sudden outbreak of night clubbing, St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Mets 4-3, Sammy Ellis threw a two-hitter in Cincinnati Reds' 4-0 whitewash of Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia Phillies edged Milwaukee Braves 3-2, Houston Astros bombed Minnesota Twins 10-2 and Baltimore Orioles shaded the Yankees 4-3.

The White Sox B team whipped Kansas City Athletics 11-4, Detroit Tigers downed Washington Senators 10-1, San Francisco Giants beat Cleveland Indians 6-4, Pittsburgh Pirates took Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2 and Boston Red Sox nipped Chicago Cubs 5-4.

Koufax, the Dodgers' ace lefthander, is being treated in Los Angeles hospital and there's no word on when he may be able to work again.

FIRST SECOND HOMER

If the Yankees' Roger Maris is worried about his night club show, it wasn't apparent on the field. Maris rapped his second homer of the spring in the Yankees loss to Baltimore.

Maris is scheduled to appear in court Tuesday to answer charges of assaulting a male model in a Thursday night tavern encounter. Maris and three companions deny he had anything to do with it, and Yankee brass, who put up the $200 bond, have no disciplinary action is planned.

Mays was the big gun, however, rapping out two homers, one a 500-footer and another well over 400-feet, and driving home Giant runs against Cleveland.

Don Demeter had a pair of two-run homers, Dick McAuliffe had another with two on and Al Kaline still another with one on in Detroit's attack.

Ellis allowed only a single and a triple, striking out five and facing only 28 batters. A three-run homer by Deron Johnson and a solo shot by Tommy Harper accounted for all the Cincinnati runs.

Jo Belinsky struck out eight, but allowed seven hits in six innings for the Phillies and had to work out of several jams in beating Milwaukee.

Houston battered Minnesota pitching for 13 hits, including three by Al Spangler; a three-run homer by Gene Freese did the job for Pittsburgh against the Dodgers and Tony Conigliaro's sixth homer of the spring sparked Boston past the Cubs.

Win Northern Junior Opener

SUDBURY (CP)—Despite a standout performance by Guy Levesque, who scored all four goals for the losers, Garson-Falconbridge Native Sons defeated Kapuskasing Maroons 7-4 Friday night in the opening game of the Northern Hockey Association Junior A finals.

Native Sons, who emerged from fourth place to capture the southern division title, led all the way after taking a 1-0 lead over the northern champions in the first period.

Frank Hamill and Bob Delapapa scored two goals apiece for the winners, whose other markers came from Doug Kacarevitch, Don Lewis and Germain Ruel.

The teams meet again here Sunday and will play the remainder of the series in Kapuskasing.

Successful Living

Worthwhile Recipes Are Always Worth Waiting For

DEAR DORIS — I began writing out the recipes you asked for only to realize that they were mostly dibs of this and dabs of that. So I have been making a supreme effort to measure everything and time everything as I make the meals.

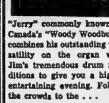
I really am sorry that I boosted before I realized how long it would take me to accomplish what I had set out to do — but I really am not extravagant enough to make more than one supper dish even for "praise from Doris Clark and every last one of her readers." So I guess everyone will just have to wait a bit.

Thank you for the boost to my morale as I certainly am enjoying writing the recipes out if they are going to help even one person. — HAPPY WITH HAMBURG.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR HAPPY — Good for you. We've had dozens of requests for your recipes. I'm sure other homemakers will be glad to wait for them.

* * *



DEAR DORIS — You see my family is very dear to me yet the thing I have wanted for years they cannot or will not buy. We are not rich yet not really poor.

The thing I want is a horse! I am 14, and a very good rider for three of my girl friends are owners of horses. I live where I have adequate surroundings for one. And as my friends, including my boy friends, enjoy riding, what shall I do? — SICK.

(Is it better to put up with misunderstandings, or to begin talking things over? Let Doris help you see the light.)

AT THE BELLE — Monday — Maximilian Schell isn't exactly showing devotion to Melina Mercouri in this scene from "Topkapi". He is impressing the importance of timing in a plan for a jewel robbery they've concocted. Amanda Blake Loses Bet, Gunsmoke to Be Renewed

AT THE PARK — Vincent Price stars with Elizabeth Shepherd in the new English beauty in the new Sir Thriller "Cry Of Livia" in Technicolor, said to be the best of the series. The thriller opens Monday at the Park Theatre for a three day engagement. On the same program for more excitement and fun is Color Nightmare in "The Sun" with Ursula Andress, John Derek, Aldo Ray and Arthur O'Connell. Complete shows are at 7.00 and 8.45 p.m.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Amanda Blake lost another case of bourbon. Gunsmoke will be back next season.

This makes the third year running that the carrot-haired Kitty of Gunsmoke has bet a set worker the television series won't be renewed.

She declared her rashness: "It just isn't logical for a series to keep going on and on like this. I'm bound to win one of these years."

As a 10-year veteran of the series and as a bride with homes in three states, she is understandably weary of the rigors of putting out the hour-long film.

"This year we end this season's shows on April 6 and start next season's on April 7," she remarked.

SHE'S LOYAL

Amanda retains a fiercely loyal attitude toward the show, and she has her own ideas about how it should run. She does not approve of the introduction this season of guest stars like Jean Arthur and Betty Hutton.

"The people who tune in Gunsmoke aren't interested in guest stars," she reasoned. "They're not even interested in Jim Arness, Amanda Blake, Milburn Stone or Ken Curtis. They want to know what is happening to Matt, Kitty, Doc and Festus."

On another matter she has mixed feelings. Recently she did a show in which Kitty believes Matt dead. When she finds out he is alive, she gives him a clinch more passionate than they have ever known on the show.

"I've only been kissed three times on Gunsmoke in 10 years," she commented, "and never by Matt. That scene was a chaser of emotion that really got to me and I think it will startle the viewers. But it was uncomfortable doing it, mostly because I know Jim doesn't like to do those scenes."

Another case of bourbon bet on the season?

"Yes, indeed," she said slyly. "This time I'm pretty confident. You see, a couple of people named Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone come up for contract renewal next season, and that pair is going to want so much money that CBS will think twice about continuing the show."

Canadians Score Two Upsets

EDMONTON (CP)—Two upset victories by Canadians in open events and a strong assault by Calgarians in all junior events featured 16 hours of gruelling competition Friday in the C a n a d i a n badminton championships as play reached the semi-finals.

Dorothy Thistle of Toronto and Wayne Macdonnell of Vancouver provided the open upsets with Linda Paulson, 16, and Sherri Boyse, 15, led the Calgarians in the junior.

The finals in all open and junior events will be played today.

Macdonnell scored a straight-set triumph over Robert McColg of London, top singles player in the British Isles. The 25 - year - old Canadian close singles champion kept the Scottish - born McColg on the run throughout to score a 15-11, 17-15 victory.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 23): Minor obstacle easily hurdled. You have necessary assets. Get moving! Stop neglecting creative efforts. Time to begin exciting project — or meet vital individual.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Lunar position favors special attention to career, business affairs. Seek cooperation of one in authority. Be a good listener. Absorb knowledge. Then handle tasks with dignity.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Chances for success enhanced. Take initiative. Plan for publishing, advertising — working with children. Apply basic principles to regular activities. Many look to you as example.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Lunar position emphasizes financial transactions. Partner or mate may have opportunity to make important move. Know this — offer encouragement. Hunch later pays off.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You are in charge. Obtain hint from today's Scorpio message. Be aware of needs of loved one. Cheerful attitude on part of your partner works. Know this — and smile!

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Check details. Obtain hint from today's Cancer message. Knowledge is there . . . if you will look. Don't be envious of fellow worker. Instead, be thorough and do your own job.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Spotlight is on constructive changes. Don't be satisfied with status quo. Recognize need for creative endeavors. Pounce on opportunities. Be aggressively alert.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Your own home can be excellent showcase. Be proud of possessions, family, abilities. Domestic harmony stressed. You gain much if you make concessions. Practice Golden Rule.

If today is your birthday . . . you are dynamic individual, highly creative — and would make excellent writer.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Gemini, Cancer. Special word to Capricorn: Come close to you receives honor. Be first to offer congratulations.

One Goal In 135 Minutes

Plante, Clipper Spark Plug

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jacques Plante, still hollering, scrambling and blocking shots, led Baltimore Clippers within one game of a first-round sweep in the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs.
The veteran goalie has been sensational in the first two games of the best-of-five series against Hershey Bears, allowing only one goal in 135 minutes of play.
Plante stopped the Bears 2-1 in overtime Wednesday, and then turned on the whitewash Friday night in a 2-0 decision. The third game will be played tonight in Hershey.
The 38 - year - old former National Hockey League star gives the local fans the shakes when he roams out of the nets to check an opponent or direct a loose puck out of danger. But, he always seems to be in control.
"He moves around a lot, but he controls the puck well," said Baltimore coach Johnny Crawford. "He knows how to handle the stick.
HOLLERS MORE
"He's more hollering than any goalie I ever saw, and the players like it. Over a period of years, Jacques has been one of the best goalies around."
Plante is the only man ever to have won the Vezina Trophy as the NHL's top goalie six times. He won it five times in a row.
But a Stanley Cup playoff in the NHL is no more important to Plante than the Calder Cup series in the AHL.
"The shots may be a little different," Plante said after blocking Hershey "but the pressure is the same. I still get butterflies before the game. When you lose that, it's time to get out of the game. That means you don't want to win."
Plante played 17 games for Baltimore earlier in the season after being sent down by New York Rangers to nurse an injured right knee. He returned a couple of weeks ago.
The knee still gives Plante trouble, and he soaked it in hot water before Friday's game "to loosen it up."

Earl Scores Five Goals

Kingston Ousts Shawville

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP) — Ron Earl fired five goals Friday night to lead Kingston Aces to a 9-5 senior hockey playoff victory over Shawville Pontiacs and win their best-of-seven series 4-1.
The St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League champions now meet the winners of the New Glasgow - Sherbrooke series in an Allan Cup quarter - final. Sherbrooke defeated New Glasgow 12-4 Friday night to take a 2-1 lead in that best-of-five series.
Garfield Ball, Bob Rawson, Fred Curran and Dave Jones added one goal each to Earl's output as the Aces took a 6-5 lead in the second period and added three more goals in the final stanza.
Earl Powell led Shawville, champions of the Algonquin Senior Hockey League, with two goals, while Glen Richardson, Barry Murray and Royce Richardson had one each.
A capacity crowd estimated at 1,400 hoped to see the Pontiacs regain the form that earned them a 4-3 victory in the opener of the series. But the powerful Kingston club came through to win its fourth straight game.
There were 14 penalties called, eight to Shawville. Wally Travis of Kingston and Carson Ryan of Shawville drew the only majors.

Quebec NHL Entry

This Is It, Mr. Mayor!

QUEBEC (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, has advised Mayor Wilfrid Hamel that a prime requisite for successful operation of an NHL team here "would be that your public would be prepared to support the team by purchasing tickets of not less than $1,000,000 net of taxes for each season."
The Campbell letter, made public Friday by Mr. Hamel, was in reply to one sent by the mayor expressing Quebec City interest in proposed NHL expansion.
Campbell said $1,000,000 return "would be barely adequate to cover the expenses to break even under current standards."
Campbell said the body seeking the franchise would have to have sufficient control of the building in which their club played "to ensure acceptable scheduling for a period of not less than 15 years."

Whip Collingwood 7-4

Athletics Take Opener

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (CP)—Gino Leggio scored three goals to pace Woodstock Athletics to a 7-4 win over Collingwood Ship Builders in the first game of their eastern Ontario Allan Cup semi - final series here Friday night.
The next game of the best-of-seven series is scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Woodstock. Jack McIntyre scored two

Americans Clobber Aces 5-1

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS
A year ago, Jim Pappin was scoring goals for Toronto Maple Leafs on their way to the Stanley Cup. And Jacques Plante, though no longer a Stanley Cup hero, was still bootleg them out for New York Rangers in the National Hockey League.
Both were demoted to the American Hockey League in mid-season but, they're proving themselves just as deadly playoff campaigners when the name of the cup at stake is Calder rather than Stanley.
Pappin's two goals within 13 seconds in the first period Americans thrashed Quebec Aces 5-1 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final.
And Plante, who helped win six Stanley Cups for Montreal Canadiens during his NHL career, made 28 stops as Baltimore Clippers blanked Hershey Bears 2-0 for their second straight victory in a best-of-five quarter-final.
Pappin also set up a goal by Larry Hillman, another of last year's victorious Leafs, and received assists on both his counters from Billy Harris, a third member of the 1964 Stanley Cup champions, as the Americans treated a crowd of 8,012 — their largest in nine years in the AHL — to an impressive display.
Les Duff opened the scoring for Rochester on a power play and Pappin followed with his two goals before the Aces got their first shot on goal.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Wife's Pantry Sacred Ground Where No Man Should Tread

By THOMAS COLLINS

TO: All Men About To Retire
FROM: A Retired Man
SUBJECT: Your Wife's Pantry

The purpose of this message is (1) to notify you that the most urgent job you will see when you come home with your pension will be to bring order to the chaos in your wife's pantry, and (2) to warn you to forget it.

You will find in this strange, womanly abode which all these years has given you room and board that nothing is crying so loudly for your organized mind than the shelves where your wife stacks — or dumps — the food. The handling of trash and garbage, the cobwebs, the method of sweeping and bed-making — all these will catch your attention. But not with the impact of the miserable pantry.

You will approach the pantry job with one of several organizational charts in mind. One may be to place all cans and boxes of the same size on the same shelf. One may be to place canned goods on Shelf A., packaged foods on Shelf B, and bottled goods on Shelf C. A third may be to place all meats on one shelf, all vegetables on another,

IT WON'T WORK

Whichever chart you choose, it won't work. Your wife will be buying a large economy size this week, a small expensive size next week, and this particular commodity will be going from shelf to shelf like a yo-yo. Or she will buy beans in a can one week, dried beans in a box the next; tomato juice in a jar today, in a can tomorrow. And she will want you to explain why you thought the chicken-vegetable soup belonged in the meat shelf instead of the vegetable. Why the chili was in the vegetable instead of the meat. And what was your reasoning on the spaghetti sauce?

You will need a sound defense for your decision on placing, among other things, the flour, sugar, pancake mix, rice, salt, dog food, snacks, and cereals.

How you arrange things won't matter much, no matter how you do it. Your wife tonight will stick the bottle of vanilla back beside the peanut butter as she's been doing for 20 years. She'll maneuver the coffee back up to a shoulder-high shelf because she's not going to bend over twice a day for it.

She'll keep buying tuna until she has a case of it because you chose to place the tuna cans behind the salmon cans and she didn't know she had any.

You can rearrange the pantry shelves after every weekly shopping. You can lecture your wife all night long. It won't do any good. She found out 20 years ago that you can't keep a pantry organized, and had enough sense to stop trying. She manages all right with her system, and as you try to improve on it she is going to get into her head the first little doubt whether you are really as bright as she always thought you were.

Whgn, in hopelessness, you give up the job, your first critical moment of losing face at home will have come. This will be bad. But it will get worse if, in attempting to recoup your prestige, you decide you'll organize her pots and pans a little better.

Pots and pans, of course, can't be organized. You wife knows this. And has decided that about the best you can do with them is to pile them in a large cabinet and close the door on the mess. But you don't know this, and as you start out to improve the situation your wife will get her second small doubt about you.

Naturally, you will think the pots and pans should be hung on a wall. You'll find it will take a wall, six feet by five to hold all the stuff your wife has. The kitchen doesn't have that kind of space, so you'll make-do, with a patch of wall here and another there. But you'll find all the utensils don't have hooks for hanging. You'll ruin a few of them trying to install hooks. Then you'll hang everything up.

Whereupon your wife will come in and point to the dirty, blackened bottoms of the utensils, which of course are hanging with the bottoms out. She'll want to know if you'll be the one to come scrub them every time they're used so friends coming into the kitchen won't think you are a phing the poverty program or cultural program, or something, should get after.

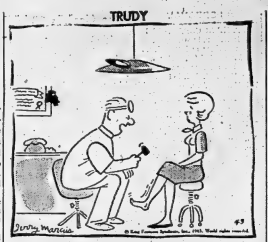
Elderly Woman Loaned $6,700 To Three Men



MILTON, Ont. (CP)—A 77-year-old Hamilton woman testified Friday she loaned more then $6,700 to three Hamilton men to buy Christmas trees and a shoe shine business and to cover cost of several car accidents in which one man claimed he was involved.

Selma Lilbook said that since 1958 she had loaned more than $5,000 to one man and had been repaid only $385.

She was appearing at the trial of six Hamilton men and a Burlington woman charged with conspiring to defraud elderly persons during the last seven years.

Mrs. Lilbook also identified two of the accused, Murray William Major, 29, and Stanley Major, 42, as two of the men she loaned smaller amounts to.

Reactor In Sky Will Test Ion Space Engine

Tiny Device's Thrust From Electronic Beam

By RALPH DIGHTON

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—A critical test was to be given today to a 970-pound phototype of future space patrol craft.

A united States satellite called Snapshot, launched into orbit Saturday, cleared its first hurdle early Sunday when its small nuclear reactor — first ever operated in orbit—reached full-power operation.

The next hurdle was scheduled for about 24 hours later when a signal from the ground would order the turn-on of a tiny ion engine which uses an almost invisible electronic beam instead of clouds of hot gases for thrust.

If successful, the test will signal first operation in space of a new kind of propulsion system designed eventually to provide power, on tiny amounts of fuel for:

1. Surveillance-and-patrol satellites, keeping spy cameras and weapons functioning in orbit for years.

2. Manned spaceships capable of speeds of 10,000 miles an hour on trips to distant planets now beyond the reach of conventionally-fueled rockets.

The cone-shaped satellite, 10 feet long and five feet in diameter, shot into a 700-mile circular polar orbit atop an Atlas-Agena booster Saturday afternoon.

At 1:45 a.m. Sunday, a nuclear reactor, about the size of a five-gallon can, reached full power and started generating 500 watts of electricity.

Today this electricity, stored in a 460-pound bank of batteries, was to be used to start up the 2¼x7¼-inch ion engine for a one-hour run. Its fuel tank, about the size of a small thermos, contains 3½ ounces of the metal cesium, enough for 300 hours of operation.

The 250-pound reactor, called the Snap-10A, is the latest of a series of attempts to train self-sustaining chain reaction devices—known as also suitable for spacecraft. The initials stand for systems for nuclear auxiliary power.

New Era Beginning -- Wilson

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — Through joint production with France, Britain eventually may be able to edge into the European Common Market without taking out Common Market membership.

This appears to be the principal possibility arising from Prime Minister Wilson's two-day Paris meeting with President de Gaulle. The meeting has been hailed both in the British and French press as the beginning of a new era of friendship between the two countries.

In a joint communique, Wilson and de Gaulle said there had been British-French agreement on extensive co-operation in military and civil aviation construction and other "sophisticated technologies." The meeting was the first between France and Britain at the top level since France vetoed British membership in the Common Market in 1963.

The meeting is to be followed by a rapid flow of cross-channel ministerial talks to explore how the new "entente cordiale" is to be expanded. Any expansion is likely to be mainly in the economics field. The two leaders indicated they still are as far apart as ever on such sensitive foreign policies as the war in South Viet Nam and the nuclear force for the North Atlantic Alliance as well as the future of the alliance itself.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis—Fair weather is expected to continue today with the mercury reaching the 60s again in most localities. Some cloudiness will spread into western and northern regions. The vast area of wet unsettled weather which has plagued the western lakes and central states for the last few days will slide a little farther eastward Tuesday to affect southwestern Ontario. Overcast skies and rain are the forecast for that area while elsewhere partly cloudy conditions will prevail.

Negroes Plan Selma March To Courthouse

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Negroes planned to march by the hundreds today to the Dallas County courthouse to seek to become registered voters so their voices can be heard in future elections.

This is the first registration day since a 50-mile trek from here to Montgomery was completed March 25 as a result of alleged voter discrimination.

Shortly after noon the snow, which had been piling up since a storm front moved over southern California Wednesday, thundered down the mountainside, burying Escalante and three of his companions.

His companions were quickly rescued, but the slide carried him 100 feet farther down the slope.

"There was an air pocket six inches above my head," said Escalante shortly after he was treated at a nearby hospital and released. "My legs were doubled over and I couldn't move."

Escalante and his companions —Mike Fitzpatrick, 16, Howard Richardson, 13, and Steve Roseborough, 15—were among 20 persons playing on the slope which the U.S. Forest Service said had been posted with avalanche warnings.

Escalante was located about 4:30 p.m. by Ron Smedsor, an 18-year-old volunteer who said his aluminum pole connected with "something bouncy." It was Escalante's arm.

Avalanche Buries Boy 3 Hours At California Sports Resort

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP)—When rescuers reached Abel Escalante, buried beneath five feet of snow, he was purple—but he was talking.

The 16 - year - old boy was buried by an avalanche Sunday and spent 3½-hours beneath the snow as he listened to searchers and tractors moving about on the surface.

Searchers probed with bamboo poles over a 600-square-foot area at the 8,000-foot level on Mt. Baldy, a winter sports area 40 miles east of Los Angeles.

Big List For New Session

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Liberal government unveils its 1965 legislative program today then sits back waiting for crucial votes Wednesday and Friday.

Governor - General Vanier, nearing retirement after six years as the Queen's representative, was to open the third session of the "Parliament of miscellaneities" about 3 p.m. EST by reading a long throne speech on government proposals.

Leaders of the opposition parties get their turn Tuesday, when they will have their first opportunities to introduce nonconfidence motions in about six months. The first motions are expected to be moved Wednesday and Friday.

In the six-month interval, the government has weathered accusations of corruption and incompetence in a succession of stranger-than-fiction episodes.

With the possibility of a 1965 election looming in the background, the Liberals are reported to have prepared an ambitious list of proposals with voter-appeal.

BREAK TRADITION

In a departure from tradition, the throne speech in the Senate will be followed immediately in the Commons by speeches by two Liberal backbenchers, whose names were not announced today.

The practice has been for two government supporters to move and second the address thanking the governor-general, on the days after that.

The government hopes to complete the throne speech debate, which can run from one to eight days, by April 14 for a 10-day Easter recess. The budget is scheduled to be brought down in the week of April 25.

MPs and senators open a new session barely 60 hours after the marathon 1964-65 session ended with a 13-hour sitting extending to 2:55 a.m. EST Saturday. It was the 248th day, by far the longest previous session.

Because Parliament has been sitting regularly since Feb. 16, social functions will be played down today. Commons Speaker Alan Macnaughton and Senate Speaker Maurice Bourget will hold a single reception with a reduced guest list after the Commons adjourns.

At public openings, the two speakers acted as hosts at separate, simultaneous receptions that included colorful scenes.

Gen. Vanier, who will be 77 this month and completes his term in September, was in ride with Mme. Vanier in the picturesque Landau escorted by Mounties from the trip from Rideau Hall to Parliament Hill.

The scarlet-clad Vanier, arriving on the hill at 2:10 p.m. to inspect a guard of honor. Then comes the familiar ceremonial—Prime Minister Pearson greets the vice - regal couple, escorts them to Speaker Bourget's chambers, the gentleman usher of the black rod is sent to the Commons to summon the MPs and the governor-general reads the throne speech, alternating between English and French, before a packed audience jams in and into the red upper chamber.

Invitation to Visit LBJ Was Surprise to Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson arrived back in the capital early Saturday evening after spending what he called "a pleasant couple of hours" with President Johnson at the American leader's Camp David retreat in the Catoctin Mountain of Maryland.

Mr. Pearson got a surprise invitation to visit the president when he suggested a pause in U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam so that the North Vietnamese could be given an opportunity to negotiate for peace without the appearance of backing down under U.S. military might.

It is believed Mr. Johnson gave the prime minister a complete rundown on American policy in Viet Nam during their two-hour conference at Camp David.

The president, however, discouraged any questions on Viet Nam at a joint press conference after the meeting.

"His (Mr. Pearson's) visit has nothing to do with Viet Nam or anything else you could blow up and make big or dramatic," the president told reporters.

Mr. Pearson said the situation was talked about only in general terms.

"We talked about Viet Nam and the view that I expressed last night," said the Canadian leader. "I don't want to say any more except to reiterate that in our government we have tried to understand the position of the United States in Viet Nam and support that position."

Did Mr. Pearson see any obstacles in continuing Canadian support?

"No, I would just say we want to continue supporting U.S. efforts to bring peace to Viet Nam," he replied.

Mr. Johnson was asked for comment on the Canadian position.

"It's not for me to expound judgment on what other countries might do," he said.

Mr. Johnson said his talks with Mr. Pearson ranged over a wide variety of subjects—the Great Lakes, an aviation agreement, Europe as well as Viet Nam.

Mr. Pearson said progress was made towards completing a new bilateral agreement between Canada and the U.S which has been under negotiation for years.

"We hope to have it cleared up before long," said Mr. Pearson.

He said some agreement was reached on the pollution and water level problems of the Great Lakes. Solutions would require work by both countries.

He said Canada needed co-operation from certain provinces on the Great Lakes problem and this was being gone into now.

Greek Quake Kills 20

From AP-Reuters

ATHENS (CP) — A violent earthquake struck the centre of the Peloponnesus Peninsula in southern Greece today, killing at least 20 persons and injuring 200. Police said the final death toll might go as high as 50.

The victims were in a score of villages in the Megalopolis area 100 miles southwest of Athens. They were caught in the wreckage of collapsing houses as they slept.

Fifty of the injured were in serious condition.

Thousands wandered dazedly through the ruins.

Five of the worst hit villages were 90 per cent destroyed and

Bodies of Child, Two Women Found in Michigan Orchard

WATERVLIET, Mich. (AP)—The mutilated bodies of a little girl and two women were found in an orchard area of this southeast Michigan community Sunday.

The victims were seven-year-old Diane Carter, Mrs. Amelia Boyer, 60, and Mary Esther Jones, 37. All lived within 10 blocks of each other in Benton Harbor and neighboring Benton Township some 10 miles west of here.

The bodies were discovered in a small grove of scotch pine trees at the edge of an apple orchard owned by Henry Blaier.

The grisly discovery was made by three young boys who were bicycling along a dirt road.

The victims were in various stages of mutilation. Investigators said the little girl, daughter of Mrs. Verbina Carter, apparently had been strangled by a stocking twisted about her neck. A pair of leotards she wore was stripped from one leg.

Mrs. Boyer's body was nude except for hose when found, investigators said. She had been slashed.

The Jones woman had been decapitated. What was believed to be her head was found this morning in an abandoned building in Benton Harbor, about 1½ miles from her home.

The Carter girl and the Jones woman were Negroes; Mrs. Boyer was white.

Berrien County Sheriff Henry Pitt said the Jones woman had been absent from her home about three months but never was reported missing. Mrs. Boyer, an employee of a 24-hour automatic laundry, was reported missing March 27. Her purse and keys were found in a wastebasket of the laundry which is but a few steps from her home.

The Carter girl last was seen March 30 near a corner grocery store about three blocks from her home.

A force of some 50 sheriff's deputies, state police from at least three area posts, and city police from Benton Harbor and neighboring communities searched in lines separated by arms length for clues to the slayer.

"It is one of the worst cases I've ever seen," said Sheriff's Detective Lt. Wilbur Cook. "We sure better get this one before he has a chance to strike again."

Officers said they were studying the possibility that the triple slaying might be linked with the rape-murder of Dolores Young, 19. Miss Young's nude body was found Feb. 16 in a burned out Benton Harbor home. The Negro girl lived near Mrs. Boyer and the Carter girl.

Hanoi Accepts U.S. Challenge Then Backs Off

Two U. S. Jets Downed By MiGs on Sunday

From AP-Reuters

SAIGON (CP) — Sixty - six U.S. Navy and air force planes attacked targets in North Viet Nam today. A U.S. spokesman said one air force plane was downed by Communist ground-fire, and the pilot was recovered.

No enemy aircraft were reported sighted. Communist MiG fighters shot down two U.S. jets over North Viet Nam in the first air clash of the Viet Nam war and gib away.

The navy raid, launched from the carrier Coral Sea, was against Vinh Linh early warning radar installation just north of the 17th parallel border, a U.S. spokesman said.

Thirty Skyraider, Skyhawk and Skywarrior planes hit the target with 25 tons of general-purpose bombs from 250 to 1,000 pounds in size. They also used napalm.

A U.S. spokesman said the target "was heavily damaged."

A flight of 16 U.S. Air Force jets struck rail lines and highways in North Viet Nam today, blowing up at least one train. Communist groundfire was reported "moderate."

A U.S. spokesman said an F-105—Thunderchief was shot down, but the pilot was recovered.

Communist guerrillas today knocked out the southern section of the main South Vietnamese rail line when they blew up a passenger train 10 miles north of its capital.

Seven persons were injured, four seriously, and some 250 yards of track badly damaged.

The Viet Cong guerrillas blew up the train by electrically detonating a mine as the locomotive passed over it. The explosion threw the heavily-laden passenger car and one freight car off the tracks.

A military spokesman said rail communications between Saigon and the northern part of the country were cut Sunday after a similar mining Saturday.

Guerrillas have blown up seven bridges on a 70 - mile stretch of line 25 miles northeast of Saigon, he added.

—Meanwhile U.S. officials said Hanoi's decision to send fighters into battle had opened a new phase in the war.

North Vietnamese air force bases now were expected to become a prime target for future U.S. strikes.

Observers also believed that

Autobahn Closed After Four Hours

BERLIN (Reuters) — Traffic started flowing along the autobahn linking West Berlin with East Germany today after a four-hour standstill imposed by East Germany.

The reason the Communists gave for closing the autobahnes for the first time since the 1948-49 Berlin blockade was that Russian and East German troops started manoeuvres near the roads today.

But their action was seen here as another step in their campaign against the planned plenary session of the West German Bundestag (lower house) here Wednesday.

Hundreds of cars, trucks, and buses lined up for miles while the highways were closed.

TROOPS ACTIVE

A West German with a sick child in his car, who was allowed to travel to West Berlin by side roads, reported on arrival that he had seen large-scale troop movements.

The highway linking the city to West Germany was opened here hours sooner than expected.

During the closure Russian troops also held up three West-ern military cars.

The two British and one American, were held up at the Babelsberg checkpoint outside West Berlin.

An American military road convoy of 18 vehicles and 78 troops also arrived in West Germany from Berlin without incident. The convoy set out before the road was closed.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard received the U.S., British and French ambassadors at the Chancellery in Bonn for discussion on the Berlin situation.

PART OF PROTEST

Both the blocking of the road and the manoeuvres are seen as part of the stiff Communist opposition and campaign of harassment against a planned meeting of the West German executive, lower house of Parliament, in West Berlin Wednesday.

Four Regional Winners Named For Brockville Drama Festival

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With four more regional winners named Saturday night, the list of competitors for the Dominion Drama Festival in Brockville May 24-29, is starting to shape up.

Of Saturday night's winners, two are automatic starters at Brockville. The other two must be judged against other regional winners to become "zone" entries.

At the western Quebec regional festival in Montreal, the best-production award went to Le Theatre de la Place, which operates out of a basement corner of Montreal's biggest skyscraper, La Place Ville-Marie. The group won the award for its production of Les Nouveaux Dieux (the new gods) by Canadian playwright Jacques Duchesne.

Top production award at the central Ontario festival in Toronto went to the Theatre Upstairs, a Toronto group, for its production of William Saroyan's The Cave Dwellers.

CIRCLE PLAYERS WIN

At the Prince Edward Island Festival in Charlottetown, the Charlottetown Circle Players won for their production of Jan Van Druten's I Remember Mama.

And in the British Columbia festival at Kelowna, the Vernon Little Theatre's production of Max Frisch's The Firebug got the adjudicator's nod.

These two winners still face elimination in zone competition a decision on the Brockville entry from among regional winners in P.E.I., Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and a final decision on whether the B.C. or Alberta winner goes on to the finals.

Still to be heard from are Western Ontario, Alberta and Newfoundland.

There are no entries from two regions, Saskatchewan and Manitoba - Northwestern Ontario, where regional festivals have been cancelled.

In festivals held earlier, the following groups won:

—In Nova Scotia, the Xavier Players of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, for the Wakefield Cycle, a series of medieval morality plays;

—In eastern Ontario, Lakeside Theatre Productions of Ottawa for Brendan Behan's The Hostage;

—In New Brunswick, the University of New Brunswick for Rashomon, a Japanese story by United States playwrights Fay and Michael Kanin;

—In the Quonta Festival, the Gateway Theatre Guild of North Bay for Dylan Thomas' Under Milkwood;

—In eastern Quebec, the University of Sherbrooke's La Troupe de l'Echiquier for Marcel Aymard's The Barber of Seville.

The same number of girls gained their first Star Card. They are: Pamela Barrett, Janice Cook, Ruth Cook, Karen Fall, Judy Hartt, Janis Hawkins, Laurie Hill, Brianna Jones, Ann Mukula, Linda Moore, Mitzi McLaughlan, Rosemary Skaze, Brianne Sodd, Janet Ward, Wendy Wardman, Marion McFadden and Judy Hawkins.

Kathy Antis, Betty Bland, June Brooks, Elizabeth Hamilton, Edith Mokszlik, Leslie Morton, Barbara Oliver, Catherine Watson and Linda Diggins were successful in the completion of the second star card.

At the same time, the Russians warned the Western allies that traffic through the corridors to Berlin also might be affected by the manoeuvres.

The allies immediately protested and said "the flights will continue as normal."

The Russians notified the Western allies that Soviet military aircraft would be flying at various altitudes through the three air corridors reserved for Western commercial and military planes on flights to and from Berlin.

An allied spokesman said the Russians declared that because of their flights these altitudes could not be used by Western planes.

DON'T INTERFERE

Officials of Pan American World Airways, British European Airways and Air France in the three airlines that serve West Berlin—reported that up to mid-morning there had been no interference with their planes in the air corridors to Berlin.

As far as was known, intercontinental traffic had not been affected but the Czechs' manoeuvres threatened two of the three lifelines from the West Berlin whose access is guaranteed by four-power agreement.

Early this morning, Berlin's three Western commandants met and issued a protest against the "arbitrary action" of East Germany in refusing to allow West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt to drive back to the city from Hamburg Sunday night. He had to return by air.

The Communist regime claims the Bonn parliament has no business in the former German capital which it says is not part of West Germany.

Sunday night Brandt, who is not a member of the Bundestag but heads the West German Social Democratic party, was turned back by East German border guards as he attempted to drive to Berlin after visiting his ailing mother in the West German seaport of Luebeck.

DRIVES TO HAMBURG

Brandt drove back to Hamburg where he boarded a plane for Berlin. Before leaving he said he hoped the Western allies and West German authorities would take action to stop "the nuisance at the border."

On arrival at West Berlin's Tempelhof airport, he said the East German regime is allow him to drive through East Germany would draw the attention of the whole world "to the absurdity of Germany's and West Berlin's division."

West Germany meanwhile is going ahead with its parliamentary meeting in West Berlin Wednesday.

As an additional show of defiance, the Bonn government announced a cabinet meeting would be held in the Communist - surrounded city on the same day. Sources in Bonn said Chancellor Ludwig Erhard would preside.

R. Messenger CN Operations Chief for Area

Senior administrative changes in the operation of the Canadian National's Rideau Area, with headquarters here, were announced today by K. E. Hunt, manager, Rideau Area.

The new appointments, which are effective April 16, are the result of a substantial increase in the Area's traffic in all its avenues of operation.

R. G. Messenger, formerly superintendent express freight becomes operations manager of the area, succeeding W. D. Newell, who has been appointed special assistant, Rideau Area Administration.

Mr. Messenger, a native of Middleton, N.S., joined the CN in 1953 as a junior instrumentman at Halifax and worked in this branch of the company during his summer university days. Upon his graduation from Dalhousie University, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in chemistry and mathematics, Mr. Messenger returned to the CN in 1954 as a junior assistant engineer at Halifax. He held several senior appointments in the transportation department of the company at various locations, coming to Belleville in 1962 as transportation officer. A short time later he was named trainmaster-road foreman, and upon the integration and consolidation of the express freight facilities, he was named superintendent express freight of that department.

A native of Exeter, Ont., Mr. Newell commenced his railway career as a brakeman on the CN former Southern Ontario District in 1940. He held a number of transportation posts until 1961 when he was appointed superintendent transportation for the railway's Champlain Area, Montreal. Two years later he was appointed operations manager of the Rideau Area.

Wesleyan Methodist Church Dedication Held on Sunday

TRENTON — With more than a dozen places of worship serving a population of 14,000 Trenton will soon be usurping Toronto for the title, "The Good," Mayor James MacDonald said in informal conversation to reporters yesterday afternoon, following the dedication of the new Wesleyan Methodist Church on Dixon Drive.

The mayor, and other local and out-of-town dignitaries at the dedication ceremonies said they were impressed by the beautifully terse external and internal appearance of the new church, which was remodelled from the former Four Square Gospel Church.

With the church and a $16,000 parsonage almost paid for, the pastor, Rev. James Spearman, (formerly of the Bellville Wesleyan Church), has come close to realizing every minister's dream. Donations in cash and appointments run up into the thousands. One anonymous gift was for $13,000. Large donations made possible the purchase of a Conn organ and the carpeting of the church. Volunteers from the congregation donated labor. Wesleyan churches in Ottawa, Winchester, Shawville, Inkerman, Newington, Bellesville and Brockville donated such items as pews, hymn books, offering plates. The Wesleyan conference donated or pledged cash, and members of the congregation made sizeable contributions. Firms concerned with the building of the church also made donations or gave discounts.

400 PRESENT

The pervading atmosphere at yesterday's dedication service was one of thankfulness and rejoicing. More than 400 persons filled every available corner of the building.

Guest speaker was Rev. Virgil A. Mitchell, one of the three general superintendents of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in America.

The keys to the church were presented to the minister by Elmer Hunter, chairman of the trustees and the building was put into the hands of the minister by Dr. E. W. Dow, chairman of the building committee.

Special music was provided by the Belleville Wesleyan Church choir and a solo was sung by Mr. M. Mills, with Mrs. B. Clifford providing organ music throughout the impressive dedication service.

Transit Commission Open for Suggestions

Anybody got any constructive criticism of the city bus operation or possibly suggestions on how better services might be provided?

If so, the Belleville Transit Commission would like to hear of them.

In fact transit commissioners would be happy to receive any suggestions which might lead to increased patronage, to lower operational costs or on any other matter which would make the bus service a greater benefit to city residents.

The Belleville Transit Commission would like to know whether you use the city bus service and if not, why not.

The commission points out that the city bus service is owned and operated by the city and that if enough people use the service, the entire cost of operation could be paid for out of fares.

$43,986 DEFICIT

On the other hand if fares are not sufficient to pay operational costs then a deficit results which must be added to the city tax roll.

This is illustrated by last year's operation which saw a bus deficit of more than $43,000 added to the city tax roll.

So Transit commissioners are anxious to hear of any suggestions which might better the service or financial picture.

Suggestions may be forwarded to the Belleville Transit Commission, 140 Bleecker Ave., Belleville.

Lippman on Viet Nam

Phil Harris, band leader and comedian, has a trade-mark song, in the course of which he declaims "We ain't goin' to play this game according to Hoyle, we are going to play it according to me."

Walter Lippman is the Phil Harris of the international situation, with the difference that there is more than a vague suspicion that he often comes closer to the truth than the Hoyle versions provided by the press associations and the foreign offices of the rival powers.

1—The Saigon government has lost control of the South Viet Nam countryside. (Lippman says this condition of affairs has been accurately reported by Richard Dudman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and his findings are confirmed in all essentials, though not yet publicly, in well-informed quarters in Washington.)

2—Having lost the countryside, the Saigon government has lost its sources of military manpower. Its ratio of superiority over the Viet Cong is only five to one, and "no guerrilla war has ever been subdued with such a low ratio of superiority."

3—As a result, in the Pentagon and the U.S. State Department there is mounting pressure for the commitment of U.S. infantry, as high as 350,000 men.

4—The bombings of North Viet Nam have not changed the course of the war and will not. U.S. air power could devastate North Viet Nam and do great damage to China should that country intervene. But this, with the commitment of U.S. infantry, would produce "an interminable war without prospect of solution."

4—The U.S. attempt to rationalize, that is to "sell," the Viet Nam war as a decisive test which will decide the future of "wars of liberation" "is a profundly and dangerously false notion."

5—"Experience shows there is no single central source of revolutionary upheavals of our epoch.' The only thing that the Irish rebellion, the Jewish uprising in Palestine, the civil war in Cuba, the Arab rebellion in Algeria and the Huk revolt in the Philippines had in common was "violent discontent with the established order and a willingness of a minority of the discontented to die in an attempt to overthrow it."

6—While communists became leaders of some rebellions, "this does not mean they have owned and controlled them. The resistance forces in France and Italy during the war contained a high proportion of communists, but they did not gain power.

7—"In Southeast Asia we have entangled ourselves in one of the many upheavals against the old regime, and we shall not make things any better by thrashing around with ascending violence."

All of which Lippman submits to back his opening statement that in Viet Nam "the official theory of the war, as propounded by Gen. Maxwell Taylor to President Kennedy and by Secretary McNamara to President Johnson, has proved unworkable" and that "the President is wrestling with momentous and fateful decisions."

It is to be hoped that President Johnson reaches the correct conclusions. For, while in Lippman's opinion it is a "half-baked notion" to believe that "the war in Southeast Asia will be decisive for the future of revolutionary upheavals in the world," there are other people who fear that what U.S. does in Viet Nam could produce a chain reaction which would be decisive for mankind, period, full stop.

What Alternative?

The immediate past president of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, Ralph Parker, is alarmed about the effect of stock market scandals concerning the mining industry. He thinks these scandals may drive away the industry's potential recruits amongst young people.

"How can we sell the idea to parents and guidance officials to encourage children into an industry if professional people prostitute their ethics for a buck?" he asks.

What alternatives would he suggest? Medicine (lost instruments), industry (worthless tires and unsafe cars), the law (race track bribes), politics (bail and narcotics) or the ministry (sex for teenagers?) If a few people prostituting their ethics drive young people away from a profession, the next generation will end up digging ditches or collecting unemployment insurance.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 5th, 1945

Personnel of the air stations of the district have been and are setting a splendid example to their civilian cousins in the matter of blood donations for their pals overseas.

Periodical clinics held at the Kiwanis Centre here see large numbers of the boys in air force blue giving their blood that Canadian wounded may live.

Another fine example of this unselfishness on the part of district airmen was seen yesterday when a mobile clinic calling at the Trenton Air Station received blood from 274 donors. As a matter of fact, the station personnel went a little farther but giving their blood. They sent their motor vehicles to Kiwanis Centre and with city taxis and automobiles owned by volunteer workers organized the mobile clinic.

They took bottles, tubes and other clinic paraphernalia necessary in the securing of the blood while clinic nurses and volunteer workers travelled by motor car.

Fluids Are Good Antidote To Painful Kidney Stones

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Is there a medicine that dissolves kidney stones that are too large to pass? I have been told by a friend that surgery for their removal is very dangerous. Is this so? What causes the stones? — R. H.

There is no medicine, taken by mouth, that will dissolve kidney stones.

There is a drug which can be inserted through a tube into the ureter which may help dissolve them, but this is a tedious and highly technical procedure.

Surgical removal is a major operation, meaning that it isn't the type of procedure that can be performed in a doctor's office just any afternoon.

But neither is it more dangerous than other operations which are being performed every day in many hospitals, with modern techniques and anesthesia, and with negligible risk.

What causes the stones? The urine becomes too concentrated and some of the materials in it crystallize into stones. It's much like making rock candy. You take hot water and dissolve as much sugar as the water will contain.

Then you hang a string in the water, as it cools, sugar begins to crystallize. It clings to the string, and gradually the crystals grow into rock candy.

There is no string in the kidney, but the principle is the same. The first way of getting rid of stones is to drink that they are small enough to pass through easily with the urine. Many such stones are, indeed, disposed of in this manner.

If the stones are larger, they may still pass, but with considerable pain. Finally, if that fails the stones can be successfully removed surgically.

The danger lies in not removing the stone, quite aside from the pain they can cause. Such stones can block the flow of urine, lead to serious infection, and ultimate kidney damage.

So, of course, your goal is to prevent stones from forming rather than try to dissolve them afterwards, or keep them small enough so they can pass readily.

Alkali or acid drugs can be taken by mouth to alter the chemical content of the urine and thus check the formation of stones.

Which drugs to take depends on the particular type of stone to which you are subject. This means chemical analysis of a stone (and of the urine). It requires careful laboratory work, but it is being done constantly. In some cases dietary changes may help.

What you can do for yourself is to drink plenty of fluids to keep the urine dilute. Copious liquids, indeed, are a useful measure to combat stones.

Dear Sir: For years my wife has followed a custom of stuffing a fowl) the day before it was to be cooked, then keeping it refrigerated. We have been advised that this could lead to food poisoning. If so, why are commercial turkeys be prepared and sold in this manner? — G. F. B.

The important thing is to keep the bird refrigerated. Leaving it at room temperature, however, does incur a risk of germs multiplying and causing food poisoning. You can't go far wrong by remembering the old rule about food: Keep it hot, keep it cold, or don't keep it at all.

Note to N.B.: The swelling you mention sounds like a hydrocele, or fluid accumulation in the scrotum, and could follow an injury like yours. By all means consult a urologist and set your mind a ease. The problem should have no bearing on your proposed marriage.

What Price For Changing Your Beliefs?

By SYDNEY J.HARRIS

If you're doing what you don't agree with, or believe in, the more compensation you get for doing it, the worse you feel, and the less you are able to justify doing it.

To most of us, the above statement would sound false. It would seem as if, when a conflict exists between private opinion and public act, the greater the compensation, the more easily we could reconcile ourselves to the act. But experiments indicate that the opposite is true.

Leon Festinger, the distinguished psychologist whose theory of "cognitive dissonance" I wrote some weeks ago, mentions some research conducted at Stanford University on the subject. It turned out that students who were paid only $1 for making statements at variance with their true beliefs changed these beliefs more than those who were paid $20 for doing so.

In another experiment, at New York university, students were paid to write essays, contrary to what they really believed. Subjects were paid either $10, $5, $1, or 50 cents to do this. The result, again, was that those paid the least had the greatest change in private opinion to bring it in line with the action.

"Cognitive dissonance," for the benefit of those who did not read my previous piece on the subject, is the theory that "if a person knows various things that are not psychologically consistent with one another, he will, in a variety of ways, try to make them consistent by changing his opinion, changing his behavior, or distorting his perception.

We are accustomed to thinking that reward is the best incentive to change, whereas only a man is "paid to think that way" and if he is paid well enough and long enough, he begins to think that way, no matter what his previous opinion or belief.

But these experiments — at least with young adults — indicate that we are more easily rationalize a small compensation than a large one. If a task we are asked to do goes against the grain. Moreover, we are more willing to change our opinions for a small sum than for a large one — just as, perhaps, more girls yield to the willing to compromise their moral standards for a dinner and a show than for an orchid and a $100-a-week allowance.

This might help explain why so many men in high positions crack up, when their underlings do not, if their position forces them to act in a manner not consistent with their private beliefs and values. What we call "pressure of work" may be more a "pressure of conscience," faced with the problem of reconciling a high personal code of ethics with a high compensation for ignoring or violating that code.

Geiger Count Of Sponges

Ontario Hydro News

Absent-minded professors are an accepted institution, but forgetful doctors are a different kettle of fish — particularly when they forget to remove wrenches, blow torches, hammers and other tools of the trade from the innards of patients laid open for inspection.

Their memory problems may be on the way out. Radiation, no stranger to modern medicine, may be the answer. At present, the only safeguard is to take instrument inventory before and after the operation, a time-consuming proposition at best, or to X-ray the patient after he has been stitched up. With mildly radioactive instruments there is no waiting.

The system has been tested by its inventor, Dr. Joseph Moody, in several operations at St. Joseph's General Hospital, Elliot Lake, with a hemostat lent by Dr. R. H. Tomlinson and David Whiteford of McMaster University, under licence of the Dewald Welfare.

Bits of radio-active cobalt-uranium wire were embedded in instruments. Tiny slugs, encased in rubber, were stitched into sponges. Before introducing the incision, a detection device was passed over the patient, taking about 10 to 15 seconds. Dr. Moody reported it did not interfere with routine surgical procedures.

Results are being assessed, but it seems to have worked and the cost of the equipment involved is estimated at $2,000 - $3,000.

In addition to developing a goodly portion of the future power which will be used by the people of Ontario to cook their toast, waft their clothes and turn their engines, nuclear energy seems likely to eliminate that lumpy look some eiltems have acquired after a session on the operating table.

Opposes 'Bribing' Industry

Calgary Albertan

Premier Manning deserves support his stand that it is "fundamentally unsound" for a province to provide "artificial inducements" to attract industry.

He made the statement with reference to a decision of a Calgary firm to bid for establishment of a heavy water plant in Saskatchewan, rather than in Alberta, because of assistance offered by the Saskatchewan government.

Another Calgary firm with expansion plans has been weighing inducements from the Manitoba government. In both cases, there has been criticism of the Alberta government for refusing to counter the bait dangled by other provinces.

Nevertheless, Mr. Manning's position is unassailable, whether one looks at it from an economic or from a political point of view.

Economically, the extension of industrial bribes in the form of grants, tax concessions or even loans is of little advantage to the taxpayers of the subsidizing province, and none at all to the taxpayers of the country as a whole.

It is also unfair to industries which are not favored with such assistance, but must help pay the cost of aiding those which are. Only in special circumstances — where the purpose is to restore an economically depressed area to health, for instance — is subsidization of this kind warranted.

Even then, the initiative (although not necessarily the entire burdens) is best left to the federal government. For the political consequences of provincial subsidization may be more serious than the economic effects.

Inevitably, when one province begins offering inducements, others are tempted to follow suit — or are put under pressure to do so, as Mr. Manning has found.

The result may well be a competitive auction of provincial concessions which is not only costly but can embitter interprovincial relations.

Although the situation is not quite on all fours, the current wrangle between Winnipeg and Montreal (with Ottawa in the middle) over Air Canada repair facilities indicates the danger.

Such competition and bitterness do nothing to smooth the path to national unity. The current swing towards greater provincial autonomy in the cultural and social fields is understandable and, to a considerable extent, defensible.

But there is nothing at all to be said for anything that threatens to divide the country economically. On the contrary, without economic unity cultural and social diversity could not long survive in Canada.

In that sense, Premier Manning's advocacy of laxation among provinces with respect to industrial development is doubly constructive.

Roberts Like French Queen

Brantford Expositor

Lands and Forests Minister Kelso Roberts has come gallopping to the rescue of Cabinet colleague Dr. Matthew Dymond under prolonged fire because of Ontario's shortage of hospital beds.

The solution, he suggested to the Legislature the other day, lies in provincial control. By using to the full Ontario's outdoor facilities to develop citizens sound in wind and limb new beds could be made available for the really sick.

It goes without saying that the fitter Ontario citizens are, the less demand they will make on hospital services, but Mr. Roberts' prescription to bivouac ward by to better health is of little consolation to those now on hospital waiting lists because of an acute shortage of beds.

It doesn't exonerate the government from its responsibility to deal with a serious situation. Besides, there are other ways to promote physical fitness without exposing oneself to the vagaries of Ontario's climate, especially in wintertime.

His statement that he would rather see 100,000 people sleeping out in the great provincial parks than in hospitals ranks with Marie Antoinette's solution to the Paris bread famine: Let the people eat cake instead.

Cancer's 'Savage Cell' Challenges Us All

Editor's Note: The war on cancer— and what you yourself can do about it — are the subjects of the articles in this series condensed from the widely acclaimed but controversial new book, "The Savage Cell." The author has studied the matter first hand for 17 years as science editor of the American Cancer Society and here presents the facts and her personal views.

By PAT McGRADY

In the seven minutes it takes to read this article, cancer will profoundly affect 100 people throughout the world:

36 will die of the disease;
54 will develop cancer; and
10 will have survived the disease for five years, presumably cured.

Today in Canada, 64 persons will die of cancer. An equal number will die tomorrow and every day this year.

Next year, the toll will climb a bit higher. The world wide incidence and mortality rate of cancer mount steadily; the figures rise for cancer as they drop for deaths from infection and other diseases which have come under medical control. They rise as populations grow older.

Of the 2.6 million people who will die of cancer in 1963, perhaps one-half could have been saved with the best techniques modern medicine offers.

Cancer — any kind of cancer — requires the best that medicine has to offer. It calls for help from a team of specialists, composed basically of a pathologist, a surgeon, a radiologist, an internist or family-type doctor, each skilled in the management of cancer and all working closely together.

Ideally, one's own doctor should arrange for experts to diagnose and treat the case without delay.

The average doctor — even the average good doctor — usually is not the man to diagnose and treat cancer. He can cure some cancers. But he also may sacrifice more lives to the disease than he saves; he does this inadvertently by deadly delays in diagnosis—"Come back in three months and we'll see what happens"), by treating the wrong disease or by inadequate treatment for the right disease.

In contrast, there exist in North America research and treatment centres which are the best — or among the best — in the world.

For 17 years, this writer has had the enormous privilege of knowing many of the brilliant scientists and great physicians of our time and reporting their triumphs.

This has been a period of progress in understanding life and of abysmal failure to protect life, of heroic medical achievements amid the decay of medicine generally, of the their suffocation in stagnant systems.

Cancer research is not entirely a matter of manpower, money and machines. Only in part is it an adventure in discovery. Ultimately, it becomes a problem of transferring to sick humans the benefits derived from test tube and animal experiments.

Cancer research is in large measure a conflict of ideas, a desperate defense of the free and enquiring mind against the tyranny of professional conformity, mediocrity, materialism, mechanization and venality.

WHY SO SLOW?

Only by appreciating the human weaknesses governing research and medicine can we hope to understand why cancer control is slow in coming. The means for the conquest of cancer may well have been here for some time; it could be lost in the tangle of words which comprise scientific and medical literature, or bogged down in the fiery institutions which were created to bring it forth.

A disease of civilization, cancer's toll has mounted relentlessly through recorded history. With the conquest of other diseases, cancer has become epidemic — during the 20th Century, its claim on human life has risen from relative obscurity to awesome eminance, second only to heart and circulatory disease in modern countries. It kills 2.8 million people each year.

Cancer research is putting together a gigantic jigsaw puzzle — as big as space, as detailed as the tiniest particle of the atom, as complex as the sequence of the countless chemical and physical events called life. When the pieces finally are put together, we shall know how cancer can come into being, the chemistry of life, the distortions of disease and the irreversible reactions of death.

Laboratory advances are now being achieved so rapidly that no one can hope to keep current with the more significant discoveries. Someday this knowledge will be applied to medicine. Man may then have to find new things to die of, because in solving the cancer problem, science will have discovered, as by-products, the key to infections, hereditary diseases and other ailments, and perhaps even a means of delaying for a while the ravages of old age.

It should be clear at the outset that some kinds of cancer are curable — much more so than the common cold which still is incurable by medical means.

Educating people to behave intelligently in the presence of cancer and teaching doctors to properly use the techniques now available is as great a job as the quest for new means to diagnose and cure cancer.

To different authorities, cancer is variously a half smothered cell; a missing, extra or displaced gene; a distorted nucleic acid; a defective enzyme; an abnormal gland or unbalanced hormonal system; a dietary indiscretion; a virus in disguise; a weakened or corrupted immunity; overworked emotions; an abused habit an accident of birth; overexposure to a chemical or ray in our environment; a contaminating microbe; a cell which has learned the secret of eternal youth, or an inevitable consequence of the aging process.

All of the cancer scholars could be right

RISING CURVE OF CURES

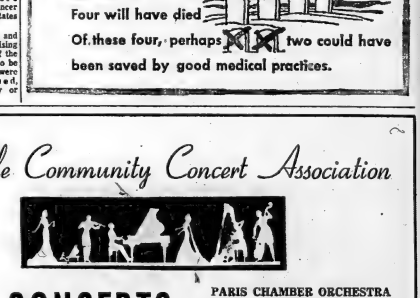
In this respect, cancer scholars are like the legendary blind man who sought to describe an elephant. All of them could be right.

But let us define cancer as a savage cell which somehow evades the laws of the body, corrupts the forces which normally protect, invades the well-ordered society of cells surrounding it, colonizes distant areas and, as a finale to its cannibalistic orgy of flesh consuming flesh, commits suicide by destroying its host.

Just as a city can be paralyzed by the breakdown of any of its essential functions, so can the body become sick or die when cancer impairs an important system or service.

Scientists have induced cancer in animals by many means — by mating, by infection, by radiation, by treatment or feeding with hundreds of chemicals, hormones and poisons. If normal cells are removed from the body and grown in tissue culture, one in every several thousand will develop into cancer when injected into an animal.

Has cancer's cold, hard grip on human destiny begun to relax? Perhaps—a little. More than one million cured cancer patients in the United States alone can attest to this.



What's more, the number and percentage of cures are rising steadily but steadily. Most of the fortunate former patients, to be sure, had cancers which were accessible, readily diagnosed, and responsive to surgery or X-rays.

While almost all incurable cancers remain incurable still, ease and comfort have been given to most of these patients, and their useful lives have been lengthened, often without great pain. To those who have learned to live each day for itself these small advances are a blessing.

New concepts of cancer and its treatment are emerging. It seems inevitable that some of these results someday will be applied clinically to prolong human life, relieve man of his pains and terrors, and enrich him with health and new degrees of productivity.

(Tomorrow: Why not human experimentation?)

Planeload Of Guards Arrives Home

The first planeload of the main body of Canadian troops returning from peace keeping duties on Cyprus landed at Trenton Air Station Sunday evening.

The more than 100 members of the First Battalion of the First Canadian Guards from Picton were loaded onto buses and taken on to Picton.

The air movement of close to 1,000 returning Canadian troops will be completed April 9th the last planeload to land at Downsview to be officially welcomed by Ontario Premier John Robarts and Mayor Phillip Givens of Toronto.

Lance N. Davern of Consecon, property officer for Ontario Hydro's Eastern Region at Belleville has retired effective April 1 following 17 years service with Hydro.

Mr. Davern joined the staff of Ontario Hydro at Toronto in 1948 as a property agent. Two years later he was transferred to the Belleville office as an agent, and in 1956 was named regional property officer for the East Central section of the province. In 1963, he was named regional property officer for all of Hydro's Eastern Ontario region.

Born in Picton, Mr. Davern has made his home in this area most of his life.

No Doctor In 179 Days

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. B. Cohnam, provincial supervising coroner, says Olga Walsh, 43, of Waterloo, died Dec. 31, after 179 days in Freeport Sanatorium in Waterloo county without ever being seen by her attending physician.

Dr. Cohnam said he will conduct an inquest into the woman's death Friday.

"She was diagnosed as a terminal case when she was admitted to the Freeport Sanatorium June 26, 1964," he said Saturday.

He declined to specify what caused Mrs. Walsh's death but said "it was a brain tumor which may or may not have been operable."

Dr. Cotnam said the woman's death "brings up the whole problem of responsibility. Who is responsible for a patient's care in chronic hospitals? This is a general problem which has not been eliminated anywhere in Ontario."

MY HAT!

Dear Susanna: Don't laugh my girl, but is there any practical use for old felt hats?

In return for your usual useful suggestions, I hope you will find the following idea helpful for your column.

When I am blind stitching a hem by hand, I usually sit in front of my sewing machine and anchor my hem under the presser foot to hold my work taut. I can sit straight up and sew more quickly than if I resort to pinning my work to the knee of my dress. Some women pin the hem to a cloth covered brick but I find this is only one more gadget to get in the way.

As I sew a section I raise the foot and move my hem along a little farther, lower the foot again and keep going this way until it is finished. — Mrs. Alfred Anderson.

I'm only smiling, Mrs. Anderson, and there is a use or two for old felt hats! Excellent for protecting polished wood surfaces. Cut a piece of felt to size and glue to the bottom of a vase, a heavy dish with a scratchy bottom, or to the base of a lamp.

Small felt mitts can be made in a fifty to cover the ends of sock knitting needles —Join them with about six inches of elastic, just so they won't get lost.

If you love several soft felt ladies hats in pretty shades, you can make gorgeous oven and fireplace mitts by combining different colors. I have a simple pattern for these with a small gusset at the wrist. Anyone is welcome to it, and a wee hint, as always, would be welcome in return. — SUSANNA

Dear Susanna: After cupboards have been painted and dried, they have to be put back, place, the screws in a small amount of liquid soap. You will find that they are much easier to replace. — E. M. C.

Not at Best in Morning Says Gina Lollobrigida

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"As with most women, I am not at my best in the morning," said Gina Lollobrigida.

"The day should start at noon. If I am going to have a fight with someone, I have to do it in the morning. If I have a pleasant romantic rendevous, I like it in the afternoon or evening."

These opening remarks are what set down to luncheon together in her Waldorf Towers suite left me somewhat in a dilemma. Should I put up my dukes, or recite a love sonnet to Miss Lollobrigida?

Fortunately, the situation required neither.

The dark-haired Italian actress, co - starred with Rock Hudson in Strange Bedfellows, is tempestuous as well as beautiful. Critics have said many things about her many-faceted personality. She herself once remarked drily, "I am an expert on Gina."

Here, then, is Gina on Gina and on life:

"I live where ever I'm working. I fly so much home is where I am now.

"I like to have few but good friends . . . enthusiasm . . . my son more than anything else in the world . . . the color red when I feel good, black when I'm moody . . . gardenias, antique furniture and ceramic vases. I'd rather spend my money on art than jewels or furs.

LIKES SARTRE

"I like red wine, Alsatian wolf hounds . . . summer. . . . emeralds . . . reading Sartre, Chekhov, Steinbeck and Faulkner . . . listening to classical or jazz music . . . soft lights . . . the smell of babies . . . people with strong personalities, Chinese food and shish kebab.

"I don't like dishonesty . . . fanaticism people . . . email . . . to be late to engagements . . . the wind . . . neon lights . . . sleeping in airplanes and waking to find I don't have my feet on the ground . . . small insects.

"To me life is surprise—and I like that. I don't like programs. It's much better to wonder about tomorrow.

"My philosophy is simple. It is this—that tomorrow is a good day.

"Today is important, too, of course, but I never think about the past. I have no regrets. I don't regret what I did. I would make the same decisions again. I don't want to live behind me.

"Who likes to look at dead flowers?"

Ann Landers

Ann Lander's Double Poses As Professional Advisor

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have a very unusual problem and since you are responsible for it, in a way, I hope you will give me some help.

My wife looks like you. People are always coming up to her on the street, in the grocery store, in the laundromat, any place at all, and asking for advice.

She used to say, "You are mistaken. I am not Ann Landers," and that would be the end of it. But lately she has been saying, "Tell me all the details and I will try to help you." These unhappy people hopefully pour out their personal problems and my wife has been getting an earful. Lately she's been telling folks what to do. I think that's going too far. What do you say? — MARRIED TO YOUR DOUBLE.

* * *

DEAR MARRIED — Thanks for the tip. Here is an open letter to all readers:

I do not counsel on the street, in grocery stores, or in laundromats.

If you think you see me, by all means say hello, but please don't ask me what to do about your lazy daughter-in-law or your six-martini husband. The best I can do "on-the-hoof" is suggest that you write me a letter.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — We live in a city which has a famous hospital and clinic. My husband and I moved here two years ago and we like this city very much.

The first year we lived here 18 friends and relatives came to stay with us while they were going through the clinic or accompanying someone else. Last year we had 20 such guests. This year will undoubtedly be a record-breaker.

We have no guest room. My husband and I sleep in one bedroom and our two sons sleep in the second bedroom. This does not discourage our friends or relatives. They say, "We don't mind sleeping on the couch." Or "All we want is your company. Hotels are so depressing."

We are sick of providing bed and board for free-loaders. I work part-time to help my husband's business and the extra laundry, grocery shopping, and preparation of company meals is not only hard on my back but my budget as well. How can I tell friends and relatives that we just can't have them here? — X-AWSTED.

* * *

DEAR X — I recommend plain English — unless you can communicate better in another language.

If you were half as articulate with the folks who take advantage of you as you are when you gripe to me, there would be no problem.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband, Bob, raises hunting dogs. Several months ago his brother Al asked for a dog and said he would pay him later when he had the money.

Last month the dog died suddenly. Al told Bob the dog must have had some defect. He asked for another dog. Bob said O.K.

What Bob left the room I asked my brother-in-law when he was going to pay for the first dog. He replied, "You don't think I'm going to pay for a dead dog, do you?"

I am really burned up. This morning I told Bob his brother is a cheap jerk and not to give him another dog until he pays for the first one. He suggested that I mind my own business. What do you suggest? — BOILING BONNIE.

* * *

DEAR BOIL — A muzzle — for you. If your husband wants to avoid a brother fight (which can be far worse than a dog fight) stay out of it. It may not make sense to you financially but obviously it is important to your husband emotionally.

* * *

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dog Walking Big Business In New York

By RICHAR DF. WHALEN

NEW YORK (AP) —Every morning, rain or shine, Sos Frelinghuysen collects five dozen or five mikltown Manhattan apartments and takes them for a fast, 12-mile romp in Central Park.

Every afternoon she takes another pack 12 miles.

Sos, 20, a stunning blonde, is one of Jim Buck's girls—16 hardy hikers, nearly all college - educated, who prefer tramping 25 miles a day through the park with a pack of dogs to carving a career in the executive suites farther downtown.

"I love it," says Sos, who went to fashionable Bennett Junior College. "You couldn't last on this job if you didn't. But for the first few weeks it was excruciating. Leg cramps. I was beat."

Buck, 33, turned his love of dogs into a business three years ago when he wearied of a $15,000-a-year job as a shipping executive on Wall Street. He began with one dog.

HAS 145 ON LIST

Now he has 145 on his list and 20 people on his payroll. He says he takes in up to $1,500 a week.

"I want to make it clear we're not in the pampered business," he says. "We're a addition the dog. We wear him out to build him up. And by going out with other dogs, he gets self-discipline."

Sos and her pack make a striking scene as they charge up Fifth Avenue to the park.

On her left-hand leashes are a German shepherd and a boxer. On her right - hand leashes are a terrier straining ahead, an old springer spaniel lagging behind and a dachshund in slips around the pack.

Buck says most of his handlers grew up with dogs or horses or both and many come from well-to-do families. Several are former models and executive secretaries.

He says only one in 100 applicants makes the grade as "senior handler" and they earn "as much as an executive secretary," which means between $100 and $135 a week.

Buck prefers women for their patience in handling troublesome dogs in public.

Lippes Loop May Be Answer To Solving the World's Problems of Population

TORONTO (CP)—An American gynecologist has perfected a tiny plastic squiggle which he believes may solve the world's population problems within 10 yrs.

Dr. Jack Lippes of Buffalo, N.Y., says the device is an intrauterine contraceptive which costs only a few cents to manufacture.

In Toronto to address the third annual meeting of the Planned Parenthood Association, the slight, soft-spoken doctor described the device, known as the Lippes Loop, in an interview.

The intrauterine contraceptive is not new—it was first developed at the turn of the century — and Dr. Lippes disclaims credit for its invention. But his development of it was the first to become medically acceptable on this continent. World-wide studies have shown it to be effective, he said.

"Early in my practice of medicine I became aware that the diaphragm was just not being used and was not the solution for many of my patients. Often the spirit of love enters the bedroom, the wife can't just say 'Stop' and begin fiddling with equipment.

"In 1959, I read an article in a medical journal about the use of intrauterine contraceptives in Israel. I started experimenting and made my own devices with braided silk."

BAKED IN OVEN

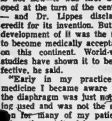
Dr. Lippes was so encouraged by his own results that he began more of the devices at home, hand-moulding them from plastic and using his wife's cookie sheets to bake them in the oven. He lobbied fellow doctors and won the official sanction of the Planned Parenthood Association to continue experimenting.

Five years ago, Dr. Lippes was the only doctor in the United States using such devices. Today he travels around the world on behalf of international agencies, supervising the use of the Lippes Loop in hundreds of clinics.

"In Korea, 40,000 women a month are coming to clinics to have the device inserted, some of them walking 125 miles to reach the clinic. India will use 14,000,000 Lippes Loops in the next three years and it will take only 1,000 doctors to solve India's population problem within 10 years using this device.

"Think of the impact this could have: Parenthood can be responsible and deliberate act, and every child a wanted child. This could reduce tremendously the incidence of unwanted child and all the unhappiness, psychoses and delinquency which is caused by a deprived childhood."

Dr. Lippes said the failure rate—including the expulsion of the contraceptive from the uterus and unwanted pregnancies—is only one per cent, the lowest of any form of contraceptive method short of sterilization. Birth control pills have a higher rate because of forgetfulness, he added.



"A single doctor can insert 10 loops a day without overwork and the cost to a country might be 10 to 15 cents per capita," he said. "This may be the year of universal acceptance of birth control."

GUEST MEAL FOR LENT

Invite guests, observe Lent and delight them with Sole Fillets Amandine. Add expertly Frenched bright green beans, potatoes if you like, tossed salad and Fruited Bread Pudding.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Herbed Pork Chops; Creamed Whipped Potatoes; Glazed Parsnip Slices; Devilled Cabbage Salad; Canned Peaches; Coffee.

SOLE FILLETS AMANDINE
(Serves 6 or 7 generously):

3 lbs. fresh frozen sole fillets, 1 cup fine sifted cracker crumbs, about ½ to ¾ cup melted butter, juice ½ lemon, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup blanched, chopped, toasted almonds, milk.

Thaw sole fillets and dry them. Dip each fillet in milk, drain a little and then coat with crumbs. Transfer to large shallow well-buttered baking dishes (you will need 2 shallow baking dishes for this amount). Sprinkle with lemon juice and salt. Melt and heat the butter until it takes on a gold color. Sprinkle the chopped toasted almonds evenly over the fillets pour the browned butter evenly over and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 12 minutes. Serve at once. My sister said she could have made her whole meal from this delectable fish dish.

The following dessert came into being because my cousin Irene had half a loaf of stale fruit bread that her thrifty nature would not allow her to throw out. My sister was her guest and described what she thought Irene did.

So I worked out my version of it and served it to the guests with the above sole, but baked it ahead of time. Because it lends itself to various changes I think you will welcome it. It is worth while to buy a loaf of fruit bread to try this.

FRUIT BREAD PUDDING (3 egg):

2 cups sliced fruit bread, cut into ½" cubes (preferably stale), 2 tablespoons grated orange rind (from 2 large oranges), ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup sugar, 2/3 cup 18% cream, 1 1/3 cups milk (see below), 3 eggs, yolks and whites separated.

NOTE:

If you do not care to use cream, substitute milk, using 2 cups milk in all.

Pour milk and cream over bread cubes and let soak in large bowl while you grate the orange rind. Add orange rind, sugar, salt and egg yolks and stir to mix. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in. Turn into well-buttered baking dish and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. standing baking dish in larger shallow pan containing 1" hot water, and bake for 45 minutes. Serve warm or cold with a topping of unsweetened whipped cream or pass pouring cream.

NOTES:

1) If desired sprinkle whipped cream topping with shaved Brazil nuts. 2) If desired, stale white bread or rolls or Hot Cross Buns may be used instead of fruit bread but you would have to increase the amount of sugar to ½ cup. 3) You may add ½ cup light Sultana raisins. These would be a good addition if you use white instead of fruit bread.

BRIEF BOOK REVIEWS

"For literature is simply life selected and condensed into books." — John Macy.

* * *

Guess who wrote:

"We step ashore to a most picturesque scene. Still this uncanny half-light. A line of soldiers in their sheepskin uniforms making a smear of ocher — a few idle spectators who as black smudges brave the scuds of snow — As we topped the hill above Murmansk, the clouds lifted and the harbor looked most beautiful in its semicircle of hills and half-lights. The color of a pale pearl gray and of a fairy texture. Quite indescribable and unpaintable, the air crisp and fresh.

"This Arctic scenery has a beauty which is the exact antithesis of the Christmas card of tradition. Soft, melting half-tones. Nothing brittle or garish."

Give up?

Anthony Eden, Earl of Avon, is the writer, describing his arrival in wartime Russia in the third book of his trilogy "The Reckoning," (706 p.p. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company $8.50) It is based on his hitherto unpublished material which is of prime importance to our understanding of the World War II, when he served Britain as Secretary of State for the Dominions, Secretary of State for War and as Foreign Secretary — and rendered great services to freedom's cause.

These are days when winter is reluctant to leave and spring is capricious. Days when it is still good to sit with "hoods at my back . . . and the feeling of the warm fire at my feet" according to Leigh Hunt.

Accordingly therefore we coslly note the new books on the shelf:

Here is the memoirs of Gregor Piatigorsky. He tells of his music adventures in his book Cellist (illustrated, 273 pp. New York: Doubleday and Co. $4.95) which in Russian fashion begins:

"Ekaterinoslav (now Dnepropetrovsk) had a mild climate, but the air in the steppe seldom stood still." He admits he used to practice around the age of 14 at four in the morning "with the soundless system I devised — my fingers on the fingerboard and the bow in the air."

"Once he played for the great cellist, Casals. He played poorly yet Casals applauded because he had noted how well he held the bow and did his fingering, and said, 'Leave it to the ignorant and stupid who judge by counting only the faults.'"

Another time Gregor became first cellist under the great conductor Wilhelm Furt — wangler of the Berlin Philharmonic "the poet of conductors" who once asked his orchestra,

"Gentlemen, this phrase must be — it must — must — you know what I mean — please try it again — please."

This amused Gregor for Furtwangler had told him it was important for any conductor to "convey his wishes clearly" to the musicians, yet: "Strangely, the orchestra knew what he willed, he observed, realizing that such is the case under a great conductor.

From the realm of children's books the point is made that today's child is "closer to the moon than to World War II". Nevertheless, it is pointed out that the war being part of his immediate history, it is necessary for him to understand it thought suffering to the children involved in it. One such book slanted in this direction is entitled "The Children on the Top Floor" by Noel Streatfield, (illustrated by Jillian Willet, 248 pp. New York. Random House $3.50). It maintains tastefully which it demonstrates "without platitudes or sanctimony" that talent is a blessing, that loving is giving, as it depicts the experiences of children affected by war.

These lines bring to mind "Palate Pressures" which appeared in this column several weeks ago. But we do not know who wrote:

"He may live without books — what is knowledge but grieving? He may live without hope — what is hope but deceiving? He may live without love — what is passion but pining? But where is the man who can live without dining?"

Just about every finance manager in Canada will give you credit for buying this car.

They're experts when it comes to economy.

They know, when it comes time for you to make your last payment, chances are your VW will still be looking as nice as the day you bought it.

In 1953, we sold 960 Volkswagens.

And at last count, a few months ago, we found 855 were still on the road.

That's why, when you want to buy a VW, you'll find it's not very difficult to get backing from one of the finance companies that stand behind us. Or any bank, finance company or credit union you choose.

And because a Volkswagen sells for about $1,000.00 less than the average spent on a new car in Canada, the payments you make are likely to be smaller. Or fewer.

Does a VW demand a big down payment? Not very. In many cases, your trade will do the trick.

And we're taking all kinds of trades. Big cars. Small cars. Old cars. Late model cars. Compacts.

But the really nice thing about buying a Volkswagen is that it's priced low enough so you can pay it all in one lump sum.

Or we can come to terms.

Little Basis for Allegations Says Sedgewick in Report

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — Toronto lawyer Joseph Sedgwick reported Saturday that he found little basis for allegations aired in the Commons and the press last year that 24 aliens facing deportation were jailed unlawfully and denied access to counsel.

The 40-page report was tabled in the Commons shortly before 2 p.m. EST in the final moments of the 1964-65 session. Mr. Sedgwick was appointed June 19 by Justice Minister Favreau to conduct an informal inquiry into the allegations.

After reviewing the 24 deportation cases in detail, the lawyer drew the following conclusions:

"While I have found occasion to level some criticism (at the Immigration depart m e n t), should express my opinion that the fault did not arise from any positive or deliberate intention on the part of those concerned to act in an improper manner."

ATTACKS ILL-FOUNDED

"Many of the attacks which have been made in this affair have been ill-founded or exaggerated, and I regret to say I am left with the impression that a good deal of the criticism is based on nothing more than cynical catering for a variety of motives to so-called 'ethnic groups.'"

Mr. Sedgwick said he will submit a second report later recommending changes in immigration laws.

The second report will deal particularly with arrests, prosecutions and deportations under the Immigration Act. It will also include recommendations on the degree of discretion that should be placed in the hands of the immigration minister.

Mr. Sedgwick, a prominent Conservative, said he began this "formidable" second study after Prime Minister Pearson wrote him Jan. 27 to enlarge his terms of reference.

The lawyer's first report was tabled without comment by Hubert Badanai, parliamentary secretary to Immigration Minister Nicholson.

REVIEWS CASES

It reviews the case histories of 21 Greek and one Spanish seamen who were ordered deported after being found guilty of entering Canada illegally by jumping their ships.

Another case mentioned was that of Claude Hooper, 28, who was deported to his native United States last May 26 for the fourth time in three years because he had a criminal record.

Hooper was arrested Feb. 25 1964, in Toronto on a charge of assaulting his Canadian - born wife. The charge was withdrawn a month later at his wife's request but Hooper was held in Don Jail until a few days before his deportation.

Mr. Sedgwick said Hooper was detained for an unduly long period while the immigration department took 42 days to set the deportation machinery in motion.

TIME WASTED

Considerable time had been wasted because immigration officers in Toronto had referred the case to departmental headquarters in Ottawa before taking legal action. He said local officials should be permitted to make such decisions without consulting Ottawa.

The final case reviewed in the report concerned Harold Nurse, a native of Trinidad who entered Canada from the U.S. in 1956 and was ordered deported a year ago. He was released on a $500 bond June 1 and still is at liberty in Canada.

Mr. Sedgwick found "no room for criticism" in the manner in which the immigration department handled the Nurse case.

He denied allegations that the Greek seamen were pressured by government officials and interpreters to inform on others they knew to be in Canada il legally.

cashire, that "the world is looking to us for a lead."

To provide this lead, the British people would have to "streamline our economy and strengthen our economic fibres," and, added Wilson in possible reference to next Tuesday's budget, "that is what we're going to do."

Wilson's trip to Paris had been preceded in the British press by gloomy forecasts that the prime minister today would announce the death of the controversial 1,400 - mile - an - hour TSR-2 strike reconnaissance aircraft. Cessation of TSR-2 production would cripple a big part of the British aircraft industry. The deal with de Gaulle may mean eventual job replacements, with the prospect of creating a big opening in the Common Market by immediling under its tariff wall.

Britain and France are cooperating in development of the supersonic Concorde transport plane and Wilson said in a Saturday night television interview that the two countries now will explore further cooperation, such as on a strike reconnaissance plane and a variable - wing aircraft for the 1970s.

France, a top member of the six - country Common Market, has the sales potential. Britain has high - performance engine skills. Wilson stepped away from signing a joint production treaty with de Gaulle.

It was evident that if France is to gain from this co-operation, it may have to ease its pressure on the British pound which, Wilson emphasized again, will not be devalued.

Before going to Paris, Wilson has spoken in the Commons of what almost seemed to him as "an undeclared war in the monetary field." France had advocated a return to the gold standard and also had turned more of its United States currency holdings into gold. This, said Wilson, had "led to counter-measures being taken by the U.S."

Anglo-French finance ministers now will meet to explore ideas for expanding world financial credit or liquidity and here again the new spirit of friendship may reduce French pressures on declining British and American gold reserves.

Wilson said he very much hoped to see Soviet Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin soon. Kosygin has accepted an invitation to visit London and Wil-

Hanoi

Two American planes were shot down without any loss to the Communist enemy.

RAISES THE STAKES

Officials said that by committing its relatively tiny air force North Viet Nam had in effect accepted the American challenge to raise the stakes in the fight for South Viet Nam.

The air attacks of the last two days presumably have harmed North Viet Nam's economy as much as its military effort.

In addition to bridges U.S. planes Sunday hit and destroyed about 75 per cent of a thermal plant 70 miles south of Hanoi.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returned from policy talks in Washington and hinted that the United States will broaden its role in the fight against the Communists.

Taylor told an airport press conference that there was no sign that the North Vietnamese regime wants peace talks at this time.

In addition to the two U.S. jets shot down by the Communist MiGs Sunday, U.S. officials in Saigon said heavy Communist groundfire downed a number of other aircraft that made the 60-plane attack on a strategic bridge 15 miles south of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

Officials did not disclose the total number of planes lost because rescue efforts were still going on. A South Vietnamese spokesman said three South Vietnamese Skyraiders were hit on another raid, that one returned safely to its base and the pilot of the other two planes were missing.

CLAIMS 37 DOWNED

A Communist Chinese dispatch claimed 37 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were brought down, but it made no mention of the MIGs.

Since the first retaliatory raid against North Viet Nam Feb. 7, at least 11 U.S. Air Force planes, 10 navy and four South Vietnamese planes have been lost.

Eleven of the pilots have been recovered, but the other 14 are either dead, missing or captured.

The U.S. craft have far greater speed than the outdated Communist jets. But they apparently were flying at low level, were in a circling pattern to get at a comparatively small target and could not use their maximum speed or manoeuvrability.

Maj.-Gen. Joseph H. Moore, U.S. Air Force commander in South Viet Nam, said the MiGs bearing North Vietnamese markings attacked in three waves while the U.S. jets were pounding the 800-foot suspension bridge and power station at Thanh Hoa.

Both American planes hit by the MiGs crashed into the sea. The body of one pilot was picked up by rescue ships.

PILOT MISSING

The pilot of a U.S. Air Force propeller-driven Skyraider also went down into the sea when his plane was hit by fire from Red gunboats. He was listed as missing.

Defence department sources in Washington said an American fighter may have winged one of the North Vietnamese fighters, identified as MIG-15s and 17s of Korean War vintage.

U.S. officials were reported chagrined over the fact that the old MiGs managed to down modern American war planes with speeds up to 1,500 miles an hour.

The first flight of four MiGs pounced out of the haze as the American Thunderchiefs circled for a bomb run on the bridge. Caught by surprise, the two lead planes in the American formation limped toward the sea with cannon hits and crashed.

A second wave of three MiGs came in with guns blazing but missed a flight of U.S. rescue cover fighters. The MiGs swung around for another run, but the American jets dumped their bombs and the MiGs escaped.

A third flight of two MiGs appeared briefly and opened fire, but they quickly swung into the haze without scoring any hits.

Despite the attacks, Moore said, the Americans continued plastering the bridge for 45 minutes, rendering it unusable. The power plant was reported about 75 per cent destroyed.

ATTACKS CONTINUE

While the raid went on, 36 South Vietnamese planes hit the Ho Chi Minh bridge near the southern border and 41 U.S. Navy planes riddled a North Vietnamese coastal railway and national route one running south.

The U.S. defence department said the weekend air strikes against three highway and railroad bridges "inflicted serious damage to Communist North Viet Nam's only major north-south line of communication."

"The vital importance of these bridges to the North Vietnamese was indicated by the heavy anti - aircraft defences and by the fact that MiG interceptor aircraft were employed for the first time," the Pentagon said.

The unusual Sunday statement appeared intended to counteract the impact of the U.S. air losses in the MiG encounter.

Pakistan-U.S. Rift Widening

By IQBAL BURNEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

KARACHI (CP) — Pakistan, once known as Washington's "most allied ally" in Asia, is doing what might have seemed unimaginable 10 years ago—seeking an understanding with the Communist powers.

President Ayub Khan's week-long state visit to the Soviet Union starting April 3 is round two in this diplomatic adventure.

Round one took place in Peking in the first week of March and the final round will be played out in Washington April 22.

The order in which these visits were scheduled is significant. Pakistan, still allied to the West through four separate pacts, has lately veered sharply toward an independent foreign policy.

And there is a widening chasm between Pakistan and the United States despite an all-time high in U.S. economic and military aid exceeding $600,000,000 this year.

The differences were evident in the joint communique issued during Ayub's visit to Peking. It opposed the presence of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Indian Ocean, criticized the idea of a nuclear umbrella for Southeast Asian countries and took a rap at the "two Chinas" policy.

American diplomats here talked of Pakistan having passed the point of no return.

ABOUT FACE

Whether the point has, in fact, been passed may better be determined when President Ayub talks to President Johnson.

But Pakistan's present attitude is certainly a far cry from 1958 when the same President Ayub proposed (only to be spurned) that his country and India co-operate in defence against "the threat from the north."

As recently as 1960 Ayub spoke of the "tidal wave of Communism lashing its fury all around us," but these words have been forgotten today.

The new position is reflected more in the comparatively unnoticed remarks of China's foreign minister, Marshal Chen Yi, to a group of Pakistani correspondents in Peking.

"China would go to the assistance of every friend, if asked, against every aggressor," he said, implying a specific guarantee against an attack by India on Pakistan, a contingency that still persists in Pakistan's calculations and which governs its quest for new power relationships.

Marshal Chen Yi took up the same theme twice in a day he visited Pakistan to sign a boundary protocol. "Pakistan, under the leadership of President Ayub, would defeat any attack from any quarter," he said significantly.

And when Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto told Pakistan's National Assembly in July, 1963 that "any attack by India on Pakistan would involve the territorial integrity of the biggest Asian state," his reference was clear even though he didn't mention China by name.

HELPED INDIA

This constant refrain leads to one conclusion: While Pakistan shares formal defence pacts only with the West, it is China that is underwriting Pakistan's defence against quarters she fears most. And this explains Pakistan's diplomatic manoeuvring.

The China-India confrontation of 1962 impelled the West and the Soviet Union to step up military and economic aid to India, both five-year programs of military buildup envisages an investment of about $12,000,000,000 to be financed out of its own resources and foreign aid. Army divisions alone would increase from 11 (as now and with Pakistan's five) in 1962 to 22 in 1966. This has obviously left Pakistan's security problems, especially in view of the unresolved dispute over Kashmir.

President Ayub's visit to the Soviet Union, the first ever by a Pakistani head of state, has to be assessed against this background.

Pakistan's relations with Moscow deteriorated sharply from the moment it opted for SEATO membership in 1954. The Russians reacted by recognizing the Kashmir border territory as an integral part of India and encouraged Afghanistan's demands on Pakistan.

Moscow supplied large-scale military and military support to both India and Afghanistan, and her economic commitments to New Delhi now have reached a total of $1,000,000,000 while her line of credit for military assistance approaches $300,000,000. In the UN Security Council debates on Kashmir, the U.S.S.R. has always used its veto to support India.

U-2 INCIDENT HURT

The darkest hour in Pakistani-Soviet relations was reached in 1960 when an American U-2 spy aircraft took off from Peshawar and was shot down by Russia. Premier Khrushchev buttonholed Pakistan's charge d'affaires at a Moscow diplomatic party and told him in a rocket-rattling conversation that Peshawar now was a "marked" town.

Now, however, the weakening of U.S.-Pakistan relations offers an opening for Pakistan to repair her ties with the Soviet Union. And, in fact, the American, as part of the global detente, may even prefer a limited Russian presence in Pakistan to counteract the Chinese influence.

The Russians, for their own reasons, may share the same objective. And besides they may like to cultivate Pakistan simply to wean her away from the West. After all, Pakistan's opposition to the U.S. nuclear presence in the Indian Ocean and her refusal to send a military contingent to Viet Nam suit the Russians just fine.

The first pointer toward a new look in Soviet-Pakistani relations was a $25,000,000 oil exploration assistance agreement in 1961. A total of 141 Russian technicians now are helping oil exploration operations here.

Pakistan was the first non-Communist country to be given the right to operate an air service to and beyond Moscow in 1964. And trade, though still limited, has been growing between the two countries since 1962.

OFFERED AID

Russia has made offers (as yet not taken up) to help Pakistan in the fields of heavy industry, nuclear power technology and flood control. These areas may be explored during Ayub's visit to Moscow.

The happiest augur from Pakistan's viewpoint is the prospect of a change in Moscow's attitude on Kashmir. During his trip to New Delhi in June, 1964, President Mirzoyan is reported to have dropped a hint to Premier Shastri that it was time for India to mend her fences with Pakistan.

It is no surprise, therefore, that Ayub's trip to Moscow should be surrounded by so much interest.

Twice before the Russians invited the Pakistan head of government, first in 1959 and again in 1956. The visits never came off, although each of the two prime ministers later made his way to the United States.

The same pattern has been repeated this time—with a difference. The call on Washington will follow the more than mere ceremonial pilgrimages to Peking and Moscow.

Alberta's Hutterites

Canada's Harassed Minority Facing Crucial Court Decision

The Hutterites, a devout, pacifist religious sect, have gone to court to test the validity of an Alberta law that restricts their right to buy land and set up new colonies. The history of the province's restrictive measures is traced in this story by a Canadian Press reporter.

By JANE BECKER

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)— The outcome of an Alberta Supreme Court hearing may open a new chapter in the life of the province's least-understood and probably most-harassed minority.

The court will rule on the validity of the Communal Property Act which for 18 years has regulated the buying of land by the Hutterites, a devout, frugal, German-speaking religious sect.

They have been farming communally in Alberta since 1918 and today the province has about 6,500 Hutterites, more than half the Canadian total and 40 per cent of their world population.

Members of the sect still dress and live much as they did in the 16th century. The women wear ankle-length, home-made dresses, black or a dark color; the men wear black jackets, wide-brimmed, black hats and wide-bottomed black trousers. Once they marry they invariably grow beards.

Hutterites rarely educate their children beyond grade school. They attend church every day, grow or raise most of their own food and have little business with the outside world except perhaps to repair a neighbor's machinery, work on his fields at harvest time or sell produce in nearby towns.

SOME CHANGES MADE

Hutterites consider non-violence and communal living integral parts of their faith. But despite their resistance to change, the Hutterite way of life has undergone some alteration.

The horse and wagon gave way to the farm truck and now, in some cases, the panel truck. Some members of the sect wear bright shirts. Where once all sports were barred, children play baseball.

There are small mirrors in some bedrooms, little flower gardens, the occasional mouth organ or radio on a colony. Sometimes a young Hutterite will duck out to play hockey with a town team. And Hutterite women now and then will enter a tavern for a small beer.

"We are just as human as anyone else," said one young Hutterite on a southern Alberta colony. "But we believe we are living in order to be able to get to heaven, and if we are going to live together there we must practise on earth."

In the meantime, the Hutterites, who usually raise eight to 10 children in a family, need more land and this has led them to their present legal involvement.

Lawyers, acting for a group of Hutterites and for non-Hutterite farmers who sold land to members of the sect, have filed statements of claim contending that the Communal Property Act is ultra vires of the Alberta legislature.

FIRST CHALLENGE

The act subjects all communal Hutterite land purchases to approval by a government board and allows new colonies only when approved by the provincial cabinet.

It is the first court challenge to the act, although the Hutterites were told privately by lawyers some years ago that the law was probably invalid.

One argument is that although the Hutterites have never become citizens they are still protected by the Canadian Citizenship Act which grants them the same rights as citizens to buy land.

If the court upholds their claim they will be free to buy land and live where they please unless or until new restrictions are imposed.

If the law is held valid, then a group of Hutterites and the eight farmers who sold them land will presumably face charges of violating the act.

The government maintains the Hutterites bought the land to form a new colony without cabinet permission. Conviction for both buyer and seller means a fine of up to $200 and-or a year in jail. No charges of this sort have been laid before.

What Albertans call their Hutterite problem is peculiarly their own. Although 4,500 have settled in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, neither province has restricting legislation. The Hutterites themselves have agreed to dispersal of colonies so that concentration won't have an undue economic impact on any one community.

NOT BADGERED

Nor has either province experienced the public resentment, vituperative editorials and blazing letters to the editor, the farm-group demands that Hutterites "conform in our way of life," and the occasional burnings of property that have marked their years in Alberta.

Recently, Montana, which has 20 colonies, defeated a proposed law which would have restricted Hutterite land-buying much as the Alberta act does.

Percy Daviet, an Alberta lawyer who has acted for the Hutterites, says he believes the Alberta situation arose mainly because of wartime emotion.

As pacifists and conscientious objectors, the Hutterites were freed from serving in the armed forces. During the early 1940s, Hutterite men stayed home and colonies prospered. This enabled them to buy more land and the demand pushed prices up.

Pressure from other farmers led to the passing in 1942 of the Land Sales Prohibition Act which prohibited land purchase by a Hutterite or an enemy alien.

The Supreme Court of Canada ruled that the act was beyond the powers of the Alberta legislature. It was later rewritten to apply only to Hutterites and Doukhobors. Never again tested, it stayed on the books until it was replaced in 1947 by the Communal Property Act.

HEIR RESENTMENT

This allowed new colonies but only with the approval of the director of communal properties for the province and only if the new colony was 40 miles or more from an existing colony. Colonies were also limited to 6,400 acres.

The restrictions were prompted, at least in part, by the resentment of returning veterans who wanted to buy farms but found that the cost of land had risen. There was also a widespread feeling that Hutterite colonies contributed little to nearby towns, an idea challenged by one survey that showed that, aside from food, they bought as much locally as other farmers.

Acting under the new legislation, the Hutterites began forming new colonies until by 1957 there was virtually no farmland left in southern Alberta that could be acquired without violating the 40-mile restriction.

And while Alberta's farm population was dwindling (it dropped 35,000 to 310,000 in the 10 years up to 1951), the Hutterites were increasing. They had doubled their numbers, to about 5,000, by 1957, and needed more land.

The provincial government appointed a committee to investigate. The result was an amended act which no longer included the 40-mile limit. It provided for holdings of up to 15,000 acres on poorer-grade land and set up a Communal Property Control Board to rule on proposed Hutterite land purchases.

Today, Alberta Hutterites own or lease about 500,000 acres, slightly more than one per cent of the province's occupied farmland. Since 1959 they have increased their holdings by 105,000 acres and their numbers by 25 per cent while the non-Hutterite farm population continues to decline.

Coupled with their general prosperity and an aloofness that keeps others in some ignorance of the way they live, the Hutterites' burgeoning growth has led some farmers in the province that in another 40 years they will own all the good farmland in the province.

The situation reached a crisis last fall when a group of central Alberta organizations, fearing Hutterite growth in their area, called a meeting to discuss the situation.

Hutterites were accused of running virtual slave camps for their children, making other farmers fear for their lives, and strangling small-town economies through wholesale bulk purchases.

The Hutterites say they have no quarrel, either with their neighbors or with the government. And most are against violating the law to get more land.

However, the government says that last fall the Rock Lake colony, 30 miles southeast of Lethbridge, lent six of its members money to buy land from a group of farmers at Brant, 150 miles away. It declares they purchased the land as individuals but then began working it as a colony although permission had been refused earlier for a colony in the area.

Charges were laid but prosecution was held up pending a test of the legality of the act itself.

Tomorrow: "Some people think Hutterites have horns."

Lake Ontario Likely to Rise Foot by May

DETROIT (AP)—The Great Lakes are expected to rise three inches to a foot in their levels during the next month.

With the exception of Superior, where control gates have been lowered to feed the lower lakes, all rose during March.

Superior lost two inches. Michigan, Huron and Erie each gained two and Ontario six.

Between now and May 2, the United States lake survey estimates that Superior will go up three inches, Michigan and Huron five, Erie six and Ontario 12 inches.

Lake St. Clair has gained eight inches since March 2 and is expected to go up another seven by May 2.

Compared with April 2 a year ago, Superior is three inches higher, Michigan and Huron up five and Erie one. Ontario is the same as then.

A Toronto firm of consulting ecoomists—W. A. Beckett Associates Limited—said today it has made a complete forecast of Lake Ontario levels and concludes that a 12-year decline now has been reversed.

"Levels now are expected to rise for at least the next 12 months and conceivably could keep on rising for the next two years," the company said.

Record List of Measures Anticipated in New Session Opening in Ottawa Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament heads into its new session anticipating a record list of measures made as politically-attractive as possible in case the minority government heads into a federal election this year.

After two embattled years in office, the Liberal administration is expected to outline plans and drop hints about such topics as tax cuts for business and individuals, a medical insurance plan, revision of immigration laws, a university scholarships plan and aid for farmers among other things.

MPs can be expected to search through the speech for an indication of how much of the program it sets out for this new session -represents planks for an election platform.

Prime Minister Pearson has already indicated that the federal budget will be brought down soon after an Easter recess—expected to run from April 14 to 26. Tax cuts have been widely forecast in recent months.

Until April 14 the throne speech debate is expected to occupy the Commons.

During consideration of the speech, the minority government faces the prospect of s number of former votes of confidence. It has survived these in the last two sessions largely through the help of the Social Credit party.

Standings in the 265 - seat House: Liberals 129, Progressive Conservatives 95, N e w Democrats 17, Independent 1, Social Credit 9, Independent 1.

MAY REAPPEAR

On the legislative front, a number of the bills probably will make their appearance at the new session.

One is revision of the Bank Act, required every 10 years but put off until this year by a special act at the last session.

The government gave notice at the last session that it intends to make O Canada the national anthem and to set 75 as the retirement age for judges appointed for life. Both are expected to reappear at the new session.

The proposed constitutional amending formula, worked at with the provinces, also may be introduced if Quebec's troubles with approving it in the legislature are cleared away.

On medical insurance, the government may summon a federal-provincial conference to examine the basis of a joint program, possibly putting forward the federal government's views to Parliament as a negotiating base.

Immigration laws and procedures now are under study and a special white paper on the subject of changes has been promised by the government.

SCHOLARSHIPS NEXT?

A program of 10,000 scholarships for university students was an election promise of the Liberals in 1963. They have been prodded frequently since by the opposition to get ahead with it. The last session approved an interest-free student loan program to be operated through the provinces.

The government also has been under pressure to include farm labor under unemployment insurance coverage. This may get attention at the new session.

Agriculture Minister Hays has promised early legislation to establish a Canadian dairy commission to help farmers market dairy products. He also has been working on an assistance program for farm fairs. A loan fund similar to the $400,000,000 municipal development loan fund may be proposed.

Other government promises include legislation for an Indian claims commission, a voluminous bill on railway transportation growing out of recommendations of a royal commission and a "free vote" on abolition of the death penalty.

One major task will be a review of broadcasting legislation and policy by a Commons committee. The government has had no action on committees working on the subject for many weeks.

Committee work is expected to step up sharply in the early part of the session under a provisional set of new rules approved last Friday. Spending programs of 10 departments selected by the opposition are to go to it and the new committees for closer scrutiny than they would normally get in the Commons as a whole.

Belleville Y's-Men's President Jim Barton, Tim Lester, International Director, and Mayor J. R. Ellis enjoy Saturday evening banquet held in conjunction with weekend district Y's-Men's conference.

'Your Role in Y'sdom' Subject of Conference

"Your Role in Y'sdom," was the theme of a two-day conference of Eastern Ontario Y's Men's Clubs, held Saturday and Sunday at the Belleville Family YMCA. Delegates from Ottawa, Peterborough, Kingston, Brockville and Ottawa, as well as Belleville, were challenged to pursue vigorously the goals of Y's Men International, and were reminded of their responsibilities in the pursuit of these goals.

Wing Commander D. R. Adamson, Officer Commanding, 437 Trans-port Squadron, RCAF Station, Trenton, and conference speaker Saturday evening, said that Air Transport Command was bringing closer to reality, one of the objectives of Y's Men International, namely world peace through international understanding.

He stressed that all Canadians have cause to be proud of the services of its military personnel in meeting this country's commitments, especially that through the United Nations. His address, followed an hour earlier in the day, brought into sharp focus the importance of air transport in ensuring that Canada's peace-keeping operations function efficiently.

What can Y's Men do in Y's-dom and in the YMCA, as Christians? This was the question raised by N. A. "Pete" Beach in introducing his forum topic, "Christian Emphasis." A former staff member at Albert College, and now Director of the Canadian Federation of Secondary School Athletic Associations, Mr. Beach stressed the obligation upon all Y's Men to set a high standard of Christian conduct in their daily lives. He cautioned that programs and projects undertaken by a Y's Men's Club must be considered with the movement's code of Christian emphasis.

PARTICULAR TYPE

Mr. Ian Matthews, Quinte Secondary School, observed during the Sunday morning devotional that Y's Men International is a particular type of service club, to the extent that it is based upon, and represents, the Christian cause. It is the 'moral attitude', which, in the opinion of Mr. Matthews, determines to what degree any organization will fulfill its purpose. The Peterborough, he noted, is to regard oneself not merely as 'my brother's keeper', but as 'my brother's brother'. Mr. Matthews said also that problems in human relations are essentially problems of the heart, and, that throughout history many greater wrongs have been caused by his inhumanity to his fellow man.

International Director Elect Tim Lester of Sarnia, inquired of delegates if they were truly aware of what Y'sdom represented. His workshop, 'Orientation in Y'sdom' reviewed the structure of Y's Men International and the scope of its service work. He emphasized the individual club's responsibility in ensuring that all members become thoroughly oriented to its purpose and operation.

Leadership Development, a forum conducted by District Governor Ken Sanford of Ottawa, focused upon the qualities of good leadership and the role of spirited leaders in furthering the cause of Y'sdom.

BANQUET SUNDAY

The concluding Sunday noon banquet was featured by an address from Dr. Larry Wright of Buffalo, vice-president for the Eastern Americas. He expressed concern for the effect that war, and the constant threat of war, must necessarily have upon the developing minds of the world's youth. Political, economic and social conflict challenge mankind to adequately equip today's youth with the resources and moral strength to meet the problems which will be inherited. Dr. Wright concluded that Y's Men, and indeed, all responsible persons have a moral obligation to be participants, not merely spectators, in making this world a better place, for ourselves and for our fellow man.

The weekend conference ended with the installation of District officers for 1965-66. Ken Sanford was re-installed as District Governor and George Scopes of Kingston as Lieutenant District Governor.

Camp David Well Guarded By Hundreds

By STEWART MacLEOD

THURMONT, Md. (CP) — There was no danger of Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson being interrupted by unexpected visitors when they talked for two hours Saturday amid the rustic magnificence of the president's summer home.

High on the Catoctin Mountains, overlooking miles of the lush, bee-covered valleys below, Camp David would rate as' an open-air vault in comparison with the prime minister's summer home in the Gatineau Hills near Ottawa.

While Pearson's summer home is protected by an RCMP patrol, the U.S. president is guarded behind the combined forces of armed military guards, helicopters, an electric fence, the secret service, and total personnel running into the hundreds.

There are six-feet-high steel fences on each side of the electric fence.

The prime minister missed all this security since he was wisked into the grounds by helicopter. But arriving by chartered press bus even when every passenger is listed in advance and invited, is another matter.

VEHICLE HALTS

The vehicle is halted at a barrier where secret service agents enter and look over the occupants.

Accreditation cards must be produced. In the meantime, a security vehicle moves in from of the bus and another behind it. A Secret Service man remains at the front of the bus facing the passengers as the vehicle moves up to the main buildings of Camp David.

The prime minister and President Johnson sat in wooden lawn chairs, covered with four-inch thick blue cushions on the lower part of a split-level patio, surrounded by a low stone wall. A white telephone was at the president's side.

From here, both men could look over half of Maryland. Behind them was the president's summer home, finished in green - painted vertical boards. Huge picture windows faced the valleys below.

Earlier both men, dressed in blue-business suits and hatless, had wandered alone over the grounds as they chatted about Viet Nam and other problems. Deer darted through the well-pruned forests nearby.

Throughout Johnson called the prime minister Mike, except for one time when photographers raised his ire at the press briefing.

"Just a moment, Lester," he said, as he turned away to put the run on a cameraman who had gone around behind him.

LBJ Gives Cool Reception To Pearson's Proposals of Pausing in Air Attacks

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson gave a cool reception to Prime Minister Pearson's proposals for pausing in air attacks on Communist North Viet Nam "at the right time," some leading United States newspapers seem to agree.

The word "cool" is a recurring one in Sunday's front-page reports of the Pearson proposal made Friday night at Philadelphia and tied in with his luncheon call Saturday on President Johnson.

Another line attributed to U.S. sources is that Pearson himself did not feel he had made a significant suggestion toward altering the course of events in Southeast Asia.

This line has appeared before in the various proposals directed at Washington from abroad concerning the war in Viet Nam.

The Washington Star says the Pearson proposal—that the U.S. pause in air attacks at the right time to permit any North Viet Nam a chance to raise the question of talks—"received a quick burial." It and other newspapers quoted unnamed senior officials as saying that Pearson himself regarded the air attacks pause as rather an academic suggestion to an academic Philadelphia audience and that it was not discussed long with Johnson.

All reports tend to emphasize an impression that the president was uncomfortable about questions hinging on Pearson's air-pause idea and there is speculation that the president felt he had been put on the spot.

Almost ignored by newspapers such as The Philadelphia Inquirer, New York Times, Washington Star and Washington Post was another main point in the Pearson speech.

This took up a statement made March 25 by President Johnson about increasing aid for Asia if peace could be obtained. Pearson urged a start with the United Nations on the spectacular Mekong River development.

This project has had help from 21 countries, including Canada, and still is being pushed ahead although it remains the only agency on which South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand have any four-way contact.

The project is a multi-purpose one. It calls for construction of dams for flood control, drainage and hydro-electric power. About 20,000,000 persons live in the river basin, which is roughly the same size as the Columbia River basin in Canada and the United States. Canada's contribution to the project was the aerial survey.

Reports of the Pearson-Johnson meeting generally reflect polite words from senior officials on Pearson's speech but no flaming enthusiasm.

The Washington Post, for example, in its analysis of the Pearson "pause - for - talks" idea, says "official sources leaped on the fact that Pearson twice had said the air attacks should be suspended 'at the right time.'

"As far as the U.S. is concerned, administration sources made it plain, this is not the 'right time'," says the newspaper.

Thus, it is indicated, Pearson is getting the same polite but firm rejection that has gone out earlier to President De Gaulle of France, Secretary-General U Thant of the UN, Japan and assorted other countries including last May's group of 17 non-aligned nations including Yugoslavia and India.

News reports of the Pearson-Johnson meeting, while concentrating on the usefulness of halting air attacks for a time, also tend to emphasize the fact that Pearson and the government have stood behind U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Canadian Ship In Collision Out of Antwerp

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — The Chilean Reefer, a 4,981-ton Danish freighter, was damaged severely Sunday in a collision with the 19,500 - ton Canadian freighter Cape Breton miner off Flushing, Holland, port authorities here reported.

No casualties were reported, but the sources said the Chilean Reefer was almost sliced into two pieces. It was run aground to save it.

The Cape Breton Miner, a new bulk carrier operated by Upper Lakes Shipping Ltd., Toronto, was on the way from Antwerp to the open sea when the accident occurred. The Canadian ship, bound for Port Weller, Ont., was reported to have suffered little damage and to have cast anchor off Flushing.

Two tugs and a salvage boat were standing by the Danish vessel, owned by J. Lauritzen of Esbjerg.

Crown Has an Emotional Appeal, Elected Head Has Not Says Prince Philip

LONDON (CP) — Prince Philip told a radio audience Sunday that one of the Crown's uniquie qualities is the "folk memory of Commonwealth people."

"They appreciate chieftainship in a weird sort of way," he told four teen-agers who interviewed him in a 30-minute unrehearsed radio program, broadcast by the BBC.

It (the Crown) has an emotional appeal which an elected head, in a sense, doesn't. I think it is for the Commonwealth countries they are probably more familiar like the Queen with chieftainship than we are in this country.

"Therefore it is easier for them to accept the Crown as a kind of head and symbol of the association like the Commonwealth."

Prince Philip said he didn't think his personal visits abroad directly helped to "strengthen ties" between Britain and other countries.

"I don't know what a 'tie' is. I would say that as a matter of mind people about Great Britain. I think it makes people aware of our interest, makes them realize we're both living in the same world."

Asked whether there is anywhere he'd particularly like to visit, Prince Philip said he would like to go to China and Russia and mentioned that he hadn't yet seen Japan.

He said he couldn't just get up and go to any of these countries because "it would attract a certain amount of political attention and people would say it meant one thing or another."

"In that sense I'm not a free agent but I think that given a specific excuse, there's no reason why one shouldn't go."

Asked how he thought he would be received, he said: "Oh, I think they'd be reasonably polite."

"We try to keep the children out of the public eye largely so that they can grow up as normally as possible," he said in a reference to his children.

"But you can't have it both ways. If you're really going to be in the public eye, you can't have a family and the family's got to be in the public eye. I think this is part of the business."

Philip said some of the things that annoy him intensely are "peeping-tom cameramen, keyhole reporters and that sort of thing."

He denied that he had ever said: "I know I'm rude but it's fun."

"I try not to be rude, I hope that I'm not rude."

Asked whether he felt he had made much recently, Prince Philip said:

"I suppose I have. I'm getting on to be 44 now. When I was first married, people didn't know what to expect, didn't know what to say to me. Now, I suppose, I'm better known."

He said the things he misses most is being able to do because he is Prince Philip are to "just being able to walk into a cinema or pop out to a night club or go to a pub."

"But on the other hand, I've got a lot of advantages which compensate for it."

Davie Fulton Pledges Support To Diefenbaker

VICTORIA (CP)— E. Davie Fulton has pledged himself to "work with and support" Conservative leader John Diefenbaker when he returns to federal politics after a two-year absence.

Mr. Fulton, former justice and public works minister in the Diefenbaker Conservative administration, announced Saturday that he will give his leadership of the British Columbia Conservative party.

He will seek re-election as Conservative member of Parliament for Kamloops,a riding he represented for 18 years before he took over the provincial leadership in 1963.

Dr. Charles Willoughby, Conservative MP for Kamloops, has announced his retirement.

Mr. Fulton has been mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Diefenbaker for some time.

But he said at a press conference that his decision to return to the federal scene has nothing to do with the leadership. Asked if he would be interested in the leadership if Mr. Diefenbaker stepped down he would only say "no comment."

Canada, India Want to Resume Inspections

LONDON (AP)—Canada and India want the British and Russians to make arrangements for International Control Commission inspection team sto resume operations soon in North Viet Nam.

The request was contained in a report released by the British government today. Poland dissociated itself from the report from fellow members of the commission.

The Hanoi regime compelled the commission to withdraw its five inspection teams from observation posts in North Viet Nam after the Americans and South Vietnamese launched their campaign of repeated bombing north of the 17th parallel Feb. 7.

The North Vietnamese said the reason was that they could not guarantee the safety of the inspection groups.

The six redheads granted a life as he stooped over to lace a skate in the referees' dressing room Saturday evening.

He straightened up, emitted a scarcely audible "whoosh" and pulled a stomach that was harder than his middle. The familiar "zebra" pullover brought nostalgia to many bosoms on.

"You were saying?" Red Storey said looking around.

A timid voice from the rear ventured, "What did you think of the official's incident in Montreal last Thursday night?"

"The official in charge was right. He had nothing to do — one did wo—with the timekeeper's mistakes. Believe me, when a referee is under Stanley Cup playoffs tensions, he has more on his mind than checking timekeepers' actions."

"I didn't think officials were troubled with tension or pressure," said a guest.

"Us, and so," replied Red. "I remember times when I would pace the floor hours before a game. There were other times when it did not bother me any more than if I were going to a movie."

Red waggled a finger. "And don't forget that National Hockey League players—especially the veterans sense what kind of a mood the official is in. They know it from the first puck drop.

"If they see you are 'on the bit,' so to speak, they play according to Hoyle. If they feel you're not up to peak they will try to sneak the odd trick over on you."

"There has been a lot of squawks, especially from coaches at losing teams over officiating. Would Punch Imlach raised so much hell about the officiating last Thursday if his Leafs had won?" someone asked.

"Sometimes given an inch of excuse and coaches will take a mile of referee-baiting. It's part of the showmanship that is such a big item. Besides, and you should know—there are things like headlines."

"Referee-baiting," remarked a bystander, "has been going on for years. Someone once suggested that the officials be placed in the stands where they can see everything. How about that?"

"The time, I think, is coming," Red said with a suspicion of tongue-in-cheek, "when you will see hockey officiating done by an IBM computer. The official will sit by the machine, a disk ends and if Number 10 earns a penalty his name, number, team and penalty will be recorded."

"He will press a button and the information will flash on a large screen suspended over the ice. In a general brawl—well a few plastic gloves would fit him for the job of multiple button pressing."

Someone asked Red which team will win the Stanley Cup this year. He rubbed his chin and said "Toronto should win it because of their depth and bench strength. They should take it from Detroit in the finals because Chicago hasn't very much on the bench. They have Hull and Mikita—but only two good lines.

Red is associated with the House of Seagram. He is in heavy demand for banquets, celebrities' dinners, etc., but finds time from his workaday duties to referee minor hockey tournaments down around Montreal way. He has officiated at practically all the week-long tournaments in Quebec.

He averages, he says, four hours sleep at night, but can take forty winks at a moment's notice... He has a nice sense of humor which is indicated in his business card. His measures an inch in length and a half-inch width. It reads: "If I had some of your business I could afford a larger card—Red Seagram Storey."

At a Shrine Club reception following the tournament, Red paid fitte tribute to the Shriners, coaches and parents, and others connected with minor hockey.

"You are doing to fine job in arranging tournaments for the young fellows. I hope you will extend it to the point where you can hold week-long affairs."

"I enjoy working these tournaments because hockey has been extremely good to me and I want to give something back to it. I know of no better way than to help the youngsters. Besides look at the fun it get out of it. I'll come back to Belleville any time you want me."

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two Canadian teams in the Western Hockey League have a fight on their hands to stay in the league playoffs.

Going into the fourth game of their respective semi-finals Tuesday night, Victoria and Vancouver both trail 2-1.

Victoria lost the Leafs Saturday night scrambled back into the playoff picture with a 5-2 victory. Friday lost the two previous games in Seattle.

Vancouver Canucks were defeated 4-3 in overtime Sunday in Portland. Vancouver had won the first game of the series.

At Victoria, the Leafs drove to a 3-0 first period lead. Larry Keenan opened with two goals with Lou Jankowski, Rolly Wilcox and John Sleaver getting the others. Cheek Holmes and Larry Zeidel scored for Seattle.

At Portland, Gerry Goyer and Andy Hebenton scored all the goals and dominated a bitterly contested game, the 13th overtime contest involving Portland this season.

The Portland score would have been higher had it not been for some fantastic work by Vancouver goalie Gilles Villemure, who made 40 stops during the night.

Goyer scored the winning goal at 8:32 of the overtime period, his second goal of the night.

Buddy Boone and Ron Matthews scored for Vancouver in the first period and Phil Maloney got the equalizer in the third.

Hamilton Eliminates Frontenacs

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Bees defeated Kingston Frontenacs 5-3 Sunday to enter the semi-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B League.

They won the series 4-2. They meet Etobicoke Indians Wednesday.

Hamilton's Paul Chiarot and Kingston's Wayne Clancy swung sticks in the second period and both got match misconducts. Clancy also got four stitches. There were 134 minutes in penalties.

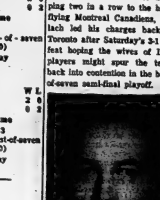
Jim Sproutt scored both Kingston goals.

Lindsay Jrs. Eliminate Gananoque



GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — Lindsay Merchants won the East Central Ontario Junior C hockey championship Sunday, defeating Gananoque Islanders 9-2.

Lindsay meets either Pembroke-base or Mactier in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior C semi-finals.

By BILL NEVILLE

MONTREAL (CP) — Punch Imlach, who's polled almost every trick in the book in winning three straight Stanley Cups, is counting on a woman's wrath to get his Toronto Maple Leafs back on the road toward title No. 4.

Deep in the hole after dropping two in a row to the high-flying Montreal Canadiens, Imlach led his charges back to Toronto after Saturday's 3-1 defeat hoping the wives of Leaf players might spur the team back into contention in the best-of-seven semi-final playoff.

JEAN BELIVEAU

Asked following Saturday night's well - deserved defeat whether he planned to follow his normal playoff custom and spirit the Leafs off to some quiet hideaway, Imlach replied: "No, they're going home. Maybe their wives will give them hell and help me out. A change of scenery, a little home greenery—well, who knows?"

That was about all the optimism Imlach could muster after a game in which the Canadiens scored once in each period, two of them on power plays, for a sweep of the opening two games.

NEED TWO MORE

Coupled with Thursday night's 3-2 victory, it sent Montreal into Toronto for games No. 3 and 4 Tuesday and Thursday needing only two wins in the next five games to advance to the finals.

All this, however, didn't dodge Montreal's Toe Blake from his customary caution.

"There's not a lot to pick from yet," he told reporters after the second game. "Both of these games have been a tossup.

"I think we can still skate better."

Whether Canadiens can is an open question, but there was little argument about Imlach's shortcomings in this department.

"Our guys just stood around waiting for something to happen," moaned Imlach.

The difference was graphically illustrated during Saturday night's first period in a sequence which Blake said probably aldered the turning point in the contest.

Leafs were left two men short right off the bat when Frank Mahovlich and Tim Horton drew penalties within seconds of seconds of each other. Canadiens responded to the opportunity with an all-out attack which produced Claude Provost's goal on a close-in rebound and a 1-0 lead.

MISSED CHANCE

Later in the period, Toronto had the same golden opportunity when Jean Beliveau and Jacques Laperriere were penalized on the same play, leaving Canadiens two men short for a full two minutes. The Leafs, however, mustered only a threat and the opportunity passed without a single scoring shot being fired at Montreal's Charlie Hodge.

Beliveau, a late season standout, scored the winning goal in the final minute of the second period after rookie Ron Ellis had counted Toronto's lone marker.

The veteran Canadian captain scored playoff goal No. 43, fifth best in National Hockey League history—by lifting the puck over a sprawling Terry Sawchuk. Toronto's Bob Pulford was in the penalty box at the time.

Henri Richard put it on ice in the final period with a backhanded goal on a blueline drive. Blue that took a weird bounce past the frustrated Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, who got the starting assignment after a freak pre - game injury to Johnny Bower, was an individual standout for the losers. He handled 36 shots, 28 of them in the first two periods when, but for his efforts, Canadiens would have walked away with the game.

Hodge, who didn't have as many tough ones, stopped 21 shots.

Sawchuk was inserted in the Leaf goal after Bower, a star defeat Thursday night, temporarily blinded himself. Forgetting he had wintergreen on his hands, he went to wipe his brow and instead clouded his vision by getting some of the muscle-relaxing substance in his eyes.

Leafs Not Dead Yet says Blake

BY JOE DUPUIS and AL McNEILL

MONTREAL (CP)—All things come to those who wait—except in the case of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Coach Punch Imlach says his Leafs waited for something to happen Saturday night. And it did. They lost 3-1 to Montreal Canadiens, to give the hustling Habs a sweep of the first two games of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey playoff series.

"We stood around waiting for something to happen, instead of making it happen," moaned Imlach after Saturday's mercy collapse by his defending Stanley Cup champions. "We didn't shoot. We didn't attack. My guys just didn't play anywhere near the way they can."

Leafs are hoping for better things as they look forward to the pleasant surroundings of playing the next two games, Tuesday and Thursday, in the friendly confines of Maple Leaf Gardens.

Their sad night was made a bit brighter for all people, Toe Blake, the happy coach of the flying Canadiens. Blake said the first two games were a "toss - up," and took great pains to call attention his charges that the Leafs aren't dead yet. "There's not a lot to pick from yet," Blake warned.

IS KEY WIN

Habs general manager Sam Pollock said Saturday's win was the key one. "It was one we really had to win, otherwise we would have gone into Toronto faced with a three-out-of five series, with three of those games on their ice."

Imlach, always the optimist, looked at it a bit differently. "Now, we win our two games at home and then it becomes a best - of - three series, and what's wrong with that?"

Blake's men skated hard for their big win Saturday, but their offensive punch was outstanding, particularly the penalty-killing team.

They held only two so-so shots on net in the first period for the two full minutes they played with a two-man advantage.

"That was the big difference," Blake said, adding that key defensive moves by forwards Jean Beliveau and Bobby Rousseau also figured prominently in the victory.

FIND MORE ROOM

Speedsters Rousseau and centre Beliveau continued that they found more room to skate compared with Thursday's rowdy opener—an indication of how the Leafs capitulated to hacking-and-whacking rivals.

Two of the Montreal goals came on power plays, while the third by Henri Richard, was a crazy bouncing dribbler that sidled into the Toronto net. Although it was a fluke, Richard gloated: "I'll take 50 like that."

Imlach said if the Leafs are to win Tuesday they must show leadership on the ice. "If we're going to get a take-charge guy, it's experience we need then if it will have to be either Bob Pulford or Dave Keon," Imlach said. "It could even be (goalie Johnny) Bower."

Pulford, who played only briefly in the first game, took a full turn Saturday night, and Imlach was pleased with his performance.

"Pulford played well, but he'll get better as he goes along."

Riteways Win 'B' Title But Lose 'A' Final

Belleville Riteways captured the "B" championship at the annual Trenton Novice Hockey Tournament over the weekend but failed by a narrow margin to qualify for grand championship honors.

The Riteways took "B" honors on Saturday with a 4-0 triumph over Port Hope. They reached the division finals by defeating Cobourg 7-3.

Earlier, Trenton dropped the Riteways out of "A" contention with a tight 3-2 victory.

Goalie Bill Lindsay, "A" champions by virtue of a 4-2 victory over Trenton, won the grand championship by nipping Belleville 3-2.

Belleville Riteways received a bye and D. Ice and Fuel Trophy for their "B" division championship.

Captain Trenton, Grant Goegan scored from Dave Smith and Peter Smrke for a 1-0 first-period Belleville lead. Smith potted the club's other goal with Smrke assisting, in the second period. McAlpine scored Trenton, with Armstrong helping, and it was a 2-1 game after two periods.

In the third, Armstrong tied it on McAlpine's assist, and McVey drove the game-winning goal, with Armstrong setting it up. Belleville had two men in the penalty box when the tying goal was scored.

Riteways scored three in the first and pairs in the second and third while blanking Cobourg. Danny Lapinette netted three goals and added two assists to pace the pack. Grant Goegan scored twice with Murray Dales and Dave Smith firing the others. Jim Richardson earned Cobourg's shutout. Smith, Mark Coates and Peter Smrke one apiece.

Winning the "B" title, Riteways scored twice in the first and twice in the third while blanking Port Hope. Grant Goegan and Danny Lapenette were the marksmen with two apiece. Smrke, Goegan and Smith each had an assist.

Lindsay and Riteways were scoreless after one heat in the titular game Sunday.

Murray Dales, assisted by Smith and Smrke, got one for Riteways in the second but it was 1-1 when A. Crombie scored for Lindsay. Lapenette for Belleville and Crombie struck for Lindsay made it 3-2 in the third before D. McKay was credited with the winning goal. It was accidentally put in by a Belleville player.

Cliff Belch Gets Appointment

Dormer OASA President

PETERBOROUGH (Staff) — Harold Dormer, veteran campaigner in Ontario softball circles, was elected president of the OASA at the body's 43rd annual convention here Saturday.

Dormer succeeds Immediate past-president Andy Davidson, of Stratford.

Clare Butler, of Willowdale, was elected first vice-president; Max Scheff, of Toronto, 2nd vice-president, and Danny H. Flynn, of Hamilton, 3rd vice-president.

Returned to office unopposed were secretary Lloyd G. Pickard, of St. Catharines; treasurer W. L. Alguire, of St. Catharines, and auditor Ernie Champion, of Hannon, and Dave Leather, of Peterborough.

Belleville's Clifford Belch Jr. failed in his bid for election to the executive committee. Eighteen men stood for the six positions. In heavy voting, those elected were Cec Dunn, of Galt; Tom Sims, of Meaford; Charles Russell, of Oshawa; Gene Reeve, of Orillia; Don Prescott, of Capreol, and Harold Langabeer, of Kingston.

Belch was also unsuccessful appointed to the executive later in the convention. Others were Earl Fowler, Brampton; O. Pearson, Woodstock; Norm Fraser, Willowdale; Joe Roach, Hamilton, and George Thomas, Simcoe.

Life memberships were given to George "Soup" Campbell, of Oshawa, and Otto King, of Simcoe.

"Senator" Harry Rollins, Belleville, was named honorary president, and Dave Leather, Peterborough, honorary vice-president.

Considered at the meeting were amendments to the OASA constitution and playing rules.

Resolutions to increase the pitching distance for seniors to 46 feet from 43 and the batting tee, pewee and squirt pitching distance to 35 feet from 30 feet were defeated.

The age was successfully raised one year for squirt players.

The convention was the largest in the organization's history with well over 200 in attendance, including 136 voting delegates. It was termed "a most successful one."

Belch, a comparative newcomer in the battle for executive positions, said he was "naturally disappointed but there was a lot of good men elected and I hope to be back for another try next season."

The 1950 convention will be held in Scarborough on April 1 and 2.

Howe's Pair Sparks Wings' 6-3 Win

Hull Gets Two

By JERRY GLADMAN

DETROIT (CP) —When Sid Abel was asked for his assessment of Detroit Red Wings' 6-3 victory over Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night, his reply was direct and simple.

GORDIE HOWE

"We all worked hard for the victory," said the Red Wings' coach and general manager.

And Gordie Howe, Abel's incomparable right winger, discouraged the congratulatory efforts of his well-wishers after a two-goal performance in his 1332nd Stanley Cup game.

"It was the whole team that was going," was his summation of the triumph before 15,902 fans that sent the National Hockey League champions into a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final. The series resumes in Chicago Tuesday and Thursday.

The prosaic appraisal of the two one-time linemates was borne out in the list of the night's goal-scorers. Howe and Normie Ullman, a 40-goal man during the regular season, accounted for only two. But the other heroes were less accustomed to the limelight.

SCORES FIRST

Defenceman Al Langlois, who scored one goal all season long and hadn't found the net in 66 previous Stanley Cup appearances, fired the first one. The others came from Parker MacDonald and Ed Joyal, second-string forwards without impressive scoring credentials.

Bobby Hull was Chicago's best as he struck for a pair of goals—his second and third of the series. Fred Stanfield accounted for the other.

There was a marked difference from the opening game in which Detroit registered a close 4-3 verdict. The Wings controlled most of the action and, except for a brief letdown in the third period when Hull counted his two goals, were sharp and impressive.

The Wings employed a type of hockey which saw them take the championship despite a prediction by the experts of a fourth-place finish. They skated hard and fast, kept the puck in the Chicago zone and forced the Hawks into making defensive mistakes in their own end.

The Wings played it tight for the first period and came away with a 1-1 deadlock. However, they opened up in the second, scoring two unanswered goals, and fired three more in the third.

REAY WON'T CONCEDE

Chicago coach Billy Reay was disappointed over the loss, but wasn't ready to concede the series.

"It's still a long way from being over," he said. "We're still in there. We're having our troubles, but we can snap out of it. I've got a good hockey club."

Reay was peeved over the officiating.

He figured a five-minute high-sticking major to Bobby Hull, after Detroit defenceman Doug Barkley suffered a four-stitch gash in his upper lip was unfair.

"Wings didn't get a major when our man (defenceman Elmer Vasko) suffered a cut," he charged.

GIVES 22 MINORS

Referee Frank Udvari produced a fairly steady parade to the penalty box as he assessed 22 minors, 13 to Chicago, the five-minute major to Hull and a 10-minute misconduct to Detroit's Ted Lindsay.

The Wings came out on the short end of the injury department. Left-winger Larry Jeffrey was checked heavily to the ice by Hull and re-injured his sore back. He had to be removed on a stretcher and taken to hospital where his condition was not immediately known.

Defenceman Gary Bergman received a gash to his right cheek.

But the Wings had their own way in the scoring department, especially with a man advantage. Their power play unit accounted for four of the six goals.

The Hawks struck first at the 1:29 mark of the first period when Stanfield converted Red Hay's pass into his first playoff goal. He broke in on the right side and sent a knee-high shot past Detroit goalie Roger Crozier, who stopped 20 Chicago shots.

Langlois tied it with a screen shot from the left point at 8:44.

CAN'T BEAT DEJORDY

The Wings had a two-man advantage on two separate occasions but couldn't beat Chicago goalie Dennis DeJordy, who turned back 39 tries.

Ullman sent the Wings ahead 2-1 in the second with three Hawk players and a Red Wing in the penalty box. He was standing in front of the Chicago net and backhanded Alex Delvecchio's pass into the goal for the second of the series.

Howe scored his first goal of the night with the Wings short handed. Hull was lined up at the left point when he let a pass get behind him. Howe, the perennial all - star right winger, quickly jumped on the puck and sped off on a breakaway toward DeJordy. He fired a hard shot from about 10 feet out which slipped through the goalie's pads.

Detroit opened quickly in the third, taking a 4-1 lead with Howe doing the honors at 36 seconds. He scored on a backhander which found its way through a maze of players grouped in front of the net.

Stan Mikita set up both Hull's goals early in the final period. Joyal scored MacDonald scored in the latter part of the period to put the game out of reach.

Belleville 'B' Champions

Peterboro Wins Shrine Tournament

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

A second overtime period shot on goal — one that didn't score — decided the grand championship of the Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament here Saturday.

Peterborough and Oshawa "A" finalists battled to a regulation time 3-3 thriller then failed to score in the first ten-minutes overtime period.

Peterborough won the tournament and Harry Rollins Trophy by a 3-2 shots-on-goal performance in the second overtime session, a scoreless sudden-death five minute affair.

Belleville and Kingston also reached a second overtime period session before this city's Rick Meagher broke a 1-1 stalemate with a minute to go for the "B" championship and Shrine Trophy.

In the comedy-freckled special feature attraction, the Minor Hockey Association Coaches easily turned back the CNR Oldtimers for a free-wheeling 11-6 victory.

Eight teams went to the all-day tournament post early Saturday morning with Bowmanville edging Belleville 3-2; Oshawa nosing out Kingston 2-1; Lindsay turning back Ajax 6-1 and Peterborough winning over Gananoque 13-0.

The "B" semi-finals saw Belleville defeat Gananoque 7-1 and Kingston winning over Ajax 4-2.

"This is minor hockey at its best. These teams especially the finalists are among the finest peewee clubs I have seen" said Red Storey well-known former NHL referee who officiated in the "A" championship and with Geo. Ashton is the feature tilt.

THRILL-PACKED FINAL

One of the thrill-packed "A" final, Peterborough and Oshawa split two goals in the first period. Peterborough took a 2-1 lead in the second frame but Oshawa tied the score after 53 seconds of the third period.

Oshawa went one up a minute later with the Peten racing back to knot the count at 4:54. It was a big-and-bit battle with both teams going all out to break the stalemate. The goalies of both clubs were little short of sensational.

They went scoreless through ten minutes of overtime and the sudden-death five minute extra session with the eventful shot-in-goal margin deciding the issue.

Bob Gainor, Mike Robertson and Gary Payne scored for the Petes youngsters with John Siedewski with two and Les Kiely racking up the Oshawa goals.

The Belleville-Kingston "B" final was another thriller with the Pasman-Botty youngsters determined to avenge the early morning squeaker defeat by Bowmanville.

Austen Wilson scored for the Bonnsters at 2.00 of the first period with Terry Meagher and Fred Stickle assisting. After a minute of the second period Guy Lalonde took Tim Monhmore's pass to tie the score.

The clubs battled neck-and-neck through a scoreless third and the ten-minute overtime periods.

With a minute to go in the sudden-death second overtime Rick Meagher became the hero of the piece when he sank Bill Buchanan's pass for the win and the title.

In Belleville's 7-3 win over Gananoque, Terry Meagher scored three goals; Austen Wilson had a pair and Bill Buchanan and Rick Meagher one each.

In all the games the work of the Belleville was outstanding but standing out above all was ten-year-old Tommy Wynne of Kingston. The little fellow was sensational especially in his team's 2-1 defeat by Oshawa.

LOOKED LIKE GIANTS

Looking like giants on skates after a day's viewing of the peewees, the CNR Oldtimers and BMHA Coaches provided some fine diversion in their exhibition tilt.

The star-studded coaches won it 11-6 with some aging legs showing flashes of good hockey. The Coaches led 5-2 after the first period and upped it to 9-3 by the end of the second frame. The railroaders edged them 3-2 in scoring in the third period.

R. Taylor scored three for the losers with DeGenova, Pat Barrett and Lapinette getting singles.

Lou Smrke, Moe Hunter and Paul Wall each scored pairs with Doug Murray, Boyle, Les Boulter, Bud Cowan and Ben Emerson scoring singles.

"Looks like you had some good hockey players around here at one time" commented "Red" Storey. "Why some of those guys can skate as fast as I used to."

Jack Derbie took over the post - tournament presentation ceremonies.

"Senator" Harry Rollins presented his "A" championship trophy to youthful captain George Gordon of the champion Petes. Noble Jack Bush presented the Shrine Trophy to the Belleville "B" champion's captain Billy Buchanan.

The "A" Most Valuable Player award donated by Fred Robert, was presented to Bowmanville's Tom Simpson by "Red" Storey. The "B" MVP winner was Belleville's John Mulvihill, presented by Paul Wall. This was donated by the Shannonville Canners.

Tom Christie of Oshawa was presented with the "A" best goalie award, donated by the writer and presented by Albert Watkin of Peterborough, Ontario Minor Hockey Associa-

TO THE VICTORS — The "Senator" presents his Harry Rollins Trophy emblematic of the Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament "A" championship to George Gordon, captain of the Peterborough team which edged Oshawa by a shot on goal in the second overtime period.

PROUD YOUNG WINNER — Alderman Ken Soden hands Fred Lynch the Tommy McNevin Memorial Trophy symbolic of the "Squirtsmanship championship" of the "Squirt Hockey League." Fred was awarded the honor over eight other young aspirants for the trophy. Each received his team championship award.

HAIL, THE CHAMPS! — Billy Buchanan, captain of the "B" champions of Belleville, receives the Shrine Trophy from Noble John R. Bush. Billy's team defeated Kingston 2-1 in overtime to win the title and trophy.

Oscar Awards Night Still Gets World-Wide Attention

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The envelope, please."

A certified public accountant in white tie and tails hands the envelope to Audrey Hepburn, and she slits it open with her graceful tapered fingers. She gazes at the message therein and her face warms into a smile.

She announces: "The winner for best performance by an actress . . ."

Thus will culminate, on Monday evening at approximately 9 p.m. PST (midnight EST), the 35th annual awards of the Academy of Arts and Sciences. The affair has been called a popularity contest, a commercial orgy, a mammoth publicity stunt. Yet it continues to attract world-wide attention.

There has always been much ado about Oscar. The practice of recognizing the best of screen achievement, originated in the final years of silent films, when film makers yearned for their efforts to be rewarded with prestige as well as money.

The gimmick worked. The awards show became Hollywood's biggest night of the year. It continues to be, even though the awards are no longer presented in Hollywood. Scene of the telecast is Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, 12 miles from Hollywood and Vine.

MEANS MORE MONEY

Oscar has paid off not only in prestige, but in cold cash. The value of a major academy award in a movie is incalculable; some say $1,000,000, others say $2,000,000. The award can also help stimulate a fortune in added revenues for actors with lasting appeal and sound management. (The Oscar has also proved valueless to winners who lacked versatility and judgment.)

It is no wonder that film creators place great stake in the golden statuette, which has an actual value of only $60.

The campaign for recognition reaches a crescendo in early February, when the nominations are voted. Members of the academy in each craft vote for their own nominees—actors for actors, directors for directors, etc. All 2,800 members nominate the best pictures.

The battle is joined when the nominations are announced.

The nominated films are presented for voters over a four-week period at the academy's theatre on the border of Beverly Hills. In mid-March, ballots go out to members and they vote in all categories. Do they vote as individuals?

"No," argues actor George C. Scott, who shocked Hollywood by returning to refuse his nomination as best supporting actor three years ago. "Bloc voting is still rampant."

His charge cannot be substantiated, since the academy reveals nothing about the voting. The academy's supporters counter that bloc voting is negligible, since studio payrolls are much diminished. And many top awards in recent years have gone to independent and foreign nominees who could manage no blocs.

After each of the nominated films has unreeled twice at the academy theatre, the voters mark their ballots. Whether they decide on artistic merit, personal prejudice or—as Scott darkly suggests—studio loyalty, no one knows. The only one who might give a hint is the accountant from Price, Waterhouse who tallies the votes. So far he isn't talking.

Best picture: Becket, Dr. Strangelove, Mary Poppins, My Fair Lady, Zorba the Greek.

Best Actress: Julie Andrews, Mary Poppins; Anne Bancroft, The Pumpkin Eater; Sophia Loren, Marriage, Italian Style; Debbie Reynolds, The Unsinkable Molly Brown; Kim Stanley, Seance on a Wet Afternoon.

Choice: Julie Andrews, partly as consolation for not getting the My Fair Lady film.

Best Supporting Actor: John Gielgud, Becket; Stanley Holloway, My Fair Lady; Edmond O'Brien, Seven Days in May; Lee Tracy, The Best Man; Peter Ustinov, Topkapi.

Choice: Edmond O'Brien to win his second Oscar.

Best Supporting Actress: Gladys Cooper, My Fair Lady; Edith Evans, The Chalk Garden; Grayson Hall, [illegible] of the Iguana; Lila Kedrova, Zorba the Greek; Agnes Moorehead, Hush ... Hush, Sweet Charlotte.

Choice: Agnes Moorehead for a splendid piece of hamming.

Best Director: Michael Cacoyannis, Zorba the Greek; George Cukor, My Fair Lady; Peter Glenville, Becket; Stanley Kubrick, Dr. Strangelove; Robert Stevenson, Mary Poppins.

Choice: George Cukor to continue the My Fair Lady sweep.

MacArthur Documentary Stuck Close to Biography

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The special, hour-long documentary about Douglas MacArthur on ABC Sunday night stuck pretty close to straight biography.

It was told with the usual collection of old films, still pictures, bits of newsreels and some public appearances of the brilliant, controversial general.

The successes and failures were all put into the record. But after an hour, Douglas MacArthur seemed as much a mystery as before.

He remained as narrator Van Heflin described him when he was presiding over the reconstruction of Japan: A remote authoritarian figure.

Twentieth Century in a half hour on CBS Sunday night was able to reveal much more of the motivation and inner processes of violinist Isaac Stern. Stern, as articulate man as well as a great artist, co-operated magnificently.

HE'S A HAM

Describing himself as a born ham, Stern explained the relationship of the audience to his music.

"I love to play music," he said, his face reflecting this. "It is an act of love."

He told of his need to take on a gruelling schedule of 120 concerts a year, his admiration for hotel rooms with thick walls so he can practice four hours starting at midnight, the importance of owning his own home and food, his joy in chamber music.

Saturday night, CBS launched a British-made cloak-and-dagger program called Secret Agent. It has a terribly bored James Bondish hero who unfortunately has a tendency to mumble.

The whole production had an embarrassing quality of a high school dramatization.

tion president.

Sensational Tommy Wynne of Kingston easily won the "B" best goalie trophy presented by OMHA first vice-president Doug Patterson of Stirling.

PROUD YOUNGSTER

Perhaps the proudest youngster on the ice was Fred Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lynch, 25 Pine Street.

Youthful Fred was awarded the Tommy McNevin Memorial Trophy, symbolic of the loge in "sportsmanship." He was selected from a field of nine "sportsmanship" teams winners. Fred played for the Canadiens.

A. Norman Ken Soden, representing Mayor Jack Ellis made the presentations. Receiving their awards were: Billy Leitch, Generals; Stuart Boardman, Leafs; Paul Neill, Red Wings; Timothy Marta, Teepees; Richard Burnett, Bruins; John Sprackett, Hawks; Robert Moore, Maroons, and John Edwards, Barons.

Shield president Alex Pierson and tournament committee chairman, Noble Tom Lewis, paid appreciative tribute to BMHA president Ed Adamson and his co-workers, the BMHA Women's Auxiliary who looked after the inner wants of the youngsters under president Mrs. Grant Sickle; the OPP, Oldtimers and the BMHA coaches, hockey teams and others who assisted in any way.

A special thanks goes to the House of Seagram and "Red" Storey, its representative, who drove here from Montreal at no Shrine expense.

Tribute was also paid to the referees who officiated at no cost. These included Earl Cousins, Bill Janitsch, Bruce Gibbons, Don Wilson, Ted Clarke, Jim Clarke, Ted Brooker, Blake Moynes, Earl Rivers, Bruce Seamen, Gord Gregory, Brian Wilson and Lorne Blutchford. Not forgetting the demon statistician, Don Dolan, and assistant recreation director Norm Carter.

Ted Pordham Wins Second Ontario Title

Ted Pordham, Moira Secondary School, 123-pound OFSSA wrestling champion, added a second titular feather to his cap of achievement over the weekend.

TED PORDHAM

The youthful Moira grappler stepped out of his class to win the 125½ pounds title in the Ontario Closed Free-Style Championships held in Toronto.

Ted defeated Dennis Saunders of the University of Western Ontario, the intercollegiate class champion in his first bout.

He then went on to take the final bout and championship from Paul Huckins, a Toronto entry.

Pordham, the first secondary school student of the city to win the all-Ontario championship, was the lone representative from this area.

And equally proud as the young title-winner was his coach, Mr. David Bell, physical director of Moira.

Mr. Bell accompanied the new champion to Toronto and naturally was elated with the results.

The two victories brings Pordhams win total of the season to 31 with three losses.

Dean Chance Is Latest Mound Casualty

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stay loose, Don Drysdale. It's open season on Cy Young Award winners.

Dean Chance, 1964 recipient of baseball's top pitching prize, is taking his lumps — literally — this spring in exhibition play. Sandy Koufax and Whitey Ford, the 1963 and 1961 winners respectively, have come in for more than their share of training camp troubles.

Of the last four pitchers to capture the award, only Drysdale has managed to stay physically fit and effective against the hitters.

Chance, Los Angeles Angels' 20-game winner, was knocked out of the box by a line drive Sunday for the second time in the last two weeks. He faced only four hitters in his club's 6-0 loss to San Francisco Giants.

CLUBS TRIM ROOTERS

Veteran pitchers Don Elston of the Cubs and Chuck Estrada of Baltimore Orioles and Rick Reichardt, the Angels' $175,000 bonus outfielder, were among weekend roster casualties as clubs trimmed down to 28-player day limits.

The Cubs released Elston. The Orioles optioned Estrada, 27, to Rochester Red Wings of the International League. The Angels shipped Reichardt to Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League.

Cincinnati Reds won their 13th exhibition game in the last 14, whipping Detroit Tigers 4-3 as Frank Robinson drove in three runs. St. Louis Cardinals slugged Kansas City Athletics 14-1, scoring 10 runs in the fourth inning.

Cookie Rojas' run-producing single in the 10th inning lifted Philadelphia Phillies past Baltimore 4-3 and Ossie Virgil's three-run homer gave Pittsburgh Pirates a 9-5, 10-inning decision over New York Mets.

Washington Senators nipped the Yankees 4-3 on Ed Brinkman's decisive run-scoring triple in the sixth. Tony Cloninger pitched the first complete game for Milwaukee Braves, topping Houston Astros 3-1.

The Dodgers rocked Chicago White Sox 8-5, Tommy Davis driving in his 35th and 36th runs of the spring. Dick Donovan's two-hit pitching for 7 1-3 innings paced Cleveland Indians to a 7-1 victory over another Angel squad and Minnesota Twins were jolted 4-0 by their Denver farm club of the PCL.

Bob Purkey's route - going three-hitter gave St. Louis a 2-0 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday while Cincinnati whipped the Dodgers 6-1 and Houston blanked Milwaukee 1-0.

The Tigers slammed the White Sox 7-4, the Mets shaded the Athletics 7-6 and Cleveland downed the Angels by the same score.

The Yankees staggered to an 8-7 victory over Washington. Boston Red Sox hammered the Cubs 9-5 and the Orioles got five innings of shutout pitching from Wally Bunker in defeating the Phillies 6-1.

Large Flocks Of Ducks Near Outlet Beach

PICTON (Staff) — The ducks appear to prefer the Bruce Marsh resort at Outlet Beach, in the "off season". While the resort is presently empty of the bustle and bustle of tourist summer activity, the ducks have moved in by the score. Several hundred have moved into the open water between East Lake and Lake Ontario. Mr. Martin stated that in all the many years of operating his business in this area he has never seen such a large flock taking shelter there at this time of year. The ducks have been there for some days and did not appear to be disturbed by cars traveling within a few feet of them.

Ratepayers Will Hear Candidates

PICTON — Ratepayers of the township of North Marysburgh will have an opportunity to hear candidates in the municipal election to be held April 12, explain their policies and views prior to the election.

The group of ratepayers, which was responsible for two previous meetings prior to the nomination, has called a public meeting at the township hall at Waupoos, Saturday afternoon, April 10 at two o'clock.

Another object of the meeting is to establish a ratepayers association which has been suggested by speakers at previous meetings.

Ratepayers of the township will select two members to fill council vacancies from those who qualified, Howard Bellwood, Arthur Frizzell, George Rose, Ken Wattam.

The two elected will fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Harold Harrison and, David Wattam, after their qualifications to sit on council are declared legal.

The election is creating great interest in the township and a record vote is expected on Monday April 12. Voting hours are between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Polling sub-division No. 1 at the township hall, Waupoos, has Herby Creasy as DRO and Rog Eaton as clerk. At No. 2, Peter Thissen's house, Greenbush, DRO is Peter Thissen with Harold Fawcett as clerk. At No. 3, Ladies' Aid Hall, Cressy, Percy Harrison is DRO and Howard Burley clerk. The returning officer is the township clerk, H. M. Hicks.

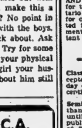
Skating Show Draws Large Crowd to Arena

PICTON (Staff) — "Spice on Ice" a colorful skating show drew a large crowd of over 900 to see Edward County Memorial Centre Friday night. This was the first ice show of the newly-formed Prince Edward Skating Club, which was organized last fall. Although most of the performers were young in the numbers, were well presented and some of the acts were revealed exceptional progress.

Guest artists were Stephanie Anne of Crystal Figure Skating Club, Kingston, Terry Webb of the Trenton Club, Susan and David Beattie of Quinte Club, Belleville; Charlotte Tatton and her husband Paul of Belleville who demonstrated ballroom dancing. Mrs. Tatton, is the instructor of both the Picton and Wellington Clubs.

A group of 12 local men provided to be the hit of the show with their presentation of a ballet number. Dressed in long bloke gowns and bonnets they provided a hilarious performance.

Successful Living



Loving and Kind Husband Has Developed Roving Eye

DEAR DORIS — My husband has always been kind but recently he has changed. Now he's doing things that really hurt me.

Now after a workout at the gym he goes for a beer with the boys and I'm sitting at home waiting for him. Same thing on Sunday, but he won't bring his friends here.

When he sees a pretty girl he looks her all up and down, and even flirts with my girl friends. Once I started to cry and he just got mad and started calling me names.

I never go out unless he takes me. I can remember not so long ago he worshipped the ground I walked on. It makes me sick to think I'm losing him for a reason I don't know. — PUZZLED AND SAD.

DORIS CLARE

DEAR PUZZLED — The honeymoon is over. Now it's time to take stock of this marriage of yours.

For one thing, you are being pacified to times out with your special pill. If he goes to gym, why not make this a time to have the girls in for a game of bridge? No point in making him feel guilty every time he relaxes with the boys.

Stop acting like things you just don't check about. Ask yourself whether you have resorted to nagging. Try for some special good cheer with him. And check up on your physical appearance. Remember you were the pretty girl your husband chose to marry. Nothing abnormal about him still having an eye for beauty.

Gore

THE GORE — Mrs. Frank Townsend has returned to her home here after a holiday in Florida with her son, Asahel and family.

The Misses Audra Brickman and Irma Hagerman spent Sunday with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bryant of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Fulmer and Mrs. Kenneth Green motored to Indian River recently and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morden, Peterborough spent a day recently with his sister, Mrs. Sidney Fox and family.

The Lenten Bible study group met Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Montgomery.

Coates Wins Tenpin Title

HAMILTON (CP) — Paul Coates of Hamilton came from behind Saturday to win the Ontario Masters' tenpin bowling championship.

Coates had 2,856 for 15 games. Four pins behind was Jim Brace of Scarborough, 1965 Toronto Masters' champ.

Tony Chibi of Leamington was third with 2,842, followed by Jim Kramer of Sault Ste. Marie with 2,823 and Jack Krutsch of Windsor with 2,820.

Coates will represent Ontario in the Canadian final in Montreal April 16-17.

Stave Off Petes

Marlies Rally, Win Two

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At the rate Toronto Marlboros and Peterborough Petes are going, the Ontario Hockey Association may be ready to declare a champion for its Junior A series sometime around Grey Cup Day.

The Marlies, who took eight games to settle what was billed as a best-of-seven quarter-final against Montreal Canadiens before tangling with the Petes, go into the eighth game of their semi-final set at Peterborough tonight. And if that one should end in a tie, the possibilities are practically limitless.

The second - place Marlboros, who finished seven points ahead of the third-place Petes in the league standings, staved off elimination Saturday night with a 5-3 victory. They did it again even more dramatically in Toronto Sunday, overcoming a four-goal deficit to win 5-4.

Buffalo, Bears Win Openers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nine games have been played by the six surviving American Hockey League teams since the Calder Cup playoffs began last week and every one has gone to the home team.

That's bad news for the teams that finished lower down in the standings because they have to play the odd game of their series on the road.

So Hershey Bears, who squeaked past Baltimore Clippers 3-2 Saturday night for their first win in three starts, can look forward to one more home game in their best-of-five quarter-final before going back to Baltimore. That's the penalty for finishing third in the eastern division of the AHL while the Clippers finished second.

The same dilemma faces Pittsburgh Hornets, third-place finishers in the West, who were blanked 2-0 at Buffalo Saturday night for their second straight defeat before downing the second - place Bisons 4-1 at home Sunday.

In the best-of-seven semi-final between the divisional leaders, Quebec Aces trail Rochester Americans 2-1 after winning their first game over the westerners 5-3 at Quebec Sunday. Because of a higher point total, the Americans get the odd game at home.

Sherbrooke Defeats New Glasgow

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)— Simon Nolet tallied three times Sunday to spark Sherbrooke Beavers to an 8-1 victory over New Glasgow Rangers which gave Beavers the best-of-five eastern Canadian Allan Cup quarter-final series 3-1.

Nolet scored twice in the second period and once in the third. The goals were his sixth, seventh and eighth of the series.

Rod Gaudreault fired two goals for the Beavers while Larry Drouin, Gilles Cartier and Rejean Richer added one each.

Ben Leblanc was the lone Ranger marksman.

New Glasgow won the opening game of the series 4-2 but lost the next two 8-0 and 13-4.

Sherbrooke now plays Kingston Aces in the semi-finals.

Many Throne Speech Proposals

Third House Session Could Be Eventful, Stormy

Three Items Dominate Govt. Policy Statement

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — Opening frills dispensed with, Parliament digs into a new session today armed with one of the heaviest packages of legislative proposals ever handed it.

The government - written speech from the throne, read by Governor-General Vanier at Monday's ceremonial opening, has set the stage for what could be an eventful and politically stormy third session of this 28th Parliament.

Additional Throne Speech Stories on Page 9

Three items dominated the 3,000-word policy statement:

—Calling of a federal-provincial conference as a first cautious step towards a national medical care plan.

—Enactment of welfare and job-creation measures aimed at what the throne speech called the elimination of poverty.

—Establishment of a Company of Young Canadians to tackle economic and social projects at home and abroad, much like the late president Kennedy's youth-oriented U.S. Peace Corps.

PROMISE AID

Other issues promised increased assistance for farmers, fishermen and veterans; expanded programs to spur urban and rural development; an attack on the job-cutting effects of automation and revision of Commons rules to speed the handling of the nation's business.

Initial reaction from Opposition critics was mild, apart from a hedge-statement from Mr. Diefenbaker who

Reds Again Close Links To Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters) — East Germany closed Berlin's highway links to West Germany for the second straight day today, but opened them after 4½ hours, police reported.

The autobahns between the divided city and Munich and Frankfurt were blocked at the Berlin end and the Berlin-Hanover route was shut at both ends as the Communists created pressure against a West German parliamentary meeting here Wednesday.

The barriers also were lifted at the West German end of the Hanover autobahn the main artery between Berlin and the West which was the only one completely sealed.

Four Allied military cars were held there during the morning.

At the Berlin end, East German police stopped civilian vehicles and Russian soldiers halted Allied military cars when the blockade started.

Three Allied vehicles were held at the Berlin end, but they returned to the city after the Russians closed their offices and left the East Germans in charge. The Allies refuse to deal with East Germans.

Today's shutdown of the autobahns lasted about a half an hour longer than Monday's.

Meanwhile, West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other Bonn politicians arranged to fly to Berlin for the Bundestag meeting Wednesday, undeterred by a Russian warning that military manoeuvres might also affect air traffic to the city.

Stronger Powers Needed

TORONTO (CP)—The only way the Ontario Securities Commission could influence the Toronto Stock Exchange would be to threaten to use its "atomic bomb"—closure of the exchange itself, says the chairman of the OSC.

J. R. Kimber, appearing Monday before the legislature's standing committee on government commissions, agreed with members that his organization lacks stronger powers.

The commission has no control over the TSE but informal discussions are taking place between the two over the listing of companies on the exchange, he said.

During his period as chairman no stock had been delisted by the exchange because of a suggestion by the securities commission.

Mr. Kimber agreed that abuses creep into stock offerings by unlisted companies whose sale of securities is controlled by the OSC.

IT CRAP GAMES

Ross Whicher, former Liberal financial critic, said there is a feeling across North America that the Toronto Stock Exchange is the biggest crap game on the continent.

He asked how the public could be protected against fly-by-night mining stocks.

Bev. Lewis (PC — Toronto Humber) asked the commission chairman whether directors of a mining company could sell stock to the public and make a fat living by eating up the money in salaries and overhead.

"They might get away with it once," Mr. Kimber said.

Mr. Lewis

Mr. Kimber said that if a mining company doesn't use money for explorations as laid out in its prospectus, the commission can prevent the company from selling any more stock.

HAS NO JURISDICTION

However, after a company has completed the sale of securities, the securities commission has no further jurisdiction over the management of that company.

Stephen Lewis, New Democratic Party health critic, told the legislature the case history of one disturbed 18-year-old girl shows governmental callousness, ignorance and neglect of

New Berlin Rumpus Has Artificial, Improvised Look

NEW YORK (AP)—The new rumpus over Berlin has an artificial, improvised look.

It seems to fall short of real crisis. The Communist challenge is directed more at the West German government than specifically at the United States or the Western allies.

Big fusses over Berlin come regularly every few years. In the past, the appearance of a Berlin crisis usually was a reflection of some sort of Soviet policy problem, domestic or foreign.

This time it is possible the East German Communists insisted something had to be done to challenge the West German Parliament's plan to meet in West Berlin Wednesday. But the East German interference with land and air traffic to the isolated city undoubtedly was undertaken with Soviet approval.

In each successive crisis, the Russians evidently have hoped to test the will of the government gain from sanctioning and supporting harassment of air and autobahn traffic. Each time they have pulled up short of the dangerous showdown with the United States and the West.

This time Soviet policy makers, who have not been accomplishing much recently, might see some advantages in carefully heating up the Berlin atmosphere, but the operative word is "carefully".

Since they have been barred from any really effective endeavors in the Far East because of Chinese hostility to Russian influence there, the Russians have been focusing their attention on Western Europe and on attempts to exploit divisions in the North Atlantic alliance.

The Kremlin has had much trouble in the world Communist

Council Approves Budget For Spending $5 Million; Grants, Surplus Cut Levy

Public, High School Rates Decline While General Rate Is Higher

Belleville's tax rates for 1965 will be down slightly from that of last year, despite a new high for estimated expenditures.

Following a five-hour budget meeting yesterday city council set this year's residential rate at 30.4 mills, down three tenths of a mill, while the commercial rate will be 33.7 mills, down six tenths of a mill from 1964.

The general rate portion of the total rate will be increased to 21.1 mills for commercial, up from 20.5 mills last year, and 19.1 mills for residential, up from 18.4 last year. The school rate is down.

RECORD EXPENDITURES

Estimated expenditures for 1965 have been set at $5,057,443, the highest in the city's history and up $375,811 from last year.

Against total expenditures, grants and subsidies, along with a surplus of about $141,000 carried forward from last year will total $2,868,787, leaving a balance of $2,068,656 to be raised by taxation.

Offsetting the increased over-all expenditures are higher legislative grants for school purposes and increased assessment.

The public school rate this year will be 7.1 mills commercial as compared with 7.5 mills last year, while the residential public school rate will be 6.6 mills compared with 6.7 mills last year.

The high school rate is set at 5.3 mills, down from 6.3 mills last year, and the high school residential rate will be 4.9 mills, down from 5.6 mills in 1964.

The Separate School rate is the same as for public schools.

PLAN MORE WORK

Mayor J. R. Ellis described the 1965 mill-rate as a "progressive" one with the slightly increased general rate to provide funds to carry out an increased volume of work on streets and sidewalks.

One of the city department budgets sharply increased this year will be that of the parks board for which expenditures of $11,000 are proposed.

General government this year will cost $364,910, up from $348,964 last year, protection to persons and property (police and fire) $880,007 up from $833,617; public works, $505,

'Copters Inflict Big Toll

From AP-Reuters

SAIGON (CP)—More than 120 Communist Viet Cong were killed and six Americans were dead or missing today in one of the bloodiest engagements in the Mekong Delta in months, U.S. officials said.

Initial reports indicated that South Vietnamese government forces suffered more than 60 casualties, including about 16 killed.

Heavy fighting was reported still in progress. The scene was the CA Mau Peninsula, about 130 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force B-57 jet bombers flew 16 strikes against the Viet Cong in the area today.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, 22 American airmen were flown, making today one of the heaviest days of air operations in South Viet Nam to date.

In the Ca Mau fighting, many of the enemy were reported brought down by fire from American helicopters.

WITHDRAWAL FORCED

Under the heavy battering from land, water-borne and air units, the Viet Cong apparently were forced to make withdrawals leaving their dead on the battlefield, where they could be counted. Usually they try to carry off the bodies.

A heavy haul of Communist weapons was reported captured.

The action began Sunday when 24 U.S. Army helicopters escorted by 13 armed helicopters landed rangers and regular South Vietnamese soldiers in several attack zones. They were met with immediate heavy fire, and a battle in the paddy fields has been raging ever since.

Other heavy fighting was reported in Tay Ninh province, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese defence ministry claimed the Viet Cong were killed in two battles in Binh Dinh province, where the government is trying to roll back massive gains made by the Viet Cong in December and January.

DELAY EXECUTION

Government authorities at Da Nang, 380 miles north of Saigon, postponed until Thursday the public execution of a Viet Cong terrorist. They said the prisoner was giving information about Communist activities in the Da Nang area.

The terrorist was captured Sunday night in the Dong Son hotel in downtown Da Nang. He had 2½ pounds of plastic explosives concealed in a transistor radio.

Police also disclosed a plot to blow up Saigon's posh Caravelle hotel Saturday on another Viet Cong terrorist who was to have carried out the attack gave himself up Saturday.

The terrorist drove a car carrying about 300 pounds of plastic explosive into the rear yard of the Caravelle Hotel, which is used by many Americans.

There were reports that the Viet Cong was planning a terror campaign in Saigon, using booby - trapped fountain pens, cigarette lighters and radios. Several such objects have been picked up recently.

Favreau's Conduct Questioned

By KEN KELLY

QUEBEC (CP)—The conduct of Justice Minister Favreau and the RCMP was probedly questioned Monday as the Dorion judicial inquiry entered the final stages of its investigation of the Lucien Rivard affair.

In a day - long summation, Commissions Counsel Andre Desjardins suggested Chief Justice Frederic Dorion must decide whether Mr. Favreau was wrong not to consult legal advisers in a case involving a political colleague and himself.

He posed Chief Justice Dorion four questions about Mr. Favreau's decision Sept. 18 not to lay charges against Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to the immigration minister.

Besides asking whether Mr. Favreau erred in making the decision himself, Mr. Desjardins asked:

1. Should Mr. Favreau have immediately notified Prime Minister Pearson and Postmaster-General Tremblay, then immigration minister and Denis' boss, about involvement of Denis and Liberal MP Guy Rouleau, parliamentary secretary to Mr. Pearson at the time, in an investigation of bribery and coercion allegations?

2. Should Mr. Favreau have

'My Fair Lady' Winner Of Eight Oscar Awards

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — My Fair Lady, like the Cockney flower girl whose story it tells, made good-winning of eight Oscars at the annual Motion Picture Academy awards.

The movie won the best picture honor and was filmed entirely in Hollywood. But in other respects academy voters were generous to foreigners: The four top acting awards handed out at Monday night's ceremonies went to Europeans—three of them Britons.

Among them was Rex Harrison, the raddled, acid-tongued Professor Henry Higgins, who coached his flower girl Eliza Doolittle into a fair lady she was mistaken for a princess.

Top actress award went to Julie Andrews—the Eliza Doolittle of the stage but not for screen—for her role as the high-flying nanny in Mary Poppins.

And two long shots, Britain's Peter Ustinov and France's Lila Kedrova, won the supporting performer Oscars.

For Harrison, the honor was the highest in a distinguished career dating back to 1926.

For Miss Andrews, a bright and beautiful newcomer, it was sweet salve for a disappointment. Not being chosen to do the screen version of My Fair Lady.

She had co-starred with Harrison on Broadway in the big Lerner - Loewe musical, based on George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion.

The song - writing Sherman brothers, Richard and Robert, made a double trip to the stage. Their Chim Chim Cher-ee, was selected as best movie song of 1964, and they also won for Mary Poppins as the best substantially original music score.

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow, starring the sure-fire Italian team of Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni won an Oscar for best foreign-language film.

The Oscars for best writing achievements were not awarded to the heavy winners among films. The voters passed up Mary Poppins, My Fair Lady and Zorba the Greek to reward Edward Anhalt for his screenplay adaptation of Becket. Peter Stone and Frank Tarloff won for Father Goose as best original screenplay.

Auditor's Report Shows Surplus of $141,000

The city of Belleville wound up the year 1964 with a surplus of $141,320, but the amount was less than estimated.

Last year's audit report presented to council yesterday, prior to setting of the 1965 tax rate, revealed the year's surplus has been reduced by $10,000 because government grants in lieu of taxes were lower than expected.

The city had budgeted for $98,007 in grants in lieu of taxes, but the amount to be received is only $76,000. The reason was that the government didn't agree with the city's assessment on local government property.

This action on the part of the federal government drew a storm of objection from councillors who urged that the city make a strong protest.

City assessment commissioner Leighton Thompson said the decreased grant in lieu of taxes was based on an assessment reduction of $147,000.

WILL WRITE GOVT.

MYor Jack Ellis said he intended to write the government about the matter. However, he said it was a serious matter and warranted personal representation being made.

The government has paid $20,700 of the $76,000 grant in lieu of taxes to be paid to the city for, last year, the balance still being outstanding.

The audit report showed that the city had a net debenture debt of $7,256,088 at the end of last year, of which $4,148,549 had been added during the year.

Taxes receivable at the end of the year totalled $487,963, including $62,131 in business tax.

termed it an "election manifesto". The others chosen to take a "wait-and-see" attitude, implying many of the three speech themes that not get to the legislative stage.

Prime Minister Pearson was expected to stress the "war on poverty" aspects of the new program when he follows Mr. Diefenbaker in the traditional throne speech debate, an eight-day affair that opens the way for non-confidence motions.

The anti-poverty steps include the setting up of a Canada Assistance Plan, designed to bolster with federal funds a series of provincial welfare measures that help the poor on the basis of actual need.

The parliamentary opening was an unusually austere and businesslike event coming only 90 hours after the marathon 1964 session ended. There wasn't time to find out the normal list of invitations and the women who turned up did not wear the formal gowns that normally add a gay splash of color in the red-carpeted Senate chamber.

MAY BE LAST

The 76-year-old governor-general resplendent in his dress uniform of the army general, made what may have been his last appearance in the role. He is already into a two-month term of office due to expire later this year.

After the reading of the throne speech the Commons headed immediately into session for the morning and the reading of the government motion to adopt the speech.

Richard Cashin (L — St. John's West) and Jean Gretien (L—St. Maurice — Laflèche) drew that assignment, praising the references to an anti-poverty drive.

The proposal for a conference on health care gave no indication of when it would be held. "medicare" plan might come into being. It said merely that the government plans early consulting with the provinces to discuss steps that will provide health services to Canadians on a comprehensive basis."

A preamble to this announcement said the government believes that health care should be available to all "irrespective of their ability to pay."

The plan for "a Company of Young Canadians" is the biggest surprise of all. It was described as an agency "through which the energies and talents of youth can be enlisted in projects for economic and social development both in Canada and abroad."

WASN'T FORECAST

There had been no previous mention of such an organization, either in Parliament or by cabinet ministers speaking outside. But the idea appears to be directly related to the U.S. Peace Corps program.

But even more startling was the ambitious proposal for "the full utilization of our human resources and the elimination of poverty among our people."

This took in such things as increased incentives for regional development, re-employment and training of workers, assistance to the needy as envisaged by the Canada Assistance Plan, a new fund for rural development, expanded programs of slum clearance and the general field of automation problems.

"Because of the importance of this plan, my prime minister will take direct responsibility for its co – ordination, assisted by a special secretariat," the throne speech reported.

The co – operation of labor, management and the provinces would be sought.

New assistance for farmers would be aimed at providing larger and more reliable incomes "so that their living and working standards will be comparable to those enjoyed in other sectors of our economy."

In this connection, special measures were planned to assist family farms in both eastern and western Canada.

Renewed Buzz of Federal Election Speculation Set Off in Speech From Throne

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

OTTAWA (CP)So many legislative proposals were packed into Monday's speech from the throne that it set off a renewed buzz of federal election speculation on Parliament Hill.

Not that the speech said anything about an election, beyond reiterating the government's intention "to make proposals regarding the limitation and payment of election expenses."

But it contained more legislation proposals than any other speech in the post-war era, all couched in the sort of language that would make attractive reading in an election campaign.

It led many observers to the conclusion that the minority Liberal government is getting set to meet any election forces on it by defeat in the Commons or to call one itself in an appeal to the people for support from the electorate in the event its legislative program bogs down in political controversy.

The Liberals have 129 seats in the 263-member House, outnumbered by the combined opposition comprising 85 Conservatives, 19 New Democrats, 5 Creditistes, nine Social Credit and one independent.

SPEECH SUMMARY

The government faces its first no-confidence tests of the session in the eight-day throne speech debate which opens today.

Every opposition amendment voted on in this period is regarded as a test of confidence. Most of the government forces rest on one would force dissolution of Parliament and an election.

The comprehensive outline of legislation puts before Parliament proposals arising from all major federal-provincial talks and in the 1963 federal election except on the promise of a system of 10,000 national university scholarships valued at $1,000 apiece.

Some of the speech's proposals weren't in the set of 1963 election promises, notably one that bears a striking resemblance to President Johnson's program on poverty" in the United States.

The speech remarked that despite a high rate of economic growth, the full potential of the Canadian economy is not being realized.

SAYS TALENTS WASTED

"The talents of some of our people are wasted because of poverty, illness, inadequate education and lack of equality in opportunities for work.

"My government therefore is developing a program for full utilization of our human resources and the elimination of poverty among our people."

Barring an election, what are the chances of the formidable program and long list of legislative hurdles?

An official close to the government conceded it is a heavy program for one year."

This speech contained proposals that would seem to call for some 60 or more pieces of government legislation.

Last year, at the opening of the 1964-65 session, the speech contained about 20 such proposals and the ensuing session ran to 108 sitting days, a Canadian record.

As usual, the way is open for more, under the cryptic phrase "other legislation."

Bishop Evans Pays Visit To St. Thomas

On Sunday the Right Reverend K. C. Evans, MA., DD., DCL., Lord Bishop of Ontario, made his official visit to St. Thomas' Church. He was the Celebrant at a largely attended Celebration of Holy Communion at 8.00 a.m. when he was assisted by the Rector the Venerable A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., L.Th., and Edward Purdy who acted as Server. Following the service some seventy men sat down with the Bishop to a breakfast in the Parish Hoom prepared and served by a group of ladies under the direction of Mrs. Francis Lancaster, wife of the President of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen, from whose auspices the breakfast was arranged. The atmosphere was most informal as the Bishop enjoyed making personal contact with the men of the Parish. He spoke to them of the future of the Church, its organization and the hopes of growing unity with all our Christian brethren.

A most impressive Service of Confirmation took place at 11.00 a.m. at which the Bishop confirmed a group of 46 persons presented by the Rector who also assisted in the Service. Mr. John Szczerba, the Parish Crucifer, acted as Server and Chaplain at this service. The music was under the direction of Mr. D. W. Hughes and included the hymn "Veni Creator" sung by the choir and the congregation and the Anthem "God so loved the World" by Stainer, which was sung by the choir.

WILL DEDICATE BELLS

In his sermon, which was directed especially to members of the Confirmation Class, Bishop Evans spoke on the theme of the cornerstone he had found a pearl of great value and sold all his possessions in order to buy it, and reminded the Confirmees that we too must find within our Christian faith something of extreme value which we will prize more than anything else in our lives.

The Rector announced to the large congregation present that within St. Thomas' Church had been an impressive and silent witness in the community for well over one hundred years, this silence would be broken on Easter Day when a Carillon of Bells will ring out from the tower. The Bells, a gift from Mrs. A. A. Pringle and her family, are a Memorial to her husband, the late Robert A. Pringle, Q.C., a valued member of the Parish and Diocesan life of the Diocese of Ontario. The Bells will be dedicated by the Bishop at a later date.

Kingston Home Is Flattened By Explosion

KINGSTON (CP)—Percy Tallon, 51, was watching television Monday night when suddenly he found himself under a pile of rubble in the basement of his home.

His two-storey frame home was flattened by an explosion of undetermined origin. Tallon crawled out unhurt.

The blast knocked Tallon's wife Florence, 48, and daughter Carol, 17, to ground level from an upstairs room. They were treated at hospital for minor injuries.

The blast sprayed a busy main street with a geyser of fragments, blew plaster off walls of a neighboring home, shattered windows, and knocked a man off his feet loading a nearby truck. There were no other injuries.

Mayor Robert Fray ordered natural gas service in the area cut off.

Gerald Nielsson, who was eating dinner with his family next door, said: "I don't know what happened. There was just a bang and the walls fell."

One wall of the Tallon house fell against the Nielsson home, knocking down all the plaster. Ron Coudes said that as he stood across the street after the blast he saw a woman in a pink dress emerge from the rubble "black from the head down."

movement. It has had difficulty keeping Communist East Europe in line. It has had problems with its internal economy. It has made no spectacular moves on the world stage since the new regime took over from Nikita Khrushchev.

A Berlin fuss could demonstrate that the Kremlin's heart still is in possession of Communist power—and there could be side benefits.

In the past, in times of disunity among the Western allies, Moscow has tried to take advantage. There are appearances of disunity now. There are differences over policy in Viet Nam. There is President de Gaulle of France and his attacks on the U.S. dollar, and his hostility to U.S. economic power and U.S. leadership in Europe.

Moscow has been assiduously courting de Gaulle. After West German Chancellor Adenauer left office and the euphoria of French - German reconciliation gave way to a new coolness, the Communist camp may have seen possibilities for small but important gains in renewing pressure on vulnerable West Berlin.

But France, too, is committed to West Berlin remaining free of communism, and the Russians are unlikely to permit the tension to go too far.

They also are unlikely to repeat the mistakes made by Stalin and Khrushchev. Stalin's mistake was a posture so menacing that it pushed the West together into solid unity. Khrushchev's error was in bilking off more than he could chew, so that he had to back away from his ultimatum to the West to get out of Berlin.

Social welfare is expected to cost $288,526 as compared with $285,727 last year; education will cost local taxpayers $1,243,510, compared with $1,209,826; recreation and community services will cost $265,510, up from $203,588 last year.

Roads, streets and special items will cost $1,097,306 as compared with $1,028,655 last year.

SCHOOL BUDGETS

Representatives of the public and high school boards attended the council budget meeting to explain their respective budgets for the year.

The latter's high school board chairman, Gerald Wishart, told council that while costs were up, increased legislative grants meant that the board's requisition to the city this year was down $43,000.

This year the city will be asked to raise $577,022 for high school purposes.

Alderman Frank Murray was interested in the physical training program for high schools, stating that he did not feel enough emphasis had been placed on this phase of instruction.

He was told, however, that the high schools were providing the full physical training program as prescribed by the government.

This year free text books will be provided for grades 11 and 12.

And high school students eating at school cafeterias do not pay the full cost of meals. Mr. Wishart said the "net cost" for cafeterias last year was $7,500, about equally divided among the three schools.

Public schools will cost the city taxpayers $612,088 this year, Dr. J. Russell Scott, public schools board chairman, told council.

Legislative grants for public schools were up about $50,000 over last year, it was said.

PARKS AN ISSUE

The increase in the parks board budget met with mixed reception on the part of councillors.

Alderman Ben Corke said he doubted that the increase could be effectively distributed and said at least part of the additional money should go to some department where it would benefit more people. He claimed that only a very small percentage of the population ever went near a park.

But Parks Board chairman Don Williams and Ald. Don Joss, defended the increased budget for the parks board. Mr. Joss said that according to statutes a parks board can demand one mill for parks purposes. The suggested levy for parks this year was but seven tenths of a mill, he said.

Part of this year's increase for parks purposes is earmarked for a new parks building costing $12,000, which Ald. Williams said would be for storage and painting and repairs of parks equipment. He said the building was badly needed.

CHANGE GRANTS

None of the budgets recommended for the various city departments saw change at yesterday's board meeting, but councillors got out their pencils when it came time for decision on grants voted by the city.

Six of the grants recommended by the city manager were increased, while one, a $300 grant to the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association was eliminated.

Grants approved totalled $34,500, up $1,400 from the amount recommended. The difference was made up by reducing the amount provided as the city's share of local improvement debentures.

Grants approved included one of $8,500 to the welfare council, $10,000 to the Children's Aid Society, $3,000 to the Chamber of Commerce, and $3,500 to the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Alderman Frank Murray recommended acceptance of the city manager's budget report, and commended the city manager for his "exhaustive" report.

Two councillors, Alderman Donald Joss and George Brown, opposed the budget report, claiming that the tax reduction should be allocated for increased expenditures on roads and parks.

But Alderman Ben Corke replied that the councillors were referring to an amount of only about $42,000.

"You can't do much for that amount of money," he said.

Life Never Dull for Fire Dept.

Two children rescued from a locked bathroom on John Street...

While Belleville Fire Department has been enjoying a relatively quiet period, this was one of the routine jobs performed by Chief Ted Foster men in the last few days.

The department also answered a call to West Moira Street where it dealt with a flooded sauce heater.

And there was little matter of some smoke at Wallbridge Road.

Major outbreaks are rare fortunately. Nevertheless, life is never dull for our firemen.

Councillor Gould Will Be Asked to Probe Complaint On Return From Florida

TRENTON — Eric Kalfus, a resident of Wm. Sidor's Westmount Park sub-division, came before town council last night to complain about the slowness with which he said Mr. Sidor was carrying out his obligations to persons who bought what were advertised (according to Mr. Kalfus) as "fully serviced lots."

Mr. Kalfus said the developer had not provided curbs, standard road surfaces and storm sewers as promised. Mr. Kalfus also asked that something be done about weed control in the undeveloped areas in the park and that a sharp turn at the intersection of McGill Street and Parkview Heights be landscaped for safety's sake.

Council will throw the problem into the lap of vacationing Councillor Joseph Gould, when he returns from sunny Florida. Councillor Gould is chairman of public works.

Mr. Gould will also be asked to have his committee consider whether or not Mr. Kalfus should be permitted to re-establish garbage salvage operations in the present landfill area. The right to salvage was suspended for a three months' period, which has now expired.

Council constantly aware of the bits police cots take out of the annual budget "pie", voted to support a resolution brought down by the Township of Sidney, that the Ontario government be asked to contribute more to the costs.

Councillor Paul Tripp did not vote for the Saltfleet resolution. He said "governments get our pockets in the long run."

MORE

WANTS CHARGE PROBED

Councillor Edward Todd has called for a complete investigation of a charge brought by a North Trenton resident, Mrs. Ida Blake, that her land is unsuitable because council refused to re-zone the area to permit her to establish a commercial enterprise. Mrs. Blake claimed in a letter to council that she had been refused permission to build a house on her land in 1958, because the council of the day said the land was "commercial." Now, when she wishes to build a drive-in hot-dog stand, she is told the land is residential.

Mr. Larry said he could not recall Mrs. Blake applying for a permit to build a house, but admitted his memory might not be infallible.

However, he said, permitting a hot-dog stand in the area would be a "step backward" in council's plan to make the entrances to the town attractive. It was a traffic hazard, also, he said.

"If all these applicant says is true, what's the use of her property?" queried Councillor Todd. "The owner pays taxes on an empty piece of property all her life?"

Council will be call for tenders for the installation of a sanitary sewer on McNichol Street, after 16 persons who signed a petition for the sewer withdrew their names after considering high installation costs. Because of rock formation, excavation costs will be high, and the cost to the home owners living on a 50-foot lot would be $75 annually, for 20 years. A similar installation on nearby Leonard Streets cost $58 a foot.

Mayor Reg. Hall and James MacDonald is that a "firm" price might be got by advertising for tenders — and, it is hoped, a price lower than $79 a foot.

The Department of Municipal Affairs and the Trenton Planning Board has approved the lay out of a proposed new subdivision for the Downs-Coulter land on Dufferin Ave.

Council has been asked to set its seal of approval on the project.

But council wants time to consider the five per cent "public use" land allowance suggested by the developer. This free use strip would be across the front of the sub-division, adjacent to the highway. Councillor Fred Burtt wasn't sure this was a good thing, as children playing in the "park," might dash out into traffic. However, Mr. Larry said the land could be planted with bushes, thus discouraging actual use. The developer views the land in question as a "buffer" zone between the highway and the houses.

Councillor Todd commended the out-of-town fire departments which sent men and equipment to the last Monday's fire in east Trenton. He said that one realized the importance of the Mutual Aid fire fighting agreements at times like this.

At the instigation of Councillor Tripp, council decided to send a letter of commendation to the local fire department, and to the Frankford fire-fighters, "for a job well done," during last Monday's fire. Ald. Russell King, who reported the fire and led a family to safety from an upstairs apartment, will be especially mentioned.

The Trenton Community Gardens' Board has been given council's blessing in its purchase of an ice processing machine. The cost is $4,500, but the board plans to sell an ice chipper and a tractor, thus reducing the price. The new machine will chip ice, flood the arena and clean up the ice, all in one operation and will, in effect, "pay for itself."

Near-capacity Crowd Hears Band Concert

TRENTON — A near-capacity crowd was out last night to the Trenton's Citizens' Band concert in the high school auditorium.

Ted Snider, leader and the band members gave the two concert as a "thank you" to the townspeople who donated money for uniforms during the recent campaign for funds, sponsored by the local newspaper, the Trentonian.

Master of ceremonies was Roy Cornish, editor of the newspaper.

OPENS NEXT YEAR

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Algoma College, which will be affiliated with Laurentian University in Sudbury, will open its doors to arts and science students in September, 1966, the Algoma College Association decided Monday night. The college will have its first quarters in the new provincial vocational institute here and several sites are being considered for possible future campuses.

Teacher Wins Four Firsts In Festival

TRENTON — Allison Liversidge, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Liversidge, 290 King Street, Trenton, won four first prizes in the recent Kiwanis Music Festival in Peterborough. A former Trenton high school student, Allison won a first for girls under 19; a first for amateur open competition; a first for contralto solo, under 21, and another first for amateur and professional open competition. She received a $50 scholarship and was presented with a silver tray at the festival.

This year, Allison has been teaching in Queen Elizabeth School in Peterborough. She teaches two classes in music and leads a small school choir. Besides her courses in summer school, Allison plans to teach music exclusively.

Allison has been accepted for an advanced singers' recital in Peterborough in May, and after that event will not sing in competition.

Her teacher, Mrs. Ann Pierce, will continue her study of technique.

PROBING THEFT

Plainclothesman Sidney Vickers of the Trenton police department is investigating last weekend's theft of a sum of money from a motel room at the Redwood Motor Hotel, in North Trenton and two cheques from the motel office.

Council Wants Centennial Park Grant

TRENTON — Trenton council last night voted to apply to the Centennial Committee of the Department of Municipal Affairs for a Centennial grant on the town's 1967 project, the development of the waterfront park, planned for a waterfront park, south of the community gardens. On the $33,000 project, the town will realize around $13,000 in provincial and federal grants, if the project is approved as a project.

Meanwhile, Councillor Paul Tripp has called a meeting for action of all service clubs and public bodies on the project.

Councillor Frederick Tripp would like to see the Trenton Parks' Board delay its announcement of establishment of location of an ornamental fountain in Fraser Park. He would like to see the board wait its decision to plant trees in the waterfront park.

Councillor Edward Todd said he thought the board was much more liable to carry through the fountain project, than the town was with its own project. It is presently the present state of town finances.

Clerk Comptroller O. W. Larry was instructed to confer with Councillor Todd and said the town would need every bit of assistance from service clubs, etc. it could get. However, Mr. Larry pointed out that ex-mayor Kenneth Couch was in charge of the waterfront project, and a Centennial Planning Committee was in existence, and said he thought town council should leave it up to the interested parties to make arrangements with boards, rather than contact the boards directly.

Law Made to Be Broken

Recently there has been a spate of talk about revision of Ontario's antiquated liquor laws, with particular reference to the possibility that the legal drinking age may be lowered.

Several papers have commented on the situation which makes it illegal for a parent to offer a son or daughter any alcoholic beverage, even wine or beer, until he or she has reached the age of 21.

Ontario now has thousands of citizens from countries where serving wine with meals is almost universal.

The situation is, indeed, ridiculous. Still, we feel the Brockville Recorder is unduly concerned about the fact that the present law makes too many parents and young people lawbreakers."

The Toronto Globe and Mail daily prints on its editorial page a piece of wisdom which dates back to Roman days. "The subject who is truly loyal to the Chief Magistrate," wrote Junius, "will neither advise nor submit to arbitrary measures." For the state to tell a young man who can marry, is probably a taxpayer and is liable to military service that he cannot take a drink of wine or beer, or spirits for that matter, is his own home because he is under 21 is an arbitrary measure. The only good thing that can be said for this law is that it has provided on occasion for many a parent to prove, by his example, that a good citizen does not hesitate to flout an out-of-date law.

Why Nova Scotia?

A new Canadian-owned company will build a plant near Sydney, N.S., to make Japanese automobiles.

This is the second automobile plant to be established in that province. Volvo, the Swedish car firm, is now busy assembling car units there.

The Windsor Star comments that Ontario has once thought to be the natural location for an automobile industry in Canada. Cars made in Nova Scotia, it points out, will face long hauls if they are widely marketed in Canada.

This is true, but the Star provides a possible explanation for the choice of location by these two firms, when it says that at first, at least, the manufacture of both the Swedish and Japanese cars will be, to a large extent, assembly operations, and parts can be carried to the plants by water. This explanation, though it raises another question, why the Japanese firm preferred the long voyage to Nova Scotia rather than the much shorter haul to a British Columbia port. Is it because it is anticipated the Japanese car will find a readier market in the east than in Western Canada? Or is the firm taking a longer look and does the Cape Breton location arise from a desire to be close to one of the centres of Canada's steel industry?

In any event, not only Nova Scotia but Canada as a whole will benefit from the fact that the Maritimes area, which has not enjoyed economic growth comparable to central Canada and British Columbia, has acquired two potentially important industries.

Light Sentences

At Pembroke, two Ottawa men were sentenced to three years in penitentiary.

They had threatened to kill a widow when she refused to give them her jewellery. Stopped by a policeman, one man shoved a rifle in his face. When the policeman fired at the rifleholder, the other man shot at him. Stopped by a roadblock, they made another attempt to get their way through.

There must have been extenuating circumstances—one man was only 18 and perhaps it is the first offence for both men.

Even so, one cannot help wondering whether the sentence to discourage imitation of their example. Men have received longer terms for petty thefts involving no violence.

It would be a travesty of justice to establish unalterable yardstick by which all criminals should be punished, because circumstances are rarely identical and in the very essence of justice that punishment should vary to suit the crime and the criminals.

Still, is there not a danger of going to the other extreme and failing to provide any sentence of equal sentences for similar offences?

Shooting at a police officer, unless the circumstances surrounding such an incident are very extraordinary, ought to be punished by a sentence of more than three years.

Reduction of power cost by the Ontario Hydro Power Commission for Belleville from $25 to $22 per horsepower means a saving of $14,000 to the electric users of this city and this was passed on to the consumers as from February 1st by a motion passed at the regular meeting of the Public Utilities Commission held on Tuesday afternoon. A new list of the rates that go into effect on February 1st was read by the Manager, and it was shown that a reduction has been made in practically every department of the utility.

The Manager also stated that work will proceed in the near future on the new sub-station to be erected at the corner of Catherine and Sidney Streets and the high tension line from the Reid Street station to the new station.

Kentucky Problem

Louisville Times

The current drive in Louisville to get more Negroes' names on voter registration rolls is in ironic contrast to Dr. Martin Luther King's similarly aimed drive in Alabama. There the problem is to break down a solid wall of racial discrimination, whereas here the only barrier is apathy on the part of Negroes themselves.

At least that has been the local story in the past, as is evidenced by the fact that only one-third of the otherwise qualified Negroes in the Southwick area are registered as voters.

Measles During Pregnancy One of Hazards of Life

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 21, have three-day measles and am a month pregnant. I took gamma - globulin, but it didn't do the job. What are the chances of having a normal baby? — Mrs. A. B.

Gamma-globulin is quite helpful (when given early enough) in making regular measles milder. This is because 90 percent or more of us have had measles: so gamma-globulin, which is extracted from blood, can be expected to contain antibodies or protective particles which developed in blood donors having had the disease.

But only about one person in five gets three-day measles (German measles) so there is much less chance that any given supply of gamma-globulin will contain antibodies against German measles.

In short, it's an outside chance. Sometimes the gamma-globulin helps when given right after exposure; other times it doesn't.

True German measles in the first three months can cause abnormalities and defects in babies. Can — not necessarily will.

The baby may be perfectly healthy. However, I must admit that some have serious defects — but this can happen without German measles. It is one of the hazards of life.

Certainly the risk from German measles is nothing like the terribly tragic children who were born so monstrously deformed because of thalidomide.

A defect is one thing; extreme deformity is another.

By way of prevention of defects, I think there is much to be said in favor of older girls or young women (when not pregnant) hoping they will catch German measles, as the best protection against the danger of getting it early in pregnancy.

Women in early pregnancy should not only avoid contact with German measles but with some other things, too: Any disease that can cause high fever; any drug except under medical supervision, since even otherwise innocuous drugs, taken in excess, can do damage to the baby in its formative stages.

Dear Doctor: Some of the girls at the office say they have had three-day or German measles several times. I understood that for this reason you get them only once, and the same for regular measles. — Mrs. J.

You are correct. Usually you get German measles only once. Some rare individuals do not produce antibodies, and so can have the disease more than once, but this is uncommon.

Some of the supposed cases f German measles aren't really that at all. Mild regular measles, mild scarlet fever, a fairly recently recognized ailment called "fifth disease" or Filatigarian measles, all can produce a rash similar to German measles, and doubtless account for a good many of the reports of having had it "more than once."

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain gonorrhea and how it can be spread by indirect kinds of germs. Hence one does not turn into the other. (The two may be contracted at the same time.)

Neither takes very long to cure if treated immediately. A few weeks is usually ample. But if treatment is delayed, longer treatment may be necessary and, more disturbing, there may be no way of correcting damage caused by the disease even though the disease itself is cured.

Lusher's Sly Letters Backfire, Fights to Survive Women's Ire

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, that extra-generously-pampered and increasingly expensive spoiled child in Ottawa's ever-growing family of federal agencies, had something going for itself that was new in the field of public relations.

It was a simple thing. Just a letter.

It was written by CBC Public Relations Director Jack Lusher to people who wrote or said — or, for that matter, were even likely to write or say — things unflattering about the Corporation.

Those letters routinely went to newspapers, editors, reporters, columnists and commentators, licking them off, chewing them out and generally raising troublesome cain about any op-holons they had dared express that the sensitive Mr. Lusher found offensive.

And there was nothing the easily-offended Mr. Lusher got so wildly excited and demonstratory about as even a casual reference to the free-spending regard the CBC has for the taxpayer's hard-earned dollar.

What is "free spending?"

Well, perhaps the $11 million-plus increase provided in the current Estimates — up from last year's $95,000,000 to $07,040,000-for CBC financing could provide as good an example as any.

As a public relations gimmick the letter wasn't bad.

STILL BACKFIRING

For Mr. Lusher, in his posh CBC office with his secretary and the Establishment's mushrooming staff to help him, always had lots of time to write his long and often abusive letters, even if the recipients, lacking his kind of massive assistance, didn't have time to answer them.

But something has happened to Mr. Lusher's good little PR gimmick.

It backfired. And it is just possible that he might not recover from the blast.

Seems he wrote letters to the wrong people.

But let Senator Josie Dinan Quart tell it — as she has to an interested prime minister.

A group of well-organized and entirely responsible women, determined as Senator Quart puts it, "to end the domination of a minority who use the CBC to spread propaganda for perversion, pornography, free love, blasphemy, dope, violence and crime," banded together to petition Prime Minister Pearson.

They began working, more than a year ago, collecting nearly 100,000 signatures on a "Declaration of Canadian women."

And then Mr. Lusher began writing his letters.

He sent them to the Catholic Women's League, the Catholic Council of Women and other such organizations, Senator Quart told the prime minister, "dominously warning" them that the "Declaration" was something that should be carefully investigated.

The implication was that the petition was the work, as Senator Quart read the CBC smear, of "witch-hunters, prudes, busybodies and no-accounts."

Some of the CBC smear must have stuck, for month after month, the prime minister refused to see Senator Quart and her delegation representing the 100,000 insisting, instead, that they see State Secretary Maurice Lamontagne who "speaks for the CBC in Parliament."

SOME NO-ACCOUNTS

Then it got into the newspapers, this one, in fact, through Ottawa Offbeat, and the prime minister relented.

"When Mr. Pearson heard about Mr. Lusher's sly little letter game," relates Senator Quart, "his face fell, and with a frown he turned to Mr. Lamontagne and said, 'Maurice, did you know anything like this was going on?' Of course, Mr. Lamontagne said he didn't, so the prime minister suggested he had better look into it."

You can just imagine how the gals took poor Mr. Lusher apart — not, as they are quick to indignantly tell you, that he "did not deserve anything that's coming to him."

The ladies, all gay in their spring hats, were guests at afternoon tea of Senate Speaker Maurice Bourget, and was quite apparent they hadn't come to the Capital exactly as strangers without influence in high influential places.

And you should have seen them in the outer lobby of the Commons when the MPs, Cabinet Ministers and Backbencher were coming out. Everybody knew everybody else, it seemed, on a first-name, quite "clubby" basis. And the girls were busy telling the MPs — External Affairs Minister Martin, J. G. Diefenbaker and such — about "that dreadful Lusher person."

To cap it off, they produced their petition, and lo and behold, among names that the CBC had hissed were little better than were Madame Jean Lesage, wife of the Quebec Premier, Madame Paul Comtois, wife of the Quebec Lieutenant-Governor, Madame Maurice Bourget, wife of the Senate Speaker, and members of the CWL, the NCW and other like organizations from coast to coast.

Shed a tear for poor Mr. Lusher. He was so staggered by the way he had managed to letterwrite his way into a war that the best he could do was murmur uncertainly: "Guess maybe it survives."

If he does, it could only be with the CBC.

Parliament At a Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

MONDAY, April 5, 1965

Governor - General Vanier read the speech from the throne opening the new session of Parliament.

Steps to attack poverty and provide comprehensive medical care for all were main ones in the speech outlining the government's program.

It called for industrial development in low-income areas, rural economic development, more aid for the needy and an expanded slum clearance program.

The government also plans a Canadian version of the U.S. peace corps, programs to improve incomes for farmers and fishermen and aid for workers replaced by automation.

Richard Cashin (L — St. John's West), moving adoption of the speech, called for a government assault on poverty and human indignity.

Seconding the motion, Jean Chretien (L—St. Maurice-Laflèche) said the gap between rich and poor must be narrowed.

Growth of Fire Dept. Outlined at Rotary Club

Belleville Fire Department's budget has increased from $48,000 in 1946 to $355,000 last year, Former Fire Chief George Vance told Belleville Rotarians yesterday.

He said most of the money went in wages to the 53-man department.

In 1964 the department answered a total of 671 fire, emergency and service calls. Fifty-one persons were involved in the 36 emergency calls, 18 were treated and released and 11 taken to hospital. There were eight deaths.

Fire losses totalled $129,860, or about four dollars a head — the lowest since 1959.

"Fire prevention is a year round job," said Mr. Vance, adding that the department's fire prevention bureau has two full - time inspectors and provides an educational and publicity program on fire safety.

The inspectors als check all buildings, investigate complaints and make recommendations regarding safety. They supervise installation of underground tanks, approve building and fire escape plans and recharge extinguishers in addition to other duties.

A member of the force for 43 years and a former president of the Ontario Fire Chief's Association, Mr. Vance went on to describe some of the department's extra curricular activities. These include children's playgrounds, an active interest in minor league softball, organization of the Christmas Santa Claus parade, replacing lost pets and assisting the muscular dystrophy association.

MUTUAL AID

On mutual aid, Mr. Vance said there were six such calls in Hastings and Prince Edward counties in 1964 with Belleville taking part in three.

He said one aim of the county mutual fire aid program was to establish short-wave radio networks so that the various departments will be linked.

"We have at present three departments waiting for the master station to be installed at the fire department headquarters in Belleville," he said. The cost will be only a few hundred dollars to have a complete radio hook-up in the county for use in a national or local emergency."

Mr. Vance said 16 departments belong to the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual Fire Aid Association.

The former fire chief traced the history of the department from before the time of Belleville's incorporation as a village in 1836. Today the department's staff, besides Chief Ted Poste and his deputy, includes eight captains and 35 firefighters."

Don MacKinnon thanked Mr. Vance and he was thanked by Jack Ireland. President Stan Reston presided.

Second Tremor Halts Burial Of Quake Dead

MEGALOPOLIS (AP) — A new tremor shook the central Peloponnese today in the wake of Greece's worst earthquake in 12 years.

The tremor was light but it caused panic among the survivors of Monday's quake which destroyed half a dozen villages. The tremor shook down the ceiling and one wall of a damaged church 19 minutes before services for 10 victims of the earlier quake.

Police said 17 bodies have been found; most of these trapped under debris of houses that collapsed as the villagers slept. Although officials said Monday there were at least 20 dead, they said today the toll probably would not exceed 17 as they had no reports of others missing.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

Two hundred persons were injured, 50 of them seriously.

Health Minister Andrew Kokkevis, after touring the stricken area, said 30,000 persons were homeless.

Thousands of dazed survivors slept in tents put up by the Red Cross, huddled around fires during the night chill, or stayed in the open. Houses that still were standing were feared perilously weakened.

Army units helped the Red Cross operate cable conveyances to get city in this 2,300-year-old town in the centre of the devastated zone.

Canadian-Born Indian Sisters Slain in N. Y.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) A former U.S. marine pleaded not guilty Monday to two charges of second-degree murder in the stabbing-mutilation of two Canadian-born sisters.

Wayne Drinkwater, 21, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was held without bail by Judge Nunzio Rizzo. The case was adjourned until Friday.

Drinkwater was accused of slaying Alva Marucie, 17, a pupil at Niagara Falls High School, and Linda Marucie, 20, a domestic. Both are from Niagara Falls.

Thomas Hunt, assistant district attorney, said the girls were stabbed "dozens of times" in Drinkwater's apartment, where the trio had been drinking and playing the guitar.

The body of the older girl had 13 knife wounds and that of the younger girl had 11, Hunt said.

F. Ingram, Niagara County coroner.

The fully clothed bodies of the girls were found in the living room by Drinkwater's wife, Elmer, 45. He shared the apartment with his unemployed wife and their two children from the marines in February.

"The elder Drinkwater disappeared the day after the girls' bodies were found," Mrs. Jessie Maracle of Niagara Falls, told police Elmer Drinkwater was a "good friend" of hers.

The family moved here from Ontario 14 years ago.

Spring Clean Ignition, Battery

By EUGENE R. MILNOR

The most efficient battery and ignition system will be handicapped by contaminants such as water, grease, dirt, oil, corrosion, etc. — and you're bound to have cold engine starting troubles. Thus, a good cleaning every fall and spring can be an important maintenance chore.

The battery has been under a heavy strain all winter and we can't allow anything else to weaken it. So get rid of that corrosion around the case, especially between cable terminals and battery posts. If not checked, this alone can prevent adequate power flow and easy starting. In fact, batteries are often run down because this clean-up job has been ignored.

Dirt and grease will affect plugs, distributor cap coil and wire connections, too, by weakening the fat spark needed to bring a cold engine to life promptly. Lead and carbon encrusts which insulate spark plug firing tips also interfere with the spark needed for quick engine action. Finally, don't overlook what dust can do. On points, at plug connections and in the distributor sockets, it forms a fine wall thatblocks off part of the voltage needed to fire the combustible mixture in the cylinders.

R. T. asks: Are shock absorbers needed to smooth out the ride or to control the springs?"

They do both by checking extension and compression of springs.

From L.S.: "If the plug heat range, ignition timing and fuel used are right, why would plug insulators and firing ends be black and sooty-oil?"

An overheating engine would be the likely reason.

C. M. writes: "The automatic transmission on my '62 sedan-takes hold very suddenly and roughly when the car starts moving from a standstill."

Engine idle speed is probably too high.

From S.L.: "As you advised, I cleaned and tightened the battery terminal connections and later, replaced the battery with a new one — but the headlights are still too dim at idle and low to moderate speeds."

Check for a slipping alternator or generator belt.

Indian Chief Said Forced to Loan $1,500

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—An 84; year-old Indian chief loaned two salesmen $1,500 and received only $50 back after they sold him $1,340 worth of aluminum windows and awnings for his house, county court was told Monday.

Dennis Elms of the Oneida reserve near St. Thomas said his frame house had no electricity, no running water and only a wood-burning stove.

He was testifying at the trial of six Hamilton men and a Burlington woman charged with conspiring to defraud elderly persons in Ontario during the last seven years.

Mr. Elms said he was not sure, but believed that one of the accused, Raymond James Smith, 32, was one of the two salesmen who drove him to his bank four times and waited while he withdrew the money

WAS AFRAID

He said he was afraid of the men although he could not give any specific reason.

Mrs. Kara Greenwood, 72, a Tillsonburg widow, testified that two of the accused Murray William Major, 29, and his brother, Geraldine Rogers, 30, threatened to take her to court when she wanted to get out of a contract with them.

Mrs. Greenwood said she had the roof of her house repaired in 1962 and at the urging of the salesmen signed a contract to have her house painted and reroofed in 1963.

"They showed me into it," she said. "They said the basement was in bad shape an that my home wasn't a fit place to live in."

Later, she said, she changed her mind about the work, but the two accused "scared me half to death, so I agreed to have it done."

ASKED FOR LOAN

While the work was being done, John Lazar, 42, another of the accused, asked for a $1,; 000 loan, she said. When she refused, the salesmen left and the job was not completed.

The work cost her $1,575, but $1,100 was returned when the two men and the woman were accused of defrauding the aged, she said.

Two construction company managers estimated that the work done to Mrs. Greenwood's home was worth only about $700.

The other accused are Stanley Hall, 33, Stanley Major, 42, and David Gordon Young, 41. John Wilmer Major, 33, committed for trial with the others, will be tried after recovering from a broken leg.

The trial continues.

Plans Are Completed For Festival

STIRLING — Mrs. T. W. Spear, Trenton, was elected to the presidency of the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise, at a meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Bruce Glendenning, Stirling. Rev. J. B. Small, minister of St. Paul's Church in Stirling, became honorary president.

The meeting which was held to complete plans for the forthcoming festival was well attended and the members were pleased to hear that Mr. Wilfred Powell of the staff of the Toronto Conservatory of Music had agreed to be music adjudicator, and Rev. Morris McLeod of Marmora, adjudicator of the Scriptural section.

Registrations received to date are considerably increased — particularly in the music sections and it is likely that the festival will run for four days, from May 3rd to 6th inclusive.

Because of the large registration, it is hoped that it may be financially possible to add to the list of awards. Since the object of the festival is to promote a love for Sacred Praise, especially among boys, girls and young people, the executive hopes that the response of the appeal to interested individuals and organizations, will result in being able to financially assist the young people through bursaries.

This year the Stars of the Festival Concert will be in two sections. Junior winners will perform from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and the Senior session will be from 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 6th.

Season tickets will again admit their owner to every session of the Festival including the Stars of the Festival Concert. It was agreed to retain the same rate of fees for entry to the sessions as in the past.

New classes which have been created this year are drawing many comments and indications are that this will be the largest and, it is hoped, the finest festival in the history of this organization.

BONARLAW W.I.

BONARLAW — The monthly meeting of the I. was held in the Springbrook United Church hall on Wednesday afternoon with 14 members present. The president, Mrs. M. Cassidy, opened the meeting. The secretary was in charge of the roll call, and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Thankyou cards were received from Mrs. Percy Bateman, Belleville; Mrs. Tom Webb, of Campbellford, and Mrs. Wallace McInroy, Bonarlaw.

Mr. McCimmon has offered to show slides at a family night in the near future, when a door prize is to be given and the ladies to serve lunch.

Mrs. James Spry, district director, gave a splendid report on the Madoc meeting on Mar. 30, the W.I. convention will be held at Hazard's Church on May 25th.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Burkitt as it is the annual meeting and all conveners were asked to have their reports to present.

Mrs. C. Burkitt and Mrs. E. Heath, conveners for historical research, were in charge of the program. Mrs. Heath gave a splendid paper on "Frontier Days" and mentioned the corduroy roads 150 years ago, those joining Toronto, London, Windsor and others were all log roads, and the emergencies more serious, as there were no services available.

Catharine Trail, in 1836, gave her report on her trip, when the wagons came apart. As the roads were improved they were toll roads. Mrs. Annie Jameson visited Toronto in 1837 and told of the lively winters, dances in farm houses, sleighing parties. A town built on the portage was called Carrying Place and horses were changed every 8 miles.

Readings were given by Mrs. A. Reid, Mrs. James Spry, Mrs. Gordon Thompson and Mrs. R. Dickie.

Mrs. Everett Heath conducted a contest.

The hostesses served lunch.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Burkitt on April 28th.

REMOVING RUST FROM IRON AND STEEL

A lady asked us just after this series began. "How do you get the rust off old flat irons, trivets and kettles at the Museum?"

The answer is — we don't. There isn't time and volunteer labor enough to do the job.

When we get around to it we will use mechanical methods of rust removal. These include steel wool, wire brushes, and carborundum cloths used, of course, with lots of elbow grease. To speed up the job and cut down on the labor there are several short-cuts.

First, have a chat with your garage operator. He may offer to dip your article in his tank of rust solvent.

A circular wire brush attachment on an electric drill is fine for cleaning iron fittings on wooden ware, such as the hands on sap buckets.

The buffing attachment on a power lathe, used with coarse corundum powder, grinds off rust in no time.

Coal-oil or kerosene helps loosen rust. Dunk the piece in a container of coal-oil. Or wrap it in long, narrow strips of flannelette (known as Barrel Bandages in the Museum trade) soaked in coal-oil. Leave the article in the coal-oil for a day, then remove and scrub with a steel brush. You may have to repeat the soaking and scrubbing for a week on a badly encrusted piece.

When you have removed all the rust, kill the action of the coal-oil with a coat of lubricating oil.

Rough methods work well on cast and wrought iron, but dorusting polished steel is another matter for the case of sword and knife blades, scissors and tools the problem is to remove the rust without harming the polished surface of the steel. Caution: before tackling a gun, consult a gunsmith.

Nothing but the finest grade steel wool (number four O) can be used to rub steel. For this, with a little penetrating oil may be enough to remove light encrustations of rust. At the moment we are experimenting with a set of surgeon's instruments of the Napoleonic War period to find the most effective way of removing heavy corrosion. Soaking in coal-oil combined with a daily scrubbing with steel wool seems to work best. If a heavy coat of rust has pitted the surface deeply, complete removal is impossible.

After you get the rust off, you may find that your iron or steel has taken on an unattractive greyish cast. What to do about this, and how to prevent further rusting will be the subject of the next article.

Readers are asked to send their questions to the Curator, Castings County Museum, or telephone 962-3731.

Illicit Affair Ends When Lover Boy's Wife Dies

DEAR ANN LANDERS — For the first time in two years I have found peace of mind. I want to share it with you.

I was one of those foolish women who felt my husband didn't appreciate me, so I wandered. My sweetheart was married, too, but his wife was not well. (Are they ever?) He assured me that when she was stronger and able to accept the blow he would ask for a divorce and we would be married.

ANN LANDERS

Suddenly his wife died of a heart attack. This put him in an embarrassing position — one which he did not expect, I am sure. He told me he could not ask me to leave my husband and that I should forget him.

His wife has been dead less than three months and already he has been seen squiring two rich widows and a leaded divorcee. I would like to warn these women to listen for the following phrases: "How sad that we did not meet years ago. We could have had a beautiful life together." Or this one: "I would know your hands anywhere — just by the touch." And of course: "This is the most extraordinary thing that has ever happened to me. It's like a novel."

So beware, girls. That Dreamboat could be the Heel — BURNED AND CURED.

DEAR B AND C — And I hope you will take your own advice. Lonely women have a tendency to repeat the same sorry mistake.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a boy who will soon be 17 years old. I was fed up arguing every time I wanted a couple of bucks so I got myself a job after school and on weekends. This has cut me out of a lot of social activity, but it is worth it, because I don't have to beg any more.

Now I have another problem. My dad thinks he ought to tell me how to spend my money. I think I should be able to spend my money on anything I want. Right now I'm ready to pack my gear and move out of the house. I decided to write to you first and listen to what you have to say. — MITCHELL.

DEAR MITCH — I'd like to suggest a compromise. I don't know how much money you are earning but if you will open a saving account and put away half of it you should be allowed to spend the other half as you please — no questions asked.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Many of my friends have preschool children. Most of these young mothers have good sense, but three or four in our crowd insist on dragging their children every place they go — this means to club meetings, luncheons, downtown shopping, and even to the beauty shop.

What is the matter with them anyway? My children are grown but when they were small I wouldn't have dreamed of taking them where they did not belong.

Yesterday, I attended a church luncheon, and two women brought their three-year-olds. The kids climbed all over their mothers, whined, cried, interrupted conversations and spoiled the day for everyone.

Most of these mothers discuss your column as if it were the Bible. Will you please say something about "mothers who take their young children everywhere? They'll take it from you. — LONG SUFFERING.

DEAR SUFF — Mothers who take their youngsters everywhere do so because it is easier (and cheaper) than hiring a sitter. They don't realize how unfair it is to their children as well as to women who don't care to share their day out — often their only day out in the week — with three-year-olds.

Polish the silver tea service, bring out the best china, for Mary Moore is giving you encouragement to hold a spring tea. Dainty sandwiches and enticing sweets are described in her talk today and tomorrow.

VARIETY OF FANCY SANDWICHES

(First Installment, Second Tomorrow)

If the vernal equinox obeys the rules spring should be sixteen days old right now and conveners busy planning spring teas and I'm ready to help them.

I will do it in two installments. Today I will give you details for making fancy sandwiches including serving in rolls and some doughnut-shaped sandwiches filled with fruit and cream cheese. Tomorrow I will add Butter Crunch Squares and some new ideas for making sliced sponge or angel food cake into delicious rolled morsels.

ASPARAGUS ROLL-UPS
(Spread with cheese—makes 16)

4 oz. process cheese (room temperature), 1 tablespoon cream, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, canned asparagus spears, drained, 16 thin slices sandwich bread, butter.

To soften the cheese, blend in cream and dry mustard until of spreading consistency. Trim crusts from bread slices, butter and spread with cheese filling. Place asparagus spear diagonally across each slice of bread; fold opposite corners across centre, overlapping. Secure with toothpicks. Carefully wrap in tea towel, then in plastic bag and chill. Remove toothpicks before serving.

FILLED CREAM CHEESE SANDWICHES

On 4-oz. package white cream cheese (room temperature), 1 tablespoon milk, 3 tablespoons chopped glace fruit (cherries, pineapple, etc.), 1 tablespoon chopped walnuts, dash of salt, white bread, butter.

Cream the cheese with the one tablespoon milk until of spreading consistency. Blend in chopped fruits, nuts and salt. For each sandwich cut two small circles of bread (about 2 or 3¼")—one with a doughnut hole. Butter each bread circle generously, then spread each solid circle with filling; cover with second circle which has hole in centre, buttered side down. Filling is adequate for about 16 sandwiches.

RIBBON SANDWICHES

For these use 2 lengthwise slices of white bread and 1 lengthwise slice of pink bread. Trim crusts on. Spread 1 side of each with soft butter. Spread 1 whole wheat slice with Ham Filling: One to 1½ cups finely ground cooked ham mixed with enough mayonnaise to make of soft spreading consistency. Put slice of pink bread over it. Spread it with Egg Fillings: 3 hard-cooked eggs mashed or ground, mix with 1 teaspoon chopped green onions? ½ teaspoon salt and enough mayonnaise to make of soft spreading consistency. Put on top whole wheat slice, buttered side down. Wrap snugly in double wax paper and chill. At serving time, cut off crusts with very sharp knife and cut into ribbon sandwiches which may be cut once more into triangles.

Tomorrow I will give you the second half of this spring tea menu: fancy little sweets.

Floor Show For Spring

Brighter colors, rougher textures, and more exciting patterns — that is the spring fashion story for carpets in a nutshell.

Colors will not only be brighter, but there will be more of them. Greens, golds, and blues will continue to be the top fashion shades — a far cry from the mundane beige that reigned supreme a few years ago.

The smooth textured, velvet surfaced carpet is also out of style. Instead, rough textured twists, loops, shags, and sculptured surfaces are the thing. Shaggy carpets zoomed to popularity in California, and are now sweeping the rest of the country.

More patterns are available, making it easier to coordinate furniture with floor coverings. Where Early American patterns used to be the only style where you could match furniture and rugs, now there are many Spanish, Mediterranean, French, and other patterns available.

FREEZING BAKED GOODS

Bread should be frozen as soon as it is cool, if it is to be kept for long, but it is the speed of freezing which retards staling.

from the TEST KITCHEN

Time Out
Whenever young moderns get together the subject inevitably gets around to food. That's your chance to spring a new pattern for 'tween meal snacks with a tall glass of milk . . . that "brunch" idea recommended by Canadian nutritionists. Yeas it up with new milk-mates . . . something sweet or savory that's easy to fix and mouthwatering good.

Space Age Hot Dogs
Hot dogs and hamburgers never go out of style, but modern homemakers-to-be can give them a lift by serving them on toasted cheddar buns. Cream together 1¼ cups shredded Canadian Cheddar cheese, ¼ cup soft butter, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, a few drops Worcestershire sauce and 1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion. Spread on the cut side of rolls and broil until golden. Slip the meat inside and serve at once.

Calorie Count-Down
Gals in the family weight conscious? Don't let them fall prey to the fallacy that milk is fattening. Protective foods, low in calories, is important and should be included in the diet . . . every modern miss counts on it for that healthy, natural glow . . . it's a gal's best friend.

Sandwich Fiesta
Open-faced sandwiches become special fare, if they're topped with cheese and popped under the broiler for a few minutes. A quick-to-fix filling that most modern day homes will adore is made by combining a 12-ounce can of corned beef with ¼ cup chili sauce and ½ cup sliced stuffed olives. Spread the mixture on rolls, scones or bacon buns, and top with cheese slices.

Pajama Party
When the gals stay the night, breakfast can be a real "fun" time . . . especially if it's a do-it-yourself meal. Prepare the fixings for French Toast—a simple egg and milk mixture and plenty of bread—then let the young lassies make their own at the table, in the waffle iron or on an electric griddle.

Where to Hang Religious Painting Puzzles Couple

DEAR DORIS — My husband and I have decided to buy an oil painting to paint by ourselves. The picture is a big portrait of the apostles and Jesus Christ eating their last supper. It will be a beautiful and big picture once it is finished.

DORIS CLARK

Right now we are having an argument about the place where the painting should be hung. My husband says it should be hanging in the bedroom because it is a holy picture of Jesus.

I think he is wrong. I say it should be hung in the dining room, where we eat our supper, because the painting is of the "Last Supper." —

What would you do, Doris?—CATHOLIC.

• • •

DEAR CATHOLIC — Take your pick. One of the most famous of all paintings depicting The Last Supper was originally painted on the wall of a dining room. And greatly enjoyed by large numbers of people.

You could share yours better in the dining room too — providing there is wall space to accommodate it attractively.

• • •

DEAR DORIS — I am 16 and have been going with the same boy for over a year. I think a great deal of him but I feel trapped, like I am missing something. I often think it's because I'd like to date other boys.

I have tried to tell him how I feel but he refuses to date me under any other circumstances than going steady. Many times I have broken off but have always gone back with him because I couldn't ever hurt him and because his friends make me feel so guilty by saying I couldn't love him at all and still feel the way I do about going steady. — CONFUSED.

• • •

DEAR CONFUSED — You've put into words what many young people feel about. It's no easy thing to take a step which will hurt a friend's feelings, if that friend could see just a little farther than his nose he'd set you free gladly.

It's in his interest and yours to spring the trap for each other. Isn't there one level-headed pal in the lot who'd know what you are talking about and back you up?

• • •

Confidential to W.S.B.D.A. — Gradually Mom will bring Pop around. Things will look different when you turn 16.

Meanwhile, a boy 19 is far too old for you.

• • •

DEAR DORIS — I'm going with a boy who is a city cop. When he gets married will he wear a uniform like a real R.C.M.P. would? Would he have cop best men? — NOT SURE.

• • •

DEAR NOT SURE — Yes, to both — if he likes. He is entitled to wear the formal uniform of his force.

• • •

DEAR DORIS — We have two boys, one two years and the other three and a half years old. We are interested in finding out if there is any boarding school which takes children that young. — TWO PARENTS.

• • •

DEAR TWO — Not to my knowledge. Child care experts feel that babies and toddlers need affection and care from parents.

If the little ones are orphans they are placed in private homes, with foster mothers and fathers who will give them love along with early training. Otherwise the little personalities won't grow right.

Boarding schools come considerably later.

Women at Opening Wore Simple Afternoon Dresses And Colored Spring Hats

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—Women attending the opening of Parliament Monday had to leave their formal gowns, furs and heavy jewels at home.

It was an informal occasion, notably the least colorful since Parliament openings of the Second World War years, and the women wore simple afternoon dresses and spring hats.

Usually formally-clad wives of diplomats, senators and members of Parliament sit on chairs on the floor of the Senate Chamber, providing vivid flashes of color and the sparkling of diamonds in the midst of the ceremony.

But Monday, with the new session opening only 60 hours after the old, the women were relegated to the public galleries, and the members of the diplomatic corps and their wives were not even invited to attend.

The only splashes of color in the Senate Chamber were provided by Mme. Georges Vanier and her lady-in-waiting Mme. Therese Berger. Along with three women senators, they were the only women to sit on the floor of the Senate.

MORE ROYAL BLUE

The governor - General's wife wore a royal blue silk shantung afternoon dress with matching tulle hat. Mme. Berger was in a wine dress and matching turban hat.

The women senators all wore sedate colors. Senator Josie Quart (PCQuebec) was in black, as was Senator Muriel Fergusson (L New Brunswick). Senator Elsie Inman (L Prince Edward Island) wore a beige wool suit.

Susanna's Family Fare

FAIR AND A SPARE

Dear Susanna— We have all heard of the immaculate woman who keeps an extra pair of clean, white gloves in a compartment of her car or in her purse; well far more important to me is that emergency pair of stockings.

For a few cents I went out and bought a small, extra make-up pouch. I keep a spare pair of nylons rolled up in this. It takes up very little room in my purse and not only has it saved me from spending many an embarrassing few hours when an untimely run has appeared, but it has endeared a number of my friends to me.

A little incident last evening is what prompted me to write this letter. We were attending a company gathering without husbands, and one of the women in our group caught her stocking just as we were getting out of the car. We went right to the powder room to survey the damage and you can imagine how grateful she was when I produced a new pair for her. Even my husband was pleased, as her husband had been assigned to him for the red carpet treatment. — M.

Best leg forward everybody!—SUSANNA

NEAT TRICK

Dear Susanna: When we are planning a trip I never worry about filling up the suitcases with sweaters. Instead, I place them inside one of my white pillow protectors with the zipper closing, and keep them with us in the car.

This gives us a handy storage place for those cardigans we are always slipping on and off with the constant temperature changes — they are always right there when we need them. — Winnifred Grant.

... and the whole thing doubles as a comfy pillow when one is in the mood for "catching 40." — SUSANNA

No Surplus Of Students For Medicine

TORONTO (CP)—There is no surplus of well-qualified medical students in Canada, and the need to recruit remains, says a report on medical education in The Journal, organ of the Canadian Medical Association.

The report drawn by consensus from a pilot study at the four medical schools in Ontario which, it says, was "appreciated" by newspaper reports last fall that hundreds of qualified applicants were being turned away because of shortage of places in Canadian medical schools.

The report was compiled by D. G. Fish, a research associate of the Association of Canada Medical Colleges, and Dr. J. W. Macleod, secretary of the ACMC.

The study was carried out at the medical schools of the University of Ottawa, University of Toronto, Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario.

The report says that 1,333 applications to the medical schools last fall, represented only 800 actual persons. Many students made application to more than one school and 50 applied to all four.

The report says 171, or 19.4 per cent, of the applicants were accepted for the first professional year of training.

RESPONSES "CLEAR'

The report says that the study asked medical school deans how many fully qualified applicants had been rejected from their own province.

"It was clear from the responses," say the authors, "... that the number of rejected fully qualified Canadian applicants could be counted in tens rather than hundreds."

Publication of The Journal Dr. Macleod records that Canadian medical faculties have continued to increase first-year enrolment for the sixth successive year.

He says returns from Canada's 13 medical schools show that 1,321 students began medical studies in 1964 compared to 1,266 in 1963.

However, students decreased for the first time since 1960. There were 424 women students in 1964 compared to 146 the previous year.

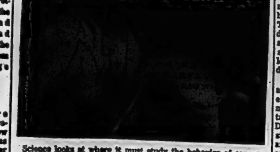
THE SAVAGE CELL

Why Fool Around With Mice While Men Die?

Editor's Note: Calling for an all-out attack on cancer, a veteran science reporter says the war has bogged down in bad research and timidity and a poor organization. This is the second article condemned from the new book, "The Savage Cell."

By PAT McGRADY

Some two million mice are available each year for research in North America. A few years ago, the yearly total was only about 150,000. The greater demand has come from a federal program testing chemical agents to see if they will be effective against cancer.



More than 800,000 of the two million mice eventually develop or are given cancer.

More than 500,000 North Americans also have cancer, and are available for study. Most of them are beyond cure by conventional means. In the care of skilled practitioners of experimental medicine, this tremendous population of sick people would offer an unrivaled opportunity to study the inherited and environmental causes of cancer, the bio-chemical and emotional characteristics of cancer, the value of blood and other tests for cancer, improved diagnosis, the efficacy of types of surgery and doses of radiation, and the true value of various drugs, immune procedures, and chemotherapy or therapies.

If the federal, local and other public and private health agencies were more than mediocre, health centres, staff them with the best doctors and researchers they can find, and persuade patients to undergo convention-al and experimental medical care, cancer control might be achieved in record time. Some of the methods might be crude, and all would require expert attention. The theories of rail-road information rapidly refined could be applied to the salvage of cancer patients next year and the year after.

A large scale study of this sort would be costly, but its likelihood would run expenses below the present practice under which families mortgage their futures in a usually losing fight against cancer. It would relieve many private physicians of the responsibility for the dreadful mistakes of their colleagues, the improper treatments, and the pitiable deaths due to incompetence.

The alternative to such a system is the present practice and its mounting pace, vast sadness and largely fruitless mouse experiments, to cancer control in the distant future. This is a system in which quacks compete quite successfully with many family doctors and in which controversial treatments, condemned by federal authorities and respectable medicine, quite naturally become a cause celebre.

Science looks at where it must study the behavior of cancer — in mice? Or is the proper study of mankind, man?

The matter of cancer control in the U.S. — including the intimately related problems of science and medicine — is worthy of the most careful attention of the National Academy of Sciences. Its National Research Council, which since 1916 has mobilized the major scientific and technical organizations in matters of major scientific moment, would find cancer control an urgent subject for review. Each year cancer claims almost as many Americans as Americans were lost in all the battles of World War II.

There is no easy solution to the cancer problem, and there may be no considerable headway made until by some means the many growing pains of science and the ills of medicine are remedied.

There is need for a great expansion of undergraduate education, many more professional colleges, a thorough revision of the archaic aspects of medical and scientific education and practice and continuing post-graduate work, particularly for the physician.

The medical profession, rich in material rewards, nevertheless has been attracting relatively fewer students and, over several years, students of decreasing academic stature. And there is every indication that the present shortage of doctors will become more intense and the quality of doctors deteriorate further.

While the ranks of students entering science as a career are swelling, it is doubtful whether the pressures and disciplines of Big Research will permit the average to attain the production reached by scientists of bygone free and easy days.

A major and still-growing problem in science and medicine is communications. This is the gap which prevents a scientist from knowing what work has been done and is being done on the project he is contemplating. It prevents the physician from knowing that his "minor modification" could lead to the rapid decline and death of a patient doing well on an experimental basis.

The communications fault lies not in a paucity of information but rather in a plethora of it. The estimated 20,000 journals dealing with biological subjects are studded with precious and semi-precious gems of knowledge buried in tons of dross and drivel.

For some time it has been apparent that the great research emphasis placed on cancer in mice is not very helpful in controlling cancer in humans. Drugs which affect the three standard mouse tumors often are useless clinically. By the same token, drugs discovered by other means to help humans often have no effect on the mouse cancers.

The problem concerns all citizens. In lives and money, they pay the bill. In each family of four, cancer will come on an average to one member. In every other household it will kill one person.

More than 300,000 North American school children are without teachers, and an additional 250,000 are without fathers, because of cancer.

An interested, informed and intelligent citizenry can do much to speed cancer control. The agencies concerned need their help. The Cancer Societies of the U.S. and Canada exist in a measure of public education.

Cancer control, like many seemingly impossible achievements of recent history, can and will come to pass.

How soon depends on the wisdom and vigor with which the problem is attacked.

Favreau's

ordered the RCMP to continue investigations into the allegations of Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne?

A. Should the minister lay charges only when convinced that a trial will being conviction or decide merely whether there is sufficient evidence to warrant court hearing.

He noted that Mr. Favreau had decided there was a lack of corroboration of Mr. Lamontagne's charges that Desjardins offered him $20,000 to agree to the release on bail of Rivard.

MARRIED LAST JUNE

Rivard was arrested last June 19 for United States authorities as a key figure in a huge international narcotics smuggling conspiracy. Mr. Lamontagne acted for the U.S. in court proceedings to have Rivard extradited to Texas. Rivard went over the wall of Bordeaux Jail March 2 and the federal government put a $15,000 price on his head.

With respect to the RCMP investigation of Mr. Lamontagne's allegations, Mr. Desjardins posed questions and offered comments about policemen ranging from Commissioner Wilfred McClellan to Constable Gilles Poissant.

He said Chief Justice Dorion must decide whether the police investigation probed deeply enough, whether the RCMP officers acted with diligence and whether further questioning might have shed new light on the case and would have changed Mr. Favreau's decision.

He asked whether the chief investigator, Inspector J. P. Dreapeau, had been suffered unfair freedom to investigate, remarking that he seemed not to have been given the latitude he wished.

The commission would have to decide whether commissioner McClellan and his senior deputies had been influenced by Mr. Favreau and, in issuing orders to Inspector Drapeau, had diminished the officer's effectiveness.

Mr. Desjardins suggested the RCMP did not seemed to offer a sufficiently valid reason for not recording a key telephone call between Mr. Lamontagne and Denis Aug. 20. Any normal office recording device could have been used. After flying jauntily off Mr. Lamontagne's staff that their boss was investing with the RCMP in a monitored phone call.

Former Sgt. Ronald Crevier hadn't been able to take notes of the call because he was holding the phone in both hands. Constable Poissant had scribbled notes on a gas bill which he later lost.

And Sgt. Crevier, aware that the conversation may be kept free Rivard, had contradicted testimony by Mr. Lamontagne that the Montreal lawyer had informed him of pressure on him to agree to Rivard's release on bail.

Mr. Desjardins also asked whether the RCMP was justified in assisting as assistant to Inspector Drapeau Sgt. Joseph McLeod, who spoke no French although all the persons involved were French-speaking.

He noted that Mr. Favreau's decision was made without the minister knowing a number of important matters later turned up by the Dorion inquiry.

Among these was the information passed to Denis that $60,000 was available for Liberal party funds if Rivard's extradition was blocked and that Liberal organizer Guy Masson had passed this information to Denis on behalf of Mrs. Rivard.

Mr. Desjardins said Chief Justice Dorion will have to decide whether Mr. Rouleau, who resigned Nov. 24 as Mr. Favreau's parliamentary secretary when the Rivard affair broke in the Commons, was trying to cover up something by giving the inquiry "an erroneous fact."

It would have been impossible for Mr. Rouleau to have done what he testified—called Mr. Lamontagne before the Montreal lawyer was called in the Rivard affair by Andre Letendre, executive assistant to Mr. Favreau.

The timing of the call was important because if Mr. Rouleau called Mr. Lamontagne after Mr. Letendre and Guy Lord, another aide to Mr. Favreau at the time, "we may wonder whether he was trying to exercise influence."

And, why had Mr. Rouleau gone through Mr. Letendre and Mr. Lord. He knew Mr. Lamontagne himself.

Mr. Desjardins also noted that Mr. Letendre testified he had mentioned the names of T. D. McDonald, assistant deputy justice minister, and then U.S. attorney-general Robert Kennedy to Mr. Lamontagne.

But Mr. McDonald had testified he didn't know Mr. Lamontagne. And was it plausible for Mr. Letendre to tell Mr. Lamontagne he would give him a good recommendation with Mr. Kennedy?

Viet Nam War, Weak UN, Make World Outlook Grave

OTTAWA (CP) — Continuation of the crisis in Viet Nam and extended crippling of executive action in the United Nations would create serious risks of widening conflict, the Canadian government said today in the speech from the throne opening the new parliamentary session.

It was a sobering assessment of the international situation but the speech said the government would continue working through the United Nations and elsewhere to lessen international tensions.

"The intensification of situation gives ground for concern," the speech said.

"The stability of Southeast Asia is threatened by a deepening crisis in Viet Nam, and continued pressures on Malaysia.

"The United Nations is beset by financial and political pressures which have seriously impaired its capacity for executive action.

"The continuance of these situations, and of the policies that give rise to them, could greatly create serious risks of widening conflict."

The speech said the government is resolved that Canada should make its fullest contribution to lessening international tensions and to providing practical assistance to developing countries.

The Canadian government would assist the United Nations in strengthening the UN, and in assuring effective international peace and security. To this end it would also continue to press for general disarmament under effective international safeguards.

In the meantime, the government would continue to strengthen collective defence in close collaboration with NATO and others on both sides of the Atlantic.

AID TO U.S. TIES

It attaches "great importance" to the close Canada-U.S. relationship with the United States, and to the development of practical, day-to-day working arrangements within the relationship, the speech said.

It also said Prime Minister Pearson will attend the June conference in London of Commonwealth prime ministers, discussing expansion of trade and the establishment of a Commonwealth secretariat.

"Commonwealth ties . . . are of major importance to the free world and to the improvement of relations between the continents," the speech said.

Plans to Bar Provinces From Owning Banks

OTTAWA (CP)—The throne speech indicates that Finance Minister Gordon will move in this session of Parliament to prevent provincial governments from owning shares in chartered banks, despite split opposition from British Columbia and Quebec.

Mr. Gordon announced his intentions Feb. 1, and the move was interpreted as a step to curb the ambitions of the B.C. Social Credit government which had sought the incorporation of a new bank with a block of shares to be held by the province. The bill to incorporate the proposed bank was piqued-holed by the Senate, and Premier Bennett said his government might buy into existing banks.

Premier Lesage of Quebec said he considered the proposed federal legislation as "extremely grave."

Mr. Gordon has argued that the proposed restriction would not be serious for the provinces. It was important that bank shares be dispersed among as many investors, and the federal parliament has exclusive jurisdiction over banking. He said even limited ownership of a bank by any other government could cause confusion over that jurisdiction.

Other limitations which Mr. Gordon said would be written into the Bank Act would include the provision that no individual or corporation, resident in Canada or abroad, may own more than 10 per cent of a bank's outstanding shares.

The throne speech didn't give any details. It merely said that Parliament will be asked to consider revisions of the Bank Act, the Quebec Savings Banks Act and the Bank of Canada Act."

When Mr. Gordon made his Feb. 18 statement he referred to "important revisions of the Bank Act, the Quebec Savings Bank Act, and amendments to the Bank of Canada Act. . . ."

AWARDS SET RECORD

OTTAWA (CP) — A record 1,231 scholarships totalling $3,200,000 have been awarded to Canadian university students by the National Research Council. Last year 986 scholarships were awarded at a total value of $2,685,000. Ontario students at 10 universities picked up 396 awards, 87 more than last year.

New Approach To Welfare Needs Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — A Canada Assistance Plan to help the poor according to their needs will be proposed in Parliament after further federal-provincial consultations, the throne speech said today.

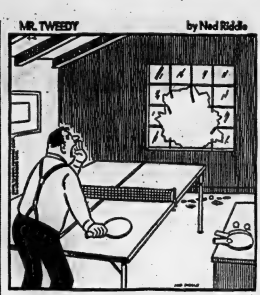
The speech opening the new parliamentary session said the plan will provide for federal sharing "in the cost of comprehensive programs under which people can be assisted on the basis of their need."

The plan, containing measures in welfare fields that the provinces have been demanding help with for years, will be discussed here later this week at a two-day meeting of Health Minister Judy LaMarsh and provincial welfare ministers.

Information said details of the plan are uncertain yet because federal-provincial agreement to the new shared-cost program will be needed before the legislation is brought before Parliament.

It will include a provincial pension legislation to the contributory Canada Pension Plan approved last week by Parliament.

RELIEVE PROVINCES



It is expected a Canada Assistance Plan would contain financial relief for the provinces in the areas such as care of needy people, mothers' allowances and administrative costs.

It probably would take four shared-cost welfare programs. The federal government pays 75 per cent of costs for up to $75 per month in assistance for blind persons.

Both levels of government split the cost of old age assistance which provides up to $75 a month to needy persons in the 65-69 age bracket, assistance to disabled persons and assistance to needy unemployed.

Proposals for the fourth program a needy person's real needs are being considered. Assistance is provided on the basis of means tests which take no account of the size of families and local living costs.

Informants say a general welfare scheme envisaged in the Canada Assistance Plan would do two main things — provide federal financial help in welfare areas not now covered by federal-provincial programs, and welfare on the basis of need instead of means.

Plan Big War On Poverty

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is working on plans for a massive attack on poverty and "the full utilization of our human resources," Parliament was informed today.

"It will include improved measures for regional development, the re-employment and training of workers, the re-development of rural areas, the assistance of needy people, the renewal of areas now blighted and congested in our cities, and the establishment of new opportunities for young Canadians."

Apart from strengthening and broadening federal responsibilities in these fields, said the throne speech read at the opening of Parliament, the measures will be designed to work more effectively with provincial programs.

PEARSON IN CHARGE

Prime Minister Pearson will be directly in charge of the sweeping program.

He will be assisted by a special secretariat, and a federal-provincial conference will be called "to seek full co-operation and co-ordination with policies of the provinces."

The government's program for utilizing human resources and assisting particular areas of the country occupied a major portion of the throne speech.

The area development program established 18 months ago which offers assistance to firms establishing in more than 30 areas of high unemployment, will be expanded to other areas where incomes are low. This would be done in consultation with the provinces.

Parliament will be asked to approve measures to aid industrial expansion in these areas and to help people to take full advantage of such improved employment opportunities."

COUNTER AUTOMATION

There will be improved measures to assist the re-employment of workers who are displaced by automation or affected "by other economic changes."

"These measures to develop our country's human resources will include grants and loans for vocational training for jobs, improved training programs in industry, extended vocational services particularly for the longer-term unemployed and an expanded program for agricultural manpower."

As usual in throne speeches, only a rough outline of the proposed measures was provided.

The proposal to broaden the qualification for "designated areas" to include areas of low-income had been predicted for some time.

The industry department has been making a study of the question. Some officials there have known to feel low-income areas should qualify as readily as high-unemployment areas. No new areas have been designated recently, pending an expected change in the qualifications.

'Company of Young Canadians' To Match Peace Corps of U. S.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government announced today it will sponsor in the new session of Parliament the creation of a "Company of Young Canadians."

Prime Minister Pearson is to outline the plan when he speaks Tuesday in the Commons throne speech debate.

Official sources indicate the Company of Young Canadians is to be akin to the late president Kennedy's Peace Corps and President Johnson's utilization of youth workers in the war on poverty.

The title is a stirring one, recalling both La Compagnie des Associes in the early settlement of Canada and "The Company of Gentlemen Adventurers Trading into Hudson's Bay"—the origins of the Hudson's Bay Company.

TO SPARK ECONOMY

The throne speech listed establishment of the Company of Young Canadians among the projects the government plans to spark the economy and deal with depressed areas.

Prime Minister Pearson plans to name a minister responsible for it, although another minister may be designated to undertake detailed direction.

Officials were unable to say in advance of Mr. Pearson's Tuesday speech precisely what work the Company of Young Canadians would do, or where.

It was suggested there are parts of northern Canada in which young people's energies can be harnessed to welfare work.

The project is to be aimed at young people in the university-age group, but participants will not have to be university students, either graduates or undergraduates.

As one official said: "There are lots of projects both in Canada and abroad that can be undertaken by Canadian youth. Young people in summer camp programs, for example, could help with their enthusiasm and drive."

HOT WORK CAMPS

But the new Company of Canadian Youth is not to be likened to the work camps organized to make work for the unemployed during the great depression.

The company will have a small central headquarters office in Ottawa and a modest budget. The office will try to find existing gaps in services provided by private youth groups.

Renew Pledge 'O Canada' To Be Anthem

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has renewed its proposal to proclaim O Canada as the official national anthem while designating God Save the Queen as "the royal anthem in Canada."

The throne speech did not specify which English and French versions of the O Canada lyrics would be proclaimed. This issue stirred up bitter debates at the last session of Parliament.

A government resolution on the two anthems was introduced May 28 last year, but it was sidetracked by the 33-day battle on a companion resolution for the new maple leaf flag.

The 13 Creditiste MPs are expected to fight the proposal to proclaim The Queen as the royal anthem, arguing that Canada cannot adopt the national anthem of another country.

Commons Will Debate Auto Pact With U. S.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons is going to be given an opportunity to debate the Canada-United States auto agreement signed last Jan. 15 by Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson.

The agreement, which allows car manufacturers in both countries to take new vehicles and parts across the border duty-free, was signed in Washington by Canada by order-in-council. The U.S. half of the agreement is expected to be debated by Congress, where it has run into opposition from U.S. parts manufacturers.

The throne speech Monday noted Parliament "will be asked to approve a resolution sanctioning the important agreement on the automobile industry recently concluded with the United States."

By bringing such a resolution before Parliament, the government will provide an opportunity for full debate on the question. Some Canadian parts manufacturers have expressed concern that the agreement, which was signed after all Canadian automakers agreed to increase their production in that country under the new scheme.

Public School Rate Cut, Separate School Boosted As Picton Taxes Are Set

PICTON — Picton town council set it's 1965 mill rate last night and the result will have mixed reception from ratepayers.

The public school residential rate is down one half mill this year at 86.36 mills while the public school commercial rate has been set at 96.03 mills.

But the separate school residential rate is up slightly more than a mill to 91.08 mills while the separate school commercial rate is set at 96.16 mills. Last year the separate schools residential rate was 90.02 mills and the commercial was 98 mills.

The total town budget for the year is $518,608 with taxable assessment of $5,901,855. Assessment is down slightly from last year's figure of $5,920,550.

TO ENLARGE LIBRARY

Council approved of a motion for a proposed addition to the town's public library as its centennial project, providing the total cost was under $35,000. The project, if approved for centennial grant, is expected to cost Picton $12,000 over the next two years.

The Ontario Department of Highways has asked the town to share in the cost of rebuilding 600 feet of highway 14 between Spencer Street and the town limits.

Last night's town budget meeting was well attended, but many municipal representatives from outside Picton were in the majority.

Arthur Robertson, district representative for the centennial grants commission, had arranged for a joint meeting of Prince Edward municipal representatives, not realizing that the town budget meetings had been called for the same time.

The result was that the township municipal representatives all turned up in the town Council chambers.

Accident Film Of Great Impact Shown Club

PICTON (Staff) — "Mechanized Death" an accident film of great impact produced by the Ohio State Highway Patrol was shown to the weekly meeting of Picton's Kiwanis Club, Monday night. The film, depicting the shocking tragedies which take place on today's highways was shown by Constable Gordon Oliver, traffic safety officer from Belleville O.P.P. District No. 9.

It was suggested by some members of the Kiwanis Club that the film be shown to students of the Prince Edward Collegiate Institute as an example of careless driving and the effects of negligence and speed on the highways. Other members were of the opinion that it was not a suitable film to be shown to teenagers. The principal of the High School will be contacted to see if the club will be permitted to screen with the O.P.P. for a showing of the film to upper grade students.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Former boss of this village's smoke-eating clan, Gerald Vance may get "fired" from his spot on the directorate of the Belleville Fair Board for making such a statement.

"Regardless of what you hear," said the "Happy Horseman," "harness racing will provide the outstanding night attraction at the Belleville Fair this year."

"And that includes the third Chuvalo-Patterson fight if the directors stage it here," he added.

The jovial president of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club is also chairman of the Black Diamond Cheese Stake committee.

And while no grass is apparent on the level oval of the Fair Grounds Greenbine, neither is any growing under the pinkies of racing generalissimo Vance.

The Black Diamond Stake, inaugurated last year as a special attraction of fair week, met with unqualified success.

"This year," claims the Sultan of the Sulky Society, "the event will be bigger and better than ever."

Racing fandom, he opines, will be geared to a high pitch having been well-fed with the Saturday night fare of the Driving Club.

"Yep," mused the chief, "Thursday evening, Aug. 19th, will be children's night at the fair—horse-wise, that is."

"Meaning what?" said a listener.

"Meaning," came back Sir Gerald, "that the pick of the young colts and fillies of the district will be making their big-time debut that evening. They are all colts or first-starters, non-winners of $700 in a lifetime up to December, 1964."

And the Stake has so many entries, the event will look like the Charge of the Light Brigade on wheels.

Thirty-eight have nominated their young steeds and paid the $10 nomination fee. The astounding fee of $15 is due from each and the actual starting fee of the same amount due August 1st.

That amounts to a 50 of racing wallet fodder. It is expected the purse will exceed $1,500. Then there's that beautiful Black Diamond Stake Trophy up for grabs.

This part of the province will be well represented. The horses come from Belleville, Brighton, Carleton Place, Peterborough, Oro Station, Campbellford, Elgin, Riverview, Napanee, Springbrook, Verona, Crookston, Perth, Roseneath, Hastings, Newmarket and Oshawa.

Six of the entries will start under the city banner. Gerald and Al Vance have "Shell Douglas," Mrs. Gloria Vance will send "Nida Dillard" to the post, Larry Zebedee will start "Peggy Blackbock" and Mrs. G. Zebedee has "Deputy Chief Orr" entered. Irvin Ness puts his faith in "Magic Lady Lou" and Ron Isaac pins his hopes on "Devon Way."

"Don't go away," said the Chief. "The Black Diamond Cheese Stake is just the icing on the racing cake. There will be three races for the senior citizens of harness society."

"We expect some of the finest harness horseflesh this side of Toronto to compete in these events. And we hope to have purses that will attract some of the district's top owners and drivers."

With an entry parade resembling a troop of cavalry, the Stake will likely consist of two sectional races, sandwiched between the other events.

With harness racing all over the country booming to new heights of popularity (The Harness Racing Association predicts $250,000,000 will pass through pari-mutuel windows) Chief Vance predicts a record crowd will be on hand for the fair's special racing event.

It is easily the highlight of what he believes will be a record season for harness racing here under the auspices of the Driving Club.

The insistence of winter to hang around may affect the opening day of the sport due to the lateness of getting the track in condition.

The Bay of Quinte Country Club professional, George Balazs, tells me golf will be set back at least two weeks this year because of winter treatment of the course.

Hawks In Tough Spot--And Know It

★ ★ ★ Wings Confident

By JERRY GLADMAN

CHICAGO (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks, who trail Detroit Red Wings two games to nothing in the Stanley Cup best-of-seven semi-final series, know only too well they are in a bad spot.

But coach Billy Reay kept insisting Monday that "this series is a long way from over."

It's a tough road back for a club that has to win four of five games, but the Hawks don't have to go back too far to recall how it was done.

In the 1962 series against Montreal Canadiens, Chicago, then coached by Rudy Pilous, was down 2-0 in games and headed for oblivion.

Then the unexpected happened. They caught fire and dumped the fast-skating Canadiens in four straight to reach the final. However the comeback drive apparently sapped their strength, and they bowed to Toronto Maple Leafs in six games.

The record books will show that it was centre Stan Mikita and left-winger Bobby Hull who sparked the Hawks to victory over the Canadiens. It appears the current Chicago club will need some of the same help to strike back against the National Hockey League champion Wings.

GET CHANCE

The Hawks get another chance tonight when they play host to Detroit in the third game of the set. The fourth game is scheduled for here Thursday night.

Reay is receiving the expected mileage out of the muscular Hull—three goals in two games—but Mikita has been below par. It's been the same story the last couple of years. Mikita wins the NHL scoring championship and then disappoints in the playoffs.

The quiet-spoken Reay is only too well aware of this fact.

"If we can get a little more out of a couple of guys, we've got a good chance to even things up here," he said Monday.

He didn't mention any names but it was quite obvious that Chicago mentor was referring to his "second" line of Mikita, left-winger Doug Mohns and right-winger Kenny Wharram.

This was the Hawks' toughest line during the season—they accounted for 65 goals with Mikita winning the scoring championship—but the Wings have done a splendid job holding the scorers at bay.

HULL CARRIES CLUB

With the failure of Mikita and company to dent the Wings' defence, Hull has once again been forced to carry the club. But results have shown in the past that one man can't do the job.

While Chicago is receiving standing goaltending from veteran Glenn Hall and Denis Dorjy, the defensive unit leaves a lot to be desired.

In both bouts, the Hawks defenders started out on the right note, bottling up the Wing offence by moving in right against the Detroit Blueline. But as the games progressed, they began backing up, letting the Wings come to them, and on both occasions it proved disastrous.

Part of Chicago's defensive ineffectiveness can be blamed on a painful side injury which Pierre Pilote suffered prior to the close of the season. Because of it, Pilote, always a standout in the playoffs has been unable to hand out too many solid bodychecks.

Aside from Pilote and centre Phil Esposito, who wrenched his back in his hotel room before Sunday's game, Chicago has few injuries.

The Wings, however, have had their bench strength weakened somewhat while wining against the rugged Hawks. Larry Jeffrey, who succumbed to a crunching check by Hull and wound up in traction in hospital, is probably out for the remainder of the series.

HAS BAD KNEE

Defenceman Gary Bergman has a bad knee and isn't slated to play in either game here. Val Fonteyne has a pinched nerve in his neck and can't be counted on. Wing coach Sid Abel was forced to call up Bob Wall from Memphis Wings of the Central Professional League.

Monday, the Hawks were housed at their plush Rockton resort 90 miles from here and went through a light workout. The Wings didn't arrive here until late Monday afternoon and weren't scheduled to work out.

Should the Hawks prolong the series the teams shift back to Detroit for a match Sunday night. A fifth game if necessary will be played here with a seventh in Detroit.

Ter-Haar Beaten By SACO 4-1

SACO climbed back into contention for the Quinte Hockey League playoff title here last night by defeating the Ter-Haar Dusters by a 4-1 count.

Ter-Haar still holds a 2-1 games lead in the best-of-seven series. Following Thursday's fourth game here, the final three tilts are now scheduled for Sunday at 2:30 p.m., Monday and Tuesday, both at 8.00 p.m.

The clubs battled on even terms in the first heat last night, tied 1-1. SACO rapped home a pair of goals in the middle frame and another in the third for their first win of the series.

Ron Pointer netted the lone Ter-Haar goal, assisted by Hubert Pointer, in the first. Gary Genereaux matched that for SACO, with Jack Gilby assisting.

In the second, Ken Forsythe potted the winning goal on a solo play with Dick Knapton made it 3-1, on a play with Doug Hallam and Don Forsythe.

Art Dunbar added the clincher with Doug Lucas helping in the third.

Referees Gord Gregory and Bill Hurst doled out ten penalties, six of them going to the winners. All were minors with the exception of a major to SACO's Larry Potter in the second period.

Thursday's game, at Memorial Arena, is scheduled for 8.00 o'clock.

Kitchener Downs London Jrs.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener Greenshirts downed London Nationals 7-4 Monday night to even their best-of-seven Ontario Junior B hockey semi-final series at two games apiece.

About 5,525 fans saw the Greenshirts dominate the game throughout, firing 42 shots at Ray Keough in the London net. Dave Hainsworth handled 37 at the Kitchener end.

The teams were tied 2-2 after the first period, but the Kitchener team was ahead 5-4 going into the third.

Walt Tkaruk, Tom Smols, Wayne Gowing, Ken Johnson, Danny Grenier, Gary Hopcraft and Jack Egers were goal getters for the Greenshirts. Dave Gorman got two for the Nats and Walt McKechnie and Bob Cook added the others.

Fifth game of the series is scheduled for Friday night in London.

RUSSIA WITHDRAWS

SALISBURY (Reuters)—The Soviet Union has withdrawn from the Davis Cup Lawn Tennis tournament, according to a telegram received by the Rhodesia Lawn Tennis Association here Monday. The Soviet Union should have played Rhodesia in a first round match April 29, 30 and May 1. Guy Oddar, secretary of the Rhodesian association, said the telegram explained that the Russians had been forced to withdraw because of the illness of one player.

Milt Schmidt Remains as Coach

Bruins Name Hap Emms GM

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—"If you've going to be strong on the ice, you've got to be strong in the office," says Boston Bruins president Weston Adams.

With that statement, the head man of the team that has finished last in five straight National Hockey League races announced Monday:

1. Lynn Patrick moves into the newly-created post of administrative vice-president.

2. Leighton (Hap) Emms replaces Patrick as general manager.

3. Milt Schmidt will continue as coach and assistant general manager.

Terming the realignment "a team of four," Adams said Emms and Schmidt will handle "the practical side" while he and Patrick cope with the "executive."

MISS PLAYOFFS

Boston has failed to make the playoffs six straight seasons. Adams was asked how soon he expected this to be reversed.

"Only a madman would answer that question," Adams said. "There are so many factors involved. But we're going to work hard to get there soon. Boston has certainly deserved it."

Emms, 60, is owner-manager of Boston's No. 1 junior farm club, Niagara Falls Flyers.

"Emms has been described as a 'hard man'," said Adams. "I prefer to think of him as a 'first' man."

Neither Emms, whose Flyers are involved in playoffs, nor Schmidt, on a scouting trip, were present at the press conference. One of sports' worst kept secrets has been kicked around by the press on both sides of the border for two weeks.

Adams said neither Emms nor Patrick had contracts in their new assignments, "if a man's word isn't good, what good is a piece of paper?" Adams said.

HAS 20-YEAR RECORD

Emms has been associated with the Bruins for more than 20 years, all of it with the Flyers, first located in Barrie and now Niagara Falls. His teams have won six Ontario Hockey Association titles including the most recent this year. He also won four Eastern Canada championships and two Memorial Cups.

Among the former Flyers' players who made the NHL are five current Bruins — Eddie Westfall, Murray Oliver, Wayne Maxner, Bill Knibbs and Ron Schock.

Emms marks the first time Emms has been officially on an NHL club other than as a player. He spent 12 years in that capacity starting in 1927-28. Beside the 1934-35 season with Boston, Emms also played for the old Montreal Maroons, New York Americans and Detroit Red Wings.

Despite injuries which sidelined six top players for the balance of the season, Boston had its winningest year since 1939-40 when it posted 21 victories this past campaign.

"I consider Milt Schmidt has done a fine job as coach under unbelievably difficult conditions," said Adams. "He has more than proved his right to the job."

HORNETS RECALL HARRIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League recalled defenceman Ron Harris Monday from Memphis of the Central League. Harris was recalled on an emergency basis to replace injured defencemen Pete Goegan and Gary Doak.

Score Five Goals In 12 Minutes

WINNIPEG (CP) — Warroad, Minn., Lakers took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five Allan Cup western semi-final with Transcona Lions with an easy 7-1 victory Monday night.

Rebounding from a scoreless first period, Warroad rapped five unanswered goals behind Transcona goaltender Dick Todd in 12 minutes of the second period.

Former Winnipeg Maroon Ron Farnfield led Warroad with a three-goal performance. Singles were added by Tim Taylor, brothers Myron and Sam Grafstrom and Bill Christian. Cliff Krivak spoiled goaltender Allie Reynard's shutout bid with a goal early in the third period.

Suggests Bonus For Hunters

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters recommends in a brief to the northern affairs department that any person hunting wildfowl who shoots and uses a retrieving dog be allowed a bonus of two birds a day.

The brief was drawn up at the quarterly meeting of federation's directors in Orillia. It is an attempt to cut down high wastage of waterfowl which are killed and fall out of a hunter's reach.

President Jack O'Dette said here Monday the federation also plans to recommend that the Ontario Water Resources Commission set up regional offices in every forestry district in the province. He said the present method of commission field officers working out of Toronto is unsatisfactory.

He said this is proved by investigations of water pollution. Requests for investigation now must be made to Toronto and by the time officers arrive the pollution frequently may be temporarily cleared up.

Koufax Future In Air

VERO, Beach, Fla. (AP)—Pitching star Sandy Koufax awaited a joyful welcome here late today to Los Angeles Dodgers' camp, but with his return comes speculation and apprehension.

Doc's return to training camp mean the arthritic condition of his $1,000,000 left elbow has suddenly begun clearing up, or was it not as serious as it looked at first?

Only time will tell, team spokesmen say. "We'll just have to play it by ear all the way," said Dodger president Red Patterson Monday on hearing of southpaw Koufax' medical release.

The team's orthopedic specialist, Dr. Robert Kerlan, said the swelling of Koufax' left elbow had sufficiently reduced for him to resume training several days before anyone had hoped he could.

TREATMENTS CONTINUE

General manager E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi said Koufax would continue treatments under Kerlan's directions, and added:

"Sandy will be permitted to set his own pace on conditioning himself and will not be asked to pitch until he feels he's ready to do so, and only as often as he says he's ready."

Koufax' elbow became stiff and swollen Thursday at Daytona Beach and he returned to Los Angeles the next day for treatment.

A few days of repeated stress may answer the question whether the condition is chronic —thus possibly spelling an end to Koufax' brilliant hurling career—or whether the present treatment will be sufficient to control the condition.

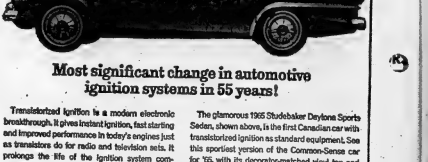
Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes, and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved — actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.



This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H. Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Leafs Look To Rookies; Hodge Out

Won Tonight A 'Must'

By IAN MacLAINE

TORONTO (CP) Ron Ellis and Peter Stemkowski have a lot in common.

Both are rookie National Hockey Leaguers getting their first taste of Stanley Cup play, both are just one season away from junior hockey after sparking Toronto Marlboros to the to the national title and both have Frank Mahovlich.

And while coach Punch Imlach won't admit it, on this treats the goal Toronto Maple Leafs trail Montreal Canadiens as Stanley Cup champions.

So far, neither the Leafs nor the Mahovlich - Stemkowski-Ellis line has produced and the Leafs train Montreal Canadiens 2-0 in the best-of-seven semi-final.

But Ellis, a 22-goal scorer during the regular season and a leading candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors, and Stemkowski, who came up from Rochester of the American League in mid-season, have endeared themselves to Toronto fans.

With Mahovlich, who also scored 23 goals, they formed a potent scoring unit during the last month of the regular schedule.

Another of Imlach's more astute pupils, defenceman Kent Douglas, was missed in the Leafs' 5-1 loss to the Canadiens Saturday as-he sat out a one-game suspension assessed by NHL president Clarence Campbell the result of a stick-swinging duel.

power plays and his absence since the mid-way mark of the first period in the series opener has been felt.

The Canadiens have scored four of their six goals so far off power-plays while the Leafs have yet to notch a goal while holding a man advantage.

Douglas, the first NHL defenceman to win the Calder Trophy in his rookie season of 1962-63, is noted for his puck carrying and as an opportunist quick to take advantage of an opponent's defensive lapses.

"It's something I picked up from Eddie Shore at Springfield. His theories on handling the puck were better for defencemen than forwards and we had a chance to use these ideas in a rink the size of Springfield's."

Meanwhile, Canadiens arrived here by train late Monday. They were jolted earlier in the day when goalie Charley Hodge was taken to hospital with a groin injury.

Dr. L. G. Hampson, the team physician, said Monday night he "wouldn't like to bet he'll be ready for Thursday's game, but again I wouldn't entirely rule out the possibility either."

He said Hodge "did very well to finish the game Saturday" after he stopped a shot by Toronto's Kelly.

Montreal coach Toe Blake said Monday the team will go into hiding until game time and won't practise, unless one or two players need to skate out

Minor Softball Lays Plans For Season

Plans were put into action during the past week to assure the Belleville Minor Softball Association of a successful season during the fast-approaching summer.

Registration forms have been delivered to most of the city's public, separate and high schools. The remainder are being covered this week.

An official of the B.M.S.A. urges that all boys wishing to play register on time so that teams may be formed, schedules drawn up and play commence as soon as possible.

Friday, April 23 has been set aside as "registration day."

Signed forms and the registration fee of $1 per player should be brought to Memorial Arena between the hours of 6:00 and 9:30 p.m. that day," said a spokesman. Late registrations will be accepted at the Recreation Centre, on Pinnacle Street.

It was pointed out that there is a maximum registration fee of $3 per family. Money will be used to help purchase sweaters for use by all teams this season. These sweaters will remain the property of the B.M.S.A. They will be handed out and picked up by team coaches before and after each game and the association feels that unless this plan sweaters should be "kept in good playing condition" for three years.

It was also announced that the need for good umpires is also a problem, due to the cancellation of games often, more officials are needed and anyone interested is asked to contact their name at the Recreation Centre.

HAPPY AT WORK — Jim Fitzsimmons, 35, a Calgary native, is one of Canada's leading jockeys and he wouldn't trade his job for anything. Goes To Austria

First Trot Stud Export

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Tom Schneiberg, a 35-year-old naturalized Canadian returns to his native Austria Friday with a unique Canadian export—a standardbred stallion.

Schneiberg's travelling companion leaving Montreal airport for Vienna is the first Canadian-bred stallion exported to a European country for breeding, Canadian Trotting Association records show.

The horse is five-year-old Armbro Duke, bred and raced by Ted and Elgin Armstrong of Brampton. He'll go to the stud farm at Wiener Trabrennverein, a new breeding and racing institution at Lasenz, 25 miles from Vienna.

Schneiberg has a notebook filled with tips on feeding and caring for standardbreds picked up during visits to Ontario and Quebec standardbred and thoroughbred nurseries.

Only trotting horses are raced in Austria and the standardbred stallion is ideally suited.

Armbro Duke is a son of the American Saint's Pride and out of the Hoot Mon mare, Magda Manover. Last year on U.S. and Canadian racetracks the Armstrongs' two-year-old pacing Flight, a daughter of Star's Pride from the Hoot Mon and Hambletonian winner, Helicopter won $107,402, largest amount in a season by a trotting filly in sport's history.

Schneiberg declined to say what he paid for Armbro Duke but said a guess of $10,000 was "reasonably close".

Armbro Duke trotted his fastest mile last year in 2:01.4 on a three-year-old and had winnings of $17,384. A bowed tendon ended Duke's racing career after seven starts and two wins.

The Tracks

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Two former athletes invested in a horse and Monday they found they had a winner as Mind Flyer, ridden by Hugo Dittfach, walked off with the second race at Fort Erie.

The two - year - old filly is owned by Brian Cullen, former hockey player with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, and Tom Hughes, former linebacker with Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football Conference. The horse is trained by Art Warner.

The daily double of Now I Wonder, winner of the first race, and Mink Coat paid $191.80. The quinella of Forest Rover and Uncle Blue in the sixth paid $98.30.

Battle Order, also trained by Warner, easily won the seventh. Eric Walsh rode Super Flow to victory in the third and Flippin Floyd in the fifth, while Ricky's Pie captured the fourth race from Mixed Match, another Warner-trained horse.

Attendance was 4,106 and mutuel betting $325,418.

Veteran Jockey Loves Job

By JERRY GLADMAN

TORONTO (CP)—Jim Fitzsimmons is a little guy with a disarming smile, an easy-going manner, a grip of iron and the satisfaction of doing what he likes best.

One of Canada's leading thoroughbred jockeys, the 35-year-old Calgarian says:

"You get to meet a lot of nice people, can't complain about the pay, and it's a lot better than straight nine-to-five job. And what I like best about it is that during the winter you can do what you please."

He should have added that a jockey can spend his winters as he chooses providing he has what it takes to be a good season. Which is just what Fitzsimmons has had the last few years. He was the leading stakes rider in Ontario in 1961-62-63.

A 16-year career, with seven years spent in the West, has seen him win practically every stakes race in the East, including the Queen's Plate. He won it aboard E. P. Taylor's Flaming Page in 1962, his second year as a contract rider for Windfield Farms.

Since 1963 the five-foot, 102-pound rider has been a freelance jockey and last year he took third place in the Plate aboard Grand Garcon.

One of his biggest thrills was riding Taylor's Northern Dancer, one of the greatest Canadian thoroughbreds.

"I rode the Dancer his last race in Canada before going to New York," Fitzsimmons says. "That's quite a horse."

Like the Dancer, Fitzsimmons has enjoyed considerable popularity.

"I get so many letters I can't answer them," he says. "Some are from old ladies and others are from girls who want to run away.

"I also get a lot from kids who want to be jockeys. I often find it difficult to give them advice. A lot of them think it's just because they're small they are going to be good jockeys. But a kid has to have more than that. He has to have natural ability.

"If a kid is about 16 or 17 and weighs about 105 pounds this doesn't mean he can be a jockey. He's young and once he starts working out and developing he's liable to jump to 120-25 pounds."

Fitzsimmons has never had this problem—"I was always small."

"We grew up in Calgary and my younger brother and I used to buy colts off the Indians, break them in and sell them for a profit.

"I had a bit of an advantage over other young kids. I could ride when I first went to the track. However, I still had to work my way up. I had to live in the barn, clean the stables, brush down the horses."

CAME HARD

It didn't take him long to break in and become a winner. But the bigger purses in the East beckoned and, after six years in which he divided his time between Alberta and Ontario, he decided in 1960 to settle down in the East.

During the first few winters he went to the United States to ride but, with an average of 1,000 mounts a season, he has in recent years been able to make enough during the race season to keep himself, his wife and daughter all year round.

Fitzsimmons has had his share of injuries. "I've broken everything but my back. A couple once landed on top of me and caved in all the muscle tissue in my chest but I was really fortunate no bones were broken."

He recalls Ike Boland, in 1961 when Calgary hosted a promising young jockey, was killed in a bad spill. "Ironically, I rode every day that year except the day Boland was killed."

He says his pretty wife Jen is concerned about the danger but she realizes he's doing what he likes and knows and goes along with him.

"My little daughter Erin (9) is a good horsewoman. She wants to ride show horses. I don't mind if she's good enough but she's young right now. At this age you can never tell."

Everything 'Fine' In Twin's Dugout

'You Name It, You Get It' Said Manager

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

Sam Mele is glancing over his shoulder, Zoile Versalles is pecking in his wallet and Billy Martin is just trying to look innocent. It all adds up to baseball's latest spring - training squabble.

Versalles is $300 poorer after taking on manager Mele in a Minnesota dugout dispute Monday while the Twins were being thrashed 8-1 by New York Mets. Mele had yanked his temperamental shortstop and accused him of not going all out on a bouncer by Jim Hickman that brought in two Met runs.

When Zoile got to the bench, Mele told him to sit down. That's where Martin, a Twin coach, got into the act.

"It all on the bench for Martin, not for you," Versalles barked. The shortstop was obviously referring to rumors that Martin might replace Mele unless the Twins can improve on last year's disappointing sixth place finish.

"That will cost you $100," said Mele.

"Make it $200," the shortstop snapped.

"All right, it's $200," said Mele.

"Why not $300?" asked Versalles.

"That's what it is," Mele replied. "Now get out behind the outfield and do some running."

Martin, in his first year as a coach with the Twins, was angry over getting involved in the spat, particularly because of the rumors.

"Versalles pushed me first," said Mr. Martin said. "He did it in a fit of temper. I guess it was his way of getting back at Sam. He must have used my name because I'm working with him and he regards me as a friend."

Versalles said he was angry because Mele warned up his replacement before the inning was over. "He treated me like a bunker. I want respect."

While the Twins were arguing, the Mets were scoring five runs. Tight pitching by Parsons and Larry Bearnarth gave New York its victory.

Elsewhere, John Buchardt and Bob Locker combined to pitch an one-hitter as Chicago White Sox blanked Philadelphia Phillies 2-0.

Gene Oliver broke up a pitching duel with a 12th inning base-loaded single as Milwaukee Braves blanked Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0. Bob Sadowski and Dan Osinski shared the shutout.

Phil Linz connected for a three-run homer as New York Yankees nipped St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

Bob Lock's three run homer helped Washington Senators to a 5-4 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each tagged Jim Maloney for two-run homers as Pittsburgh Pirates whacked Cincinnati Reds 7-3. Jimmy Stewart's pinch single delivered the tying and winning runs as the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco Giants 7-6. Houston Astros rallied for three runs in the eighth and pipped Detroit Tigers 4-3 as Chuck Harrison delivered a key two-run double. The Angels whipped Cleveland Indians 4-1 with Jack Warner homering for Los Angeles.

Meet Niagara Falls

Marlies Eliminate Petes

PETERBOROUGH (CP) It's Toronto Marlies against Niagara Falls Flyers for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A title.

Marlboros won 4-1, their third game in three outings, Monday night to capture the best-of-seven league semi - finals 4-3 from Peterborough Petes.

It was a tremendous comeback for the Marlies, who at one time were behind 3-1 in the series. One game was tied.

Barry Watson was the offensive leader for Toronto. After earning an assist on Al Osborne's opening goal, Watson scored the winner and insurance goals early in the third period. Jerry Meehan added the final score. The Peterborough marksman was Leo Thiffault.

Marlies now embark on a best-of-seven final against the league-leading Flyers. A definite opening date has not been set, but it is expected the first contest will be Wednesday night in Niagara Falls.

Flyers had hoped for a Tuesday night opening, but the OHA didn't feel Marlboros should be saddled with a near-exhausting schedule of four playoff games in as many nights.

BACK FROM THE ROPES

Marlboros were hanging on the ropes after the first two games of the Peterborough series. Petes, with three victories and one tie, needed only a tie to reach the final round.

However, the Toronto team clung to a thin rope with a 5-3 victory at Peterborough on Saturday, trailing 3-2 early in the second period of Sunday's game in Toronto, they scored five successive goals for a 9-4 triumph.

That sent the teams into Monday night's sudden death encounter, where Watson took charge with his last - period heroics.

Following a scoreless first period, Marlies took command in the third with Osborne scoring the scoring at 12:22, on assists from Mike Byers and Watson.

The peaky Petes, outweighed and outchecked by the more robust Marlies, then tied the score at 13:56 of the second period.

Watson scored the winning goal at 1:46 of the finale, clicking the puck past Petes' goalie at close range on a pass from Wayne Modell.

Rex Harrison Surprised — As Higgins Wins Him Oscar

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) "I really thought Anthony Quinn was going to get it," said Rex Harrison, clutching the golden Oscar he won Monday night as best movie actor in 1964.

The role that won him the award was Professor Henry Higgins in My Fair Lady.

For Harrison, the victory over Quinn (Zorba the Greek), Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole (both for Becket) and Peter Sellers (Dr. Strangelove) was the capstone of 35 years of movie-making. His Caesar to Elizabeth Taylor's Cleopatra last year got him a nomination, but not an Oscar.

His present image—patterned after that of the debonair, witty, sophisticated Higgins—amuses him. He and his actress-wife, Rachel Roberts, insist Harrison is really not like that.

"I never try to be sophisticated," Harrison insists.

His wife adds: "One of his favorite pastimes is to go down to La Scala, a local pub (in Portofino, Italy, where they live in a villa), to drink and chat with the fishermen and sailors. It's not what one would really call sophistication."

Asked how he manages, at 56, to maintain his trim bearing, he answers: "Exercise and drink. The road is a lot like a pub in Portofino that one must descend if like a mountain goat —or else thirst."

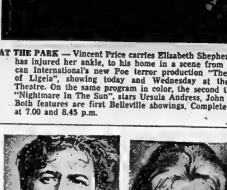
The latter he does not do.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) When Julie Andrews picked up her Oscar as the year's best actress, she turned a consolation prize into first prize.

Mary Poppins, the role that won her the award, was created on Broadway in My Fair Lady.

But three years ago when Warner Brothers plunked down $5,500,000 for the screen rights, they refused to test her.

The studio wanted a movie name of international renown, so went the explanation, and they chose Audrey Hepburn.



So strong was the undercurrent of feeling about the Andrews rejection, some said, that secretary voters passed over Miss Hepburn in best actress nominations.

"I still think Audrey should have been nominated," said Julie, the winner, clutching her Oscar Monday night.

"I'm ecstatic," said loser Audrey, a few minutes later. She had just handed the best actress award to Rex Harrison, her co-star in the film version.

AT THE PARK — Vincent Price carries Elisabeth Shepherd, who has injured her ankle, to his home in a scene from American International's new Poe terror production "The Tomb of Ligeia" showing today and Wednesday at the Park Theatre. On the same program in color, the second thriller, "Nightmare In The Sun", stars Ursula Andress, John Derek. Both features are first Belleville showings. Complete shows at 7.00 and 8.45 p.m.

AT THE BELLE — Peter Ustinov, Melina Mercouri, Maximilian Schell, Robert Morley, Akim Tamiroff, the cast of the year, in "Topkapi", suspense as you like it — with comedy, in Color, showing Tonight and Wednesday. Matinee daily.

Stirling Reaches Ont. Finals

Stirling earned a berth in the Ontario Hockey Association's Intermediate "C" finals last night.

The Belleville - area club defeated Port Perry 6-2 on the losers' home ice and won the semi - finals series four games to one. Port Perry had taken the series opener with Stirling scoring back to win four games in succession.

Port Elgin will meet Stirling in the provincial finals.

Arrangements are presently being made for the titular set. Due to the great travelling distance (250 miles), length of the series will be left up to the teams involved.

It is hoped to have the series begin in Stirling on the Easter weekend of April 16. Two games will likely be played in Stirling with two more back in Port Elgin the following weekend.

Masters Tournament

Stars Have Unfair Edge

AUGUSTA, Ga.-(AP) — Gene Sarazen is high on Jack Nicklaus to win the 30th Masters golf tournament starting Thursday, but he feels the husky blond bomber, four-time winner Arnie Palmer and the other elite have an unfair advantage over the rest of the field.

"They get the best caddies," said the 63-year-old squire of Germantown, N.Y., who won the second Masters in 1934. "The caddies can make a big difference.

"Only five per cent of the caddies today know the difference between a driver and a four iron," said the veteran, who came out of the bagcarrying ranks to fame and fortune. "The good ones go to the top players like Nicklaus, Palmer, Tony Lema and Sam Snead.

"The way to equalize it would be to have the caddies just as a service. They would not be permitted to give advice."

Sarazen also suggested that the game should be streamlined to help speed up play.

"Golf carts should be permitted in the tournaments," said Sarazen. "You've got to keep up with the times and keep the game from lagging. You can still use caddies for the other functions."

Travelling Expenses

Set Grants Of $83,591

OTTAWA (CP)—Grants totalling $83,591 to help Canadian athletes compete in international games were announced today by Health Minister Judy Lamarsh's office.

Included in the amount is $12,434 to the Canadian Basketball Association to help it train and send a national basketball team to a competition in South America in June.

Biggest of the grants goes to the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association. It gets $25,000 to help cover travel costs of the Canadian team at the 1966 games in Kingston, Jamaica.

Other grants:

The Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, $11,890, for swimming and diving championships at London, England, in September. It also gets $2,426 to help send a team of 25 to the 1965 synchronized outdoor championships at Houston, Texas, and $2,140 to take part in the polo championships in California in July.

The Canadian Athletic Union of Canada, $11,742, for international competitions in weightlifting, gymnastics, wrestling and fencing.

The Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, $9,000, to send a team to the Henley Royal Regatta in England in July.

The Canadian Amateur Bobsledding and Tobogganing Association, $5,944, to send an 11-member team to the world bobsleigh championship at Cortina, Italy, in January, 1966.

The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, $3,000, to send six players and a coach to the Davis Cup and Federation Cup championships this year.

Glamor, Variety, Suspense Seen in Awards of Oscars

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood's annual spring stage awarding gold-plated Oscar statuettes to the motion picture best—may not be the ideal television program but, what it lacks in format and pace, it makes up in glamor, variety and suspense.

Thus for 2½ hours on ABC Monday night the TV audience was turned into a body of stargazers. And when Bob Hope's jokes ran thin or when the Oscars were being passed out to winners in some technical category, there always were the women's dresses and hairdos to look at and comment upon.

The program ran along briskly, but some extraneous entertainment could well have been eliminated.

In what could only have been a programming error, CBS Reports chose to present a documentary on abortion at the time when the Hollywood festivities were being televised.

Abortion and the Law attempted to present all sides of the controversial subject, with special emphasis on legal considerations. Narrator Walter Cronkite listed the shocking statistics.

Most of the statistics and few of the facts were new, but many of them were brought into frightening focus by the words of women describing their experiences.

Cronkite at the outset recommended that fchildren not see the program.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. McGregor, driver by Bill Habkirk of Brantford took her $1,000 featured eighth race at Greenwood Raceway Monday night.

Dr. McGregor beat Dr. S. E., driven by Harley McFarland of Minnesville, N.Y., by 2½ lengths in the 6½-furlong race.

Gay Frisco won the first race and J. E. Skeeter the second to combine for a daily double of $107.90.

Attendance was 4,994 with mutuel betting of $285,373.

SKI THRILL CAUGHT

3 Clubs Quest FA Cup

LONDON (Reuters)—The triangular race for the English Football League championship winners is to continue to the end of the season.

Chelsea, Leeds and Manchester all won Saturday. Chelsea tied 0-0 in a second-leg English League Cup final match Monday night after winning the first leg 3-2, while Leeds defeated Stoke City 3-1 in an English League first division game Monday.

None shows signs of cracking, even though Chelsea and Manchester must have felt some relief following their dismissal from the Football Association Cup.

Now it is likely to be the team with the greatest stamina and the best reserve strength that will be champion.

Leeds manager Don Revie summed up his team's chances by saying: "It's going to be terribly hard. At one period we shall be playing five league matches in eight days—and we have to meet Liverpool in the FA Cup final the following week."

Chelsea and Manchester have commitments outside the league program, too, though not perhaps as formidable as those of their rivals.

The League Cup this year carries the added incentive of qualifying the winner for next season's European Inter-Cities Cup.

This means that Chelsea, even if it loses the league title race, could still make its debut in top-class continental soccer next season by winning the league cup.

Manchester United is still in this season's Inter-cities competition but has to meet Strasbourg in the quarter-finals—and could be involved in a bewildering backlog of figures before the season ends.

"Tell Them We Haven't Horns"

In a Vale of Bitterness Hutterites Preserve Peace

Some Hutterite colonies have eased the strict rules that have governed their lives for 400 years while others have remained as orthodox as ever. A Canadian Press reporter who visited several colonies tells of their life.

By JANE BECKER

STANDOFF, Alta. (CP) — "Some people think Hutterites have horns," said 24-year-old Rachel Walter. "Please write and tell them we haven't."

Rachel, a member of the Standoff Hutterite colony 50 miles southwest of Lethbridge, was speaking with a certain levity but her remark veiled an undercurrent of concern.

Ever since this devout, pacifist, tradition-bound, German-speaking religious group began settling in Alberta 47 years ago, it has been criticized, particularly by some non-Hutterite farming neighbors.

For the last 23 years the resentment toward the Hutterites has been backed by legislation, a first prohibiting and later restricting their purchases of land for new colonies.

Now the Communal Property Act is being tested in the courts. On the outcome depends the Hutterites' future in Alberta.

The Hutterites have been called poorly-educated peasants, a "festering, running sore in our midst." Their willingness to pay premium prices for land has caused resentment.

But though surrounded by bitterness, they have managed to preserve the atmosphere of peace and contentment to a great degree within the 66 colonies that now cover 500,000 acres of Alberta farmland.

WELL ISOLATED

Except for the occasional remark, like Rachel Walter's, there is no sign of trouble with the rest of the world.

Rachel typifies the intelligent, attractive young Hutterite on a colony, curious about the outside world but resigned, appreciative and happy to living a life well-insulated from it.

One of eight children of the Standoff colony preacher, Rachel spends her days taking her turn cooking in the communal kitchen, cleaning, baking bread, milking the colony's 47 cows with the help of electric milkers, plucking the down from the geese, carding wool for quilts, butchering and, in summer, tending the colony garden and her own small plot. She also helps the aviary and is proud that Standoff honey is considered among the best in the district.

Rachel has been doing all this ever since she graduated at 15 from the colony's small and rather shabby one-room school, set among the trees at the end of a row of buildings that form living and working quarters for the 300 colonists at Standoff.

Hutterites almost never send their children to a public high school. Rachel is not so much from objection to education, they say, as from fear the children will fall into "bad ways" if they mix with the world and that they then may leave the colony.

LEARN GERMAN

But they comply willingly with the provincial education department ruling that they must provide a school for their children on the colony up to the provincial school-leaving level of Grade 8.

A non-Hutterite teacher paid by the school board teaches the children the regular provincial curriculum. In addition each child has an hour's instruction in German given by a colony member before and after regular school each day.

Rachel wears ankle - length dresses that she makes herself of black or dark print material. She has never cut her hair. It is braided and twisted into a bun and covered with a clean white cap and a polka-dot kerchief.

She resembles the original members of the sect, founded 400 years ago in Moravia by Jacob Hutter, who was later burned at the stake for his pacifism.

Next to her Bible, Rachel's most cherished possession is her hope chest. Hand-made of pine or cedar, one is given to every Hutterite girl when she turns 15. In it she keeps all her possessions—her Sunday dresses of blue or black silk, chocolates, perhaps perfume someone has sent her and maybe an artificial flower she bought with pocket money on her last trip to town.

Rachel likes to read and subscribes to two missionary magazines. If she had been allowed to go to high school she would have liked to be a teacher or missionary. She likes children and wishes she could teach in the colony kindergarten, where all youngsters between three and six spend their days, but this job is reserved for older women.

BROTHER CRIPPLED

Five of Rachel's six brothers have jobs on the colony. The oldest, Jake Jr., 30 and unmarried, supervises the flock of 2,000 ducks and geese, including the hatching of eggs in a modern electrically - controlled incubator. He's also training younger men who will take over from him when he's too old to work.

Rachel's brother Eli, 19, is badly crippled with cerebral palsy and cannot talk. His parents took him to numerous doctors who said he couldn't be helped. Eli lives with his family and no one tries to hide him or make excuses for him—typical of the Hutterites.

All Hutterites base their way of life on the New Testament description of Peter's founding of the Apostolic Church, particularly verses 44-45 of Acts 2 which say:

"All that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man has need."

But they vary both in prosperity and in the strictness of their adherence to their belief.

The Standoff colony was the first in Alberta and is one of the most liberal in outlook. It also points up the desperate situation of a Hutterite colony that grows too big for its land and cannot buy more.

Today the 100 Standoff colonists are attempting to live by cultivating 600 acres. They own 9,000 acres but about 40 per cent is river flat and much of the rest is used to pasture 400 head of beef cattle.

REQUEST REJECTED

The colony tried to buy more land in the area a few years ago but was turned down because the region was thought to be already too thickly populated with colonies. They now rent a 4,000-acre ranch 50 miles away but the lease is for only five years.

"We are stuck if we don't get more land," says Rachel's father, 55-year-old Jacob Walter. He adds that unless something breaks soon the colony may have to move away, possibly out of Alberta or even Canada.

Life at Standoff is spartan, cheerful and friendly. Most of the grey stucco buildings were built around 1918. Supper at the colony will consist of fried potatoes, beans, "odds and ends" of duck, home - made bread, honey, home-churned butter and coffee with cream but no sugar.

Standoff has bent the rules in ways other, stricter colonies don't tolerate. The school children play baseball with the Indians across the road. The schoolhouse contains both a Union Jack and a photograph of the Queen and the children sing "O Canada." They are allowed to go to town frequently.

Although musical instruments are usually considered evil devices, the colony has six strains of guitars float from some of the outbuildings in the evening.

"We're letting the young people go too far," says Mr. Walter, but he adds that he thinks allowing some leeway will make the colony stronger in the long run—"the energy has got to go some place."

Other colonies disapprove. "The Standoff people don't live right," says 26-year-old Mary Wurz of the Wilson colony 25 miles to the east.

TOMORROW: Visit to an orthodox colony.

ADOPTS LIBERAL APPROACH — Jacob Walter, 55, is preacher on the Standoff, Alta., colony of Hutterites. Walter is one of the most liberally-minded of the Hutterite elders. "Allowing some leeway will make the colony stronger," he says. (CP Photo)

WANTS TO TEACH — Rachel Walter, 24, daughter of the preacher on the Hutterite colony at Standoff, Alta., would love to teach in the colony kindergarten, but tradition forbids it. She spends her time cooking in the communal kitchen, milking cows and plucking geese. (CP Photo)

PERFECT CURLING END

SIMCOE.—Ont.(CP) —William McDowell's rink recently curled a perfect end, the first in the local club's 13-year history. It came a month after another Simcoe rink of which Mr. McDowell is a member scored a perfect end, playing in St. Thomas.

Psychiatric Care Asked for Sex Slayer

QUEBEC (CP)—A third request has been made to Quebec authorities for psychiatric care for convicted child slayer Leopold Dion, whose lawyer says he is being tortured by sadistic sexual fantasies.

Lawyer Guy Bertrand, 27, told The Canadian Press in an interview that in the last year Dion himself has asked Governor Albert Tanguay of Montreal's Bordeaux Jail for treatment.

The Quebec Court of Appeal early this year upheld a December, 1963, jury trial verdict in which Dion was found guilty of the sex strangling of Pierre Marcelin, 13, one of four boys Dion and buried in this district two years ago.

Mr. Bertrand has entered an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada for acquittal of Dion by reason of insanity. Dion is scheduled to be hanged June 25.

UNDER CLOSE GUARD

Dion was transferred last April to Bordeaux, where he is under close guard, after severely wounding Governor Gene Letourneau of the Quebec provincial jail here in an escape attempt.

The lawyer said that since his trial, Dion has been tortured by the prospect of the gallows as much as nightmarish fantasies.

Mr. Bertrand wrote Attorney-General Lucien Wagner March 25 and said two psychiatrists are ready to examine and treat Dion without charge if permission is granted.

In reply from Deputy Attorney-General Julien Chouinard said the request is being considered. Two last year were refused on grounds there could be "no question of this" while the case was before the Quebec Court of Appeal.

The Bertrand appeal adds that Dion should spend the rest of his life in a mental hospital under maximum security.

emotionally disturbed children.

He said her family, who adopted her in a Northern Ontario centre when she was three months old, have been searching unsuccessfully for help for her since she was six.

An official of the health department's mental health branch said two years ago that nothing probably could be done for the girl until she had grown broader than she is now.

She now is on probation and a magistrate said that if she misbehaves before 16 there would be nothing left for her but prison.

COULDN'T HELP HER

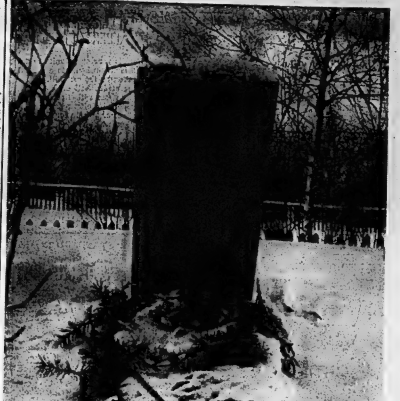
"All the government's proud boasts of its social services," Mr. Lewis said, "cannot hide the fact that it was totally unable to help one young girl who might have been saved."

The medical officer of the Mercer Reformatory for Women in Toronto, Dr. W. H. Hills, has been replaced in line with a recommendation from the advisory committee of the minister of reform institutions, Allan Grossman.

Mr. Grossman said there is no question Dr. Mills' professional competence, but there has been criticism of his "manner."

The minister's advisory committee investigated the reformatory after a grand jury castigated it in a report last fall. The committee dismissed most of the grand jury's criticisms but found that the medical officer was unpopular with prisoners.

The legislature's only woman member, Ada Pritchard (PC Hamilton Centre) said Monday she has visited Mercer and found nothing wrong with it except that the building is old.



Mr. Grossman read a report made by a public relations inspector in 1963, before the grand jury made its report.

The inspector said Mercer is "a most convincing recommendation for the modern enlightened philosophy of criminal reform."

The grand jury later declared Mercer is in no sense a reform institution and that its name should be changed to Mercer women's jail.

FIGHTS SUBWAY CRIME

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert Wagner announced Monday night an emergency program to cope with "the roughnecks and the wolf packs of young brutes and sadists who have terrorized and tormented subway riders." He assigned a policeman to every train from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m.

Five Years in Grave

Boris Pasternak Still Is Officially Disgraced

By JOHN BEST

PEREDELKINO, U.S.S.R. (CP)—Somebody is tending the grave of Boris Pasternak, lovingly decorating it with evergreen boughs and flowers.

The late poet and novelist lies buried under three tall birches at the edge of an Orthodox cemetery in this peaceful village 10 miles from Moscow.

Pasternak, who won the 1958 Nobel Prize for his novel Doctor Zhivago but was forced to reject it under pressure from Soviet authorities, died in June, 1960, forsaken by the Russian literary community and renounced by his country.

In recent months an occasional poem or brief article by Pasternak has been published here but no formal move has been made to rehabilitate him.

Though still in disgrace as far as the Soviet government is concerned, he is affectionately remembered by one or more persons who go regularly to his hillside tomb bearing pine, spruce or fir branches, traditional grave decorations in Russia.

Pasternak lived in Peredelkino, where many Russian writers make their homes, ensconced in dachas—country houses which they rent from the government.

Visitors to the grave see freshly-cut boughs lying across it and on top of the headstone—a plain white granite slab tapered towards the top, with a raw-boned facial sculpture of Pasternak etched on one side.

Sometimes there are flowers on the grave, or wild berries such as mountain ash. On a crisp and sparkling morning recently, tulips could be seen among the evergreens. A well-worn path led from the burial site through the snow to the entrance to the plot.

Pasternak is interred not far from the centuries-old church of Peredelkino, which bears a striking resemblance to candy-domed St. Basil's Cathedral in Moscow and, unlike most Russian churches, is still in operation.

Sweeping away in the opposite direction from the church is rolling countryside. Off to one side is a birch-lined road that winds up a gentle slope and gets lost in a stand of forest.

RECALLS BOOK

It puts one in mind of the scene in Doctor Zhivago where Zhivago, having parted for the last time from Lara, his sweetheart, watches from the verandah of their lately-shared house for her sleigh as it passes by a distant row of birches under a shaft of wintry moonlight.

At this time of year the terrain near Pasternak's grave is criss-crossed with ski trails, and passing skiers sometimes stop under the three birches to view the grave in silent contemplation.

Who tends the grave is a matter of speculation. Some believe it is the late author's widow, said to be still living in Peredelkino. But others believe it is the woman widely assumed to have been the inspiration for the role of Lara in the novel, Olga Ivinskaya.

Mrs. Ivinskaya, sentenced to prison soon after Pasternak's death for receiving money from abroad, was reported released last fall. She was subsequently said to be living in the Moscow area.

PM Reveals New Federal Aid For Public Welfare

Companion Measure To Canada Pension Plan

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — A major program to pump extra federal aid into public welfare as one phase of his newly - declared "war on poverty" was revealed to the Commons Tuesday by Prime Minister Pearson.

He called it "an important further step in the development of Canada's social security system" and a companion measure to the Canada Pension Plan.

The shared - cost program, to be known as the Canada Assistance Plan, will be discussed at a federal - provincial welfare ministers' conference opening here Thursday.

Mr. Pearson, speaking in the opening of the eight-day throne speech debate, said the C.A.P. will have four parts, three of them entirely new:

—Revised old age assistance payments to cover the poor over 65 on the basis of need.

—Assistance to needy mothers and their dependent children.

—Federal sharing of the cost of strengthening and expanding welfare services, enabling provincial and municipal welfare departments to hire more trained staff and thus provide more effective service.

The proposed division of cost was given only for the health care item. Others will presumably be discussed with the provincial ministers.

The prime - minister put a price tag on only two of the four parts — $25,000,000 a year for an estimated 200,000 needy mothers and between 150,000 and $20,000,000 for health costs.

Under the new system of assistance, four present cost-sharing plans would be scrapped and gathered into one package. If the provinces agree. These are the plans for the needy aged, disabled and blind and the Unemployment Assistance Act.

There would no longer be an income limitation on assistance to the needy aged.

"As members know, federal sharing under the present program is limited to half of the $75 a month," Mr. Pearson said. Under the proposed Canada Assistance Plan, payments can be based on an assessment

To Test Strength Of Govt.

By TOM MITCHELL

OTTAWA (CP)—The government faces its first non - confidence test of the new session today—a possible indication of how rough the sailing is going to be for the minority Liberal government this year.

The issue is a New Democrat sub - amendment tacked on to a Conservative amendment to a government motion to adopt the throne speech outlining the government's legislative program.

The NDP action, criticizing the government for not implementing a medical care program, is to be voted on just before today's 6 p.m. EST adjournment.

The Conservative amendment claiming loss of confidence in the government because of "indifference and neglect" of "action to eradicate wrongdoing in high and low places," will come to a vote Friday.

Moving want of confidence in the government is the normal Commons gambit during debate on the throne speech. But

Expect Balcer To Quit Party

OTTAWA (CP)—Leon Balcer, leader of the Conservative party's Quebec wing, is expected to quit the party today to sit as an independent in the House of Commons, reliable sources say.

Mr. Balcer, who has opposed party policies towards Quebec and tried to have John Diefenbaker removed as party leader, may announce his decision when the Commons meets this afternoon.

West German House Meets In Defiance of Red Harassment

From Reuters-AP

BERLIN (CP) — West Germany's parliament and government went ahead with plans for meetings in West Berlin today in defiance of continued Communist harassment of road and air traffic in the city.

For the third day in a row, East Germany temporarily closed the 110-mile autobahn between West Berlin and West Germany in an expression of the Communist displeasure with the meeting in the divided city of West German parliament.

The closure today was the shortest so far, lasting only three hours. The autobahn was closed for 4½ hours Tuesday and for four hours Monday.

The East Germans lifted the barriers shortly after nine British tanks rumbled through West Berlin in a show of strength this morning.

A British army spokesman said the parade of tanks would be followed by a similar demonstration this afternoon — the first visible sign West Berlin-

Soviet Jets Fire Cannons Over Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Four Soviet MiG-19 jet fighters swooshed over West Berlin today and fired their cannons, West Berlin police said.

The jets, in formation, flew at near supersonic speed at less than 1,000 feet altitude.

Police said they have not found any signs of any hits on the ground and added that it was possible the MiGs fired only blanks.

An informant said Soviet planes were buzzing Western aircraft flying in the air corridors to and from Berlin.

ers have had of allied determination to maintain their rights in the city since the Communist interference with the city's access routes began last Thursday.

Officially, the Communists said the autobahn had to be cleared for maneuvers of the Soviet and East German armies.

"We will not bow before terror," West German Chancellor Erhard said as he arrived Tuesday night by plane for the Bundestag meeting, the first the Western allies have permitted in West Berlin since 1958. They allowed it this year because a new West German parliament is being elected in September.

Erhard sent a top West German commerce official to warn East German Deputy Trade Minister Heinz Behrendt that continued interference with traffic could cut the $500,000,000-a-year trade agreement between East and West Germany.

Prison Letters Produced

TORONTO (CP) — Letters from guards and prisoners cropped up twice in the Ontario legislature Tuesday.

Members heard about sidetracked correspondence from prisoners to MPPs; and about a guard who was fired after he wrote to Attorney-General Arthur Wishart offering information about the death of a prisoner.

Donald C. MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, fanned letters that were written to him by prisoners but that had passed en route at the office of the deputy minister of reform institutions.

Allan Grossman, minister of reform institutions, said every jurisdiction in the world endorses censorship of prisoners' mail for security reasons.

A guard's letter was read into the record by James Renwick (NDP — Toronto Riverdale). The letter from Patrick Lindsay claimed he could not divulge information contained in the previous letter to Mr. Wishart because of an oath of secrecy he took when he became a guard. But he said he had information about the death of Ronald Cross, 19, of Belleville last August.

The prisoner at Guelph Reformatory suffered from an enlarged heart and died after doing pick-and-shovel work in the reformatory gravel pit.

The letter read Tuesday also referred to "certain conditions pertaining to the treatment of inmates" but again demurred because of the secrecy oath.

LETTER AGREED

Mr. MacDonald charged in the legislature last week that key witnesses were not called in at the inquest into Cross's death, Mr. Lindsay's letter to Mr. Renwick agreed with Mr. MacDonald.

A government-appointed committee on Ontario ambulance services reported Tuesday and noted the province's ambulance industry is in a jumbled condition. The committee under chairmanship of Deputy Attorney - General Rendall Dick said municipal and provincial ambulances provide financial assistance.

The committee said a slight hospital insurance premium would help; that there should be minimum standards set and enforced for ambulance equipment and training of drivers and assistants.

Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree told the legislature operators of Ontario farms under 100 acres work too hard and don't make enough money.

The problem of farm labor will worsen, he said, despite the high rate of transition from farms to urban communities.

Small farms are no longer sound business propositions, he said, because of high - priced machinery. He urged larger farm units, more mobile farm labor force or sharing of machinery.

Major Policy Speech Follows Victory Afield

Great Success Scored In Mekong Delta Fight

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

From AP-Reuters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will deliver a major statement of U.S. policy on the Vietnamese war tonight in an apparent move to encourage peace efforts by a group of 17 non-aligned countries.

The speech, scheduled for delivery at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, is believed to have been decided upon by the president to serve these other purposes:

1. Emphasize what officials call the "peace track" of U.S. policy at a time when American and South Vietnamese bombings of North Viet Nam are closing in on the Hanoi area.

2. Respond to fears and criticisms about U.S. policy that have been expressed by public figures in the United States and government leaders abroad.

3. Indicate to what extent he considers wise at this time some of the U.S. guidelines for an approach to negotiations and the issues that would have to be resolved in reaching a successful agreement.

The president's address will be carried by television and radio at 9 p.m. EST.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Pearson said Johnson was very interested in his suggestion for a pause in U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam to see if Hanoi would be willing to enter negotiations without an appearance of bowing to military pressure. Pearson and Johnson met last Saturday at Camp David in Maryland. Johnson was publicly non-committal on Pearson's proposal.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor returned to his Saigon post Monday. His week - long conference in Washington resulted in new decisions by the president to increase U.S. military forces in South Viet Nam by several thousand men. They will be military engineers, communications specialists and the like. U.S. forces in South Viet Nam now number 28,000.

Officials said this is on the clear track of the administration's double-track military and policy. It is part of a military strategy the purpose of which is defined as being to convince leaders of North Viet Nam that

Consumer Price Index Climbs In New All-time High in March

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian consumer price index nudged up to 137.3 in March from 137.2 in February, reflecting higher prices for food, housing, clothing and tobacco and alcohol.

The bureau of statistics reported today that the March index, the highest point yet reached, compares with a March 1964 index of 134.4.

The greatest price increases during the month were in clothing as the index climbed to 120.4 from 119.5. The bureau said widespread increases were recorded for men's, women's and children's outerwear, footwear, laundry and shoe repairs. This more than offset lower prices for rayon fibre products, men's and boys' undershirts and boys' flannelette sport shirts.

The food index rose to 133.3 from 133.1, as a result of a mixed move on the 11 items. There were increases in powdered milk, ice cream, fish, eggs, fresh and canned vegetables, apples, grapes, turkey, shelled peanut butter, pickles and most beef, pork and turkey. There were decreases in the prices of sugar, jam, grapefruit, bananas, orange juice and chicken.

An increase in the housing index to 140.2 from 140.1 was also due to a number of factors. The cost of repairs rose while rentals remained unchanged. There was a slight increase in the cost of house hold operation with higher costs for furniture and carpets.

Britons Braced for Socialist Budget Find It Is Just as Bitter as Feared

LONDON (CP)—The British Labor reacted to their new socialist budget in the way of a man who, braced for a bitter dose of medicine, finds that—oh brother, it sure is bitter.

James Callaghan, delivering the Labor government's first full-scale budget, gave Britain a new £164,000,000 ($462,000,000) dose of taxation Tuesday.

The chancellor of the exchequer's "change direction" budget increased the taxes on cigarettes; spirits, beer and car licences, assessed a 30-per-cent capital gains tax and promised a 40-per-cent corporation tax for next year.

The new taxes are in addition to a sixpence-in-the-pound, income tax increase already announced and £35,000,000 (£100,000,000) in extra postal charges proposed by Postmaster Anthony Wedgwood Benn. Income tax rate now is 8s 3d ($1.23%) in the pound.

Perhaps Callaghan's most significant action where Canada is concerned was his decision to restrict the overseas outflow of long - term capital by at least £100,000,000 ($300,000,000) a year. Since Canada is not a member of the sterling area, it is the only Commonwealth country affected by the action, officials said.

Callaghan's over-all aim was: To restore confidence in sterling, check the drain on Britain's reserves; reverse an unfavorable trade balance; and help industry expand exports and sharpen competitiveness.

London newspapers reported first impressions that financial centres abroad were that the budget will be reasonably helpful to sterling.

It's a "brave budget," says the liberal Manchester Guardian.

"It's a bad budget," says the Tory tabloid Daily Sketch.

The independent right - wing Daily Express labelled the treasury chief "Scrooge Callaghan" in its front-page headline and said in an editorial the budget was "a botch-potch of treasury timidity spiced with socialist dogma."

Sipping tonic water during his two-hour speech, Callaghan said whisky and gin taxes will go up 60 cents on 26 ounces, after making a new price of about $7.20 for whisky and nearly $7 for gin. Beer taxes will cost a shilling more to about $1.65 for a good bottle of wine.

He put a "brave budget," says the tabloid Daily Sketch.

Scrap Supersonic Plane, Enraging British Tories

LONDON (CP) — Conservative politicians and Tory newspapers are almost speechless with fury at the Labor government's long-expected announcement that it is cancelling the £750,000,000 ($2,250,000,000) TSR-2 supersonic aircraft project.

First official news of the cancellation came in Tuesday's budget speech by James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer.

Later, when Defence Secretary Denis Healey tried to make a statement on the decision, he was cut short by a 1,400-mile-an-hour low-level tactical bomber, the House of Commons degenerated into chaos.

Healey, interrupted by cries of "traitor" and "coward," took more than an hour to make a statement that should have lasted only 15 minutes.

The Conservative Opposition was bitterly angry because the announcement came in the middle of the budget debate and because the defence ministry already had issued a press release that formed the basis of Healey's speech.

A mid - constant barracking, Healey explained that the planned production of 150 TSR-2s—$4,500,000 each—already has been spent on two prototypes—was just too costly for Britain in terms of money and skilled manpower.

Instead, an option had been secured on the United States F-111A swing-wing aircraft, formerly known as the TFX at a saving of about $4,500,000 for the full program.

Tory members of Parliament jeered that the U.S. will be prepared to give the rival F-111A to Britain "at any price" to wreck the British aircraft industry.

Healey countered with the promise that the government will make a new effort to find alternate jobs for the estimated 20,000 skilled workers now involved in the TSR-2 project.

The Daily Sketch says scrapping the TSR-2 "is to scrap a fantastic feat of aeronautical engineering in favor of a dubious American plane which will cost us hard-earned dollars."

Israeli Tourist Official Pays Visit to City

Moshe Simhon, assistant director of the Israeli Government's tourist office in Montreal, was in this city especially as part of a tour covering cities from Montreal to Guelph.

Mr. Simhon visited tourist agencies here and talked to members of the local Jewish community. Israel, he says, is rapidly developing into one of the leading tourist attractions in the world, especially for Canadians. The number of visitors to Israel from Canada doubled in 1964 over 1963 in 1964. All told, Israel played host to 250,000 tourists last year.

Besides the historical appeal of the Holy Land, visitors also have an opportunity to witness the rebirth of a country with new concepts being developed in irrigation, industry and social life. While these are also thousands, expenditions into the cultural and historical past of the country, are common.

Mr. Simhon says hotels are opening almost daily along the 170 mile stretch of the Mediterranean Sea coast life. In addition to these developments, resorts are being constructed in the southern sections of the country and even motels now are with swimming pools are being built in agricultural settlements.

Twp. Council Beset by High Education Costs

TRENTON — Murray Township council, intent upon keeping down the mill rate, is beset by educational costs over a half a million dollars worth of them, or more.

If council supplies the township area school board with an asked for $233,000 this year, and $230,000 next year for school expansion, it won't be done then, as the Brighton-Township council has suggested that Murray pay an extra $4,000 on union school debentures Murray's obligation $11,000.

The Brighton Township council has told them that Murray should contribute to the $98,000 cost of adding new rooms to the Smithfield and Spring Valley schools next year.

Murray council, meeting Monday, examined the estimates but took no action on the proposals.

The township area school board would like to see the Smithfield and Mount Carmel schools enlarged and the latter made into an area school. Council feels the Mount Carmel school is situated in an inaccessible and sparsely populated part of the township and could not serve adequately as an area school. Council's feeling is that the area school should be built in a more central location, somewhere in the vicinity of the new development road.

Murray Twp. Workmen Get Pay Increase

TRENTON — Murray Township council is looking for a new building inspector. At Monday afternoon meeting of council, the councillors were told that the present inspector, Russell Lucas had tendered his resignation, due to pressure of other business. He will continue until the middle of May.

Township workmen who work on the roads, are in for an increase in pay. Council voted to raise the pay for machine operators from $1.50 to $1.65; truck drivers from $1.40 to $1.50 and laborers from $1.30 to $1.40.

Road superintendent Clifford Wannamaker's salary will be increased from $3,600 to $4,000.

Recently, council called for tenders for the crushing of gravel. Only one tender was submitted. The price is good, but council must first gain approval of the Department of Highways before awarding the contract to one bidder.

And all that remains is for the Centennial committees of the provincial and federal governments to approve the township municipal building as a Centennial project. With the approval will come a $10,000 grant on the $30,000 building. Council has already made arrangements to finance the remaining $20,000.

Former Reeve Presented With Desk Set

FRANKFORD — At Monday night's meeting of village council, H. W. Rose, the 1964 reeve was presented with a desk set by the 1965 reeve, Raymond Moran, in recognition of Mr. Rose's contribution to the community during his tenure of office.

Council, after a prolonged discussion, voted not to renew its membership in the Lake Ontario Development Association. Frankford cancelled membership with LODA in 1961, feeling that the cost of 7 cents per capita ($116 roughly) was not warranted for services received.

Raymond Rowe, chairman of the Bay of Quinte High School Board, and Frankford's representative on the board, was at the council meeting to lay before council 1965 cost estimates. Frankford will pay approximately $1,800 less this year in school costs than last year.

However, when the proposed new secondary school is built in Belleville, the cost to the village will probably return to the original average annual cost.

P. S. I. Plan To Open for New Members

The P.S.I. sponsored Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Community Health Plan will reopen for enrolment on Monday, April 12th, 1965.

This year's offering will be of short duration — Monday, April 12th, through Friday, April 23rd. No applications can be accepted after the closing date.

The PSI plan is widely recognized as the answer to the problem of prepaying physician's bills. It provides first call coverage for physicians' services at home, in the office and in the hospital. The plan pays for surgery, X-rays, anaesthetics, obstetrical care and many other benefits.

All permanent residents of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties are eligible to enrol. There is no age limit, no enrolment fee, no medical examination or statement of health is required and coverage is provided for chronic and pre-existing conditions.

P.S.I. spokesman, Mike Kingston, told this newspaper that an application and brochure has been mailed to every household in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties. By completing the application and returning it to Toronto together with payment covering three months, subscribers will have coverage effective May 15, 1965.

Residents wishing further details are urged to contact the P.S.I. Information Centre at 246 Front Street, in Belleville, telephone 962-9282.

Other Information Centres will be located in Trenton, on Tuesday, April 20th, at Andy's Restaurant, 68 Front St., telephone 392-1177, and in Picton in the Royal Hotel (County Room.) Main St., Telephone 476-2305.

False Alarm Included in Eight Calls

Eight calls received by Belleville fire department yesterday included one false alarm.

"A garage on fire at 254 Sydney Street," the voice said.

When the firemen arrived there was no such thing — and no such address.

Other calls reported by Fire Chief Ted Potts included a fire in a back kitchen at 7 Ridley Street, starting near a furnace at noon, the fire caused only slight damage.

The fire department was called to the City Cleaners at 4.54 p.m. only to find that the smoke that had prompted the call was coming from a nearby incinerator.

Furniture stored in a garage at Rossmore was destroyed when fire broke out at 8.15 p.m. last night. The outbreak occurred on the property of Mr. A. Cornell.

The department received a call from Stephens-Adamson where the plant's sprinkler system was giving trouble, and also dealt with a grass fire at the Belleville Plaza at 7.59 p.m., a flooded oil burner at 47 Geddes Street an hour later and a service call at 17 Campbell Street.

with a minority government capable of being sent down to defeat by a combined Opposition vote, interest is heightened.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker opened the proceedings as leaders' day of the throne speech debate — an eight-day affair that opens discussions on any and all phases of government activity.

RAISED SCANDALS

Although he touched on many aspects of the program of action the government set out in the speech from the throne, read Monday by Governor-General Vanier, Mr. Diefenbaker hit hardest at what he called the "conspicuous absence" of references to allegations of scandal which have swirled around the government in recent months.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government should have declared a "war on syndicates" as well as setting out measures to fight poverty. What were needed were measures "to stamp out influence-peddling and corruption" in government.

He mentioned involvement of cabinet aides in a judicial inquiry into allegations of bribery and pressure attempts in the Lucien Rivard narcotics case and involvement of two cabinet ministers in secret-payment furniture purchases from a firm that went bankrupt with millions owing creditors.

GOT RESIGNATIONS

Mr. Pearson replied that he obtained the resignations of Guy Rouleau as his parliamentary secretary and Yvon Dupuis as minister without portfolio as soon as specific charges against them were placed before him. Mr. Rouleau has been a key witness in the judicial inquiry into the Rivard case; Mr. Dupuis faces charges in connection with an alleged payoff linked to a racetrack franchise bid in Quebec.

The NDP sub - amendment was opposed by party leader T. C. Douglas. The Liberal party had been talking about medical care since 1919 and "if the government fails to act now it will set the clock back 25 years."

they cannot win the war in the south and that they increasingly risk their own civil security in trying to do so.

The peace track is said to embrace constant diplomatic probings to see whether the North Vietnamese are interested in a settlement.

APPEALED DIRECT

A new element was injected into the crisis last Thursday when the heads of government of 17 countries, including India, Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic, asked the United States, and the Communist powers as well as all other directly interested countries to start negotiations "as soon as possible" without posing any pre-conditions.

Authorities here declined to speculate how far Johnson might go in trying to suggest circumstances or conditions for negotiation.

But on other side of the picture, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate foreign relations committee said possible intervention of China in the struggle was discussed by the committee when Adlai Stevenson Taylor last week. Fulbright expressed the view that the war would get out of control.

In an interview, Fulbright said he could not assess Tuesday's reports that UN Secretary-General U Thant had received a message from China's Premier Chou En-lai suggesting that any settlement in Viet Nam had to be negotiated directly involved. The Arkansas senator said he did not have enough information to know whether such a message means that China would stand aside in any negotiations. The state department declined comment.

rules" of the Canadian and British parliamentary system in not seeking expert legal advice in the case.

The minister had admitted he hadn't read the entire RCMP file in the case but had ventured into a field—criminal law—which he knew nothing about.

"Did he want to push the affair under the carpet because of the political overtones?" Mr. Drouin asked. "Or was it because two of his trusted men were implicated?"

It was not up to Mr. Favreau to determine, as he did Sept. 18, that a judge or jury wouldn't have convicted Raymond Denis, then executive assistant to the immigration minister, of attempted bribery.

Mr. Drouin described as "unspeakable, unassailable" the account of Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he had been offered $20,000 by Denis July 14 to drop opposition to bail for Rivard, wanted in the United States as the reputed kingpin in a Mafia dope-smuggling racket.

The RCMP investigation should be reopened, Mr. Drouin said.

"Let them have a free hand, with no politics whatever. . . . Citizens of this country are beginning to question the truthfulness of our politicians and our government. This is becoming a mass dangerous state of affairs."

Mr. Drouin said conspiracy charges should be laid against Denis and persons," if it was up to Chief Justice Frederic Dorion, whose commission is investigating Mr. Lamontagne's allegations and the conduct of the RCMP and Mr. Favreau in handling them, to determine what persons should be charged.

Mr. Drouin said neither the federal government nor Mr. Favreau can "wash their hands" of Rivard's March 2 escape from Montreal's Bordeaux Jail because he could be extradited to Texas to face the narcotics—conspiracy charges.

Under Canada's 1925 extradition treaty with the U.S., the federal government had a responsibility to see that Rivard was adequately and properly guarded until handed over the the American authorities.

But had anyone ever requested Quebec Attorney - General Claude Wagner to see that Rivard was watched?

Mr. Drouin said Prime Minister Pearson should attach to his code of ethics, circulated among his cabinet colleagues before Christmas, an appendix covering "administrative ethics."

Public servants "must" should resort to the Canadian parliamentary system."

Mr. Drouin said Rivard should have been kept in a federal penitentiary or under similar control, Chief Justice Dorion said: "This might be a matter for another inquiry or a debate in the House of Commons."

Even more counsel for political parties represented at the inquiry—Paul Joliu for the New Democratic and Francois Even for the Creditistes—were scheduled to present their summations today.

WELFARE COSTS RISE

The total spending by federal, provincial, and municipal governments in Canada on health and welfare rises automatically by about $350,000,000 a year.

4,200 Potential Alcoholics Created in Ontario a Year

Ontario society is creating an annual potential of 4,200 additional alcoholics, Belleville Kiwanians were told yesterday.

At the last high school dance in a Lake Ontario community between Belleville and Toronto young people were turned away because they were in no condition to enter the school.

"They are just starting out and they look on alcohol as the great elixir of life," the speaker—a prominent member of the community concerned—told his audience.

Introduced by his Christian name, the speaker asked to remain anonymous, for he was speaking on the work of Alcoholics Anonymous.

On the subject of young people who drink, the speaker said:

"We are not preaching temperance, but simply letting young people know what alcohol can do to them," he said. "It is an awareness that we want to create."

A self-confessed alcoholic — "but not a practising one," the speaker said his talk might influence someone "wallowing in the gutter of scepticism."

He said he had been a drinker for 18 years, a social drinker for the first 13 years but "all the time" after that, was a seven-day bender man and was arrested 28 times for being drunk and disorderly."

Listing the 12 precepts of Alcoholics Anonymous, the speaker said he now lives a day at a time. "My 24 hours are up at midnight, then another day begins. The only day I have to worry about is today," he said. "It is the old recipes of yesterday and the fears of tomorrow that fill the mental institutions."

MESSAGE FOR YOUNG

He said although there are A.A. groups in Belleville his main message was for young people. As well as the 12 precepts of A.A. he quoted a questionnaire put out by the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, to determine whether a person is an alcoholic. Each one "Yes" in the answers was a danger signal. Three such answers were a definite indication of alcoholism.

"When alcoholism becomes more important than your family, your business or your friends then you have a problem," he said.

The speaker said that while he no longer has any desire to drink, he has everything in his home from creme de menthe to Scotch. "With me it is resentment . . . I have it there up to my hips, but it's like working for Laura Secord, after a while you don't want to eat candy any more."

He contended that no disease has "snapped more wedding rings, dug more graves or filled more mental institutions than alcoholism."

The speaker said his wife had left him six times — "the last time for keeps."

CAN STOP

He said a sincere desire to stop drinking was a necessary continuency of membership of Alcoholics Anonymous. "No one has ever come to us with a sincere desire to stop and failed."

The old stigma of alcoholism no longer stuck, he said. It was no respecter of persons. It was a disease and in the ranks of alcoholics were a number living more than 170 doctors in the Toronto area and numerous lawyers.

He said an alcoholic might feel helpless, but he should never give in to a sense of hopelessness. The speaker should know — in March 1960 he was elected mayor of his community.

The A.A.'s booklet is printed in 42 languages and the most recently established groups are in Moscow and Tokyo.

Don Kerr introduced the speaker and he was thanked by Grant Harrison. Kiwanis president, L.Gdr. O. F. Bradley presided.

Former president Bob Freestone, who is chairman of the public and business affairs committee said the club would shortly begin distribution of the schools of the booklet "You And The Law."

He said the booklet aims at creating a greater respect for the law.

Mr. Freestone said the club also hoped to make a start on the Fry Estate Project in conjunction with Rotary.

Members were told that sales of Easter Seals to date totalled $2,951, and that the travelogue series had grossed $2,900.

Shopping Arcade May Be Erected on Front St. Site

Although the proposal is still in its formative stage, there are good possibilities that a shopping arcade with overhead offices and private stores may be erected on the Front Street site of Belleville's million dollar fire two months ago.

Local realtor Gerald Joyce said today that he had a purchaser for the entire 100 foot frontage who would build the arcade providing sufficient tenants could be assured.

The arcade would be for ten or more local stores, two facing on Front Street, and the other facing onto the present grade. Separate mezzanine floors, with stairs at the rear of the property, would service an equal number of second storey offices and shops.

A small-level parking garage at the rear would provide parking for store employees.

It is understood that all five individual owners of the now vacant Front Street lots have agreed to sell, one with the proviso that he be a tenant at the same location as prior to the fire.

Initially the structure would be planned for two storeys, but provisions would be made for adding other storeys if necessary.

A Good Budget

Most taxpayers, we suspect, will be pleasantly surprised by this year's city budget.

True, there had been hints that fortuitous circumstances, so often blamed for increases in municipal tax rates, would this year somersault to the support of the hard-pressed property owner and make it possible for the City Council to maintain, or even reduce, last year's tax rate. This sort of a performance, though, is so rare these days that most citizens, we suspect, discounted the reports and were prepared to settle for nothing worse than a moderate increase. To their surprise and delight, Dame Rumor has for once been as good as her word. The credit, we suggest, belongs not to her but to the Mayor and aldermen, to members of the school boards and to a varied assortment of officials.

Three factors have played a predominant role in making small reductions in tax rates possible—the normal increase in assessment resulting from the city's continued growth, the existence of a surplus on 1964 account and increased grants from the provincial government for educational purposes. In shouldering a larger share of the cost of education, the provincial government is doing no more than its plain duty, but it is nevertheless gratifying that it has recognized the need. Credit is also due to local school boards for their reaction, in that they have not attempted to use these increased grants as an excuse for undertaking projects which, while no doubt desirable, are not absolute necessities.

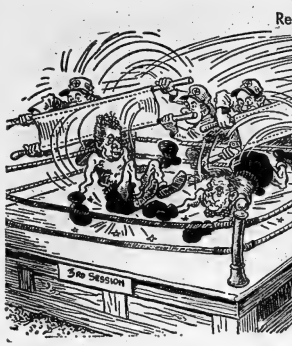
The result has been that it has been possible for the city to increase its share of the total levy without increasing the overall rates. True, the general rates have gone up, but this will enable the city to undertake more work on the city's streets and sidewalks. This is a wise decision. It is less than a decade ago since so-called economy measures left streets and sidewalks in a deplorable condition. In the interval, the city administrators have not only improved general conditions in the older part of the city but have provided newly annexed areas with facilities up to city standards. The record has been good. It would be a shame, at this time, to permit streets to deteriorate again, as they are in danger of doing, a fact which will be evident to most if they will drive or walk for any distance in the older part of the city.

Squish!

The Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that a Montreal night club operator was not guilty of fraud in serving the hostesses he employed with lemonade instead of alcoholic drinks.

The Crown, which can be rather paternalistic upon occasion in the defence of the rights of a subject, was not concerned about the plight of the girls, but of the night club customers, who purchased the drinks under the misapprehension that they contained alcohol.

The patrons, argued the Crown, were being defrauded. A patron would not have paid $1.60 for the drinks if he had known "it was useless to attempt to increase her (the hostess's) receptiveness to his advances because she was drinking non-alcoholic drinks."



Moreover, the fraud was on a large scale. The girls received 50 cents for each lemonade ordered for them and some of them made $13,000 a year.

Moralists will find the case intriguing. Our own interest is from the standpoint of mathematics.

To earn $13,000, those girls must have consumed 26,000 lemonades in a year. Even if they worked 360 days out of the 365, that would mean they would have to average 72 lemonades an evening. If they drank steadily from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., they would have to consume a dozen lemonades an hour. Knocking back a lemonade every five minutes would be a telling pace, even without allowing time out for the dancing the girls were supposed to do with patrons. By 11 p.m. one of these $13,000 lemonade girls must have squirted like a grapefruit whenever she was squeezed, while by closing time a Watusi should have resulted in her disappearing in a spray rivalling Niagara. The wonder is not that the girls were unreceptive but that somebody was not drowned.

Regrets are as personal as fingerprints. Discarding what is valu or false, facing the facts that should truly disturb your conscience, is worth whatever time it takes or pain it may cause. It can pay to the future what you owe to the past.—Margaret Culkin Banning.

Two Types of Indians

From a speech by Father James V. Mulvihill, general secretary of the Oblate Fathers's Indian and Eskimo Welfare Commission.

The first thing to consider in any discussion of the Indians' future or in any understanding of the Indian problem is the fact that the time has come to separate the Indian people into at least two groups.

The grouping of all Indians together has caused many pitfalls for sociologists and writers and has been a frustrating experience for them.

On any map of Canada you can see that the Indian population centres are in the southern part of the country. In the east they are below the 47th parallel and in the west below the 54th parallel.

In the northern areas we have only about one-quarter of the Indian population. They live entirely different lives from their southern cousins.

The woodland Indians live much like their ancestors of one hundred years ago. They receive very little education and live off the land, with the help of welfare payments and occasional employment from industries exploring or exploiting the North.

They can be compared to the white rural population in Ontario and Quebec at the time of Confederation. One hundred years ago the white rural inhabitants lived off the land assisted by partime wages from the explorers of Canada's two great resources, lumber and minerals. They had little or no education, the majority were illiterate, had a standard of living about equal to the northern Indians of today. They were happy and did not realize the lack of comforts and education.

If you were to predict, at that time, the future of their grandchildren with our standard of living, they would classify you as a person who had too much "book learning" and had not been taught the facts of life.

• • •

No one could have accurately predicted their future because it would be too difficult to predict what the future of the northern woodland Indians will be in 20 years. So much will depend on the future of the development and exploration of the northern areas. Geography and climate hinder their sharing the standard of living found in southern areas, just as it shuts off other people in the same areas from a comfortable and easy life.

In spite of all the variables, the northern Indians will not, in the next 20 years, suffer the problem of Canadian life that we find in the south and their culture will remain static for at least a decade longer than their relatives in southern areas. Progress will probably lag at least 10 years behind the more favored group.

• • •

It is certain now that Parliament is determined to embark on a realistic plan to help Indians; this in itself assures a brighter future for the Indian people, so we can predict to a degree what will take place in 20 years. . . .

With their own help and the help of others the Indian people of Canada will, in the next two decades, cease to live in poverty, apathy and resentment and assume the dignity and self - reliance of a proud minority.

Cruel Comedy Of Asian War

Orillia Packet and Times

It seems almost incredible that a public which would tolerate, without a murmur of dissent, the bombing of defenceless jungle villages with napalm—a form of jellied gasoline which roasts its victims alive, would be shocked by the use of a gas which merely sickens people for a matter of several hours. Yet such has been the world reaction to United States operations against Viet Namese terrorists, showing yet again the amazing tendency of the unpredictable public to swallow a whale but strain at a gnat. World opinion is shocked at American use of non-lethal nauseous gas against Communist guerrillas infiltrating South Viet Nam, but sees nothing wrong in these same terrorists or the innocent and helpless villagers caught in the line of fire, being burned alive by napalm bombs or flame throwers.

It is of course, typical human perversity to accept one form of frightfulness but to balk at another. It is the psychological implications of gas which are so abhorrent to us all; there is something unsettling about a swirling cloud of gas, with its overtones of perverted science and inhuman detachment.

Yet even so it is surely curious that gases which merely incapacitate their victims for a matter of hours are deemed too horrible for use, but are accepted as standard equipment for police use on such civilian occasions as riots and demonstrations. Meanwhile a truly odious weapon like napalm, surely a horrible way to die, is ever devised by the teeming mind of man for the destruction of his fellow, is accepted as a necessary and respectable item for the arsenal of any well-equipped air force.

Yet the uproar over the use of gas in Viet Nam does point to the dark and inescapable conclusion that the American forces, together with their directives in the United States, are becoming inevitably and inexorably brutalized by the ruthless demands of a cruel war. All war is brutal, yet nothing is more frightful than guerrilla warfare, with the occupying forces attempting to suppress and punish and the raiders to destroy and terrorize. Such a war brutalizes the most merciful and enlightened, and it can eventually as in Bonaparte's frightful attempts to subjugate the Spanish peasants 150 years ago, reduce men to such bestial levels that they will eat one another.

All occupying powers must stoop at last to reprisals and object lessons which they must justify as essential to the preservation of order, but whose brutality would revolt them in more placid times. All great powers have undergone this same experience at some time; it is the price of empire, and the United States is paying it now.

Strictly Personal
Science No Longer Has The Answers

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Where is the answer to the problem of "national security" to be found? No one can say for sure; but first we must have an idea where it cannot be found.

In the highly respected journal, Scientific American, last fall, Drs. Wiesner and York discuss this subject. Dr. York was scientific adviser to President Eisenhower and Dr. Wiesner was scientific adviser to President Kennedy.

It is all the more surprising then, to find them both coming to the same conclusion, that "both sides in the arms race are . . . confronted by the dilemma of steadily increasing military power and steadily decreasing national security."

These two exceptionally informed men go on to say: "It is our considered professional judgment that this dilemma has no technical solution. If the great powers continue to look for solutions in the area of sciences and technology only, the result will be to worsen the situation."

In the dozen or so years since the cold war congealed, neither Russia nor the United States has improved its relative position in the world, and each nation is forced to spend more and more to maintain its relative parity in military preparedness.

Moreover, our "allies" grow cooler toward us every day, and the Russians' "satellites" are increasingly independent of Red domination. Most nations are afraid of both of us; afraid that either great power might start a world catastrophe, by accident, by escalation, by a fit of madness, by technical miscalculation.

If more military power provided more national security, there might be some sense to it; but, like the Queen in "Alice," we have to run as fast as we can just to stay in the same place. We are already spending 51 cents of every tax dollar for military purposes, and no end is in sight.

It is becoming more and more apparent that "national security" is an expensive, and perhaps fatal, illusion in a world where two mighty nations can annihilate themselves a dozen times over. All that science and technology can do now is show us how to kill larger numbers of people faster and cheaper.

If the answer to the problem cannot be found in this area — as almost all scientists agree it cannot — then it is time that we began examining other avenues. The recent impressive convocation held by the Centre for the Study of Democratic Institutions — based on the last encyclical issued by Pope John, "Peace on Earth"— is at least a step in the right direction. It is not Technical Man who can save us, but Thinking Man, drawing on the best traditions of our civilization.

To Your Good Health
Doctors Can Learn a Lot From Reflex Responses

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Many times I have been tested, both knees and heels, for reflexes. I have none. Neither does my daughter. She was told by a friend that a person who has no reflexes is either crazy or has a venereal disease.

Since neither of us has a venereal disease, we must both be nuttier than a fruit cake.

No doctor has told us what this lack of reflexes means. Will you? — Mrs. M. B.

It means nothing if otherwise you are in good health.

True, the conditions you mention are present in some cases of absent reflexes, but not in all.

In fact, some very healthy people are found to have either weak or absent tendon reflexes (that's when the doctor whacks you gently near the kneecap or in certain other spots).

In some cases, underactive thyroid may reduce the reflex.

In other cases, certain neurological disorders may be evaluated by noting the degree of reflex but taking other symptoms into consideration, too.

In still other cases, the reflexes may be overactive.

If the reflex response on one side of the body is markedly greater than on the other, it can be quite significant, but this, again, lies primarily in the realm of neurology.

People tend to be too worried over whether the knee jerks too much or too little with this test. Yet they don't realize that some more basic tests are being made at the same time, such as noting the patient's gait, color, breathing, mental reactions or a lot of other things.

When a patient thinks too much about having the "proper" knee reflex, he may make the reflex too strong, or may suppress it and make it too weak. We have our ways of guarding against this.

To sum up, Mrs. M. B., I think both you and your daughter "have all your marbles," so forget it.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Each summer I am literally eaten up by chiggers, fleas, etc. What can I do to lessen this problem? Would it be effective to take shots in advance? Or anything I could eat? Some people are not bothered by them. Why? — Mrs. L. E. I.

I don't know of any shots or diet to repel chiggers or most other insects. Why some people are bothered by chiggers and others aren't, I can't say.

People who are bite - bait should stay away from beaches, lawns or wooded areas where the insects abound. If you suspect that you have been in an infested area, a prompt bath or shower with general soaping will balp because it takes a bit of time for chiggers to burrow into the skin. Putting nail polish on the itchy red spot kills the chigger.

Keep legs and arms well covered when in suspicious areas, because a chigger can't bother you unless he can get through chinks in your armor (clothing.) Finally, but not least, use any of a variety of insect repellants which are on the market.

Dear Dr. Molner: How good are the pills for diabetes? I dread the thought of insulin injections. A. E. P.

The pills are very good in the right cases. In others, insulin injections are the only answer. Sure, taking a pill is easier, but your doctor will tell you what is best for you, so follow his advice. Insulin injections aren't to be "dreaded." They are a nuisance, but when they mean the difference between health and disaster, is there room to argue?

Thomas D'Arcy McGee was shot dead on his doorstep by a Fenian assassin 97 years ago today—in 1868 — as he returned from the Canadian House of Commons. McGee had worked for newspapers in England, Ireland, and the United States before settling in Canada in 1857. He became a minister in Sir John A. Macdonald's coalition government but, made way for a Nova Scotian Catholic in the first Confederation cabinet. He was murdered for his support of the Imperial connection and his hostility to Irish extremism.

U.S. military spokesmen said 276 Viet Cong were killed and 33 captured, including a Viet Cong captain, and a sizable supply of weapons was seized.

The American dead included a U.S. Navy officer, a U.S. Army officer, and four crew members of a U.S. Army helicopter which exploded when hit by Viet Cong machine-gun fire. Their deaths raised the toll of U.S. combat dead in Viet Nam since December 1961 to 327.

Police and soldiers joined in a series of lightning raids in and around Da Nang, arrested 149 persons including six alleged hardcore Viet Cong terrorists in a house - to - house search.

Town Foreman Says Vandalism Is Rampant

PICTON (Staff) — The report of the streets and property committee was presented to Town Council at their monthly meeting in Shire Hall this week. Highlights of the reports are as follows: The town foreman addressed the committee March 19 on work now in progress and reported that damage due to vandalism was being experienced in and about town properties on Church Street and Union Street.

"That the chairman be instructed to write a letter to Crysler, Davis and Jorgenson to arrange for a meeting of all parties concerned in the construction of the Water Pollution Control Commission."

"That a resolution be passed in council to the effect that the Corporation of the Town of Picton agrees to pay the portion of the costs assessable to the Municipality in the reconstruction of Highway 41 from Spencer Street to the town limit. This is the connecting link of proposed building Highway 41 Picton East to Roblin's Mills."

"That the Bell Telephone Company's request to construct a "pole line" in accordance with Plan No. 7 to be approved subject to the Bell Telephone Company arranging for the trimming and removal of trees and stumps at their expense."

"That the town foreman be instructed to plant trees, where dead trees have been removed, subject to the approval of the property owners concerned."

"That the clerk be instructed to write the police commission regarding adequate patrolling by the police in and about town property and that the patrolling officers be required to leave their car to carry out their inspection."

Subject to the amounts approved for sidewalk construction, that the streets and property committee be authorized to call tenders for sidewalk construction in accordance with plans and specifications drawn up in 1964.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"That's a girl's hair . . . I swear I haven't been near the racetrack."

The Rural Scene

PICTON (Staff) — In general barley has not been grown to a great extent in many areas of Ontario in recent years. Of all the cereals grown in Ontario, oats in pure stands and in mixtures occupy, by far the largest acreage. However, for the last few years there has been a very significant decrease in oats and mixed grains but an increase in barley acreages. Barley acreages in the last two years increased by 40 percent from 81,000 acres in 1962 to 132,500 acres in 1964. In Prince Edward County only 750 acres of barley are grown compared to 28,700 acres of oats. Crop Scientists have pointed out that part of the oat acreage could very profitably be devoted to barley production.

According to Morrison's Feeds and Feeding the nutrient value of barley is similar to that of corn and much superior to oats. This is mainly due to the fact that oat kernels have 25-30 per cent hull as compared to approximately 12 per cent hull in barley. Average yields for the last three years in Ontario clearly indicate that barley produced more actual pounds per acre and exceeded oats in T.D.N. (Total Digestible Nutrients) production by a considerable margin. With oats at an average yield of 53.2 bushels per acre compared to 44.7 for barley, the oats produced 1,808 pounds per acre compared to 2,146 pounds for barley.

On the basis of T. D. N. oats amounted to 1267 pounds compared to barley at 1897 pounds. This has been the case also in previous years and from 1952 to 1964 barley has produced every year more pounds per acre than oats in order to obtain from oats the same number of pounds of T. D. N. as from barley, oat yields would have to be increased considerably. For example, a 94 bushel oat crop is necessary to equal the feed value of a 60 bushel barley crop.

Data at the Ontario Agricultural College indicate that barley responds very well to high fertility and this being the case particular attention should be given to the fertility programme for the barley crop. The yields of barley can also be increased by better crop production practices. One of these is early seeding and it should be pointed out that best results are obtained when barley is planted as soon as the land is ready.

Most of the barley production in Ontario is used for feed on the same farm where it is grown and there is no reason why it cannot be fed economically in properly balanced rations for beef, dairy and hogs. For some time barley has been considered to have slightly less feed value than corn but recent research showed that rations containing 60% barley as the grain performed fully as well as rations containing 60% corn as the grain.

To Interview 3 Applicants For Position

PICTON (Staff) — Nine applications for the post of recreation director were received by the municipal recreation committee chairman, Dr. L. Dechtill. From these, three applicants were chosen for personal interviews on Saturday, April 10. The chairman advised the meeting that he had received an offer of rent free office space for a Director for the first twelve months of the program if and when a director becomes available. A more conclusive report will be made at the May session of council. David Leadwood was named vice-chairman of the committee.

NEW OPP CONSTABLE

A new Provincial Police Constable took up his duties here this week. He is constable Doug. Goodkey, a native of Bancroft, Ont. Constable Goodkey comes to the Picton detachment after serving ten months in Belleville H.Q. His arrival fills a vacancy created with the transfer of Const. Patrick McKenna who spent some six years in Picton.

CAN'T GET THROUGH

The Government coast guard boat and icebreaker "Sir Alexander" has been once again thwarted in attempts to gain entry in to Picton Bay. With ice still in to 30 inches thick still in many places the ship has not as yet succeeded to open a channel in to Lake Ont. Cement Co. here. On Tuesday morning a huge dredge towed by barge got as far as Indian Point and then was forced to turn back.

St. Julien Chapter Plans Future Events

The April meeting of the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. J. Gajdicar, The Regent, Mrs. Ellis welcomed the large attendance of 26 members. It was announced that Mrs. J. R. Reynolds will be the second delegate to the Provincial annual in Hamilton.

Correspondence was read with regard to speaker to be in attendance at the 50th anniversary celebration in September. An invitation was extended to attend the House and Garden Tour to be held May 20th, in Ottawa, by the Laurentian Chapter. It is hoped again this year a bus will be filled to make this trip.

Sewing convener, Mrs. Hrachovec, dispersed sewing materials. Due to the illness of the services secretary, Mrs. Watkin, Mrs. Gibbons received books and magazines to be shipped to Fox Nursing Station in the north.

Members were reminded of a Red Cross Blood Donor clinic to be held April 15th at the Kiwanis Centre.

Mrs. Ian McClurg was received into membership in the chapter.

RECENT TRIP

World Affairs convener, Mrs. G. Hume, gave a talk on her recent trip to Hawaii. It was of particular interest to hear that although the population was made up of eight or more races there was no racial problem. Many colorful pictures and post cards were shown and it was noted the Hawaiian flag includes the Union Jack in the corner.

One minute silence was observed in memory of Mrs. G. McConnell.

A report on the number of flowers and cards sent to members was presented by Mrs. L. Bishop.

Mrs. G. Carscallen reported on plans under way for the 50th anniversary and informed the members a history of the chapter will be co-ordinated.

Money raising projects were discussed and a favorable vote taken on an auction in the near future. Mrs. M. Kerr, Mrs. R. Ellis and Mrs. J. Reynolds will be a committee to plan the auction and bring a report to the May meeting.

Slides on the International Peace Garden were shown by film convener, Mrs. G. Carscallen. These pictures were of particular interest as the Chapter makes an annual donation for the development and maintenance of the Gardens.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. L. Bishop and Mrs. D. Cales.

Henry Ford II's Bride Very Fond of Hamburgers, Does Not Like to Shop

Venetian - born Maria Cristina Ford, wife of Detroit auto executive Henry Ford II, is prominent in international and American society. Since her marriage to Ford this year, she has remained almost aloof from the public. The following copyrighted story by Detroit News Society Editor Eleanor Breitmeyer, is one of the first glimpses into Mrs. Ford's life, personality and manner of living.

By ELEANOR BREITMEYER
© The Detroit News

DETROIT (AP)—"The best thing that America invented is the hamburger," says Henry Ford II's bride. "That is, besides the Ford car."

The newest member of the auto family laughed. "I just love hamburgers. And so does Henry."

Brush in hand, she took occasional swipes at her tawny hair as she talked about her role as wife of the board chairman of the Ford Motor Company.

Venetian-born Maria Cristina Ford has green-grey eyes and a likeness to Ingrid Bergman. Her suntanned skin is smooth and needs no makeup.

She talks with her hands and a voice that rises on throaty overtones when enthusiastic.

"Why is it American women seem only to smile with their teeth? Is it because they are afraid of getting wrinkles around their eyes?

"Me, I would rather get them. They are happy wrinkles—character. Who wants a face like a mummy?"

Long-legged, five foot eight, Mrs. Ford has a willowy figure. She weighs about 125 pounds.

LIKES ROUNDNESS

"You know, my husband doesn't like a thin girl. He likes a little roundness.

"Why, you have no idea how much bread, potatoes and ice cream I eat.

"American women seem preoccupied with getting fat. They don't drink sugar in their tea. I have seven, eight spoonsful a day. I eat what I like, when I like, but it never seems to show.

"Why is it that American women make such a business of clothes shopping? If I could I would hire someone to do it for me.

"I have no patience for such things. I often go into a store, pick something out, have it sent home without trying it on.

"Besides, happiness is not in clothes, or objects. It's inside. I'm happiest when I am alone with my husband."

She is not fond of jewelry.

"Henry asks, 'Why should I give you jewels when you don't wear them?' But I must always wear the gold watch he gave me."

What does Mr. Ford like her to wear?

"Anything, so long as it is black."

Curling up on a floral davenport in the Ford Georgian mansion on the lake shore (in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores), she contemplated her life in Detroit.

SLEEPS LATE

"No, I don't get up when my husband leaves for work. . . I have dinner with my husband. He comes home in the early evening. Then we talk, maybe watch a little television. Or go to a movie."

Long daily walks, sometimes with Mike, an English terrier, are a favorite pastime. Or she rides Mr. Ford's red-and-white bicycle.

"That's my best sport, really. And as long as I'm outside in fresh air I'm happy. . . .

"I love flowers. And I'm going to make a little vegetable garden out there," she said, pointing in the direction of formal French terraced gardens. "I want to plant everything, especially sweet corn. We both love it."

Mrs. Ford enjoys her privacy and describes herself as a "quiet" entertaining person. I can sit for a couple of hours and be happy just looking out the window.

"I love nature, the country, that's why I don't play cards. And don't plan to learn. I'm happier walking."

An amateur sculptress, Mrs. Ford wants to resume her hobby soon, her husband as a subject.

"But he's so busy. He has no time to sit still, to pose right now. But I hope soon."

Hold Fourth Annual Bible Club Rally

The fourth annual Bible Club rally was held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc on Sunday, when approximately 300 parents, children and friends were in attendance. Miss JoNette Perry and Miss Roberta Borden missionaries on the Seneca Indian Reserve in New York State were present to speak to the children and show scenes of Indian life. Their ministry was appreciated and enjoyed by all. Miss Perry and Miss Borden were dressed in Indian costume and this was a real source of interest to the children.

A junior sword drill was won by Karen Yarrow of White Lake School, West Huntingdon Township. Winner of the senior sword drill was David Donnan of S. S. No. 1 Rawdon. Runners-up were Rhonda Brown, S. S. No. 8 Rawdon; Jack Sills, West Huntingdon School; Maureen Stewart, S. S. No. 12 Rawdon and Cheryl Lake of Westwood School.

The visitors' contest was won by Douglas Tebworth, White Lake School, West Huntingdon Township; second was Evelyn Bulten, S. S. No. 20 Rawdon; third was Carol Gorden of Trent River School and Debbie Ray of S. S. No. 13 Rawdon placed fourth.

Special musical numbers by the children from various schools contributed to the program. The children showed their interest by their enthusiasm. As the rally ended it was proven a rich time of blessing and enrichment in the lives of all who attended.

Miss Lorena Campbell has been associated with the Bible Club movement which sponsored the rally, since 1932 and has taught religious instruction in school classes in Hastings, Peterborough and Northumberland Counties and several after school Bible Clubs in the area since September, 1961.

100 Attend Leather Guild Workshop

Six members of the Belleville Leather Guild journeyed to Toronto on Saturday to attend the Annual meeting and workshop of the Canadian Society of Creative Leathercraft. Some hundred members from Barrie, Hamilton, London, Toronto and Belleville attended the meeting in Woodgreen United Church hall.

During the morning the annual business meeting was held. The Belleville branch was inaugurated and president, Mrs. Dorothy Haskell, and Mr. Jack Layton were appointed to the executive council.

Leathercraft exhibits were planned for the Canadian National Exhibition and the International Leather Assembly in Flint, Michigan, early in May. After the officers for 1965 were installed and a life membership presented the winning Hamilton entries for the Weston trophy were shown and appraised.

After luncheon a short meeting of the presidents was held and the remainder of the afternoon was given over to demonstrations in design, bookends, covered metal dyeing, small articles for camp projects and glass covered leather centrepieces. These demonstrations were both interesting and instructive.

Miss Mary Eileen Muff, community craft program director for the province, was the luncheon speaker.

She stressed the need of an extended craft program as automation gradually leaves more leisure time.

In her travels from coast to coast in Canada, she has assisted in the formation of the new Canadian Council for Environment Arts. She explained that this group will study the manufacture and sale of Canadian crafts.

At present the committee planning for Expo '67 have decided that sale of crafts at the World's Fair in Montreal will be limited to items who can produce in lots of ten thousand or over.

Miss Muff told of the exhibition will be available to craft societies and should spark interests in leather, ceramics, jewellery and weaving. This, it is hoped, will be the beginning and other crafts will swell the exhibit as time goes on.

Miss Muff was introduced by Mr. Fred Rowes, Toronto and thanked by Mrs. Anne Hook.

The Belleville Guild meets on Monday evenings at the Recreation Centre and visitors are always welcome.

ANGLICAN W.A.

MADOC — The St. John the Baptist Anglican Woman's Auxiliary held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Lois Nickle with Mrs. Velma Carmen in the chair.

Mrs. Kathleen Thompson opened with Bible reading. Plans were made to attend the annual Diocesan W.A. meeting to be held this year in Kingston, May 4-5th.

The Arctic bale for Pangnirtung will be made up of various articles and sent to the Diocese secretary this month. The "Saskatoon Churchman" was read with details of Indian work in that Diocese especially connected with the Rev. J. F. Frost, Commissary for Indian work in which the local Branch supports.

A rummage sale and community supper are planned for sometime in May.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD

A surprise birthday party was given to two members of the St. John's Guild, at the weekly quilting meeting. Mrs. William Caterer and Mrs. Alice Maynard have reached certain ages, yet in spite of it, are active members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion, or the local Orange Lodge, besides quilting every Tuesday afternoon at the Anglican Parish Hall.

NEEDLE-SS NEEDLES? NO!

Dear Susanna: My husband's grandmother is a permanent member of our household and I wouldn't have it any other way. She does all the light, time-consuming chores around the house for us, and this has enabled me to keep on working. Otherwise, I think I would have been just too tired to try to handle both jobs.

She enjoys mending and sewing, but has infinite trouble trying to thread the needles. We have worked out a plan whereby I thread half a dozen needles or so at a time for her and leave them right in the spool of thread or the ball of yarn . . . all in a row, one after the other. I tie a knot at the beginning so that they won't slip off. Then, as she needs a length of thread she uses the first needle full, breaks it off where she wishes, pushes the later needles along on the spool and secures them there with another knot.

I make up enough to last her all day in whatever colors she wishes. — Ever Lovin' Granddaughter-in-law.

That's simply adorable — reminds me of the story the elves and the shoemaker! If you can't remember it I'll tell it to your time. — SUSANNA

BLEACH BOTTLE BEDS

Dear Susanna: Small doll beds are sometimes hard to get, but we solved the shortage at our house. I cut a plastic half-gallon bleach bottle in half lengthwise and there we were with not one wee dollie's bed but two.

I had the double pleasure of seeing the faces of our two little girls light up when their tiny dolls had a bed at last. — Mrs. Floyd Gorslin

Hope you made Lilliput and Tina cozy by lining their new beds with miniature blankets and Tom-Thumb-size pillows! — SUSANNA

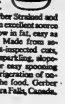
Bringing Up Baby

MEATS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

I suppose almost every mother worries about thumb-sucking at one time or another.

But most experts agree that if not overdone, it's perfectly normal, rarely harmful. Things that may cut down excessive thumbsucking:

If a young baby sucks his thumb lustily, it could be that he needs more time at breast or bottle.



Teethers who suck their thumbs to soothe tender gums will get biting satisfaction from Gerber Teething Biscuits.

Toddlers can often be distracted from thumbsucking with 2-way games or do-something toys.

Babyhood hostz. All-age babies benefit from specially prepared cereals for the special food values they supply. Gerber Baby Cereals have added iron . . . plus important B-vitamins—thiamine (B1), riboflavin (B2) and niacin. Gerber Cereals are also prepared with your baby's eating pleasure in mind. Flavours are pleasantly mild, the way babies prefer them . . . the texture extra-nice to the tongue. And they stir to smooth perfection in seconds . . . stay that way till down to the last satisfying spoonful.

Regulating idea. When your baby is ready to go on a 3-meals-a-day schedule, you'll find a change of scene or a bit of stimulus will help him wait out a half hour or so to meet his new schedule. Babies are adaptable and will usually settle attention if the wait isn't too long.

Growing ideas. Your baby gains more in height and weight the first year than the next two put together. That's why it's important to see that he gets plenty of protein foods. Of the great promoters of growth, Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are an excellent source of protein, extra-low in fat, easy as can be to digest. Made from selected, government-inspected cuts, they're packed in sparkling, shop-shouldered jars for easy spooning and convenient refrigeration of unused portions of the food. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Mrs. Robert Sullivan was hostess for the annual meeting of Plainfield W. I. on Thursday evening, with an attendance of 20 members.

Regular business was discussed and reports for the year were given by standing committees and officers. Canvassers for the Cemetery Fund handed in a total of $48.

Ann Landers

Children Should Telephone Parents if Writing a Chore

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My daughter-in-law lives by "the book." "The book" tells her it is the son's duty to write to his mother. I agree, but don't you feel there should be another chapter in the book saying if a son doesn't write to his mother (most sons are too busy making a living) it is perfectly permissible for his wife to write about the grandchild?

I can't be a cookie-jar-type of grandmother because I am a working woman with very little money and less time. Eight hundred miles separate me from my son and his family. So, please, Ann, publish this letter and perhaps other daughters-in-law will see it and take note — even if my own daughter-in-law does not. — UNDERPRIVILEGED GRANDMOTHER.

* * *

DEAR U. P. — I don't know what book your daughter-in-law is living by unless it's one she wrote herself. Rare indeed, is the son who writes regularly to his mother. Usually the daughter-in-law gets the words down on paper and encloses the snapshots. In my book this comes under the heading of being a good wife.

Perhaps your daughter-in-law hates to write letters. A telephone call every other Sunday (station-to-station at a mutually convenient time) could be the permanent solution to this problem — and I strongly recommend it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Recently I tried for a scholarship and didn't make it. I did my best but my best wasn't good enough. Both my mother and father have made me feel as if I am retarded or something. They asked me to explain why a friend of mine (they think he is a rockhead) got a scholarship and I didn't. My Dad said, "I just can't believe you aren't smarter than that dumb cluck. What happened?"

I realize it is normal for parents to want their children to be outstanding, but we can't all make it. Please say something to take the heat off. Students in Japan commit suicide over less. — LOSER AT BATTLE CREEK.

DEAR LOSER — There is entirely too much pressure on high school kids to excel, too much pressure to get into prestigious schools.

The student who does his best should not be made to feel like a failure. A grade of C may be more difficult for one student to make than an A is for another. I hold no brief for the goof-off who does poorly because he won't put forth an effort, but the kid who tried hard should be praised and encouraged.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Recently you had a letter in your column, from "Joe," a non-drinker who got fed up with people who tried to force liquor on him at cocktail parties. His solution (pouring the drink into the nagger's pocket) was a gutty one, but he was justified since people must protect themselves against bores as best they can.

Now, what can dieters do when the hostess keeps pushing food on them? One friend said to me last night, "Oh, I fixed the spaghetti and garlic bread just for you." (That's three pounds right there!)

Another friend always pleads, "Just taste it." Then she shoves the corn fritter under my nose. Of course, that breaks down my resistance and I eat it.

Is there a solution — short of doing a Mack Sennett and heaving the pie in the hostess' face? — HELP.

* * *

DEAR HELP — Yes. Eat at home and tell your friends, "Doctor's orders."

People who accept dinner invitations are expected to eat what the hostess prepares.

* * *

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New for Fall Is Stroller, Walking Coat

By LINDA CRAWFORD

MONTREAL (CP)—A luxurious collection of fall furs, soon to be shown in nine overseas countries, was previewed for the press here Tuesday.

The trend was away from the belky look in fur fashioning, and the neat and simple coats stitched pocket detail and small jewelled or jet buttons.

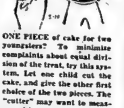
New for fall was the stroller or walking jacket, not quite three-quarter length and shown in a variety of furs including white Russian ermine and Norwegian blue-black seal.

Convertible fur garments came in horizontally worked chinchilla that made joints imperceptible. An empress chinchilla evening coat had a detachable bottom that became a stole, leaving a regular length coat. The bottom four rows of a dress-length chinchilla coat could be unsnapped to make a jacket.

For spring and fall, sleek coats of lakoda seal were shown in natural and dyed chestnut brown.

ACCENT SMOOTH LOOK

Jackets accented the smooth top look, with concealed shoulder seams creating a raglan sleeve effect. Sleeves were narrow and armholes higher.



A white Russian ermine jacket was horizontally strined with a stand-away neckline and cut on the bias to give controlled back fullness.

Collars were tiny, round and high-cut as a rule, and many coats were collarless.

Great Lakes mink, worked with the hair up, gave coats a dark silky sheen. Pale minks in grey and beige were also shown and one coat of fine amber mink consisted of 36 pelts.

An unusual collection of original fur creations, especially designed for presentation in Beirut, Lebanon this spring was shown. Typical costumes from 10 different countries were worked in fur for this "round the world in fur" collection, and were shown with complete accessories.

Mother's Helper

ONE PIECE of cake for two youngsters? To minimize complaints about equal division of the treat, try this system. Let one child cut the cake, and give the other first choice of the two pieces. The "cutter" may want to measure with a ruler, but you may be sure he'll do his best to achieve pieces of equal size.

VARIETY OF FANCY SWEETS

Yesterday we had here three fancy sandwich recipes for a spring tea. Now I'm ready to tell you about some fancy little sweets: Butter Crunch Squares and some tricky ways of embellishing slices of sponge or angel-food cake.

WEDNESDAY
Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Homemade Vegetable Soup; Cheese Souffle; Baked Jacket Potatoes; Brussels Sprouts; Chocolate Sponge Roll; Coffee.

BUTTER CRUNCH SQUARES (three dozen 1½"):

Base: ½ cup butter (room temperature), ½ cup light brown sugar, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 egg yolks, jam, optional (see below).

Topping: 2 egg whites, 1 cup white sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup very finely chopped walnuts.

To Make Base: Cream together the butter and brown sugar. Sift together the sifted flour and cinnamon and beat into butter mixture. Beat in egg yolks until smooth. Press this mixture into a buttered 9 x 9" pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr for 10 minutes at centre of oven.

If desired (and I desired) spread the base thinly with apricot or raspberry jam.

To Make Topping: Beat egg whites until frothy then gradually add the white sugar and second amount of cinnamon, beating until stiff. Spread this evenly over baked base (or over jam layer if used). Sprinkle evenly with chopped walnuts. Return to oven and continue baking for 15 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr, or until top is pale gold. While warm cut into 1½" squares in pan.

TINY COCOANUT ROLLS (from sliced sponge or angel cake):

Cut a baker's or homemade sponge or angel food cake (24 hours old) into ¼" slices with very sharp knife. Cut these slices into strips approximately 3 x 1½". Spread neatly each strip with red raspberry or cranberry or currant jelly. Roll up into tiny rolls. Frost each with a little thin butter icing. Sprinkle board or counter with fine cocoanut and deftly turn over the frosted rolls in the cocoanut until coated on all sides. These should dry a little before serving.

TO MAKE 25 CUPS OF TEA:

Five-eighths measuring cup loose tea or 12 to 14 tea bags, 1 imperial gallon (four 40-oz. quarts) freshly boiling water, 1¼ pints milk, ½ lb. (or less) cube sugar and thin lemon slices. Brewing time — 5 to 8 minutes, then pour brewed tea off leaves or remove tea bags.

Hints for Spring

By E. A. STONE

With the marble bags out of hibernation, and knee socks taking over from leotards, the housewife must start to think about spring cleaning and preparing for summer activities. Here are a few timely tips that might simplify your chores.

1. Large (10 oz.) glass jars make wonderful summer storage containers for clean woollen mittens, scarves, hats and similar small articles. These items are often needed on short notice those first frosty fall mornings that always seem to take us by surprise. In glass jars they will be safe from moths, and at the same time be easily visible and accessible.

2. Leather snowboots deserve some careful attention before heading for summer storage. First the inside of the boots should be vacuumed with one of your attachments, then stuffed with crumpled newspapers. The exterior of the boots should be cleaned thoroughly, then treated with a good leather preservative. This ought to keep them in top form for another tour of duty.

3. When storing children's outgrown clothes that are to be used at a later date for younger children, it is a good idea to pin a slip of paper to each article noting the size. Frequently the original labels fray away or are torn off, resulting in a great waste of time trying on clothes of uncertain size. Worse still, unsized clothes may be ignored too long and may prove to be too small when finally tried on the intended wearer.

4. When storing little girls' dresses it is wise to take out the hem completely, then launder and press before putting away. This helps eliminate the line of the original hem when a new one is made for the next wearer.

5. When preparing the children's camp clothes an indelible felt pen saves inestimable time in marking them. The inner waistbands of slacks, jeans, underpants, pyjamas and so on makes a good writing surface as does the facing of shirts and blouses. The inside of shoes, rubber boots, ground sheets, haversacks, jackets and coats can be similarly marked. There are of course items such as washcloths, socks, towels etc. for which name tapes are the only solution, but the felt pen will eliminate many of the sewing chores.

6. During the muddy season shoes should be cleaned as soon as they are removed. They are cleaned more readily then and are always ready for wear.

7. A supply of extra shoe laces, postage stamps, greeting cards, wrapping paper and ribbon will save unnecessary trips to the store during any season. It is the shortage of such small items that cause us the largest aggravations.

8. For families with young children a cache of gift articles suitable for either sex is a big help when a birthday party invitations arrive on short notice. The post - Christmas sales are a good time to stock these.

None of us are as orderly as we wish to be, but it is worthwhile to spend a little time organizing our homes and ourselves. The housekeeper who does so will be generously rewarded with dividends of time.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

HOMEMAKING CLUB

The sixth meeting of Sidney South No. 11 4-H Homemaking Club was held at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Meens on Monday night.

Members in the club are Miss C. Mywaart, Miss Catharina Mywaart, Miss Linda Hitchon, Miss Brenda Douglas and Miss Ann Vandermeer.

The leaders are Mrs. Ted Aitkins and Mrs. Fred C. Meens.

The girls discussed plans for Achievement Day.

Making and joining bias, the slip-stitched hem, the French seam and the worked buttonhole were demonstrated.

Mrs. Meens explained the understitched facing.

The discussion was on wardrobe charts and costume charts.

MAGIC MIXERS

HILLIER — The first meeting of the Hillier 4-H Club was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Wright. The meeting opened with 4-H pledge followed by the election of officers as follows: president, Nora Meadmaar; vice - president Monica Alyea; secretary, Roaling; treasurer, Kathy Alexander and press reporter, Lynda Hughes.

The club name was decided to be "The Hillier Magic Mixers."

Mrs. Kenneth Wright discussed the type of recipe file that should be used. Questions were given to be answered on "The Uses of Food." Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Alyea conducted a discussion on junkets and where it comes from, what it is made into and what it is used for. Patsy Munroe and Louise Goodmurphy gave a demonstration on how to make up a package of junket.

They also learned that by buying milk in large containers or by mixing part powder and part liquid, money could be saved.

SECOND MEET

The second meeting of the 4-H Club was held at Mrs. Wrights. Milk in many forms was discussed at length.

Nora Meadmaar and Monica Alyea made hot coca for each member and used directions from their pamphlet sheet.

THIRD MEET

The third meeting of the Hillier Magic Mixers was held at Mrs. Kenneth Wrights. The meeting opened with 4-H pledge. Minutes were read by Susan Alyea.

Calcium was the topic for discussion. Protein is needed for growth and constant repair. Milk and cheddar cheese gives a great amount of protein.

Next topic was serving cheese as a dessert and as a cheese tray. Many pleasing combinations of cheese were learned.

At the closing of the meeting Sam Number sampled cheese and gave the color, texture, flavor, price and opinion on each.

Speaking Personally

by Gladys Ward - - - Women's Editor

FEATHERBEDDING

One of the joys of my childhood was a visit to a farm home for a month in the summer holidays.

The long hot days were spent picking wild raspberries where branches clutched at your clothing with sharp fingers; sometimes we were allowed to ride from the hayfield to the barn when they were "drawing in," on top of the fragrant load of hay; and sometimes we went wading in the little creek (pronounced crick), where the clear water gurgled in shallow laughter over the rocks, and water cress grew.

But night was the best. There was no electricity on the farm, and we children took turns carrying the coal oil lamp up to the big bedroom. This was an awesome responsibility and not to be undertaken lightly. (No pun intended.)

A cool breeze blew the lace curtains at the window. On the big brass bed in the spare bedroom there was a bolster covered with pillow shams. On one was embroidered "Good Night" and on the other "Good Morning."

These were carefully removed and folded before we got into bed. The farmer's wife heard our prayers and then we jumped into bed and sank almost out of sight into a feather mattress.

If you have never slept on a feather tick you haven't lived. It enfolded about you like a broody hen over a fledgling chick, and you felt safe from all things that prowl at night, and make ghostly shadows on the wall.

I can imagine nowadays with allergies, hay fever, asthma and the like, what a riot a feather bed would be. But we didn't know about allergies then, and in retrospect it becomes the most comfortable sleep of my whole life, notwithstanding orthopedic mattresses, sleeping on a board, smooth tops, foam rubber or any of those progressive things.

ROAD SIGNS

Don't you love those road signs that say, "Squeeze Ist"? "Can't you just see the car folding up like an accordion, as you squeeze it. Of course if it means the people in the car should squeeze that is understandable, because people are squeamish. But I have yet to see a car that you can squeeze, and have it come out looking the same on the other side of the signs.

PEAT'S — PETE'S — PECHE POINT

Some research on the name for the point of land which reaches into the Bay of Quinte off the Massassaga Road has resulted in more confusion. On an old map dated 1878 the name is spelled Peats Point.

One reader said that in Quebec "Peche" is a common name at many waterside places and means "fish." This sounds logical as it was probably considerd a fishing point at one time.

On some property deeds the name is Pete's Point, and as I mentioned before one woman assured me the point was named for a Major Peet.

Several people gave me a history of the Point and the early owners and I especially wish to thank Mrs. George Wallbridge for some useful information. But I still have not resolved the authenticity of the name.

90,000 Children Face Accidental Poisoning!

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)About 90,000 Canadian children under the age of five will be accidentally poisoned by common household drugs or cleaning substances this year, a federal health department doctor predicts.

Dr. J. B. Murphy, director of medical services for the federal food and drug directorate, says that although only a small percentage of the poisonings will result in death, thousands of children will be seriously hurt.

"Carelessness of parents is the cause of most of these incidents," says Dr. Murphy. Parents should know what substances are dangerous and keep them out of reach.

Most dangerous to children are the common ASA compounds (headache tablets). They account for 25 per cent of all poisonings.

Last year, Dr. Murphy estimates, 25 to 30 youngsters died after eating large quantities of these tablets. Thousands more were rushed to hospital to have their stomachs pumped out.

Dr. Murphy says the second biggest threat to children is household cleaners, floor waxes and oven cleaners.

Many of these substances are corrosive and can cause serious burns to a child's throat. Household lye is particularly dangerous.

Ordinary soap detergents are "not too dangerous." However, heavier detergents used in automatic washers have the same corrosive effect as lye.

WARNING ON SEDATIVES

A growing threat to children arises from sedatives, tranquillizers, "pep - pills" and other drugs of this type, which Dr. Murphy says are being used in much greater quantities in an increasing number of Canadian homes. He believes drugs in this category are the third biggest cause of poisonings in children.

Dr. Murphy, who administers the food and drug directorate's poison control centre, says not all of the many poisoning accidents in Canada are reported to the centre.

But reports come in from 232 hospitals across the country and from them Dr. Murphy is able to estimate the number of poisonings for the entire country.

One important function of the poison control centre is to collect data on poisonous substances and their antidotes.

Dr. Murphy stresses that the only way to reduce accidental poisonings is for parents to be more careful in storing poisonous substances where children cannot reach them.

In line with this, an educational program is being carried on by the Consumers Association of Canada in co-operation with the Canadian Manufacturers of Chemical Specialities.

RULES ARE SIMPLE

A bright yellow pamphlet distributed by the two organizations, called Your Guide to the Safe Use of Chemical Products in the Home, says most household chemical products sold in Canada are completely safe for their intended use.

"But there is a small proportion of household products which carry an inherent hazard."

The rules to prevent accidental poisonings are few and simple, says the booklet. "Read the label. Store hazardous substances out of children's reach."

In their study of accidental poisonings in Canada, the two organizations found that five substances are responsible for the majority of accidents. On their danger list are sleeping pills, turpentine, ASA compounds, lye and kerosene.

The pamphlet urges families to find out the location of the poison control centre nearest them, and keep its telephone number handy in case of an emergency.

Experts at the centre could then tell parents quickly what steps to take, should their children accidentally swallow a poisonous substance.

PETS NEED SHOTS

Rabies is epidemic in many parts of Canada, so dogs and cats should be vaccinated if they join the family on holiday.

Archery from a wheelchair is a common sight at the crippled children's Easter Seal camps. It is one of the many sporting activities that gives the children a chance to compete against their own handicap. This camping program is just one of many services, through the public's support of Easter Seal Campaign, now being conducted by service clubs throughout the province in association with the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

A crippled child living in some remote part of the province of Ontario is not overlooked or missed by the Easter Seal Society. Throughout the year diagnostic clinics are held in cities and towns closely associated with these far distant points and arrangements made through the family doctor, the service clubs to bring those children in to be examined by the medical specialists attending the clinics.

Royal Ontario Museum Shows Treasures From Beneath Waves

TORONTO—Tools and treasure recovered after centuries beneath the waves are shown in a special exhibition now in progress at the Royal Ontario Museum, University of Toronto. They include relics of the Ontario fur trade, Spanish treasure fleets, and Maya offerings to the gods—as well as everyday items of colonial life from the harbors and rivers of eastern Canada.

Special equipment developed for the new science of underwater archaeology also is displayed. The exhibition, "Diving Into the Past," continues at the ROM until May 2.

People have been recovering ancient objects from the sea bottom for centuries without special equipment—Sophia Loren demonstrated the technique memorably a few years ago in the movie "Boy on a Dolphin." Divers in cumbersome weighted suits also have been used. But underwater archaeology did not really blossom until after the war when the aqualung allowed man to move freely beneath the surface.

* * *

Archaeologists today investigate and record discoveries underwater in the same detail as on land. They have learned to recognize objects encrusted with centuries of coral deposit, and sometimes to work with curious fish peering over their shoulders.

Underwater archaeology embraces more than the sea. Some of the richest objects in the exhibition come from a well in the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico. Maya Indians threw them into the well, along with human sacrifices, as offerings to the gods.

From northern Ontario rapids, ROM expeditions have recovered trade baskets, iron anchors and other trade goods, lost when fur trading canoes capsized in whitewater.

Items have been loaned for the special exhibition by museums and government departments in Canada, the United States, and Bermuda. There are also pieces from the wreckage of a Spanish treasure fleet which was destroyed in a storm off the Florida coast in 1715; and a small gold bar and other objects from even earlier Spanish wrecks off Bermuda.

Canadian material comes from Deer Island, N.B., Lake Champlain and the Richelieu River. There are also objects from the Sea of Galilee, Cyprus and Guatemala.

Equipment on exhibit includes a Canadian-developed suction device which can clear large quantities of silt from around a wreck; underwater TV and communication equipment; echo sounders and depth recording apparatus; and a portable magnetometer to detect chances in the magnetic profile of the bottom which may indicate the presence of archaeological material.

"Diving into the Past" has been organized in conjunction with an international conference on underwater archaeology being held at the ROM April 15 - 17. The conference will bring speakers from Europe and North America to report on new developments in the field.

Council Briefs

CAMPBELLFORD — A fire pumper for the Campbellford Fire Department came again under discussion on receipt of a letter from the Attorney General's department. This pumper was ordered first in 1964 under special grant structure of E.M.O. As funds were not available it was ordered again this year, as funds are not authorized as yet the Council was notified the municipality would be maintained on priority standing subject to the availability of funds.

One Councillor objected to a tape recorder being used by another Councillor on the grounds it was disrupting. He went on to say the minutes are available in the town office if any member wishes to see them and if Council wanted a tape recorder it could buy one. Another member of Council suggested that might be a good idea.

The decision of the town solicitor M.A. McColl regarding ownership of a building used by the P.U.C. and Fire department was that the Municipal Council should have exclusive use of it for the fire department.

Campbellford Rotary Club solicited the usual grant for the Easter Seal campaign, $10 was granted.

A resolution from New Toronto asked support to establish a 15-mile speed limit in any school area. One opinion expressed was that speed limits should be government regulated and it should be the responsibility of the motorist to know the law. Council decided to support the resolution whereby individual municipalities may establish a speed limit of 15 miles per hour in a school area.

Clerk E. M. Ibey asked Council to meet for two special meetings, one on April 20 to present all committee budgets for approval and also on April 28 to set the mill rate.

The Department of Highways notified Council they would make no contribution to lighting of connecting link on Highway No. 30.

Mrs. S. Bidgood asked reimbursement of $10 plumbing bill as a result of flooded sewer condition. The matter was turned over to the insurance company.

Mr. Cook of Victoria St. asked permission to dig a trench and lay pipe at his own expense to connect with services already installed. Permission was granted.

Street Foreman Will Attend Guelph Course

CAMPBELLFORD—A school for street road foremen will be held this year in Guelph. This is a three-year course and those who show proficiency will be given certificates. Street foreman Mr. W. Blake will be attending this year from Campbellford.

A petition signed by eighteen persons requested the removal of ponies from a barn in a residential area of the town. Various reasons were given for the request. The matter will be referred to departments involved such as health unit, police department and legal advice.

The budget was received from the Educational Authority of Merrywood School. The amount for 1965 is estimated at $14,685. This is an increase over last year of $2,868. The budget under the administration of the Association last year was $6,817. It will be reviewed at a later budget meeting.

NEW SUB DIVISION

Campbellford will have a new sub division in the near future if plans of Mr. E. Steele develop as he expects. Plans prepared by J. Pierce of Peterborough were shown to council members. Mr. Steele as subdivider will provide services, sewers, water mains, electricity, a road graded and gravelled acceptable to council. Eight single family units will be built on land purchased by Mr. Steele a few years ago known as the Island property.

Mr. J. Connor interviewed council relative to a grant to the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Connor outlined some of the activities of the Chamber, particularly in tourism. Council granted $200 to help in advertising and a part of salary of staff in information booth in the summer.

Public School Budget Down By $11,087

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. C. Johnston presented the Campbellford Public School budget to Municipal Council on Monday evening. The budget this year shows a decrease of $11,087.45. The decrease is the result of larger government grants. As an extra the grant was received late in 1964 and a good economy had been used on the Bridge Street School. $2,600 of last year's budget was held over because of this to make a total bold over of $13,400. Another favorable factor was that Seymour township levy was increased from eight per cent to 10.88 per cent for 1965, giving an increase in the Seymour levy of $667. Mr.

No Selection Made for New Police Officer

CAMPBELLFORD — Councillor H. Dunk reported applications had been received in answer to advertising for a fourth police constable for Campbellford but no selection has yet been made at the council meeting Monday evening.

An obstacle has been encountered in the matter of taking charge of dogs in Campbellford. Mr. Tucker's application for dog catcher had been approved but Council was informed by the town solicitor a dog pound must be established in the municipality. It is not necessary that the dog catcher be a local resident but dogs picked up must be impounded in the municipality where they are found. As Mr. Tucker lives in Stirling this presents a problem as pounds must be built according to standard set by the Humane Society. It was suggested the Humane Society establish a pound.

NOT FAVORED

Deputy Reeve Locke and Reeve Brown spoke on behalf of the benefit of Council as a whole the suggestion that Northumberland County join in a large area of Victoria, Peterborough and Haliburton in the contruction of a new jail for them. It was suggested site was Millbrook.

Deputy Reeve Locke said $40,000 had been spent on Cobourg jail in the past year and it would be unwise to go into the new jail. The Campbellford police have to transport prisoners at the present time in their cars. This is inconvenience to have to take anyone in custody to the town hall. They also agreed that the jail in Cobourg is in excellent condition and should remain so for at least ten years.

NEW MOTOR BOUGHT

In his capacity as chairman of Fire, Water and Light Committee Councillor Sharp asked 5½ h.p. motor had been purchased for use by the Fire Department.

Two firemen, Deputy chief Basil Shannon and Assistant Chief Sampson, are now working in Oshawa. Their places have been filled by appointing Fireman Chas. Shaw as Deputy chief and Fireman D. Pickering as Captain, subject to six months probation as required by by-law. Appointments to be effective as of April 1.

For Road and Bridge committee, Councillor Sharp asked permission to engage a new device for cleaning sand out of sewers and was given permission to have the device in use sewers, in the town as a precaution against blocking of sewers at some later time when the machine might not be available.

PRESENTS BUDGET

Councillor R. Hughes presented the budget for the Recreation committee which amounts to $2,445. The largest project is the swimming program, other sports such as minor hockey and softball, bowling and square dancing, are also considered in the budget.

A clock was recently organized with a large anticipated membership.

Reeve Brown reported he had been contacted by a representative of the Bell Telephone Co., who asked for a committee from Council to work on research for communication system in regard to the fire department, police department and ambulance service.

A phone will be installed in each fireman's or police constable's home which when called will sound a bell, turn off any other phone in service at the time.

The committee chosen was Reeve Brown of the Fire and Light committee, Councillor Dunk of the police committee and Mayor Tanner.

Johnston stated government has given increased grants to school boards so mill rates can be reduced to property owners.

Reeve Brown congratulated the members of the Public School Board on the presentation of such a concise budget easily read and understood. The total amount needed this year is $150,096.

What You Can Do to Prevent Cancer

ARTICLE 3
By PAT McGRADY

Many authorities have said that the most effective way of reducing cancer deaths is to prevent the disease.

Nations has done this. In the last generation, the incidence and death rates for cancers of the liver, stomach, and uterus have declined 50-60 per cent. No one knows how or why.

There are many ways of preventing cancer. Some are highly theoretical and, for humans, quite impractical. For instance, women hysterectomized or ovariectomized before the menopause are less likely to develop breast cancer. Neither of these procedures is recommended as a prophylactic measure.

Some preventive measures call for good and prompt action, such as the surgical removal of precancerous lumps and sores. Their detection by an alert person and an informed doctor is practical.

Some measures of an immunological nature are still on scientists' drawing boards. They include vaccination against the things which cause cancer and antibodies against itself.

WHAT TO AVOID

Preventing some cancers merely involves avoiding known carcinogens. Cancer-causing.

Cigarettes have been shown by statistical, chemical, and biological means to be one of the most common sources of carcinogens affecting man.

We can, however, avoid only some of the large number of chemicals suspect of carcinogenic activity. While more than 500 chemicals are known to cause animal cancers, few persons have any idea as to what products they are in. For one reason or another — usually because of the damage the information might do to industries — little research on these chemicals is said about them. Comprehensive lists of such chemicals are confined to the scientific literature; but, without identifying the sources at many, they, also, are meaningless to the public.

Pending the issuance of a list of suspect chemicals by some responsible agency, one would be well advised to avoid unnecessary exposure to many organic dusts, coal-tar products, paraffin, lubricating oils, arsenicals and radiation. An authoritative, comprehensive, and comprehensible list of dangerous and avoidable substances is long overdue.

By the same token, it would be helpful to the medical profession if some of the doubts and disputes on carcinogens and preventive measures were resolved by a competent, deliberative body with adequate authority.

Ill-informed fear of the unknown is much confusion and ignorance over the safety of certain drugs, of pesticide residues, and the advisability of numerous surgical operations for pre-cancerous conditions. It is unthinkable for some time from a careful evaluation of the literature and consensus of specialists. No one seems to be doing much about it.

Government agencies in many parts of the world, recently, have come with new responsibilities and powers, seemed to be making headway in protecting the public against dangerous drugs.

It remains to be seen whether public servants under multiple pressures of the industry, politicians, press, and medical profession will be able to find an equitable and speedy way of resisting enthusiasms for new drugs until they are explored for the booby-trap effects, of limiting the use of old ones of doubtful utility, of enforcing a reasonable discrimination in the prescribing and marketing of medicines, and of permitting competent investigators to bring new useful drugs into expert mental medical practice.

REGULAR CHECKUPS

Much skin cancer can be prevented if light-skinned people will keep their exposure to sunshine within reasonable limits. Young bronzed Adonises and Venuses may have a healthy skin in their 30's, keratoses in their 40's and skin cancers in their 50's.

Additional caution by the patient, as well as the doctor and dentist, in medical X-rays would help prevent several kinds of cancer. Doctors and dentists tend to resent the public's being warned against excessive and unnecessary radiation lest some patients be deprived of necessary diagnostic and therapeutic measures. Nevertheless, the patient has reason to be wary of unnecessary or excess radiation.

Common sense and common cleanliness both offer some defense against cancer. Ignoring fanatical food faddists and their equally emotional critics, intelligent people take the vitamin and mineral supplements missing in their regular diets. People can keep their weight down to a reasonable figure.

As things stand, the best assurance of beating cancer lies in having a thorough physical examination periodically by a competent doctor or, better still, group of doctors, including a general physician or intern i s t, surgeon, gynecologist, radiologist and, in the background, pathologist.

Dr. Emerson Day of the Strang Clinic, New York, feels that a good detection examination includes taking of a careful health (personal and family) history; a thoughtful searching for physical complaints; blood, urine, and feces analysis; uterine smear test; visual and touch examination of every accessible surface and organ. He suggests that long term cigarette smokers should have chest X-rays and sputum tests twice a year.

A good examination can hardly be done in less than one hour. It usually takes from two to four hours in a detection clinic, and the cost in North America ranges, roughly, from about $25 to much more than $100.

The advice to have two checkups a year is very good — and very impractical. Only if every physician in the United States and Canada could be kept a week 50 weeks a year giving one hour checkups, could each person be accommodated twice a year.

SEVEN DANGER SIGNALS

The American Cancer Society public education has publicized the "seven danger signals" in the hope that patients having any of them for more than two weeks will consult their physician.

They are (1) unusual bleeding or discharge; (2) a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; (3) a sore that does not heal; (4) change in bowel or bladder habits; (5) hoarseness or cough; (6) indigestion or difficulty in swallowing and (7) change in a wart or mole.

Several studies have indicated the value of women's examining their own breasts periodically. In one group of 700 women who di so, eight discovered cancers during a ten-year period. The cancers were small and, it can only be hoped, curable.

In animal and test tube experiments, perhaps a thousand studies have suggested ways of preventing cancer. Most of the suggestions are probably impractical. Some of them seem worth pursuing.

With one exception, however—the vigorous campaign against cigarette smoking—there is no really strong and effective effort to apply the fruits of research to the prevention of cancer in humans.

(Tomorrow: Can we afford to wait?)

of the recipient's needs."

Mrs. Pearson described the three new parts of the C.A.P. program this way:

Needy Mothers — "It is estimated that the proposed plan would rover close to 200,000 needy mothers and their children who are now excluded from the sharing provisions of the Unemployment Assistance Act. The cost of this to the federal government will be more than $25,000,000 a year."

Health Care —"It would be illogical to help meet people's needs for food, clothing and shelter but to exclude health care for people for whom it is equally essential and cannot afford it on an assistance budget."

Better Welfare Services — "This will help provincial and municipal welfare departments to recruit additional trained staff and to provide more effective service to assistance recipients. In this way, we intend that assistance should be much more effectively linked to other programs including vocational training, rehabilitation and job placement.

"The aim is to enable assistance recipients to move on to achieve the greatest possible measure of self-support."

Brezhnev Is Now Exerting More Personal Power in Direction at the Kremlin

Named much later in official accounts of a delegation now in Warsaw with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. The announcement that the delegation would go to Poland did not even mention Kosygin — just Brezhnev, the first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

And reports from Warsaw said Brezhnev walked ahead of Kosygin when they arrived there Monday.

Diplomatic observers in Moscow detected a shift in the importance of various members of the Soviet collective leadership.

Russian Communists are conscious of the niceties of protocol. Their listings of officials, the positions in which they stand—on a public occasion, are carefully ranked.

Observers concluded that Brezhnev is exerting more personal power, or at least the Communist party is asserting its dominion over the government, at the expense of Kosygin.

When Brezhnev and Kosygin took over their top jobs last October from Nikita Khrushchev, who was both first secretary and premier, they were publicly ranked side by side.

BREZHNEV FIRST

Pictures the Soviet leaders posted a few days after Khrushchev's ouster showed Brezhnev first, then Kosygin and Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan.

Then for several months Brezhnev was busy with the backroom work of a party boss while Kosygin was out talking to state visitors and travelling abroad, thus attracting the spotlight.

But when pictures were posted two weeks ago, they were in Russian alphabetical order.

Monday night President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan gave a state dinner here. The account by the official news agency Tass listed the chief Soviet guests in alphabetical order.

First was First Deputy Premier Kirill Muzurov, then Mikoyan. Yet Mikoyan is the present — the equal of the Pakistani host.

There had been other signs that Mikoyan was slowly slipping. The last formal portrait of the collective leadership showed him at the end of the front row instead of near the centre.

Kremlinologists in foreign embassies in Moscow were busy reading significance in signs of Brezhnev's supremacy over the Soviet Union.

The conservative ones were also looking around for signs that other leaders were rising behind Brezhnev because experience had taught them that today's Kremlin lineup might be changed tomorrow.

Parliament At a Glance

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

TUESDAY, April 6, 1965

The Commons opened the eight-day throne speech debate and the Conservatives promptly moved a motion of non-confidence in the government.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker opened the leaders' day debate with a speech and the motion.

It cited "neglect of the prime minister" in wiping out wrongdoing in government and indecision in the face of national problems.

Prime Minister Pearson replied to the criticism and outlined proposals to give greater benefits to the needy, including payment of half of health costs.

He said his government is happy to stand or fall on the program outlined in the throne speech.

New Democrat Leader Douglas moved an amendment to the Conservative motion.

It referred to the "failure to present specific proposals for a universal and comprehensive medicare program."

WEDNESDAY, April 7

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to continue the throne speech debate. The Senate stands adjourned until May 4.

Speaking Only For Own Circle Says Member

TORONTO (CP)—Separatists and advocates of an associate state in Quebec "speak only for their own small circle of friends," Fern Guindon, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Stormont, said Tuesday night.

"Even if the associate state advocates are gaining some support in Quebec," he told the Eglinton Progressive Conservative Association, "they do not speak with any authority for those more than 1,000,000 Canadians of French ancestry outside of Quebec.

"And any change in the relationship between Canadians of French ancestry and those of English ancestry across Canada, including Quebec, cannot be final or binding until all have agreed to a common goal."

Mr. Guindon was speaking on a recent New Democratic Party brief to the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

The brief, submitted in Toronto March 31, recommended that language for the conduct of public business in Ontario including the law courts, should be English and French. Government publications and forms would have to be in both languages.

Mr. Guindon said the NDP proposals smack of "political opportunism."

He said "bilingualism will come in the Ontario legislature" but this depends "upon our own outlook towards one another and upon our ability to learn to communicate in depth with one another."

PUB NEEDS MONEY

MEAVY, England (CP)—Teetotaller John Broad is leading a local crusade in this Devon village to raise £6,000 needed to rebuild the 800-year-old pub so that it will conform to local health standards. Among past customers of the Royal Oak, named for the 1,300-year-old tree nearby, was Sir Francis Drake, who owned a farm nearby.

Wishart Still Probing Local Youth's Death

TORONTO (CP)—An inquest into the death of a 19-year-old Guelph Reformatory prisoner appears to have been conducted properly, Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said Monday.

"But I am still trying to find out if there is any possibility some things which should have been done were not or some things which should not have been done were done," he said.

The inquest was held to investigate the death Aug. 20 of Ronald Cross of Belleville, while walking from a gravel pit, where he had been working at his own request.

Fred Young (NDP — York-Humber), said in the legislature Thursday key witnesses were not called by the inquest.

He said there is obviously something wrong with an institution which knew that Cross had a heart condition, but permitted him to work with a pick and shovel, even at his own request.

Diefenbaker Caught Off Base By Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson caught Opposition Leader Diefenbaker off base in the Commons Tuesday after the Conservative chief had complained bitterly about the reported establishment of an RCMP auxiliary force.

"We have not been told what it is to do and where it is to do it," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "Why should parliament not have this information?"

Mr. Pearson, who followed Mr. Diefenbaker in the throne speech debate, said it was a "serious charge" for the opposition leader to make.

But he said Mr. Diefenbaker had only to look up a section of the RCMP Act giving the cabinet power to set up an RCMP auxiliary.

Such a step had been taken by E. Davie Fulton when he was Mr. Diefenbaker's justice minister.

"These recreations, which were never discussed in Parliament, were made by the government of my right honorable friend," the prime minister continued. "This is the kind of thing which is destroying Parliament and our constitution."

DEMANDED TO KNOW

Earlier, Mr. Diefenbaker demanded to know why changes were made in the RCMP uniform.

Why, he asked, are they being deprived of their stetson hats, their Sam Browne belts and their spurs?

He asked Justice Minister Favreau why the force, which had done so much to hold the west for Britain, had been treated in this way, would the "royal" be the next to go?

Mr. Favreau said he would look into it and reply later.

The RCMP announced March 22 that it was standardizing the general duty uniform of the RCMP. All members would wear the dark blue peaked cap with the yellow band and blue trousers with the yellow stripe. The brown jacket would be retained.

The announcement said there would be no change in the dress uniform consisting of the wide brimmed hat, scarlet tunic and breeches.

An RCMP spokesman said "the change is really to provide more comfort for men on general duty, it will also standardize the uniform."

PLOT FAILS

WARSAW (AP) — A Polish evening newspaper here reports a jealous 12-year-old boy locked his 19-year-old sister in a coal cellar in the Silesian town of Chrzow on her wedding day. The sister was finally freed the next morning when a neighbor heard her screams, and the wedding took place that afternoon.

More and More Men Beginning to Feel Place Is in Kitchen

A woman may believe her place is in the home, but—when it comes to specialized cooking—more and more men feel their places are in the kitchen.

At least that's the experience of Rosemary Ballagh, Toronto, home economist, here last night to conduct another of the YMCA gourmet classes.

And the turnout, at the Kiwanis Centre, for instruction in preparing such snacks as pizzas, beef bourgignonne and chili con carne, seem to support the claim for more male cooks in the kitchen.

However, it is nothing to the response in other—and larger —centres where Rosemary has been conducting gourmet classes for some time.

In her hometown of Toronto, for instance, she has more than 900 eager males who can't wait to get their aprons on.

The enthusiasm is just fantastic," she says.

It all started because of increased interest in barbequeing in recent years. Rosemary, who is a staff member of a Toronto gas corporation, was answering queries on barbeque problems as a public service to consumers.

"All of a sudden we realised we were getting more calls from men. So we started organizing these classes in cooking. The first year we had 300, the next 600, and this year we had 923 men registered."

Similar response was noted in Peterborough, Ottawa and St. Catharines — other cities where the company operates its own centres and can cater to large crowds.

In Belleville, the "Y" program is part of its adult education series and was the inspiration of Dorothy Batchelder. Last night's class was the second of four, held on successive Tuesday nights.

Berlin Is Favorite Soviet Trouble Spot in Cold War

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It has often seemed the Kremlin can manipulate cold-war flareups around the world with comparative ease. When trouble might erupt in, say, Laos following a bloody clash in a Congo jungle.

Nowhere can the Russians inspire trouble more quickly than in Berlin and the crisis of that divided city have perhaps the greatest potential for another focal-point of trouble in the years of the cold war.

But the new East German action in blocking traffic between West Germany and Berlin appears to fit less easily the theory of a Kremlin master simply manipulating trouble on a global scale.

It may suit the Communist purpose to shift some attention at this time from the Vietnamese war to Southeast Asia to the divided city in the heart of Europe. However, observers find it difficult to see China, regarded as the chief protagonist of toughness in Viet Nam, and the Soviet Union co - operating that closely on strategy amid their own deep differences.

Besides, Bonn gave the Russians and East Germans an opening — a "provocation" as the Communists call it—by announcing plans to hold a meeting of the West German parliament in Berlin today. It was the first such scheduled meeting since 1958, when the practice of meeting in Berlin was suspended at the request of the Western Allies.

It is widely thought in Britain the incident arose at least partly as an unhappy byproduct of the campaign for West Germany's general election in September. The CDU-CSU press pursues for moves toward German reunification.

"All the political parties want to demonstrate their refusal to accept the separation of Berlin and the division of Germany," says The Sun, a London newspaper, in an editorial.

But reunification, short of a world war, can be achieved only by agreement.

"Cocking a snook at the iron curtain may make West German politicians feel good. It also makes agreement more unlikely."

The autobahn incidents between Berlin and the West German border, in the early stages, were believed to have had a serious effect on the thinking of many German politicians.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder had done much toward creating an atmosphere of lessened tension with the Soviet Union and East European countries, including the hated East German regime. Critics have been deeply suspicious of this departure from the uncompromising stand of former chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Now the critics are having their day.

The Hamburg newspaper Die Welt says the incidents could "wake up those of us who have been sitting back comfortably because there was no longer an icy blast blowing from the east."

Publishers Give Mailers New Agreement

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's three daily newspapers Tuesday proposed a new collective agreement with the Toronto Mailers Union (CLC).

Union President Robert Earles described the proposals as a butchering of the existing agreement but said negotiations are continuing and he would make counter-proposals.

The 220 mailers, under their collective agreement to respect picket lines of the Toronto Typographical Union (CLC), left their jobs last July 9 when the printers struck against the three dailies, the Globe and Mail, The Star and The Telegram. The newspapers have continued to publish.

Last week, the mailers told newspaper officials they were prepared to return to work.

Mr. Earles said the publishers offer a five-year agreement with wage increases; a scrapping of the closed shop; increased hours for night shift; and restriction of union jurisdiction over work performed in the mailing room.

Doyle E. Richards, general manager and vice - president of The Globe and Mail, said news agency proposals included raising to 65 from 60 the minimum age for retirement at full pension.

Meanwhile, talks between Labor Minister Leslie Rownтree and printers continued Tuesday.

Told Roofing Salesman to Get Down Road

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — A 75-year-old roofing foreman's courtroom laughing Tuesday as he described how he pointed out the road to two roofing salesmen and told them to get down it when they asked him for $350 before they started repair work on his house.

William Thomas Bruce of Bellcountain, Ont., a resident of here, was testifying at the trial of six Hamilton men and a Burlington woman charged with conspiring to defraud elderly persons in Ontario during the last seven years.

Mr. Bruce said his 80-year-old wife, Charles had signed a $625 contract for a new roof on their home.

"These fellows came with the shingles and wanted $350 before they drove any nails," he told them. "Get down the road, now get the hell down it."

"I know a fellow who would put the shingles on by the yard, square and I wouldn't give these fellows a cent."

Mr. Bruce said he could not recognize any of the defendants.

FIRM NAMED

Robert John Skene, named in the indictment as manager, conducted the seven accused, said he was owner of By-All Building Products, a business name he used with witnesses as the firm with which they dealt. Mr. Skene will be tried later.

Mr. Skene said the business, which operated for six months, included himself and one of the accused, Raymond James Smith, 32, as salesmen.

Sgt. Ian Hutcheon of the provincial police said he searched Smith's home and found a workers' list for the Hamilton Central riding, which had marks opposite the names of all who were listed as widows, retired, pensioners or living alone.

Other accused are Stanley Laing, 33; David Gordon Young, 43; John Dale Bruce, 42; Geraldine Rogers, 39, and her two brothers, Murray, 29, and Stanley Bruce, 42.

The trial continues.

PRINTS A CLUE

EAST LONDON, South Africa (CP)—Scientists here have identified marks on a rock found here as footprints of a prehistoric man who lived 30,000,000 years ago. Marjorie Courtenay - Latimer, director of the East London museum, also said the rock shows clear footprints of birds and a tiger, and what appears to be the boomarks of an early horse.

Chou En-lai Says China, North Viet Nam Are Not Involved in the Fighting

NEW YORK (AP) A proposal relayed to the United Nations from China that "the parties involved" must settle the Viet Nam war may be intended actually to ensure that negotiations to end the conflict will not be possible.

The implication is that if there are going to be any negotiations, the only participant on the Communist side must be the representatives of the Viet Cong — the National Liberation Front for South Viet Nam, which has headquarters in North Viet Nam and a representative committee in Peking.

It is not completely clear from the bald statement whether the U.S. itself will be acceptable as a participant, in fact, the idea may be that only the Liberation Front and representatives of the South Vietnam government should negotiate. Since the Viet Cong holds vast areas of South Viet Nam and will be unlikely to give them up voluntarily, the Communist side will have little to lose.

Much propaganda has been given in Peking and Hanoi to a new declaration of the Liberation Front issued March 22. This statement said flatly that all negotiations are useless as long as the U.S. imperialists do not withdraw all troops, weapons and means of war of the United States and its satellites from South Viet Nam, and destroy their military bases in South Viet Nam."

NOT SPECIFIC

On the surface, it might sound reasonable that those directly involved negotiate to settle the crisis. But the terms are not spelled out. Against the background of what has gone on before, the Chou gesture has the look of a propaganda move to further Chinese designs, create more trouble for the U.S. and manoeuvre the Soviet Union into a situation even more intolerable than the one which now is causing Russian dissension to rive the party terminology of the cold war.

The Viet Cong has shown few signs of wanting to negotiate in South Viet Nam. North Viet Nam has dropped out, but now China says that North Viet Nam is not directly involved. It is thus denying that Ho Chi Minh, whose country is under heavy U.S. air attack, has any right to have a say in talks on the whole Viet Nam war.

What might sound like a peace overture on the surface, looks far less peaceful upon close examination.

Early Bird in Full Flight Headed for Roost in Sky

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) The pioneering Early Bird communications satellite raced today toward an outpost over the Atlantic to be a switchboard for the first public utility spawned by the space age.

Officials of the Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT) were elated over early success of the satellite propelled by a three-stage rocket fired Tuesday night.

Nine days of orbit-shifting manoeuvres must be accomplished before Early Bird reaches its nesting place 22,300 miles above the Atlantic.

It will appear to remain motionless directly over the equator to provide continuous communications links between North America and Europe.

The launching was the first venture into space for COMSAT, a business partnership of communications interests ie 45 nations. The utility plans to have a global space communications network in operation in 1967.

If successful, Early Bird will open a new era in the history of communications. For the first time, the public will be able to use a satellite by making transatlantic telephone calls.

COMSAT, with 137,000 stockholders, paid the National Aeronautics and Space Administration $3,330,000, regardless of success or failure, to launch Early Bird.

The corporation plans about June 1 to put the satellite into commercial operation for relaying radio, television, teletype and telephone messages.

Canada is a member of the consortium operating the system and has built a ground station at Mill Village, N.S., about 80 miles southwest of Halifax.

All told, Canada has invested $2,000,000 in the $250,000,000 COMSAT venture.

Lord Beaverbrook at Heart Was Socialist Says Author

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born apostle of British toryism for more than 50 years, was at heart a Socialist, never really a Conservative at all.

This is one of the more arresting theories put forward in a controversial book, the true history of Lord Beaverbrook, by Wood, who died in 1962, not long before Beaverbrook's death last June.

Reviewers generally comment with distaste on what they see as a tendency of the book to eamnesia—on everything from business transactions to amorous gossip—rather than to report as facts, giving sources.

Jeremy Wallington writes in the Tory Sunday Times that Wood, an Australian who served as war correspondent for Beaverbrook's Daily Express, was "deviously" commissioned to do the book as an obituary.

"It is far too accurate in its assessments of Beaverbrook to have been published in his lifetime. Nevertheless the author, though he avoided using the considerable heritage of anecdote as fact, did not really do enough work on his subject to justify all his assessments."

The Evening Standard, a Beaverbrook newspaper, carries a review by Michael Foot, onetime Beaverbrook journalist and now Labor member of Parliament who agrees with Wood that the late publisher was never really a Tory.

SCORES ACCOUNT

Foot is critical of Wood's account of how the young Max Aitken climbed to fame as Beaverbrook but, perhaps predictably, the Socialist left-winger approves this passage in the book:

"I have the fancy that, from one point of view, the truest interpretation of Max Aitken's career in Britain is that he was a lost Labor leader."I do not mean this in an obvious sarcastic sense . . . but I am writing of the Labor party as it could have been, and of Max Aitken as he might have been.

"Throughout his life he was a Radical gone wrong. At heart he was partly a Bolshevik revolutionary, partly a romantic reactionary, part iconoclast, part pioneer; but he was never a Conservative."

Wood maintains Aitken made a disastrous mistake in accepting a peerage and "spent a lifetime trying, with varying success, to be a good Conservative."

Foot commentst: "It may seem too fanciful to picture Beaverbrook as a lost leader of the Left, but the facts fit the odd theory much more closely than most people can imagine."

Ivan Yates writes in The Observer, an Independent Sunday newspaper, that Wood, unlike some other writers on Beaverbrook, "escapes enchantment and disenchantment alike, but without losing sympathy."

"The book gains greatly as a result, in its acute assessment of Beaverbrook's character. Wood brings out his shyness and extreme sensitiveness, describes his frequent descents into hypochondria in his great need to avoid public humiliation."

FINISHED IN 1957

Sir Linton Andrews, who reviewed the Beaverbrook book both in the Conservative Yorkshire Post and in World Press News, a trade journal, says it is strange that it has not been published before, since it was finished in 1957.

"Perhaps the reason is that, according to its author, the one thing of which Beaverbrook was incapable was allowing an objective appreciation of himself.

"He certainly would not have liked this book. It makes some surprising disclosures. For example, it relates that his father, a Presbyterian minister, confessed to him that he did not believe the Evangelical gospel which he preached so fervently every Sunday. . . .

"There have been rumors that Beaverbrook made his vast fortune in Canada by shady methods. The author tells us what he can of the deals in question, but it does not appear that in forming more mergers than anyone else in Canada the astute Aitken went beyond the accepted standards of business behavior."

Turning to another feature of the book, Sir Linton writes:

"Writing of the playboy years, the gay life of the 1920s, the author tells us of his belief that a public man's private life should be treated as his own affair, but he adds that once gossip has passed into general knowledge it is better that some things should be written frankly than be talked of furtively.

"Then follows anonymous gossip described as talk of the town about Beaverbrook's affairs, in which it seemed he took special delight in tumbling the pride of society women. As Mr. Wood himself writes, 'It would be wrong to lay too much stress on such episodes.'"

Walked Razor's Edge To Business Fortune

By HAROLD MORRISON

EAST KILBRIDE, Scotland (CP)—There's a story told in this new town of how a canny Scot pyramided a loan of $4,000 and a second-hand machine into a $4,000,000 razor blade business —all in the matter of two years.

"That's no legend, it's the truth," says 46-year-old James Oattes, the Glasgow-born engineer who got tired of acting as consultant to other blade manufacturers and in 1962 decided to try his hand against the predacious giants.

"We've succeeded far beyond our dreams," adds Oattes, now managing director of Permasharp Limited, which produces about 2,000,000 stainless steel blades a week in this community of 42,000—Scotland's first new town.

From an initial staff of two, the company now employs 164 and by 1967 expects to employ 400. Oattes' blades are sold in many parts of the world, including Canada. He also makes the machines for producing blades and sells the machines as well.

SET EXAMPLE

For the average wage in this success as an example of what their countrymen can do. They're even prouder of East Kilbride itself, a post-war community about nine miles south of Glasgow, scientifically planned by housing experts right down to the last pine tree.

"East Kilbride is a happy and prosperous town," the prospectus says—and it may also be a matter of deep concern for Canadian and other exporters who may have to compete against the products of East Kilbride in world markets.

Scots proudly show off Oattes' expanding town is just 945 a week. 'How can a family be "happy" on that? Simple. Rents also are low. You can rent a new gas-heated three-bedroom house for just $17.50 a month—providing you take a job in the community.

This makes for a plentiful supply of low-priced labor and helps the manufacturers of East Kilbride keep the price of their products low. East Kilbride can even produce record players to sell to the Japanese at a profit.

DRAWS YOUTH

And the town is popular. From the Glasgow slums, young couples have poured south, to fresh air and a new life. From a population of 2,500 in 1949, East Kilbride has boomed to 42,000 and is expected within a few years to go to 70,000 or more.

It has 11,000 houses, 84 factories, 140 shops, 15 schools and 10 churches. The factories produce a range of goods from light clothing to thermostats and machine-tooling tools.

While the prospectus talks of happy residents, some privately complain that schools are overcrowded and construction too slow. Some of the higher-paid employees therefore work in East Kilbride but still reside in Glasgow. Against this complaint, town councillors emphasize a point which would make any Canadian city envious—there is virtually no crime in East Kilbride.

Arture Champlain Montcalm Richelieu O'Cleaver, the commander in chief of the Queen's Own Van Doos, has taken a vow to go on a pea soup diet until his beloved Montreal Canadiens win the Stanley Cup.

"That," opines Patrick O'Rourke O'Moore, chief scalp hunter in these parts of the Chicago Black Hawks, "means that pea soup sales will increase 1,00 percent over the next ten years."

"O'Ugh," grunts Chief John Pocahontas O'Hill, who is thinking of arming the Habitants' fans with a thousand arrow heads and tomahawks for the finals, "if pea soup runs out, Tequila Georgo O'McGee will bring up reinforcements."

"O'Ugh" repeated the Chief, "that two-way Mexican lemonade had my car doing the Watusi, that's Seminole for the shimmy. Two shots of that and O'Punch Imlach would want to blow up the Montreal embassy of the N.H.L."

The Great O'Mahoney, called Jerry by his lodge brothers and who gargles his French with a Kingston accent, leans slightly towards the Canadiens. So little that when he cut his finger the other day he bled peasoup.

He roared like a frustrated bull moose when he was not asked to predict the Stanley Cup winners. The peak of his cup flipped up and down like the bill of a hungry duck. "Whaddaya mean, Detroit? If you want to know the truth why didn't hockey?"

"Like who?" murmured Jim "Canada Dry" O'Cooke. "My buddies tell me you guys are all betting on the wrong horse. When the O'Punch gets through with you frog-leg lovers he'll have Montreal attached to Toronto for medicine and duty."

"O'Hallberton" O'Herrington, attache of the city's Pearson Fabiens Extraction Plimsoll, is also a likehappy hombre. He believes the Toe Trucks will crunch the Punch bunch in five grindings.

Mushmouth McDiarmid Hirshberger, our Zwick's Island undercover operator, who thinks the "CH" on the Canadiens' sweaters stands for "Centre Ice," remarks, "due to the meriocration of the erraticked exponaments of the opposition, the Detroit Tigers—or is it the Red Wings—should proceed to dismember the other clubs and switch them aside to gambol on to a victorious victory."

Don't take Mushmouth too seriously. Last fall he called the Yankees to win the world series because "they will preponderate at the batting stance and submergerate the Cardinals under an avalanic of homeric runs. The Cardinals will be elucidated in five encounties."

"GRUDGE GAME"

Feeling "they can't do that to our juniors," the the CNR senior hockey squad that played in the Stratford tournament last Saturday hits hurled a challenge at the Belleville Minor Hockey Association coaches for a "battle to the death" in Memorial Arena.

The Coaches handed the CNR "junior squad" a fancy 11-6 shellacking at the Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament's feature attraction—and the big brothers are not taking it too kindly.

The game has been scheduled for the arena Friday night, starting at 9.30. The late hour results from previous ice commitments.

The only other ice time available was Tuesday night but it was felt the Stanley Cup playoffs attraction on television would have an effect on attendance.

There will be no outside ticket sale and all admissions (twenty-five cents) will be paid at the arena box office.

It is stated that proceeds will be given to the Crippled Children's Fund of the Belleville Shrine Club.

It is assumed the BMHA Coaches will go along with the same lineup that defeated the CNR "Juniors" Friday night. No information regarding the lineup of the CNR "Seniors" has been submitted.

"These guys will find they're up against a real hockey club when they tangle with us," said a CNR team spokesman. "We're going out there to teach them a lesson."

The Coaches laughed that one off. "We beat their second team and we intend to give their 'seniors' a worse trimming," was the comeback.

As was noted the game starts at 9.30 Friday evening and admission will be paid at the arena box office.

Hawks Whip Wings; Leafs Edge Habs

* * * Keon The Hero

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs decline to lie down quietly in the coffin that Montreal Canadiens have been building for them in the Stanley Cup hockey semi-finals.

Hammering Habitants came within a blow of nailing down the third corner of the casket here Tuesday night but Leafs kept kicking. They pried the lid back up with a 3-2 overtime win that left the best-of-seven series at 2-1 for Canadiens.

DAVE KEON

Leafs, aiming for a fourth successive Stanley Cup, had spells of convincing power after showing signs of tired legs in the first two games at Montreal, won 3-2 and 3-1 by the younger Canadiens. But the defending champions even at their best never appeared to have everything going their way.

Andy Bathgate, who tied the game in the third period, forcing overtime, summed it up afterwards: "We were getting tired. We're on the way now. But we've got to skate Thursday." That's the date of the next Leaf encounter with Canadiens.

Quicksilver Davey Keon gave Leafs a sliver of light and air by picking up a loose puck and backhanding it past Gump Worsley into the Montreal goal at 4:17 of the first overtime period.

Canadiens coach Toe Blake refused in a rage to say what he felt about the legality of the play that produced the winner, accusing a reporter of trying to needle him into blasting the referee.

Leafs opened the contest as it glad to be back home from Montreal, skating hard and outshooting Canadiens for the first 10 minutes and even depriving the Montreal power play of a shot on goal while Keon was off for slashing midway through the period.

But Jean Beliveau slammed a screen shot past a queue of Toronto stalwarts to sink a 25-foot shot at 17:02.

GAMBLE PAID OFF

Punch Imlach's gamble in playing penalty - prone Eddie Shack on regular line with Pulford and Tim Horton paid off as Shack counted for Leafs at 3:19 of the second period on a shot resembling Beliveau's.

Shack's shot, from about 20 feet out, was screened by a defensive file made up of Jacques Laperriere, Terry Harper and Claude Provost.

Henri Richard, the persistent and consistent Montreal centre, put Canadiens back in front at 47 seconds of the third period— his third goal of the series and his 20th in Stanley Cup playoff action.

Richard was beaten by Bower when he moved from behind the Leaf net and fired dead on, but he hurried the rebound off Horton's stick and slammed it in the net on his second attempt.

EDDIE SHACK

Bathgate tied it up at 7:30 after a faceoff, spinning around and firing forehand. Worsley said Terry Harper deflected the shot into the net.

Worsley replacing injured Charlie Hodge in the Montreal goal—and Bower both robbed rival forwards blind numerous times.

Bower stopped 36 shots, Worsley 30, each handling one in overtime.

Referee Frank Udvari awarded 30 penalties, 11 to Canadiens, including fighting majors to John Ferguson and Kent Douglas and misconducts for fighting doled out to Allan Stanley and Dick Duff.

CHICAGO (CP) — The men who play for Chicago Black Hawks are all old enough and rich enough to drive convertibles. But they'll be considerably richer if they can keep their Scooters in operation.

The Scooters — Stan Mikita, Ken Wharram and Doug Mohns —are a forward line that produced 65 goals for the Hawks during the National Hockey League season.

Then, in the first round of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the Hawks lost the first two games to Detroit Red Wings and coach Billy Reay fingered the Scooters as the men who would have to do better.

They did in Chicago Tuesday night and the Hawks thrashed the Wings 5-2 in the third game of the best-of-seven semi-final. Mikita, Wharram and Mohns contributed two goals and five scoring points to the victory after getting only two points, both assists by Mikita, in two games in Detroit.

Mikita, who has the habit of winning the NHL scoring championship and then slumping in the playoffs, scored along with Mohns. Mikita also had one assist and Wharram had two.

And Bill Hay, who had a disappointing 11-goal season, must have gotten Reay's message too because he came through with a goal.

HULL GOT TWO

Bobby Hull, the reliable standby, scored twice — his fourth and fifth of the series—playing with a brace on his injured right knee Tuesday night. He had been wearing one on the left knee earlier in the series.

Ted Lindsay, who returned to action this season after a four-year retirement, scored both goals for Detroit.

But the real secret of the Hawks' success Tuesday night was the bone-crushing attack they served on the Wings during the opening eight minutes.

BOBBY HULL

Hay checked veteran defenceman Bill Gadsby into the boards during the first minute, sending him to the dressing room for four stitches to his face.

Hay got a minor penalty but only a few seconds after leaving the box, he scored the opening goal and the Hawks were on their way.

Reay insisted after the game that the first eight minutes "took a lot out of us." However, the Wings agreed it took the game out of them.

CANVY GIVE THREE

"You can't give away three playoff goals in eight minutes and hope to win," Detroit right-winger Bruce MacGregor said.

Gordie Howe, the Wings' veteran super-star who has just completed his 19th NHL season, agreed.

"I had a chance to get us off to a fast start but he (Chicago goaltender Glenn Hall) made a good save," Howe said.

May Quit National Team

Skiers Out Of Money

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Canada's top male and female skiers may have to leave the national ski team because they have run out of money, their coach said Tuesday.

Nancy Greene, 21, of Rossland, B.C., and Rod Hebron, 22, of Vancouver, ran out of money several months ago. Their careers with the national team depends now on a public fund-raising campaign.

"If we don't raise the money there's little doubt they're out," said Dave Jacobs, coach of the national team which is training at Notre Dame University here.

"We need about $150,000 to keep the team together for the world championships in 1966."

Miss Greene last weekend beat the finest skiers of Europe and North America when she took home six of the seven women's trophies at the American international ski meet at Crystal Mountain near Seattle, Wash.

Both Miss Greene and Hebron are prime prospects for the world championships.

Drysdale Beats Yankees

Homer Did It

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

As usual, Los Angeles Dodgers are serving notice on Don Drysdale, their ace right hander, that he can win his share of games for them this season—if he's prepared to do his own hitting.

That's nothing new for Drysdale. Practically all last season the Dodger batsmen seemed to invite him to make it a do-it-yourself operation every time it was his turn to pitch. In six of his losses they failed to get him a single run.

It looked like the same old story Tuesday night when the Dodgers and New York Yankees were locked in a scoreless tie after five innings. So Drysdale, leading off the sixth, parked one of Bill Stafford's deliveries beyond the left-field fence to end a 17-inning runless streak for Los Angeles.

Al Ferrara, a rookie who obviously hasn't adapted himself to the Dodger battle plan, produced a pinch homer in the seventh and Drysdale walked off with a 2-0 victory, his fifth of the spring training season without a defeat.

Milwaukee Braves batted 12 innings before losing to Washington Senators, 2-1. Catcher Mike Brumley had four hits and scored the winning run in the 12th when he doubled and then raced home on Sandy Alomar's throwing error.

Richie Allen, Philadelphia's Rookie of the Year last season, homered and doubled as the Phillies ripped Kansas City Athletics 5-1.

Rookie Chuck Harrison's second homer in as many days, a pinch-hit shot in the seventh inning, gave Houston Astros a 2-1 victory over Minnesota Twins. The Astros' Jimmy Wynn and the Twins' Jimmie Hall had tagged earlier homers.

Gaylor Perry became the first San Francisco pitcher to go all the way as the Giants clipped Los Angeles Angels 6-2. Detroit Tigers got two-run homers from Al Kaline and Don Demeter and shelled Cincinnati Reds 7-2. It was only the second homer this spring for Kaline.

Bill White's bad-hop double with two out in the third inning led to two runs as the world champion St. Louis Cardinals downed Baltimore Orioles 3-1. The hit scored Lou Brock who had doubled, and then White came home on Ken Boyer's single.

Fred Whitfield unloaded 4 bases-loaded triple as Cleveland Indians came from behind for a 4-3 victory over Boston Red Sox. Lenny Green homered for Boston.

Chicago White Sox scored two victories, with the varsity exploding for a seven-run seventh inning to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 and the B squad nipping New York Mets 3-1.

Tom McCraw's two-run homer against Pirate relief ace Al McBean climaxed the Chicago uprising.

John Romano's two-run double off Warren Spahn in the second inning, keyed the B squad victory. Roy McMillan homered for New York.

Koufax Rejoins Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pitcher Sandy Koufax, a bit tasty and his famed throwing elbow still swollen, flew to the Los Angeles Dodgers training base at Vero Beach, Fla., Tuesday.

"I'm just going back. It's raining here, and I can't even run. My elbow is still swollen, Koufax said.

Koufax was pleasant at first but balked when he spotted a battery of television cameras waiting for him near his plane. He threatened one photographer who was shooting too close and strode on toward the boarding ramp.

But he cooled off and chatted for some 10 minutes, stalling the departure of the airplane.

"I wish I felt as well physically as I do mentally," the lefthander said.

Asked how he felt about the possibility of pitching only once a week, Sandy relied: "I wish I could pitch every fourth day. I'd even pitch every other day, if I could."

The handsome bachelor said he has no idea when he will next throw a ball or pitch a game.

"I could probably pitch one game, but it's the second one I have to worry about," he explained. "After all, I've got arthritis in the elbow and it will have to tell me what to do."

Minor Baseball Readies For New Season

Registration forms for boys wishing to play in the Belleville Minor Baseball Association should be available by the end of this week, according to President Ron Lupenette.

"We have received a number of calls from boys and parents asking when they can sign and we expect to have the forms distributed to the schools within the next day or two," Lupenette said.

He has also asked that the forms be signed and returned to the school as soon as possible. "We hope to have them all back within a week of their distribution," he added. Any boy who misses getting a form at school can obtain one at the Recreation Centre.

Plans call for the BMBA to again use Park Dale and the Alemite Field as main playing fields but the president said he expects to see other fields in use, especially on the East Hill, this summer.

"We want to kick off the schedules on the May 24th weekend and we are looking for an even better season than last year," Lupenette volunteered.

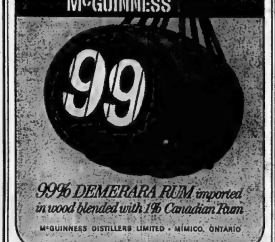
He said no registration fee will be charged players and, like last season, he expects to see all teams sponsored and supplied sweaters.

The Belleville organization hopes to see inter-city leagues formed this summer, covering, likely Peterborough, Kingston, Belleville and Oshawa. Lupenette said he expects this matter to come up for discussion at the next Eastern Ontario Baseball Association meeting.

"But right now our main concern is getting the boys and parents to have registration forms properly signed and turned in quickly," adding, "and this is also the best time to send for birth certificates, rather than at playoff time in the fall."

Stamps Eye Jerome

CALGARY (CP)—Rogers Leslie, general manager of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference, said Tuesday night the Stampeders are interested in sprinter Harry Jerome of Vancouver.



"I wrote Jerome a letter asking him if he was interested in playing football," Lehew said. He declined to comment until he had developed.

Jerome, one of the world's fastest sprinters is co-holder of the world's 100-metre record of 10 seconds. He also once held the 100-yard record.

The Hap Ready For Job

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) When a man hits 60 he usually thinks of taking things easy. But not Leighton (Hap) Emms.

Emms, extraordinary promoter of junior hockey for years, is moving up to the tough pro ranks as general manager of Boston Bruins.

The Bruins have finished last in the National Hockey League race the last five seasons. Team president Weston Adams is confident Emms can help them climb out of the wilderness.

"If you're going to be strong on the ice you've got to be strong in the office," Adams said in Boston Monday when he announced Hap's appointment. He succeeds Lynn Patrick, who moves into the newly created post of administrative vice-president.

Milt Schmidt will continue as coach and assistant general manager of the Bruins.

GIVES UP FLYERS

Emms is giving up the running of his Niagara Falls Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series to accept the Bruins' post. In addition, Emms owns a thriving electrical contracting and appliance business in Barrie.

Emms never burned up the pro leagues as a player but when he turned to coaching in junior ranks his clubs were money - makers and crowd pleasers.

Emms, a Barrie native, broke into the NHL in 1926 and stayed for 10 seasons as a forward and defence man with Montreal Maroons, New York Americans and Detroit Red Wings. In that period he scored 36 goals and 33 assists.

In 1946 he founded Barrie Flyers and since then has been almost constantly in the junior hockey limelight.

The golden era for Barrie and Emms has a six - year stretch from 1948 to 1953 in which he twice won the Memorial Cup, emblematic of Canadian junior hockey supremacy.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP)—Harley McFarland guided Kroger Prince to third place in the seventh race at Greenwood Tuesday night, but was led to the winner's circle just the same.

Pastry, driven by Claude Desjardins of Angers, Que., placed first but McFarland went to the circle to receive an outsize birthday cake from the management and directors of the raceway.

McFarland, a cattleman who only started his driving career in 1963, was celebrating his 70th birthday. He is the oldest active driver at Greenwood and one of the oldest on the continent.

John Graham drove Nancy Brook B. to victory in the $1,200 featured sixth race. Lady Ezra, driven by E. Norris Allan Walker of Owen Sound chalked up two victories Tuesday night to boost his total for the season to 13.

Attendance was 2,923 and mutual betting $182,901.

INCREASE SUGGESTED

LONDON (CP)—A Church of England report urges that vicars should be given a pay raise of $9 a week spread over the next eight years. By 1973, says the report, vicars should be earning £28 ($84) a week.

Loop Boss Warns Brawlers

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner Andy Mulligan of the International Hockey League served notice Tuesday that renewed brawling among Des Moines and Port Huron players may bring heavy fines and suspensions.

The squads got into a battle after a playoff game Monday night in Des Moines.

Mulligan said he warned that further incidents such as followed the playoff game in Des Moines Monday night will result in heavy fines and possible suspensions.

He also announced a $25 fine for Ivan Prediger of Des Moines, whom he identified as the chief instigator of the trouble there.

The next game is in Port Huron, Mich., tonight.

Palmer Second Choice

Nicklaus Favored For Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Most of the top contenders here for the Masters golf tournament starting Thursday feel the championship will be won on the greens.

Jack Nicklaus, the long - hitting bomber and the 4-to-1 choice in this elite, international field of 93, doesn't agree entirely. "You've still got to get there," said the 25-year-old husky today.

Nicklaus, a non-winner this year served notice Tuesday that he's fit and ready to break into the winner's circle. He unleashed a five-under-par 67 for the 6,980-yard Augusta National Golf Club layout on a hot and sunny afternoon.

He whipped the course five times last week with rounds of 65, 69, 68, 68 and 70.

Asked to name five chief contenders, Nicklaus pondered and then named defending champion Arnold Palmer, South African Gary Player, Australia's Bruce Devlin, Tony Lema and Billy Casper.

Palmer, who expressed concern over his driving and putting, picked Nicklaus, Doug Sanders, Devlin, Casper and Lema to give him the most trouble.

The defending king and record four-time winner is the 5-to-1 second choice behind Nicklaus for the four-day 72-hole tournament. Sanders, Lema, Casper and Player are bracketed at 8-to-1 in the informal odds.

The field includes four Canadians — Stan Leonard of Vancouver, George Knudson of Toronto and amateurs Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., and Nick Weslock of Toronto.

Canadian Teams Trailing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Western Hockey League playoffs have become a repeat of regular season play.

Portland Buckaroos and Seattle Totems are leading the pack and Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Maple Leafs are struggling to catch up.

After Tuesday night's games, both the Canadian teams have their backs to the wall, trailing 3-1 in best-of-seven series.

Canucks fell 3-0 to Portland as Don Head got his second shutout of the series. Victoria lost 5-3 to Seattle.

Portland's Andy Hebenton scored once, his fourth in the series, while the other goals came from Pat Stapleton and Bill Saunders.

Appeal Court Rules Against Toronto Lawyer

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday ruled that lawyer Joseph Sedgwick has not the right to cross-examine witnesses who have appeared before the royal commission on Windfall Mines and Oils Limited.

However, the panel of five judges said it has no jurisdiction to rule on Mr. Segwick's right to cross examine witnesses called in the future.

Chief Justice Dana Porter said Mr. Sedgwick had shown no reason for the court to allow his request since there was no evidence that his clients, Windfall president George MacMillan and his wife Viola, had been injured.

Mr. Sedgwick had asked the court to rule on a decision by the head of the royal commission, Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Court of Appeal, that cross - examination would not be allowed at the hearings.

Newspaper Strike Averted By Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York City newspaper strike was averted today.

Negotiators for publishers and the printers union, which had threatened a strike at any time against one or more of seven major newspapers, reached a contract settlement.

The settlement included money package of $2.8 a week during the term of a two-year contract and also agreement on automation and other issues.

The publishers said they would offer the same economic package to the nine other unions in the newspaper industry here.

Shortly after the printers' agreement was announced by Mayor Robert Wagner at 2:10 a.m., negotiators resumed between the publishers and four other unions.

The negotiations were at the offices of the Newspaper Publishers Association of New York City, representing the seven newspapers which had been under a strike threat. They are the Daily News, Times, Herald Tribune, Journal - American, World-Telegram and the Sun, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal.

The first three volumes of the Encyclopaedia Africana are expected to appear in 1970.

Gordie Howe's Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

Goals are funny things. You work hard and the goalie seems to perform miracles in blocking your shots. Or you hit the post. Then suddenly everything seems to go in — the puck is bouncing right for you — or so it seems.

That's the way it has been with Norm Ullman, Detroit's brilliant centre, long one of hockey's most underrated stars. Normie counted 11 goals and 22 assists for 33 points in 26 Stanley Cup playoff games the last two seasons.

Yet he scored only seven goals and 12 assists for a mere 19 points in 45 games in his previous five years of playoff competition.

Normie really sparked the team in the semi-finals last year against the Chicago Black Hawks as he scored two three-goal hat tricks.

I've never seen an individual work so hard in my life. It's not that he's just started to work. He's always been this way. He's finally getting recognition because the goals are coming a little easier for him.

But he's the same Normie - a perpetual motion machine out there on the ice, skating and poking and checking, skating and poking and checking.

If there's one fault Normie has, it's a fault the coaches actually like to see. You can't get him off the ice.

Some people have asked if he isn't showing a little more aggressiveness, playing a little rougher, being a little more hardnosed than he used to be.

I told them Normie's great asset wasn't only his skating and his ability to see plays developing, and stopping them. He has tremendous strength in his arms. That's why he's such a great sweep-checker.

He can lay the stick down and hold it in that given position and take the puck away from the opposition. And in Floyd Smith he has a teammate who is combining perfectly with him — like Ted Lindsay and I used to do. They anticipate each other's moves, hit each other with key passes.

Melville Needs Win For Title

Melville Shorelinersmoved to within one win of capturing the Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League Championship last night.

Shorelinersnipped Proctor Silex 3-3 in Wellington to take a 3-1 games lead in the best-of-seven series. The clubs go back at it Thursday night, at eight o'clock.

Most of the scoring was confined to the third period in a clean, fast contest. Melville never trailed but held only slim leads of 1-0 and 2-0 by periods before the teams broke loose in the final heat.

Melville outshot Proctors 43-32. The winners also collected three of the game's five minor penalties.

Dave LaRue spearheaded the victors' attack, scoring two goals and assisting on another. Don Simpson, Wayne Cruikshank and Ed Ross contributed one goal apiece. Eldon Carson assisted on a pair. Jim Dunlop and Joe Scott on one each.

Vic Allen was Proctor Silex's only two-point performer. He scored once and added an assist. Neil Holding and Don Duffy fired the other goals—Morris Weeks, Reg Fraser and Gary Day had assists.

Khrushchev Tells Newsman It Is Coexist or Perish

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev has broken six months of silence on political matters since his ouster as premier last October with a new demand for peaceful coexistence, a Scandinavian correspondent in Moscow reported Tuesday.

Lars Bringert of the Copenhagen Politiken and the Swedish Dagens Nyheter reported that he encountered the former Soviet premier and his wife at an art exhibit in Moscow Monday.

"I want peace for everyone and wealth for everyone," Bringert quoted Khrushchev as saying. "The politics of the peaceful coexistence one founded must continue."

Bringert said by "one" Khrushchev obviously meant himself.

"The world must coexist," Khrushchev continued, shaking his forefinger in customary fashion. "No alternative can be found.

BELONGS TO PAST

"Trying to solve controversial questions with weapons is a practice that must belong to the past or we will be thrown in disaster. It would begin in a small way like in Viet Nam and finish in destruction. That is why I want peace for the whole world."

With a smile, he told Bringert:

"I am a Communist. I believe in communism and its final victory. You are a capitalist and of course you believe in capitalism. But all the same we must coexist in peace."

Bringert said Khrushchev obviously wanted to say more but his wife, Nina Petrovna, took his arm and said, "We must go. It is as more and more people gathered around him.

As Zil walked to a big black limousine, the Khrushchevs were approached by a number of Russians asking about their health. An old man gripped Khrushchev's hand and said: "I am an old partisan. I have wanted to meet you for a long time, Nikita Sergeyevich."

Bringert said the former premier assured the inquirers he was in good health. He said Khrushchev was tanned and looked well as he walked along with his smiling wife.

Bears Clip Clippers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Diminutive Gene Uhrlacco became the big man for Hershey Bears by scoring the winning goal at 18:01 of the third period Tuesday night to give the Bears a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Clippers.

Uhrlacco's goal broke a 2-2 deadlock and sent the American Hockey League series into its fifth-and deciding game tonight at Hershey.

Baltimore won the first two games of the series and Hershey rebounded with back-to-back 3-2 triumphs to deadlock the quarter-finals.

Dick Meissner's two goals represented Baltimore's scoring output. His first at 19:06 of the first period gave the Clippers a 1-0 lead which stood up for two periods.

Hershey evened the count at 1-1 on Gerry DeGordy's goal at 3:49 of the third period when he tapped in a rebound off the stick of Michel Harvey. Myron Stankiewicz beat Baltimore goalie Jacques Plante at 8:18 but Meissner picked up a loose puck from a scrimmage in front of Hershey goal to knot the count at 2-all at 12:42.

That set the stage for Uhrlacco's winning goal in which the little forward tapped in a goal-mouth pass from defenceman Ralph Keller.

'Terror in the Streets' Not as Bad as Pictured

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "From coast to coast," said Chet Huntley in Terror in the Streets—Tuesday night's NBC special—"there is a feeling that American cities apparently have turned into jungles."

With that introduction, the television program moved on to a calm, statistical and philosophical analysis of the situation that tended to show that things are not as bad as we think they are.

The program said that while "crimes against property" — larceny, burglary and auto theft—have increased dramatically, crimes of violence—murder, rape and mayhem—have not shot ahead of the population increase to any great degree.

The premise leaned heavily on the FBI crime reports for 1963. Among other things it indicated that homicide rates have shown a tendency to drop and that there has been little increase in the number of forcible rape cases.

The program's experts said that there has been an increase in teen-age crime, but said that the post-war baby boom now has developed into an "explosion of youth."

Assorted news pictures of victims ware shown. But a Columbia University professor of social science and the head of a correctional organization sug-

Salty Australian in Port On Another Movie Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For some 40 years Alan Villiers has been going down to the sea in sailing ships.

The salty Australian is in port on yet another movie assignment, this time to provide passage for a stellar complement of New England mariners in Hawaii. As with most Villiers assignments, it took long-term planning.

"The Mirlach people called me at my home in Oxford, England, 24½ years ago," he said. "They told me what they needed, and I said to them, 'You will have to go to the Baltic to find ships, strong ships fit for sailing the bloody cape'."

He located three sturdy ships in Scandinavian waters, but then Hawaii was postponed. Last year the film once more was put in motion, and Villiers sent for his old friends and makers not to attempt filming the sealing sequences in the real Straits of Magellan — too foggy, too far from a base of operations. This winter the sequences were shot close to the Arctic circle.

Meanwhile, Villiers had the sailing of Danish barquentine from the Baltic to Hawaii, leaving the Baltic in the dead of winter.

From the Baltic to Barbados took 35 days, but his most publicized voyage was the sailing of the Mayflower replica to the New World.

Villiers won't linger long in Hawaii after filming is over. He has his next assignment picked out: "The Captain Cook tri-centenary comes in 1969-70. We're going to build a new Endeavor and trace his voyage all the way around the Horn."

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — Could you please tell me the ingredients of two commercial toppings which look like whipped cream? They are listed on the packages of course, but I'd like to know what they are in common everyday English. Four-fifths of them I can't find in either my English dictionary or my medical one. ("Glyceryl Monolaurate?" — now, really!)

You see, Doris, both my husband and I are on diets (Doctor's orders). Mine is very strict, and we both would like to know just what we are eating. We like the toppings (cream is not for us) but just what do all those big words mean? — B.M.M.J.

* * *

DEAR B.M.M.J. — Unfamiliar fifteen-letter words don't give anybody much of a clue. And no manufacturer will disclose a secret formula.

Your best bet is to write your question to the manufacturers. State what your diets are; what you can have and what you must avoid. Their dietitian will be glad to enlighten you about the products in relation to your restrictions.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — I am the mother of seven small children. I divorced my husband almost a year ago. He has asked for my wedding and engagement rings back. Should I have given them to him?

I still wear my wedding ring. Is this wrong?—PERPLEXED.

* * *

DEAR PERPLEXED — It's not reasonable. Those rings were gifts. You have seven living proofs that the union the rings symbolized took place. For their sakes you do well to continue to wear the wedding ring.

He must be down on his luck to even suggest such a thing.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — My parents don't approve of my going out with boys even though I am 15. There are many sensible boys around my own age who have asked me for dates and I have turned them down because of my parents.

After they have nothing to do with me. I am teased and laughed at! I have never done anything to make my parents mistrust me. My life is getting bored and I can't stand it much longer. — DESPERATE.

* * *

DEAR DESPERATE — If the boys are truly sensible they'll appreciate a girl whose parents value her enough to make some rules — even if they do seem a bit strict. Boys who tease aren't worth a brilliant.

How about showing the grown-ups you can deserve a little fun? Are you carrying your share at home?

* * *

Confidential to S.S. — There is no set age. But at 14 you need your parents' full consent to whatever you do. They should either take you and bring you home, or know the responsible person who has you in tow.

* * *

(Doris reserves the right to ignore anonymous letters. If you have a legitimate beef, sign your name to your note about it. All names are kept confidential.)

After the tour, they plan to return to the church for a meeting and refreshments.

The Bayside Mothers' Club, under the sponsorship of the 1st Bayside Scouts and Cubs is holding a donation drive in the area.

The purpose of this drive is to raise $1000 to erect a hall in the immediate district. The property has been donated by an interested and generous citizen, and a builder has promised to donate time and labor free for the construction of the hall if $1,000 can be collected to pay for the lumber needed for the project.

The mothers have planned a bake sale, a raffle of hand-made furniture and other projects to help out, and this will be the only canvass of the entire community which is to be made.

Canada Can't Afford Plan Says Doctor

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada will not be able to afford the comprehensive medical care insurance plan recommended by the Hall royal commission on health services "for another 10 years," Dr. C. P. Gendron of Montreal, outgoing president of the College of General Practice of Canada, said Monday.

"We haven't got enough people, enough dollars, enough hospitals; we haven't got the base laid down in the Hall report," he said in an interview.

Dr. Gendron said he does not argue with the principles of insurance for everybody as enunciated in the Hall commission report. But, he said, Canada is not ready for the commission's scheme.

An outline of a comprehensive medical plan covering everybody in the country on all medical and drug costs was presented to the government last year by the Hall commission. It called for an outlay of $4,500,000,000 a year financed mainly by taxes.

Mr. Gendron said that with this background the federal-provincial conference referred to in the speech from the throne in Parliament Monday would not yield a Hall-type medical care plan.

EXPECTS 'GOLDEN RULE'

He said the conference would see the federal government laying down a "golden rule" for health care based on the Hall report but this would not come into practice because of the shortage of required facilities.

Dr. Gendron said any insurance plan should require patients to pay a small part of their medical fees so they would not use services unnecessarily.

Dr. Gendron was in Winnipeg for the annual scientific assembly of the 2,500-member college.

Hutterite Way of Life Poses Problems

Age-old religious practices and modern equipment are the marks of prosperous, strodox Hutterite colonies in Alberta. A Canadian Press reporter here tells of a visit to one of the most prosperous.

By JANE BECKER

WILSON SIDING, Alta. (CP) Not all Hutterite colonies are alike, either in social and religious practices or their economic situation.

Located in southern Alberta's rich farmland, the Wilson colony is one of the most prosperous and most conservative.

Seven families, a total of about 60 persons, work an 8,000-acre farm, individually, their own nothing but the clothes and furniture in their simply-furnished rooms.

The farm, all its equipment and produce belong to everyone. Nor has anyone any money, except for $1 or so given by the colony elders for spending on a trip in town.

All the buying, spending and banking — representing a considerable sum in a colony like Wilson — is done by the six elected elders. They make all the decisions.

This system of communal living has been practised by Hutterites since the sect originated during the Reformation more than 400 years ago.

But, as is sometimes the case with people who are different and keep to themselves, their way of living makes them a target of resentment.

This has been translated into provincial government legislation which restricts purchases of land for new colonies, a problem for a people who double in number every 16 years.

The result of a court test of the law seems likely to dictate the future of the 6,500 Hutterites in the province.

The Wilson colonists have been lucky, or good managers, perhaps both. Two years ago, when the colony had grown to about 120, half the families moved off and formed a new colony 70 miles away.

The wheat crop alone grosses $150,000 a year. The colony pastures 200 cattle and 450 sheep, has new steel pig barns and chicken houses and cleans 4,000 bushels of grain for seed each year.

The interiors of the white varnished plywood and the dining hall was recently redone in colored arborite siding.

"Now we won't have to do any more painting," said Mary Wurz, 25, one of the young women of the colony. "But," she added quickly, "we have lots of other things to do."

Wilson has four combines, three farm trucks, a panel truck and two one-ton trucks. There is a walk-in freezer, a new stainless steel stove, stainless steel meat-chopper and a machine for making noodles on Sunday.

The modern equipment and economic efficiency are still secondary, however, to the Hutterites' main concern—practising their religion. It means everything from being strict about wearing dark clothes (red is banned) to refusing to have their pictures taken, and to living together in harmony in love.

POSED FOR PHOTO

"God will send fire against us for this," one elderly woman told a photographer as he prepared to take a picture. Then she gave him a chicken, some vegetables frozen on the colony and a dozen eggs.

At Wilson, as on all Hutterite colonies, everyone has a job. The women take turns cooking, a task they share from the age of 17 to 50. "Then they can retire," says Mary Wurz, laughing.

The men have no retirement age. They work as they are able for as long as they can.

The men of this colony still dress in black, in contrast to some more lenient Hutterite farms. The young women go to town only when they must see a doctor or dentist. A shoemaker makes all their shoes except their rubber boots. The carpenter makes their furniture.

John Wurz, 28, forges stainless steel cooking and kitchen utensils, repairs machinery and even overhauls neighboring farmers' trucks in his well-equipped blacksmith shop.

"I've had lots of job offers off the colony," says bearded John, "but I'd rather die than leave."

Not all colonies share Wilson's prosperity and its good fortune to have been able to find additional land for those who left when its population grew.

Figures from the Alberta Communal Property Control Board, which has regulated Hutterite land purchases, show 12 colonies have split in the last 10 years.

Several have gone to Saskatchewan because they haven't been able to get suitable land in Alberta. Of 24 applications for new colonies since 1960, 13 were turned down by the provincial cabinet without an explanation being made public.

Others have moved to northern Alberta where they are attempting to farm lands only partly broken.

Space isn't the only problem facing the Hutterites, however. On many colonies, including Wilson, all the families are related. There are believed to be only 14 Hutterite surnames in Canada.

At Wilson no two colonists are more distantly related than first cousins. This means Mary Wurz and her three sisters, all in their 20s, will have to find husbands on other colonies.

Some medical men say one result of inbreeding is a frequency of inherited defects. Dr. Kurt Alder, medical health officer at Fort Macleod, Alta., which has five colonies within 50 miles, says he has found diabetes and mental retardation among children more common in Hutterites than in other people.

Large families are common among Hutterites though they don't marry young. This is partly because, as Anabaptists, they believe in adult baptism which usually takes place between 19 and 25. Marriage comes after baptism.

Talking of marriage among his colony's young people, Jake Walter, preacher at the Standoff colony southwest of Lethbridge, says he "wouldn't stop it" if one of his sons or daughters wanted to marry a non-Hutterite.

"But I'd hope they would come back to the colony to live."

A few years ago such talk would have been revolutionary.

Tomorrow: Hutterites dislike flouting the law.

LBJ Is Seeking Peace Parley Without Any Fixed Conditions

Johnson Takes Softer Line As Bombs Fail to Break Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is President Johnson who is pleading for a discussion to end the fighting in Southeast Asia, not the North Vietnamese who have been bombed for two months by American planes in an effort to pressure them into seeking peace.

They've endured the battering and given no public indication of asking peace.

In making his plea, in a broadcast speech from Baltimore Wednesday night, Johnson took a softer line than his administration has been following since Feb. 7 when Viet Cong terrorists attacked an American air base and Johnson ordered bombing raids on the north.

This shift in position came one day after The Associated Press reported 30 per cent of the people in South Viet Nam are sitting on the fence, supporting neither their American backed government nor the Viet Cong.

While Johnson is seeking to persuade the Communists to start talking, the U.S. government is making great effort to persuade the people of South Viet Nam to support their government, for which the United States is fighting.

The Viet Cong are estimated to have the support of about eight per cent of the South Vietnamese, the South Vietnamese government about 40 per cent. That leaves roughly 30 per cent refusing to support one side or the other.

Johnson said the South Vietnamese masses, like people everywhere, want a good life. He painted the wonders that modern medicine, schools and food could do for them.

There might not be 50 per cent of the South Vietnamese feeling indifferent if the U.S. had insisted more forcefully long ago, in helping their various governments, that more of the American aid reach these backward people.

Urges Russia Join U.S. In Asian Aid Program

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson has proposed "unconditional discussions" with the Communists to end the war in South Viet Nam and urged Russia to join with the United States in a huge economic development program for all of Southeast Asia.

High administration officials, however, said any peace talks would include only North Viet Nam or China — or both — and not the Viet Cong rebels who are waging the war in the South.

The president delivered his first major policy statement on Viet Nam since the U.S. expanded the war two months ago when it began bombing North Viet Nam.

Johnson, addressing a crowd of more than 1,000 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore Wednesday night, said he would ask Congress to approve a $1,000,000,000 investment to launch the program of economic help under United Nations auspices. It would include North Viet Nam.

Such a program could be started even before peace talks began, the president said. He proposed that UN Secretary-General U Thant launch the plan, invited all industrialized countries including Russia to join and said he is naming a special team of prominent Americans headed by Eugene Black, former president of the World Bank, to guide U.S. participation.

SETS CONDITIONS

For the first time, the president publicly specified that the U.S. is willing to enter peace negotiations with no strings attached, but he set firm conditions for reaching any accord.

"Such peace demands an independent South Viet Nam, securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationship to all others, free from outside interference, tied to no alliance, a military base for no other country," he said.

"These are the essentials of any final settlement."

There are many approaches to a peaceful settlement of the war: "In discussion or negotiation with the governments concerned in large groups or in small ones; in a reaffirmation of old agreements or their strengthening with new ones."

In New York, a spokesman for Thant said the secretary-general would comment on the speech later today.

There was no immediate public reaction from the Chinese Communists.

The president picked Johns Hopkins as the forum to answer last week's request to both sides in the Viet Nam war by 17 nonaligned nations for peace talks without pre-conditions.

Sources in the president's delegation said Thant, a devotee of ousted strongman Lt.-Gen Nguyen Khanh, had ignored repeated requests to resign.

U.S. Air Force jets and other combat planes flew 63 missions today against a suspected large Viet Cong concentration in Kontum province, near Saigon.

Meanwhile, the government announced it had postponed the trial of one of the terrorists who bombed the U.S. Embassy. The Viet Cong had threatened to shoot an American captive if that man was executed.

Saigon authorities said the trial of Nguyen Van Thai, 33, was postponed indefinitely.

Hanoi radio broadcast a communique Wednesday saying if Thai was executed, Gustav C. Hertz, a U.S. aid mission official missing since Feb. 2, also would die.

The broadcast made no reference to the execution, scheduled today, of Le Dai, a 36-year - old admitted Communist with the latest information from Chia, relayed to the UN via Algeria, that China viewed the Viet Cong as the proper entity to conduct peace talks with South Viet Nam and the U.S.

The president firmly stressed as well Wednesday night that the U.S. remains ready to carry

Big Season Expected For Seaway

By MICHAEL BLAIR

MONTREAL (CP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway opens today for its seventh and probably most profitable season with authority experts predicting an increase in cargo of, "at least 2,000,000 tons" over last year.

In 1964 the seaway, which eliminates a 135-mile section of rapids on the St. Lawrence River between Montreal and Lake Ontario, carried a record 39,000,000 tons and "we expect greater things this year," said an authority spokesman.

This year more foreign ships are expected to enter the seaway, upsetting last year's 50-50 ratio between domestic and foreign vessels.

R. J. Rankin, president of the seaway authority, said Wednesday in Ottawa "the authority has done its part to provide for an early opening of navigation ... now it's up to the weather man."

He said traffic will be able to move freely through Lake Ontario and up the Welland Canal, but that a navy ice field near Port Colborne in Erie, and heavy ice in Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior, will slow the start of the shipping season on the upper lakes. Mr. Rankin said ice was especially heavy at Sault Ste. Marie.

IS OPTIMISTIC

The seaway president was optimistic about cargo volume on the Montreal-Lake Erie section of the seaway which last year reached 25,000,000 tons.

"Indications are that there will be bring results at least as good depending on economic conditions ... it all depends on the demand for cargoes," he said.

Seaway officials weren't quite sure how many ships will be at the seaway locks today, but said they didn't expect any rush at the daybreak opening. Navigation will be restricted to daylight until buoys have been laid in the channels.

Traffic on the Montreal-Lake Ontario section of the seaway has climbed steadily from the 20,350,000 tons recorded in 1959. Last year a record total of 4,600 ships entered the seaway's eastern end while 8,000 vessels entered the Welland Canal. Pleasure craft are included in the figures.

FOUR CAN LEAVE

Today's opening will allow four ocean-going ships—the Orient Merchant from Greece; Vanfu, Nationalist China; Flying Independent, U.S., and the Olav Gorm, a Danish flour carrier—to return to sea. They were trapped in the seaway when ice forced closing of the locks last Dec. 7.

Caught at the Montreal end of the seaway both after the official closing date of Nov. 30, were two Canada Steamship Line ships. The seaway closed on Dec. 15 in 1963.

Five Die Killing 200 Reds

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. officials claimed today that upwards of 200 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed Wednesday night in a major battle with South Vietnamese marines in Binh Dinh province, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Five South Vietnamese were reported killed and 25 wounded.

It was the second major success claimed this week in the ground war against the Communists. U.S. officials reported Wednesday that 276 Viet Cong were killed and 33 captured in a three-day battle in the Mekong Delta 130 miles southwest of Saigon. Six Americans and 16 South Vietnamese soldiers died in that battle.

In Saigon, young naval officers staged a mutiny against their commander, Admiral Chung Tan Cang, but the revolt appeared to have the approval of the government and the other South Vietnamese armed forces.

Sources in the government said Cang, a close associate of ousted strongman Lt.-Gen Nguyen Khanh, had ignored repeated requests to resign.

Army Convoy Challenges Blockade of the Autobahn

From AP-Reuters

BERLIN (CP)—The Communists closed the Berlin autobahn for three hours today. They reopened it one hour after a U.S. Army convoy challenged the blockade.

It was not known immediately whether the barricades were lifted because of the U.S. challenge or whether the Communists had planned a shutdown of only three hours. That was the length of the closure Wednesday.

Today was the fourth successive day the Communists had closed the autobahn.

Shortly after the autobahn reopening, U.S. mission in Berlin reported that the big convoy with 44 men had started toward the city.

At the same time, East Germany came up with a new type of harassment of Berlin. The two-lane highway to Hamburg was closed to westbound traffic for the first time during the week of East-West tension.

In the air, the Russians did not repeat the dangerous maneuvers of Wednesday when jets zoomed low and buzzed commercial airliners.

Radar reported many Soviet planes in the three Berlin air corridors but no dangerous action.

Meanwhile the upper house of West German parliament, the Bundesrat, is considering a Berlin session April 28. An official spokesman said a decision is to be made Friday.

The United States protested the Soviet officials at the West Berlin end of the autobahn and "demanded that the United States convoy be allowed to proceed," a statement from the U.S. mission in Berlin said.

"United States authorities are holding the Soviets responsible for any consequences of this action," the statement concluded.

The fourth successive shutdown of the Berlin highway links came a day after the Thousands Flee Floods in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Destructive flood waters spilled over widespread areas of the mid-western United States today. Thousands of persons fought earlier shelter as their homes were filled with water.

Two persons were killed Wednesday in a southern Minnesota rain storm and two children were missing after they were seen playing near the swollen Battle Creek River in Minnesota's Ramsey county.

An estimated 1,000 persons have been forced from their homes in several Iowa areas. Dozens of communities were in danger of the creeping, rolling waters.

Officials said flood damage in Cherokee, a town of 8,500 in northwestern Iowa, could exceed $2,000,000.—Cherokee was struck when the Little Sioux River surged to 27.1 feet, before dropping to 25 feet Wednesday. Flood stage is 17 feet.

RED CROSS ACTIVE

The Red Cross said it was caring for 135 persons in shelters in Cherokee, Webster City, Marshalltown and Waterloo, and for 346 flood victims in several other cities.

Generally clear weather favored conditions in flooded portions of Minnesota, but new snow fell on four of the deep mid snow cover along the Canadian border area, increasing the flood danger.

The Red Cross said about 200 families had been evacuated in southern Minnesota and the figure was expected to jump to 3,000 within the next few days.

Balcer Leaves PC Party

OTTAWA (CP) — Leon Balcer's critics have expressed pleasure at his decision to bolt the Progressive Conservatives to sit as an independent but some in the party fear the step will hurt the PCs for years.

Mr. Balcer, 47, has been Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's side, both before and after January, 1964, when it was agreed he would be appointed the party's Quebec leader.

The unofficial reaction from a spokesman in the opposition leader's office was "good riddance."

Others, however, say his departure will cause more problems for the party than it will solve.

These party members fear the present internal divisions over policies towards Quebec and federal - provincial relations will now linger long after Mr. Diefenbaker retires.

They hold that had Mr. Balcer remained as Quebec leader

Easy Win For Govt. In Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—To nobody's surprise, the minority Liberal government beat down the first non-confidence motion of the new 26th parliamentary session Wednesday with help from 34 opposition MPs.

The motion by NDP Leader Douglas criticized the government for "failure to present specific proposals for a universal and comprehensive medicare program for all the people of Canada."

It was defeated 129 to 84. Only the 14 NDP members and 20 Conservatives on hand supported the motion. The 105 Liberals were backed by 13 Creditistes, nine Social-Credit MPs and the two independents in the House — Leon Balcer (Trois-Rivieres) and Remi Paul (Berthier - Maskinonge - Delanaudiere).

Just three hours earlier Mr. Balcer announced he had quit the Conservative party and immediately moved to a new Commons seat beside Mr. Paul, who left Conservative ranks in a similar fashion in February.

Cyprus Duty Is Edifying Experience Says Guards CO

NICOSIA (CP) — Canadian troops stationed in Cyprus with the United Nations peace-keeping force have learned a great deal from their experience in the last three months, although the job they are doing goes against the grain of army training, says a high-ranking Canadian officer.

Lt.-Col. H. W. Mulherin, 42, of Picton, Ont., commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, made the comment in an interview Wednesday on the eve of his departure for Canada.

Mulherin leaves today aboard an RCAF Yukon aircraft with 125 other Canadian troops as part of the regular rotation, under which the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, Toronto, and the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Camp Gagetown,

About 100 members of the Guard, headed by Mulherin, will arrive in Downsview Airport outside of Toronto tonight and will be driven by buses to Toronto Friday morning for an official welcome by Premier Robarts at Queen's Park and by Mayor Philip Givens at city hall.

Mulherin officially relinquished his duties late Tuesday to Lt.-Col. C. L. Kirby of Victoria, commanding officer of the Queen's Own Rifles, who arrived in Cyprus two weeks ago with an advance party.

Since then, the number of members of the Queen's Own

Civil Rights Workers Fight Gun Battle With Ku Klux Klan In Louisiana

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A gun duel between civil rights workers and unidentified men erupted early today in this paper mill town, where national Negro leader James Farmer is scheduled to speak tonight.

Police said their investigation showed a brick was thrown from a car and several shots fired, with no injuries and damage—if any—undermined.

Civil rights workers, however, described it as brisk gun fight with the Ku Klux Klan.

William J. Yates of Buffalo, N.Y., a white field worker for Farmers' Congress of Racial Equality, said there were two waves of attackers firing at the house in which he and other C.O.R.E. workers are staying.

Yates said the attacks stopped after Assistant Police Chief L. C. Terrell, carrying a sub-machine-gun, arrived at the scene with four officers.

Terrell said he told that a car drove past the residence, owned by Robert Hicks, a Negro, and a brick was hurled at a station wagon parked in the yard. The rear window of the wagon was shattered.

Hicks, Terrell continued, fired "a couple of shots" at the fleeing car with a rifle "and they retaliated."

Terrell said his officers would patrol the area because "we want to see that nothing like this happens again."

Yates' version of the incident was more dramatic.

He said groups of cars sped past the house, located in a Negro section about 12 blocks from the centre of Bogalusa.

By the time of the second attack, 13 defenders armed with rifles and shotguns were on the grounds or in the house, ready to shoot, Yates said.

He estimated that some 20 shots were fired from the house in the first attack, 15 during the second.

Farmer said in Denver Wednesday Negro leaders may call for a countrywide boycott of the Crown - Zellerbach Corporation, the largest employer in Bogalusa with 60 per cent of the town on its payroll. The firm is one of the leading paper manufacturers in the United States.

Farmer said C.O.R.E. officials were considering the boycott because of Grover Dabach's alleged segregation practices at Bogalusa.

C.O.R.E. workers, along with 16 student volunteers from Kansas University, have been conducting a voter registration drive among Negroes.

Negroes make up about one-third of the population of this city of 25,000 located on the Mississippi-Louisiana border.

Snow Removal, Sanding Cost $59,000 This Year

Spring is apparently here at last and most city residents will have all but forgotten last winter's snowfall.

But the cost for winter control of city streets and sidewalks will be remembered a bit longer.

At this week's city hall budget meeting, city council was told that snow hauling, snow plowing, sanding, etc., had already cost $59,000 this year and estimates that the cost of winter control for 1965 will be $69,200 — approximately two and a half times what it was last year.

Last year's total for winter control was but $27,497.23.

The total public works estimates for the year are $205,100 of which an estimated $230,600 will be spent on roads. Sidewalks will cost nearly $33,000.

BREAKDOWN GIVEN

The breakdown of road maintenance shows that $81,000 will be spent on pavement and road-way patching and grading; $13,000 on street ailing and $50,000 on surface treatment.

Asphalt resurfacing will cost $25,000 and bulk-up and prime stone roads a similar amount. Ditching will cost another $14,-000.

Also planned for this year is new paving on Pinnacle St. and the reconstruction of North Front Street from Evans St. to Craig St.

These items, however, are capital works projects and are thus not included in public works expenditures for the current year.

Auto Club Plans Course In First Aid

The Quinte Auto Sport Club of Belleville, has organized through the co-operation of the Canadian Race Communications Association, a Red Cross 1st Aid Course for its members.

The course is designed to aid club members who act as safety marshals at the Mosport Race Circuit.

Although the course is primarily designed for incidents which might occur at Mosport, it will also be of great value to the members at their various vocations.

The course will run for an eight week period at which time an exam will be written to qualify for a Red Cross 1st Aid Certificate.

The course will cover bandaging, circulation system, control of bleeding, respiratory system, artificial respiration, skeletal system, poison control, injuries due to heat and cold, head and spinal injuries.

Liver Damage Cause of Death Jury Is Told

KINGSTON (CP) — A coroner's jury received evidence Wednesday that the death of a Brockville man following an accident last fall was resulted from liver damage apparently caused by the anaesthetic used in two operations in hospital here.

Failure of hospital authorities to report the death of Robert Halliday McLeod to a coroner also was rapped at the inquest, which was ordered by the attorney-general's office.

The inquest found that Mr. McLeod died of massive liver damage brought on by "post-operative causes." He was injured in the head Oct. 28 while repairing an air conditioner at Brockville Oct. 28 and died in Kingston General Hospital Nov. 22.

UNDER SUSPICION

Members of the medical staff of the hospital said halothane, the anaesthetic given in the operations Nov. 2 and Nov. 12, could have caused the liver malfunction. Dr. Malcolm Brown, specialist in internal medicine and Mr. McLeod's personal physician, said halothane has been under suspicion but instances of people dying from its effects are very rare.

Dr. Raymond Neill, the anaesthetist, said halothane is a "potential" toxic agent but no more dangerous than other available drugs.

Dr. Robert S. Card, the hospital interne who pronounced Mr. McLeod dead and made out the death certificate, said he did not notify a coroner because the cause of death—the liver ailment—was not present at the time of the accident.

Coroner Dr. W. Stuart Patterson said there were "three or four" reasons why a coroner should have been notified.

The jury's verdict said hospital internes should be advised of their duties under the Coroner's Act.

International Climate Unchanged States Belgium Ambassador

The International climate hasn't changed, the Belgium Ambassador to Canada told members of the Canadian Club of Belleville on Wednesday night.

His original title, "A New Climate in International Affairs" was changed by His Excellency Baron Guy Daufresne de la Chevalerie. Today's world is far from a climate of frontier settlement. "Two - gun Joe" the town bully is still around. If no police force controls him, the citizens will run for a posse and hang him, despite protests from the sheriff and the court.

The Ambassador, who helped draft the United Nations' Charter in 1945, described himself as "a humble boat - carrier, not the architects and masons who built the U.N." The Charter is not perfect, he said. The U.N. can make laws for international order, but it can't enforce those laws without a police force and a court. When the U.N. is pushed into undertaking something for which it is not prepared, its prestige takes a beating.

DIFFERENT PICTURE

The United Nations of 1965 presents a different picture from that of 1945, the Ambassador continued. Today the western powers are like a tenta who find their children have been adopted by parents they can't accept the change. The Asian and African nations are the children who, through curiosity, independence and freedom. They don't realize that freedom brings responsibility but eventually learn responsibility.

"What have we achieved when we have taught a cannibal to use a fork?" the speaker asked his audience. "We have civilized a man with a fork, but at the same time built a bomb to annihilate hundreds of millions. We have taught all men to use a knife and fork, but man is still the victim of anger."

Education is the essence of all progress, the Ambassador feels. The rise of dictatorships in newly independent countries proves that a parliament of value is impossible without an educated electorate. "We must not merely alter our point of view on new countries," the speaker said. "They must make their own mistakes. They will come up with their own way, as we did ours, but it will not be the same. We all see human problems from where we sit. The other chap sees them from a different angle and can be just as right."

WAY OF LIFE

Modern means of communication have told people in underdeveloped countries about our way of life. "We have built glass walls for our house." said the Ambassador. "Around our house two and a half billion people are standing with their noses pressed to the glass. They see how richly we feed our children, how well we educate them. If our children were hungry I would break that glass and take that food for them."

"Our food distribution methods are the same as in the days of Jacob. Scientifically and intellectually we don't catch up with ourselves. We have the scientific and technical power to change the world. We must make the necessary sacrifices."

Until then, the speaker concluded, "Joe - gun Joe" the bully playing with his revolver, is our new international climate."

During the discussion period following his talk Baron Daufresne, whose country has two languages, Flemish and Walloon gave some advice on Canadian biculturalism: "Learn to live with it!"

The speaker was introduced by the president, Mrs. J. G. Deness and thanked by Mrs. W. H. Finkle. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. F. Wilson and Mrs. George Maybee.

Balcer

and within the party, the divisions could be more easily healed by a new leader whenever that day arrives.

Mr. Balcer is the member for Trois - Rivieres was not simply the leader of a handful of Quebec Conservatives but a Quebec politician commanding wide support and respect.

This support will be needed, many observers say, if the party is to regain power with a majority in the future.

Only last weekend the provincial party executive in Quebec unanimously endorsed Mr. Balcer's leadership of the Quebec wing.

But his comments to reporters following his announcement to the Commons had the ring of a swan song to the party. Mr. Balcer's decision is not enough now, he said. Party policies and attitudes towards Quebec are 35 years behind the times.

His exit comes at a time when E. Davie Fulton, an expected candidate at a future leadership convention, is taking his first halting steps on the road back to Ottawa.

Mr. Fulton, who quit federal politics to become British Columbia Conservative leader, announced last weekend he will seek a federal seat in the next general election.

Several months ago there were reports that Mr. Balcer and Mr. Fulton had come to a private understanding for a reconciliation of party differences.

But Mr. Balcer indicated a lack of enthusiasm when asked if he thought whether he would return to the fold if Mr. Fulton should become leader.

Mr. Balcer is well in the Conservative party, and I think it would be the right move to have a younger man as leader," he said.

But he was convinced the party's problems were not only those of leadership but of attitudes and policies towards Quebec endorsed by a majority of English - Canadian members.

"I don't intend to go back because I'm quite sure the party is too monolithic and I don't expect the party to change radically enough for me to go back on my decision."

This critical view of the party surprised many. Mr. Balcer is a former cabinet minister and a past president of the PC National Association.

Some reports have said Mr. Balcer plans to join the Liberal party or lead a group of independent Conservatives and Social Credit members from Quebec.

He says he has no plans to do either, only to run as an independent in the next election. And, with a smile, he says he knows he will retain his constituency.

MONTREAL (CP) — Departure of Leon Balcer from the ranks of the Progressive Conservatives has created an unprecedented and tragic situation, Egan Chambers, past president of the party, said Wednesday night.

"It seems to me that the Conservative party now is representative of the English backlash," he said.

"It's tragic for the Quebec wing of the party, for the national party itself, and for the entire country. There is, in effect, no longer a national party."

Mr. Chambers, in an interview, blamed Mr. Balcer's decision on party leader John Diefenbaker.

"It would appear that Mr. Diefenbaker has driven him out," he said. "If Mr. Diefenbaker couldn't live with a man of Mr. Balcer's responsible views, it would seem he could not live with anyone in Quebec."

Airman Fined For Leaving Crash Scene

A driver retraced his path past a hit-run accident, was spotted by an alert officer on the spot and this morning was fined $200 for leaving the scene.

Joseph Errol Gaudreault, an airman stationed at Trenton, pleaded guilty to the offences before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Constable D. Chase said while he and a fellow officer were investigating hit-run damage to a car near Bayside, March 13, they spotted a car approaching with a broken headlight.

Suspicions aroused, the officers gave chase and—after searching the area east of Trenton airbase—found the car in Gaudreault's driveway.

BARNHART — In loving memory of our dear father and husband, Jacob M. Barnhart, who passed away 2 years ago today, April 8, 1963.
Two years have passed dear father,
Since you were called away.
How well do we remember,
That sad and weary day,
You suffered much, you murmured not,
But bore
Your cross day by day.
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away,
But God remembered best by daughter Marie and wife Lillian, son-in-law Ross and grandson Chris, son Joe and family.

ALFORD — In loving memory of our dear father, Ida Alford who passed away April 9, 1961.
Two years have passed since that day,
The little thought
The end to stay,
But there is a gain,
We all do know,
We all go through alone,
But God is near,
Our loved one finds,
Wonderful peace,
And we know that,
In loving God hearts be,
Lovingly remembered by sister Annie and family.

BARNHART — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Jacob M. Barnhart, who passed away April 8, 1963.
Though your smile is gone forever,
And your hands we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories,
Of the love you gave so much,
And your memory we'll always keep,
With which we'll never part,
God has his keepsake,
We have him in our hearts.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by Florence, Robert, Harold, Ida, David, Joe and grandchildren.

FEW SPECTATORS

Only a handful of spectators turned up for the vote-counting. There had been earlier indications that the government would get more than enough backing from opposition members to stave off defeat in the rules - scheduled vote, first in the throne speech debate.

Today, backbench members were to dominate the debating time heading towards Friday's scheduled vote on a Conservative non-confidence motion that charges, among other things, "indifference and neglect of the prime minister in refusing to take action to eradicate wrongs doing in high and low places."

If the Conservative non - confidence is lame is beaten there will be two more opportunities next week for the Opposition to seek the government's downfall and force a new election.

Shortly before Wednesday's vote a Quebec Liberal argued that a move toward medicare has already been taken. The throne speech, outlining government plans for the session, had announced plans for a federal - provincial conference to discuss a comprehensive health care program.

IS ESSENTIAL

Gerald Laniel (Beauharnois-Salaberry) said such a conference is an essential step in organizing a national medicare plan.

The second day of the throne speech debate Wednesday brought discussion on many of the measures mentioned in the speech read by Governor-General Vanier Monday.

John A. Irvine (PC—London) said the speech was couched in vague platitudes and contained only nine new proposals.

Why, he asked, was the Liberal promise of 10,000 university scholarships swept under the rug?

Mr. Irvine said every Canadian should be greatly concerned about the extent of American ownership in Canada but there was nothing in the throne speech to indicate the government was taking any action.

William Howe (NDP — Hamilton South) said it had been Liberal policy since 1919 to talk about a national medical care plan but do nothing about it. The throne speech's reference to medical care was a further example.

The throne speech debate is expected to wind up next Thursday and be followed by the traditional Easter recess. Finance Minister Gordon's 1965 budget is due shortly after the House reconvenes after Easter.

Vimy banquet guest speaker at Trenton last night Archdeacon A. S. McConnell, right, renewed long time acquaintances with World War I veterans H. W. Leeman of R. R. 3 Frankford, left, and Branch 110 past president Bill Colterjohn, centre. The distinguished padre defended the clergy against critics of their role in modern society.

Padre McConnell Levels Hard-hitting Remarks at Columnist at Vimy Dinner

TRENTON — Archdeacon A. S. McConnell attacked the advocates of a relaxed moral's code and anti-religious thinking in an address at a dinner commemorating the 48th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge at the Legion Hall here last night. Some 175 veterans and their friends gathered on the occasion to honor those who served with Canada's World War I force in this famous action.

The distinguished World War II padre and rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church of Belleville levelled hard-hitting remarks at columnist, TV panelist and author, Pierre Berton, for his criticism of the clergy. He wondered if a self-professed atheist was qualified to write critically about "tea drinking preachers who talked with funeral directors' voices and hadn't guts enough to take a stand on issues."

"I don't agree either with his (Berton's) idea that it's time to stop hoaxing the kids about sex," padre McConnell said and questioned whether the controversial writer should be telling the church how to go about its business.

(Mr. Berton was commissioned by the Anglican Church of Canada to write a book named "The Comfortable Pew." Archdeacon McConnell explained following his speech he was irked by Berton's comments about segregation in the South in United States and other references uncalled for in the church's Term of Reference for the project.)

Denouncing immorality padre McConnell called for the banishment from society of Elizabeth Taylor and Marlon Brando. "They should be hounded out of any country they live in," he insisted.

Turning to domestic issues he warned: "Don't let us blame the good people of Quebec, when we are condemning the others". I do think, however, we should all be Canadians, he added.

Colorful padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment for years the archdeacon revealed he was one of those heartbroken by the Defence Department's decision to disband Trenton, Picton, Madoc, Bancroft and Port Hope units of the famed regiment. This action has torn the regiment apart he pointed out and while it's the present expediency of government who do they call on in the case of an emergency, he asked. And pointing to a cluster of three Red Ensigns decorating the head table he said "that is my flag." Not enough has already been said about that, he continued, returning to his original theme. He closed his remarks with appleas to veterans to remember their moral, national and religious obligations which in effect was their way of paying respect to soldiers who made Vimy Ridge a glorious moment in national history.

Royal Canadian Legion Branch 110 president Eli Donaldson introduced the guest speaker and branch past president Mike Harrison moved a vote of thanks.

PINS PRESENTED

Branch president Russell Mist considered presentation of 25 year pins to branch members an outstanding honor and referred to veterans present as them "those veterans responsible for the success of Branch 110 and the Legion movement in Canada." Those honored were: John Snider, John Buchanan, Charlie Copeland, Harry Woodacre, Bruce Copeland, Bob Clarke, George Foggo, Bert Weeks, Ernie Curtis, Stan Sears, Art Young and Fred Keating.

This would be to close the existing dams at Iroquois and Cornwall. Lake Ontario could be kept at an average of 246 feet above sea level. This average was established over a ten-year period in the late 1950s and the early 1960s.

If it could be shown that the water level in Lake Ontario was kept at the average by closing the two dams, three dams could be built to contain water levels in Lake Michigan, Lake Erie, Lake St. Clair and Lake Huron.

But the "power interests" were laughing at the terms of the International Boundaries Creed, Mr. Cowan said. "Power," third on the list of priority in the creed, was being stepped up to first place, with navigation remaining in second place and domestic and sanitary use being shoved down to third place.

"We're great on agreements Agreements about Korea, Agreements about Viet Nam. We'll be signing agreements about rights on the moon before we get the government to force the power interests to observe the terms of the 1909 waterways creed," he said.

WOULD IGNORE QUEBEC

Mr. Cowan said the people of Quebec and the Montreal harbor interests should be given short shift when it came to conserving the use of water from Lake Ontario. From civilization's earliest beginnings, persons living on the "upstream" of a body of water have had prior rights to the use of the water. Ontario residents are upstream; Quebec residents, downstream.

Mr. Cowan was introduced by Harold Clark of the local chamber. Mr. Clark worked as office boy for Mr. Cowan when he was doing promotional work for the Toronto Star.

Mr. Cowan was thanked by H. E. "Roly" Whitley.

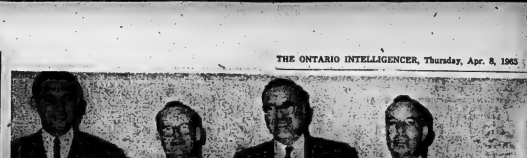
Says Hydro, Montreal Port Drain Lake Ontario Water

TRENTON — Speaking at the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting in Trenton last night R. B. Cowan, Liberal MP for York-Humber, charged that the taxpayers of Ontario are being robbed of water from their ests and big navigation interests in the province of Quebec, by being robbed of water from Lake Ontario to supply power in parts of Ontario (and, what is worse, Quebec), and keep the water level up in Montreal harbor.



"What the h - - - do we care about the Montreal harbor?" he asked.

Mr. Cowan said Lake Ontario was at is lowest water level in 105 years. This was due, he said, to a drawing off of water into the St. Lawrence waterway. Toronto harbor, all along Lake Ontario, Prince Edward County and other parts of this province are suffering from acute water shortage because of the demands of hydro and the Montreal harbor interests, he said. Recreational areas in Ontario are being ruined. Farmers last summer, struggling through the worst drought in history, were drawing water from miles away for their cattle. The tax payers along the shores of Lake On, tario are being "short changed". The whole economy of the area around the Great Lakes is being threatened, he said.

"It's time we blew the whistle on the power interests."

Referring to the 1909 international waterways boundaries' agreement, Mr. Cowan said it provided the waters lying along boundaries between Canada and the U.S. should be used for (1) domestic and sanitary use; (2) navigation; (3) power and irrigation purposes, in that order. Domestic and sanitary use have top priority, he said.

There is a solution to Ontario's problem, Mr. Cowan said.

Trenton Belleville 'Suburb' Unless Civic Pride Shown

TRENTON — George Kempf, the president of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, warned the chamber members and other town residents at last night's annual meeting that "Trenton would eventually become a suburb of Belleville" if they failed to develop a sense of civic pride.

Trenton citizens were "playing Nero" and "fiddling around while Rome burns," said Mr. Kempf, who deplored the lack of interest in the work of the local chamber.

Membership in the chamber last year was 180. Only three of the town's twenty-some industries took out membership in the chamber in 1964. Many members of the body were content to "let George do it," he said.

"I'm a busy man. I'm vice-president of my company and I hold a number of positions on industrial committees and so on. But I still find time to work on the town's business. While I live in Trenton, there'll always be a chamber. The town will die on its feet if the chamber fails to survive," he declared.

Mr. Kempf commented on the fact that the town granted the chamber $2,000 last year for operating expenses. Membership fees realized $2,357. He said that the membership should be able to "stand on its own feet," and be self-supporting rather than expect the town to subsidize the chamber.

"Trenton has the power and the size, but no will to do. Your chamber will never amount to anything unless you help.

Mr. Kempf said many chamber members who golf, curl and play cards would be better employed working for the betterment of the town.

"When we get a prosperous community here, we can afford to do these things. We can't afford to let the town die."

WILL BUILD OFFICE

Mr. Kempf said that many persons thought the chamber heads were being unrealistic by planning to build a permanent chamber office, (on Front Street).

"For two years everyone's been saying, 'it can't be done . . . It would cost too much' well, it will be done".

Mr. Kempf paid tribute to the chamber secretary - manager, Nostrand Sprague, who, he said, worked hard for very little pay, and, in fact, "donated" his time for the most part.

New directors, Harold Clark, John Tripp, Donald McPherson, Jack Goldberg, Walter Richards and Douglas Adams, were inducted by Mr. Sprague in an impressive ceremony. D. R. Fraser was unable to be present owing to illness. Other members of the chamber's executive are Douglas Whitley, Herbert Simrod and Gordon Shoniker. Councillor Paul Tripp works with Mr. Kempf on the chamber's industrial promotion committee.

A guest at last night's well-attended dinner meeting in the Glenbunnie Restaurant was clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry.

The treasurer, Douglas Adams reported $5,357 taken in during 1964 through membership dues and the town grant and a balance of $850 in the bank, after salaries and operations.

Officer Hurt In Accident

BRIGHTON — Constable Alan Tremeer of the provincial police detachment at Brighton suffered a mild concussion in an accident on Highway 401 west of Highway 30 around 10.30 p.m. last night. The officer, in his late 20s, was alone in the police cruiser when the accident occurred and details of the accident are unknown. His condition is reported satisfactory by Trenton Memorial Hospital authorities.

Turning Over a New Leaf?

Those Canadians who may have wondered what sense there was in prorouging one session of Parliament on a Friday and opening another session the next Monday have had their answer.

The Throne Speech reads like a list of New Year's resolutions—after an over-merry Christmas week.

If even half of the proposals in the government program is translated into appropriate action, this new session of Parliament could go down in history as laying the foundation for a new era in our national development.

That some of the most important of the projects appear to be patterned after President L. B. Johnson's bid to establish "The Great Society" in our neighbor to the south does not detract one whit from their potential importance.

The proper utilization of natural resources, human and material, so that poverty will be eliminated is now feasible for the wealthier, more highly industrialized nations of the world. It ought to have top priority, for success in this endeavor will release us from the nagging worry of a host of present problems, ranging from misuses of the unemployment insurance fund to equal opportunity for education.

In addition to this program, the Throne Speech mentioned a number of other items on which action is long overdue, ranging from revision of our present procedures in handling immigrants, (which have so often presented us with graphic examples of man's inhumanity to man), to the safeguarding of the interests of Canadian publications, a problem left lying around from the days of the Diefenbaker regime.

One's first reaction is that the proposed legislative program is much too heavy to offer much hope that even a tenth of the measures will receive approval from a parliament which has demonstrated a positive genius for bickering and time-wasting.

It may be, though, that more than the authors of the Throne speech, the Prime Minister and the members of the Cabinet, feel the need to rehabilitate their public images. If this is so, there may be as delighted with the efficiency and despatch of the third session as we were disgusted and dismayed by the quarrelling and bungling of the second.

The cynical, though, may be excused if they detect a herring amongst all this good red meat. The bill to authorize the use of "O Canada" as our national anthem, and to designate "God Save the Queen" as the royal anthem, whatever that may mean, is likely to raise tempers as high and bring common sense as low as did the flag debate. It is a pity that it could not have been got out of the way during the long hot summer of last year, leaving the coming months free for the consideration of more important matters.

Two Problems, One Solution

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart told the Ontario's Legislature recently that on Dec. 31 magistrate's courts in Metropolitan Toronto had a backlog of 2,388 cases to be tried. What is true of magistrate's courts is true, in greater or lesser degree, of other courts.

In Alberta, Premier E. C. Manning voiced concern about the number of people who "don't want to become involved" and will not help innocent victims of traffic accidents. He said they are afraid they will become involved in law suits.

What have these two items of business in provincial legislatures to do with each other?

Well, they have a common solution, or at least a partial solution.

A high proportion of court cases, in magistrates' courts and in other courts, arise out of motor accidents. Nothing much can be done about the cases in magistrates' courts, nor about the reluctance of people to assist accident victims for fear of involvement in police court cases.

But civil lawsuits regarding accidents can be eliminated and it is generally these suits which make the greatest demand on the time of witnesses.

All that needs to be done is to institute universal insurance and then to provide that, where the amount of damages to be paid is in dispute, this be fixed by an arbitrator.

A Yorkshire farmer used to produce great mams of unexcelled tenderness and sweetness by keeping his pigs for their last few days in sties whose troughs were filled with rough but ultra-potent cider. They died contented deaths and their flesh was perfumed with apples.—George Villiers.

To Your Good Health
Infectious Mononucleosis Is Subject of Booklet

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have never read anything in your column about infectious mononucleosis. After blood tests, that is what the doctor says my husband has. He is 28. There is no cure, apparently. Does it go away? — Mrs. S.V.

I'm afraid you've been skipping school on the days I've discussed infectious mononucleosis. In fact, I believe I was answering so many questions about it that I figured I'd better put the whole story into a booklet, so readers who needed the facts could have them and I wouldn't use up column space that ought to be devoted to other topics.

So get the booklet — send 25 cents in coin, and an unstamped, self-addressed envelope to Infectious Mononucleosis, Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill. for my booklet on mononucleosis. You are right: There is no cure for "mono." But it is a self-limiting disease, meaning that it runs its course as low as did the flag debate. It is a pity that it could not have been got out of the way during the long hot summer of last year, leaving the coming months free for the consideration of more important matters.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain why my joints creak. I have been told that it is due to a vitamin deficiency. I don't understand how this could be since I take vitamin pills regularly. — Mrs. B.D.

Creaky joints are not a result of vitamin deficiency.

Rather, this is a mechanical problem. The cartilage may be thinned, or the fluid in the joints may be thickened so they rub against each other slightly. Or in some cases a creak can be due to a tendon riding over a bony prominence.

The trouble is most likely to occur in the knees, neck and elbows.

It's the result of wear and tear on the joints, or mild arthritis.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our daughter is constantly drinking soft drinks. She claims she averages six or eight a day, but we feel she loses count of that for we have seen her drink two or three even before breakfast, and she gets up at night to drink them too. This has been going on for several years. What risk is involved? — Mrs. B. B.

Probably the most important risk is that these soft drinks (unless they are sugarless) contain a lot of calories. This can interfere with appetite for normal foods, hence possible lack of enough proteins, vitamins an roughage. Or the extra calories (in the soft drinks) can bring on overweight. The carbonation, when drinking such quantities, can cause "gassy" stomach. And there is reason to believe that such constant presence of sugary liquid in the mouth encourages cavities.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does syphilis always show up on the skin or any particular place? — J. H. B.

The original point of entry of the germ is the primary chancre or a painless sore which, even without treatment, disappears in about two weeks. If treatment is started promptly, no other signs occur.

Without treatment, however, the second stage develops within a period of weeks or months. This is a skin rash.

If still not properly treated, the disease finally enters the third stage. This is chronic syphilis which can involve almost any part of the body. It has been called "the great masquerader" because it can appear to mimic so many other diseases.

Among the areas that can be damaged are the heart, blood vessels, brain and nervous system. Thus heart disease, difficulty in walking, degeneration of the mind and many other ultimate consequences are possible long after the original outward signs have disappeared.

Strictly Personal
Public Likes To Be Told What to Think

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: A friend is one who will tell you so without later saying, "I told you so."

Everyone believes in "brotherhood" — if he can pick the brothers; but the whole point of the concept is that we have no choice in the matter.

People want to be told what they ought to think, but not told what they ought to do; the public has a great craving for intellectual direction, and an equally great resistance to changing its behavior.

Poverty breeds lack of self-reliance, and then the poor are blamed for having no self-reliance; which is rather like blaming an invalid for having bedsores.

One of the shrewdest observations of the late Justice Frankfurter made throws light on the recent dilemmas and disputations of Supreme Court opinions: "The core of the difficulty," he said, "is that there is hardly a case of importance in which a real difficulty before the Court that does not entail more than one sensible solution. Anybody can decide a question if only a single principle is in controversy."

Most actors want to be directors; most directors yearn to be playwrights; and most playwrights are frustrated actors — thus the circle completes itself.

If the nation's politicians—never great money-makers — can pay their employees enough so that the "no lapse" rule is strictly enforced, why can't other, and more affluent, service industries do the same.

All revolutionists have this in common, that once entrenched in power, they are unalterably opposed to revolution; for nobody can be as rigidly conservative as the successful ex-radical.

Odd how words fall out of use ago: what we should have a "prelude," a "postlude" even an "interlude," but "no lude" any more.

Too often, a self-styled "patriot" is a man who loves his country but despises 90 percent of the people who comprise it; what he really "loves" is his private idea of a country composed solely of persons like himself.

The perplexing and tyrannical hold that some relatives retain on other members of their family was succinctly explained by Alfred Polger, when he remarked: "When human relations last long enough, the intolerable becomes the indispensible."

The political creeds of most voters (rarely expressed, but usually voted upon) is that both political parties are bad, and therefore why not support that form of badness which most nearly coincides with my own self-interest.

Thomas Douglas, 5th Earl of Selkirk and founder of the Red River Colony, died bankrupt and in exile 147 years ago today—in 1820. After colonies in Prince Edward Island and Upper Canada failed, Selkirk obtained 116,000 square miles of Manitoba from the Hudson's Bay Company and sent out a small band of settlers in 1811. In 1815, agents of the North West Company drove them out and a battle was fought in 1816, in which Hudson's Bay governor Robert Semple and 19 colonists were killed. A year after Selkirk's death the rival companies amalgamated, and the Red River settlement was no longer threatened.

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—the Special War Revenue Act was passed by the Canadian Parliament, taxing bank-notes and financial paper, travel, telegrams, and alcohol; an amendment to assassinate the Sultan of Egypt failed.

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — the German invasion armada appeared off the Noregian coast at dawn; the British laid mines and torpedoed one transport vessel, over the protests of Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht.

Ottawa Offbeat
Folksy Harry Hays Finds Political Life Exciting

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — It is gosting so that good old plain-talkin' Harry Hays, our folksy, new-type, down-to-earth Agricultural Minister, has hardly a minute to himself these days.

He is just the hottest political platform performer on Parliament Hill, dispensing a special personal kind of homespun, down-on-the-farm politics that can't be matched this side of the Beverly Hill Billies.

He is in wild demand by every Liberal MP who wants to make his annual constituency meeting or pre-election rally something the voters will write into their memory books.

There was the time that Ol' Alvin Hamilton, in his fast-talking days as Conservative Agriculture Minister adventuring off to Red China to sell wheat like some magic carpet medicine showman, used to tell the Parliamentary pin-go boys:

And for a time Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp — Sharp Mitchell, his fans call him — was shaping up as the Crown Prince of the Commons when he, too, was peddling wheat.

Harry Hays is selling something far more basic and maybe that is why he is every MP's nomination for best guest speaker back in the riding.

THREE SMASHES

He first made it into the oratorical big-time here on the Hill with his scholarly discourse on the fine points of udder, comparing bovine and human milk queens.

He became a Hill headliner when he got into proper perspective the great national "crisis" that the Bilingual and Biculturial Commission so sensationally screamed it had discovered. Harry allayed fears that "the B Boys" were getting, far too worked up and should remember that Canada traditionally "spend so much time b kn by their souls, they go around neurotic half the time."

Now, he has rung another bell with a few home-truths, some of them hilarious, about what it feels like to be an MP.

Harry Hays is a very wealthy man in cash and that when the political bug bit him he was working on his second million-dollar accustom-built living a pleasantly affluent do-as-you-please life, on the Hamilton Commons hill him, as he confesses, "like a stonecboat-load of rocks on the head."

There he was, minding his own richly rewarding business back in Harriston, cattle and real estate — when suddenly he was in Parliament. "A frightening experience," he says, "like dreaming you are assigned to referee the Stanley Cup — and you're walking out on the ice and dream come true."

You are hardly inside your Parliamentary office, he relates, than everybody is after you for everything — like getting over behalf if you don't give ll to them the day before yesterday."
